Kingsridge

By Alice Ross Colver

The town had been named for the family. It was quite fitting, for the Kings had made the place. From its early beginning in the 1700's as nothing but a sprawling countryside with a few scattered farms and the Manor to serve it the negligible importance of a hamlet, the Kings had been dominant in its affairs. Indeed Kingsridge had first been known as King's Manor. But as the years passed and more and more people moved out from New York and the hamlet became a village and then a borough and finally an attractive suburb, the Kings' land had been sold or donated, for a school, for a hospital, for a library site, for a golf course and country club until only 10 acres on the hill above the business section in the village remained. At that time the Kings themselves had suggested the change. So now it was Kingsridge. An original red stone mansion that spread its lengthy wings along the crest of the last acreage was Kings Ridge, also, with the difference that the town was one word while the place was two.

It was a landmark. A property linked with history, with progress with prosperity, as the name of King was linked with justice and its conservative twins—law and order.

That Saturday after Christmas a party was in progress at Kings Ridge, a party that Judge King and his wife, Elizabeth, were giving as a homecoming welcome to their son-in-law, Major Frank Park, who was just returned from Germany. Outside the night was bitter cold. Small stars glimmered down on a white still world. Curved driveway was a gleaming cut between banks of freshfallen snow. And the sleighbells that were twined into the illuminated garlands about the great front door gave forth a sharp, frosty jangle whenever it was opened. But all the windows were oblongs of warm golden light holding a sure promise of the comfort to be found within.

It was a promise that did not fail. The bright-lit rooms, spacious enough to contain a throng without moving out the furniture, were comfortable and inviting. The air was filled with a blending of many pleasant odors—the delicate fragrance of fine perfumes, the good scent of expensive tobacco, the spicy aroma of pine and balsam boughs, the pungency of burning applewood, and, mingled with all of these, the mouth-watering smell of rum in eggnog, of toasted nuts, of coffee, of mints, of fruit cake.

It was a good party, Elizabeth King thought. Like all their parties. It was both elegant and informal, dignified and gay. It was no small achievement to be able to suit the taste not only of her own generation but of her grandchildren's as well. Yet they wouldn't be here—that young crew that was now dancing in the hall—if they didn't enjoy coming, if they didn't feel at ease. For there was no compulsion of good manners on the boys and girls of today! They did as they pleased. Well, thank goodness they pleased to come here. They knew perfectly well they could have fun. Yet they knew, too, that the fun had to be kept within decent bounds at Kings Ridge. The Judge wouldn't stand for anything else. Neither would she, for that matter, but whereas she might keep order by exercise of a sharp firm authority, the Judge kept it by reason simply of being himself. There was no one, not even the Reverend Ferguson, more beloved in town, she thought, admiring the difference between herself and her spouse without envy.

She was standing at the moment in the hay window at the far end of the living room, a rather heavy but regal looking figure in a low-cut blue velvet gown beautifully calculated to minimize her size. Above it her iron-gray hair was done in the fashionable mode of the day for matriarchs, parted on one side to the nape of her neck and softly rolled up in front with the short ends in the back swept across her head in neatly sculptured waves. She looked well and she knew it, though she did not need this knowledge to give her self-confidence. A lifetime of being the wife of a Judge of the State's Supreme Court had given her that.

For her, For the rest, her square face, in which her mouth made a small tight line, was fine-skinned, with the soft, milky whiteness of a baby's, and tranquil over to her despair with tiniest of age lines. Her eyes, blue like her gown, could be ice-cold or sparkling with warmth as occasion demanded. Her hands, plump and pretty, usually glittering with fine rings, she displayed to their best advantage by graceful gesturing. She was proud of her feet, too, although it was getting harder for her to wear the smart high-heeled shoes she so loved.

She shifted her weight now from one silver slipper to the other, hearing the calm even tones of the Judge's voice beside her without actually hearing what was saying to the Reverend. Those two always lost themselves in philosophical discussions that made her impatient. Sometimes she broke into ask with some asperity of what use it was to speculate regarding human behavior in the future when we were living now? The Judge to do was cope with present, wasn't it? Heaven knew that was difficult enough! But this time she gave them no heed. Her thoughts were following the retreating figure of the minister's wife who had just left them and was moving with her gentle, unassuming friendliness from group to group.

She could never have been a minister's wife, she was thinking. Always on guard over her tongue, always kind, always believing in people. No, A quick rejoinder that put a person in his proper place was mean and drink to her. She was kind only when it suited her. And as for believing in people—well, she saw them too clearly for that Ella Ferguson could be hoodwinked and often was, But not Elizabeth King.

The Reverend turned to include her in a conversation he suddenly realized she had been left out of.

"Everyone looks happy," he said to her, his round, rosy face ashine with good living, good health and good thoughts. "You may well survey your triumph with pride."

"I object," the Judge interposed, his gray eyes on his long, deeply lined face smiling, yet alert.

Elizabeth flicked her speckle-dotted handkerchief of blue chiffon in the direction of the minister and spoke with a hint of sharpness. "I hope you're just guessing?"

"But I'm not," he returned, using the kindly raillery of an old friend and a privileged character. "You're a snob at heart, Elizabeth."

She looked at him a moment, debating one of her thrusts. However, he was the only person whom she felt it wise to keep always on her side so she yielded to honesty with one of her gay laughs. "Well, all right! But aren't we all? All of us here?"

"Anyone, you mean, who lives as safely and as comfortably as we do." The Judge was helping her. "In a tight and secure a circle."

The Reverend caught this suggestion and juggled with it thoughtfully. "Of course security is what the world wants right now. Perhaps if the havenots were given it to the extent that we have it, they would be on our side, too. Then we'd all be snobs with no one to be snobbish to!"

"Oh, we'd find something. That is our frailty. Not to be able to tolerate others possessing what we esteem. Not to be able to share our superiority."

They were off again and Elizabeth decided to leave them to their argument. It was cold here in the bay, anyway, even with the thick hangings of old gold velvet drawn across the glass.

Elizabeth moved slowly across the carpet, liking the feel of its thickness beneath her feet, liking its wine color, at once rich-looking and practical. Wine carpet, gold draperies and pale blue-green walls. The decorator had been right but it had sounded horrible to her at first. Liking the hum of talk, the small bursts of laughter, the strains of music that came floating in from the big hall—all the well-bred sounds of revelry.

Australia Opens Offensive Against Communist Party

Prime Minister Menzies Plans to Ban Red Activity

Canberra, April 27 — (CP) — Prime Minister Robert Menzies today opened his promised offensive against communism in Australia with a bill to outlaw and dispossess the communist party and ban own communists from government and key trade-union jobs.

To an excited parliament, he named 43 leading communists among them controlling most of Australia's key industrial unions —who would be barred from their posts under threat of five years in jail. Outside a strong police guard stood ready to prevent any possible red demonstrations.

Fulfilling an election promise of five months ago, Menzies cracked down hard on every kind of communist activity in the country.

Disloyal Wreckers

The preamble to his bill, explaining the unprecedented sharpness of the law, described communists as disloyal wreckers directed from abroad who were trying to create chaos to prepare for revolution.

Menzies said a 12-hour indictment of communism, Menzies told the packed House of Representatives that only people living in the "cloud-cuckoo land" would imagine that communists in Australia, like those of the trial of Dr. Klaus Fuchs in Britain and the earlier Canadian espionage trials, could not happen here.

He admitted that extension of the banning threat to affiliated organizations was "novel and far-reaching" but added:

"It is designed to deal with the kind of evils we find in this country. We are not, except in a technical sense, at peace.

"We have witnessed the most threatening events of Eastern Europe, in Germany, in east and southeast Asia.

"If we have learned nothing from all these things, there is no help for us."

No Right of Appeal

Menzies said the communist party would be banned without the right of appeal, but affiliated organizations would retain that right if they were ever outlawed.

The ban on Australia's communist party goes on top of the most controversial points of Menzies election platform. The labor party had opposed the proposed ban, claiming that it would only drive communists underground.

"It would be an act of criminal folly to leave revolutionary communists in key positions in vital industries," he said. "Let them, with all their smallness in numbers, they may achieve destructive results which will be beyond the power of party hope to achieve," Menzies said.

The government has the Australian communist party. R. Dixon, announced in Sydney today that "communist party funds will be thoroughly preserved," despite any law to confiscate them. The party would continue to function and publish its newspapers, whether it had legal status or not, he added.

RETAIL BUTTER PRICES LIKELY TO SHOW DECLINE

Govt. Slashes Support Price by Five Cents

Ottawa, April 27 — (CP) — A slash in the government's support price of butter may spark a big retail decline of five cents a pound in retail prices across the country.

Commercial dairy experts predicted the general retail decline as a result of the new support prices announced in the Commons Wednesday by Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

The new support price, which goes into effect for 12 months beginning May 1, will be 53 cents a pound for creamery butter, basic delivery at Toronto, Montreal, Saint John, N.B., and Halifax. The Vancouver support price will be 52 1-2 cents.

These new government prices compare with last year's support level of approximately 58 cents a pound, under which the government bought up almost 50,000,000 pounds of surplus butter.

Mr. Gardiner announced in the Commons that the government still had 19,500,000 pounds in storage and these stocks would be disposed of only in small quantities, at about 53 cents a pound—the new government selling prices which go into effect May 1.

Since the government bought the 19,500,000 pounds at 58 cents a pound, there would be a loss and instead now is prepared to sell it at 53, a government official said there would be a loss of about $1,300,000 and this would be absorbed by the federal treasury.

No Relief in High Prices For Beef Expected Until Middle of Next Month

Ottawa, April 27—(CP) — A sharp climb in beef prices has been recorded across Canada in the last few weeks and government and industry experts say no relief is expected until the middle of next month.

Advances of between five and 12 cents a pound for various beef cuts have been reported in almost every major Canadian centre.

Officials say the jump has been caused by the season coupled with by a continuing high demand for Canadian steaks in the United States. As a result there has been a marked boost in consumption of lower-priced pork.

Pork now is the No. 1 item on the Canadian dinner table. Consumption is estimated at 59.3 pounds a year on a per capita basis, compared with 56.5 pounds of beef. Veal is 11 pounds; mutton and lamb, 3.0; offals, 5.8 and canned meats 5.7.

The demand for beef ranging high in Canada and in the United States, the question of supply is a big one. Canada's beef production is growing more important daily and the immediate outlook appears to be for a smaller output this year than a year ago.

Production Shows Drop

Last year Canada produced 1,047,000,000 pounds of beef, a drop of about 50,000,000 pounds from the previous year. Officials estimate that another 50,000,000-pound decrease in production will be registered this year.

This decrease will continue, say officials, until Canadian ranchers can replenish their herds depleted by the drive of live Canadian animals into the American market since the export embargo was placed on cattle in 1942.

Lifting of the embargo has resulted in the American market becoming a dominating factor of Canadian beef production. While this was responsible for a higher Canadian prices, it also was a factor in an increase of Canada's butter.

U.S. dollar reserves. However, the price situation may be eased when Canadian ranchers start moving grass-fed cattle to market, expected about mid-May. From then on, through summer months, Canadian beef prices may be a few cents a pound lower.

Hog Producers Making Hay

Meanwhile, Canadian hog producers are making hay. Pork prices have been creeping a few cents a pound in some cities, but the demand has been sufficient to keep prices higher than those Canada can get from her top foreign market — the United Kingdom.

As a result, Canada may not be able to fulfill the 1950 Anglo-Canadian hog contract which calls for shipment of 60,000,000 pounds at 29 cents a pound. About 40,000,000 pounds have been shipped so far.

Canadians are expected to consume most of the almost 1,000,000,000 pounds of pork likely to be produced this year.

Toronto's beef prices have climbed almost three cents a pound, but pork prices have dropped from two to four cents. Toronto house is selling at 82 cents; sirloin, 90 cents; round steak, 75 cents. Shoulder pork is going at 39 cents, compared with 41 two weeks ago and 60 cents a year ago. Pork loins are 47 cents. Other pork prices: Loin ends at 45 cents; side pork 39 cents and ham at 53—the same as a fortnight ago.

In Ottawa, some beef prices have gone up 10 cents a pound, while porterhouse and sirloin now selling at 79 and wing steaks one-a-cut at 75. Shoulder pork is going at 69 and butts at 42.

In Montreal, prices have advanced three and four cents, with porterhouse selling at 75; sirloin at 69 and rump steak at 75. Shoulder pork is going at 49 and butts at 46.

P.C. LEADER CALLS FOR STUDY OF EXPENDITURES

Drew Criticizes Defence Minister

Ottawa, April 27 — (CP)—The government was urged in the Commons Wednesday by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, to put its operations on a business-like basis.

Entering the lagging budget debate, he called for an examination "of the whole business of government" and suggested the growth of democracy depended in large measure on efficient government.

He criticized the Minister of National Defence for what he said was the minister's persistent refusal to allow a House Committee to study the estimates of government expenditures, as suggested by Walter Seltz, the auditor-general, in a recent report.

Four other speakers took part in the two-hour Wednesday afternoon debate. They were Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre), Paul Hellyer (L — Toronto Davenport), Jean Francois Pouliot (L—Temiscouata) and Solon Low (SC — Calgary West).

Mr. Drew said the government had produced a $2,400,000,000 budget, but had no ideas how savings could be made. There was not a member who did not favor economy, but there was little over-lapping of government services could be eliminated.

Britain Recognizes Israel Subject To Reservations

Concern Occupied Area Of Jerusalem, Arab Borders

London, April 27 — (Reuters) —Britain today officially recognized Hashemite Jordan's annexation of Arab Palestine and at the same time accorded full—de jure—recognition to the State of Israel.

Kenneth Younger, minister of state, announcing this in the House of Commons, said Britain's recognition of Israel was subject to explanations of two points.

The British government, he said, was unable to recognize the sovereignty of Israel over that part of Jerusalem she occupied pending a final determination.

Similar reservations were made, he added, on Israel's boundaries with Arab states.

Younger added that Britain had no intention of establishing military bases in Palestine in the parts of Arab Palestine annexed by Jordan.

MAJOR EXPORT GAIN REGISTERED ON U.S. MARKET

Ottawa, April 27—(CP)—Canada's dynamic exports rose 27 per cent in March from a year ago, but shipments to most Commonwealth and Latin American countries were lower.

Because of these opposite trends, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported "exports to the United States amounted to the unprecedented ratio of over two-thirds of the total."

The bureau's report showed a five-per-cent increase in Canadian exports during March over the corresponding month last year. Exports to all countries in the month were valued at $228,200,000 compared with $119,500,000 in February and $216,800,000 in March, 1949.

The March increase partially offset a slight decline in trade so far this year. In the first three months of 1950 Canadian exports totalled $646,000,000, a drop of $9,200,000 from the corresponding period last year.

FIVE CHILDREN DIE AFTER BEING OVERCOME BY GAS

Montreal, April 27 — (CP) — Thirteen-year-old Gerard Bernier died in hospital early this morning to become the fifth victim of the family of a gas tragedy Thursday.

Also dead are three of Gerard's brothers and one sister—Guy, 14; Mariette, 7; Bernard, 5; and Normand, 3.

Mrs. Yvette Bernier, 42, mother of the five, is in hospital with her last remaining child, Jacques, 16. Both were reported in satisfactory, although still serious condition this morning.

Little Norman and Bernard were found dead in their beds Wednesday morning. Guy and Mariette died in hospital late Wednesday and Gerard succumbed about 4 a.m. today.

Discovered by Father

The fatal mishap was discovered by the father of the family, Arthur Bernier, a night ambulance driver who returned home from work about 11 a.m. After forcing the side locked door to their second storey flat, he found his wife and children dead.

Bernier, who said he was almost "knocked over" by the fumes, opened all the windows and then summoned aid. But the two youngest children were already dead.

The mother was taken to hospital with the four other children after four Ste-Quebec emergency trucks, police cars and ambulances were sent to the Cuvillier street home.

Police said their investigation indicated illuminating gas had seeped through a defective pipe in the bathroom and spread throughout the flat.

No Immediate Change in Butter Prices Seen

Toronto, April 27 — (CP) — Retailers here said Wednesday that no immediate change in the price of butter to consumers is contemplated, following the Ottawa announcement of a five cent-reduction in the minimum price.

Spokesmen for two large chain stores said that it is possible the price on May 1, next Monday, will come down from the present 68-69 cents to 67 cents a pound or even less. A dairy official said hay saving from the creameries naturally would be passed along to the consumer, while a spokesman for Canada Packers, Ltd. said that if the floor price is dropped five cents, the wholesale price in Toronto likely would fall by that amount.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, April 27 (CP)— Synopsis: There is still no sign of a break in the cool weather. An extensive polar airmass covers the Prairies and is spreading into Ontario from the northwest this morning. This same polar air is far south over the Central United States and no appreciable warming can take place until this air is displaced eastward.

Generally cloudy conditions prevail today with a few showers. Flurries in northern regions and occasional light rain in Southern Ontario.

Awarded $1,100

Toronto, April 27 — (CP) — Mrs. Lydia Ann Hall today was awarded $1,100 damages for injuries received when she slipped and fell on a piece of lettuce in a groceteria. She suffered a fractured bone in her right foot and a sprained thumb. She asked $2,200 damages but the court ruled she was partly to blame.

20 Fishermen Sq. Mile

North Bay, April 27 (CP) — Twenty fishermen 30 fathoms for every square mile of water can be expected to fish in the 2,000 square miles that comprise forestry officials report. They say the area has been divided into for 6,703 anglers for the 770 square miles of water. That's not counting private cottagers.

'Two Weeks of Politeness' Will Bring More Polite Era, Hope of Frenchman

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

Paris, April 27 — (AP) — Frenchmen are going to try to be more polite during the first two weeks of May.

The idea is that when a waiter spills soup on your coat or steps on you smile nd say "nice try" or something. Taxi drivers are to be complimented on their driving skill when a bumper grazes your shin.

It will be "Quinzaine de l'amabilite," or "two weeks of politeness," from May 1 to May 15. It is up to Frenchmen likely to rarely needed. Foreigners also have been shocked at the lack of French friendliness.

The amiability crusade is the idea of Marcel Ranville, who wants to "put back into French society the forgotten art of politeness, friendliness and good humor."

Ranville says traditional French politeness was at war standards that there's far too much of calling people names. French nicknames as "Tet de lard" (lard head) or "Espece de cornichon" (breed of a pickle).

"Women sometimes are even worse than men," he added, thoughtfully.

Flying squads of young girls selected for their charming smiles and friendliness, are to form a gift battalion to hand out bouquets of violets, their sole duty, Ranville said, will be "to smile at the people."

Pontiff Defends Individual Enterprise and Free Trade

Vatican City, April 27—(AP)—Pope Pius today defended the individual enterprise in business and free trade.

Clearly referring to communism, he said that concentration of economic power in public hands "opposes the Christian conception of social organization."

But he raised at the same time the warning that "the right to acquisition only to always take in more money, become richer and betray-ing of vocation."

"The man of affairs," said the Pontiff, "must also and in equal measure consider himself a servant of the common good."

It was the second time in a week that the 74-year-old Pontiff took time from his arduous Holy Year duties to speak on commerce and

POSTPONE REPORT

Windsor, April 27 — (CP) — The Windsor Police Commission Wednesday postponed giving a report on findings in its recent inquiry into charges of corruption in the police force until hearings of one of the commission members forced the indefinite postponement.

Tito Will Name Envoy to Greece

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, April 27 (AP)—Premier Tito announced today Yugoslavia is ready to resume diplomatic relations with Greece soon will nominate a diplomatic envoy within a few days.

The Premier made this known in a remarkable State-of-the-Nation address to his new parliament. He said that Soviet demands for better relations not only with Greece but with Turkey are also acceptable.

At one time Yugoslavia was accused in the United Nations of aiding and abetting the Greek Communist rebels by allowing Bulgaria and Albania, along with Yugoslavia — considers that the present unsolved problems between the two countries should not be a stumbling block to better relations.

In his three-hour, 20,000-word speech to the newly-elected, Communist - dominated parliament, Tito laid down a nine-point foreign policy program promising friendly co-operation on equal terms" with the West.

A similar offer was given toward Russia and the Cominform satellites, he said, now is impossible because of their "stubborn, hostile attitude."

Arthritic Clinic for Laymen Points Out How to Avoid Most Serious Developments

Toronto, April 27. (CP) — A special clinic on arthritis at the Toronto General Hospital Wednesday night did not have any technical discussion on the nature and treatment of the disease—it had the presence of a number of patients, many of them doomed to lives of crippling pain resulting from deformed limbs and stiffed joints.

The clinic was arranged for laymen by the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, and was conducted by Dr. Alec Graham and Dr. John Keith, members of the Honorary Board of the Society which now is conducting a national campaign to raise $850,000. The audience was composed of lay-key workers in the campaign.

Sufferers were wheeled into the lecture theatre or entered slowly on crutches as Dr. Graham and Dr. Keith emphasized that early diagnosis and treatment with physio-therapists and orthopedic surgeons working as a team, could avoid many of the serious developments of the illness.

Some of the patients at the clinic were two children from the Hospital for Sick Children, both of whom have shown some improvement. Another was a 38-year-old woman who said she felt amazingly better after being treated with the new drug cortisone.

After a 35-year-old male patient, victim of the disease since he was 18, had been wheeled away, Dr. Graham said "be exhausted by the time arthritis victims it treated early, give proper patients, it wouldn't happen. Now it's too late."

Fishermen, Farmers Oiling Guns, Sharpening Harpoons for Beluga

Quebec, April 27 — (CP) — A few fishermen and farmers along a 200-mile stretch of the lower St. Lawrence river are oiling their guns and sharpening harpoons for beluga fishing — a sport that could see the pursuit of big-game hunting.

The sport is all that's left in hunting horse-sized beluga—white porpoises that have no porpoise — since the bottom fell out of the market for fish oils a few years ago. When the oil was valuable as many as 800 beluga were killed each season. The catch in the last year less than 50 were counted.

Big schools of beluga are found in various cold-water spots between Rivere Ouelle, 65 miles east of here, and Trinity Bay, 30 miles downstream.

Dr. Vadim S. Vladikov, fisheries department biologist who put 10 years of study into two books about the white porpoise, describes the way the river St. Lawrence dwellers go after the fish which can reach a length of 16 feet and may weigh anywhere from 65 to 3,000 pounds.

One way is with a motor boat. Then they go out at high tide and when the beluga comes in shore with the flood tide, the boat and hunter frighten them into shallow water with the noise of his motor.

After a 15-minute chase the porpoises usually are stuck in the mud and then the marksman fires his rifle at the vulnerable spot on the animal's back just behind its water spout. The dead beluga is harpooned and towed ashore.

Another way is with a sail boat' The idea is to sail up close and use a harpoon attached to a heavy, line. Hunters keep track of his prey by following the buoy as the wounded fish tows it.

Britain's Butter Loss Will Be $40,000,000

Toronto, April 27 — (CP) — Eric Kitchener, secretary of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, Ontario today that Canadian farmers will lose $40,000,000 a year as a result of the latest federal government moves concerning butter and cheese.

He said in a statement that the reduction of five cents a pound in the support price for butter, effective Monday, combined with the governments decision to requisition all cheddar cheese produced in Ontario and Quebec during the season of lowest production will be equivalent to an 11-per-cent cut in pay for the farmer.

V. S. Milburn, secretary of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, said in a statement:

"The farmers of Canada will have to insist that these two industry cease demanding pay and profit increases. Farmers are the only people in the nation whose income is being reduced. Labor is demanding and getting higher and higher wages, which results in higher production costs and in the farmer at the very time his income is cut down.

"We can't understand this new policy of requisitioning cheese, policy of government control. Actually it puts a ceiling [illegible] price of cheese, producers to sell their product during the summer, when the price is lowest. They cannot hold it for the winter increase in price."

CLOCK NONEXISTENT

Chatham— April 27 (CP) —A clock that hasn't existed for the last eight years still is insured against fire. The wall clock titled the hour stop the market building and sale was taken out years ago as a safety precaution. Alderman Jack Simpson says the clock will be cancelled—when it expires."

POLICE BLOTTER

Darting out in front of a car, six-year-old William Crozier, 172 Dundas Street, East, fortunately escaped injury yesterday as he was knocked to the pavement. The little lad was rushed to hospital where examination indicated that he had suffered no serious injury. He was later permitted to go home.

Good shirts are expensive, but apparently not so expensive that they cannot be mislaid. A Bridge Street, East resident had reported to police that while his car was parked on Church Street, some obliging person left a new shirt in the vehicle. He says the owner may have his shirt back by proving his property.

Obituary

MISS EVELYN THOMPSON

Miss Evelyn Thompson, formerly in business in this city and of late residing in St. Catharines, died suddenly in the Belleville General Hospital, Wednesday evening. She was taken ill while here on a visit to her mother and sisters at their home, 254 Pinnacle Street, and her brother, Mr. Thomas C. Thompson, Albert Street.

The late Miss Thompson was born in this city and was a daughter of Mrs. Ann J. Thompson and the late William Thompson. She was educated in the city schools and eventually became a teacher to the deaf. In this connection she taught for some time at institutions for the deaf in Portland, Maine, and Beverley, Mass.

On retiring from this vocation Miss Thompson went to St. Catharines and was associated with her brother, Mr. J. W. Thompson in the home furnishing business. Later she returned to this city and for twenty years up to July last when she retired, she successfully conducted the house furnishing business here. Since that time she has again been associated with her brother in business in St. Catharines.

Miss Thompson was well known and esteemed in this city and to many friends here her untimely death has brought much regret. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Surviving her are her mother; three sisters, Mrs. C. W. Sherlock, London, Ontario; Miss Catharine Thompson and Miss Annie Thompson, both of this home; two brothers, Mr. J. W. Thompson, St. Catharines, and Mr. Thomas C. Thompson, Belleville.

The funeral announcement is made in this edition.

COLLEEN ANN MARY REID

Colleen Ann Mary Reid, who died on Wednesday as the result of injuries sustained when she accidentally collided with the side of a motor car while she was crossing North Front Street, was in her 5th. year and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Reid, 3 Grier Street. Her mother was the former Emily Smith, 54 King George School and the Tabernacle Sunday School.

The funeral announcement is made in this edition.

Great Abundance Cheap Power Is Forecast

Merrition, April 27 — (CP) — A "great abundance of cheap electric power to keep prosperity and the high living standard of Ontario flowing was forecast by Ontario Hydro Commissioner Chairman Robert Saunders in an address here Wednesday night. He was speaking in connection with the official opening of the new $42,000 Merrition Hydro Electric Commission building.

He cautioned that it would be touch-and-go about 1956 if the present rapid increase of hydro usage continued, but we are pushing for new projects," he emphasized in the case of proposed extensions on the Niagara River and St. Lawrence River developments in which these areas would begin immediately once they are approved, but they would not be ready until at least 1958 or 1959.

On a per capita basis, Canada uses more electricity than the United States, said Mr. Saunders. Ontario uses 3,600 kilowatt hours per person, Canada as a whole uses 3,200. The United States uses but 1,600 kilowatt hours per person.

Police Believe An Accomplice Was Waiting

Toronto April 27 (CP) —Dressed only in pyjamas, three 15-year-old girls escaped from the juvenile detention home early Wednesday night. Police believe an accomplice was waiting for the girls outside the downtown Jarvis Street detention home.

"They certainly have put in their bare feet," said a Patrol Sergeant investigating the escape. "They must have received some assistance from the outside."

Turning of First Sod for New Masonic Temple Takes Place Sat.

The ceremony commemorating the first step in the construction of the new Masonic Temple will take place Saturday afternoon at three o'clock when the sod will be officially turned on the new ground covered by the Order on Foster Avenue immediately north of Dundas Street, Bank, where the new Temple is to be erected.

A full year of serious thought and untiring effort have gone into this project, and building plans, presently out for tenders, indicate that the new temple will be a landmark in the city.

The building will provide adequate facilities for the various Masonic bodies as well as Eastern Star and White Shrine Chapters, and will have a spacious auditorium, when completed and landscaped it will be entirely up-to-date without being modernistic and will provide parking spaces for many vehicles on the premises.

The ceremony will be under the direction of Frank Follwell, M.P., with many members of the Order taking part in the proceedings.

The public is invited to attend and it is anticipated a large gathering will be on hand to witness the first step in the construction of a Masonic Temple that will be one of which all members of the Order can be most proud.

Having Pickerel In Possession Costs Man $28

Pleading guilty out of court to a charge of having pickerel in his possession, Earl Gray, Plainfield, was fined $25 and costs plus $3 costs. The charge against Gray was laid by C.P.S. Whitney, inspector with the Game and Fisheries Department.

A second charge, Newton DeMille R. R. 1, Shannonville, was also dismissed, the defendant in this having pickerel and he has been summoned to appear in court.

Both men were also listed on the weekly county magistrate's docket, most of the charges were for minor traffic offences. Twelve of the charges were settled out of court, while a dual charge of careless driving and failure to remain at the scene of an accident is continuing today. The charges were laid against Fred C. Boyd, following a traffic accident at Marysville some months ago.

Inquest Adjourned Until May 4th

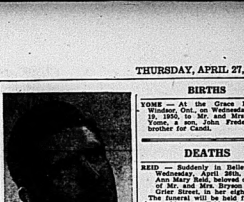
Preliminary hearing looking into the death of Mrs. Bryson Reid, 5 Grier Street, was held Wednesday afternoon at the Corrigan and O'Brien Funeral Home, the inquest being adjourned until the evening of May 4th. The inquest will be held starting at 7.30 at the county court house.

The preliminary hearing was held before Coroner Dr. Richard T. Potter with Crown Attorney R. C. Donnelly acting for the Crown, Jurors were Gerald Vance Al. Dyer, Harry Rollins, Doug Wellbanks and Reg. Dracup.

The little Reid girl was killed Wednesday noon as she ran into a car as she was crossing Evans Street at the Front Street intersection. The girl was on her way home from school at the time of the accident.

Neighbors Present Trilight Lamp To Departing Friends

Last Tuesday evening friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Mundy, on Bowen Street before their departure from Hillcrest.



After a short address in which they were suitably remembered in the new home to which they are going, they were presented, as a mark of the high esteem in which they were held by all present, with a beautiful trilight lamp, with the added wish that the friends they are leaving behind should not be forgotten.

Mrs. Mundy, on behalf of her mother and her husband, expressed deep appreciation for their kindness and extended a cordial invitation for all to visit them in their new home.

The remainder of the evening was spent in cards, after which refreshments were served by J. McMurter and J. Moreau.

INDEPENDENT BODY

The British Broadcasting Corporation was created in 1927 by royal charter, giving it freedom from parliamentary control or ministerial interference.

EDMUND HOCKRIDGE, vocalist, and Horace Lapp, organist will give a concert in the Tabernacle Church on Friday evening. Mr. Hockridge has had extensive concert experience as well as radio and has sung with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra and the Prom Symphony Orchestra on several occasions. He has also sung the lead baritone for the CBC Light Opera Company in the yearly series of Gilbert and Sullivan operettas. The singer has arranged an interesting and varied program for his concert.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, April 27 — (CP) — Mining stocks moved heavily as the sessions progressed on the Toronto stock exchange today but market leaders tended lower. Volume for the first three hours was 1,416,000 shares.

Ascot Corp., and Anacon Lead highlighted activity in base metals with Ascot showing the best gains in the heavy turnover. Both stocks added at new highs. Key issues slumped lower. Consolidated Smelters and Quemont were down fractions and United Keno Hill under heavy selling pressure.

Leading junior gold producers showed losses ranging up to 15 cents, Penny prospects churned actively but some good gains and seniors were lower. Jaculet, Newland, Hackney and Aunegue were among the more active penny stocks.

Industrials moved in a narrow fractional range at slightly lower levels for the fourth successive session.

Western oils steadied from Wednesday's declines as buying power pulled Pacific Petroleum, Calgary and Edmonton and National Petroleum into plus territory.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, April 27 — (CP) — Cattle trade was dull on a plain quality supply with prices about steady, this morning at the Ontario stockyards. Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: cattle, 100; calves, 40; hogs, 90; sheep and lambs, none. Left from Wednesday were 300 cattle.

Common to medium heifers sold at $20-$23.50 with common to medium cows bringing $16.50-$19.

Calves were steady at $28-$29 for choice vealers with common down to $20.

Hogs were steady at $26.50 - $26.75 for grade A with dressed sows $20.

HOGS

Toronto, April 27 — (CP)— Truck hogs were $26.50 at Stratford this morning.

Other markets were not reported.

Chrysler Strike Still Unsettled After 92 Days

Detroit, April 27 (AP)— A record night-long bargaining session failed today to bring a settlement in the Chrysler strike now entering its 93rd day.

Both Chrysler Corporation and the United Automobile Workers Union (C.I.O.) agreed, however, some progress had been made.

Negotiators stayed in a marathon session until 6:30 a.m., EST, and then took a recess until 2 p.m. today.

Walter Reuther, U.A.W. president, and Norman Matthews, the union's Chrysler director, issued this statement:

"Some progress had been made on some contact issues. However a number of important issues still are unresolved. The union is prepared to apply itself in extended negotiating sessions in an effort to resolve all the issues remaining in dispute."

A spokesman for Chrysler said the union statement substantially reflected the status of the negotiations.

Reuther of an impending break in the strike arose Wednesday night. They still persisted today. It was still anybody's guess, however, as to what might happen.

Both sides indicated they were making a determined effort to effect a settlement that would return 59,000 Chrysler workers to the job.

Chrysler and the U.A.W. were reported substantially agreed on $10 monthly pensions, including social security.

Non-economic issues, such as union security and grievance procedures, were said to be still holding things up.

Lyttelton Becomes Best-Dressed Man, Supplanting Eden

London, April 27—(Reuters)—Anthony Eden, second in command to Conservative leader Winston Churchill, has lost his title of Britain's best dressed man to a fellow Conservative.

Oliver Lyttelton, six-foot-three Conservative front-bencher, qualified for the sartorial championship today, when he was nominated him was A. A. White, president of the Practical Master and Foreman of Practical Master and Foreman Tailors' Societies.

Occasion was a tailoring exhibition which Lyttelton opened.

The best-dressed man wore a black short coat and striped trousers, a double-breasted black waistcoat, a white collar and striped shirt, a black-and-white spotted tie, with pearl tiepin, and a thin gold watch chain.

Kleinburg, April 27 — (CP) — A man sought as the driver of an automobile who fled the scene of an accident Wednesday night slipped through a police cordon today after shots were fired at him.

The police posse sighted him in bushland near this village 20 miles north of Toronto. The officers shouted at him to stop and fired warning shots, but the man waded through the Humber River and escaped. It is believed that none of the shots struck him.

Mrs. Marion Thompson, 29, of Long Branch, a Toronto suburb, who was found lying unconscious on Highway 27, is in Peel Memorial hospital at Brampton today with severe head and face lacerations and shock. Her condition was described as "Good."

Police said the man they are looking for is Charles Hewston, who lives at the same address as Mrs. Thompson. They said he had been captured Wednesday night shortly after the accident by a provincial police constable, but had fled when Ireland was telephoning Provincial Police.

Mrs. Thompson was injured when thrown from the car as it knocked down six guide posts, slid across the highway and plunged into a ditch. Mrs. Thompson told police Hewston had looked at her and muttered:

"I'll have to get rid of th's beer."

Then, police said, he opened the car door and ran into a nearby field in the darkness. Provincial Constable Lou Swinghammer said 12 empty beer bottles were found in the car.

Hewston was captured about 10 a.m. today but fled later in the direction of a tract of bush which is being combed by police.

Reeve Shipley Speaks Plainly At Convention

Toronto, April 27 — (CP) — Drastic action to give the municipalities means of carrying out their financial responsibilities without having to beg from the province was demanded today by Reeve Ann Shipley of Kirkland Lake.

Reeve Shipley spoke at the opening session of a three - day meeting of the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves. She is president of the organization.

Municipalities in Ontario have limited taxing powers and the situation in relation to the province has reached an impasse, she said.

"We have become literally nothing more than agents for the Provincial and Federal governments, and I predict that unless there is drastic action, fewer and fewer of the best type of citizens will be persuaded to accept such enormous responsibilities with such dubious authority.

She said municipalities should not have to beg at the mercy and good will of any government that happens to be in power at Queen's Park.

Promised Review

Reeve Shipley said the Association has repeatedly called on the Provincial government to assume a larger share of the costs of education, welfare and hospital care. Three years ago, she were promised such a review and funds were passed by the legislature for the purpose but, in spite of their repeated appeals, nothing has come of it.

"I could understand a difference of opinion as to a division of responsibilities among the three levels of government, but I cannot understand a refusal to sit down and at least attempt to define such responsibilities or attempt to allocate appropriate taxing fields to equitably cover the costs.

Must Bear Large Portion

"We have been patient, reasonable and most conservative in our public criticism of this or previous governments. We have asked nothing more from the province than it has asked from the dominion.

"Many times the municipalities have been told we should not be burdened with the cost of social services, but that we are the most suitable level of government to consider them. In order that the present high level of administration can be maintained, it is considered that we must bear a goodly portion of the cost.

"If this be so, then surely the other two levels of government for whom we are performing this service should admit their responsibility and compensate us in a just and clear-cut manner.

"Our autonomy has been sapped to such an extent that I doubt whether we control 25 per cent of the taxes we collect."

Seven Red Armies Massed for Blow Upon Crushan

Taipei, Formosa, April 27. (AP) —Seven Red armies are massed on mainland China and coastal islands for the assault upon Chushan, the Chinese Nationalists said today.

Two of the armies already are in position on nearby islands of the Chushan group, 100 miles southeast of Shanghai.

The invasion is expected momentarily.

Chushan itself is the key Nationalist blockade base for Shanghai, Chiang Kai-Shek's air and naval arms have stilled traffic into that once teeming port.

But in Taipei, property values plummeted. More and more Chinese were trying to get to Macao and Hong Kong.

ON THE LAWNS

With spring come and snow gone, it will very soon be a busy time for a good many people out-of-doors. They will be busy planning the floral decorations about their grounds, they will be raking lawns, and all in all a great transformation may be expected as a result of the returned activity associated with the season.

These folk who beautify their properties with flowers and keep their lawns tidy are true citizens. They do a great deal to enhance the fame of the city for its attractiveness. To a certain degree it may be said that a community is no more beautiful than the sumtotal of beauty of all the properties.

Try a good many this labor spent in lawn and in garden will not be so difficult for the lawns are in shape, the bushes and the plants are there and these folk can take matters a little more leisurely than those who have new properties with grounds to put in shape and plants and bushes to be set out.

Yet the man who has a new property has the wherewithal to change he can do in improvement of the city by work on his own lot. Perhaps he will get something more out of the labor and effort than those who have their grounds in good shape for it is all new and fresh to him and gives him the opportunity to display his industry and sense of beauty.

It is a labor of course but labor pays in greater beauty and in the pleasure and satisfaction that come in the creations and promise of improvements.

Householders who are new in the point of ownership of property and the responsibility of beautifying it are instructed afresh at this time. Many are flooded with ideas how to do so many things that keep knocking at their minds.

These makers of beauty where beauty did not previously exist are going to achieve something in real value. Whether they have neighborhood acclaim for their good deeds with plants and shrubs and lawn they have the satisfaction that they have done their good deeds for the community.

A FIGURE OUT OF HISTORY

One of the attractions of a land which has its roots deep in history is shown by an item of news from England. It brings forward names which were great in ages long since gone and cannot fail to attract the notice of the modern schoolboy to whom the Black Prince was one of the great ones of the past. The effigy of that Prince are today linked the modern seamstresses of London, now at work repairing the armor of England's 14th century warrior, the hero of Crecy and Poictiers, names of battles which live so many centuries after the Prince made his name glorious.

For 600 years his armor has hung above the tomb of the Black Prince in the Cathedral of Canterbury. Some months ago it was sent to the armorers at the Tower of London for examination and cleaning. Nearly sixty years ago was the last time this was done and then the jupon was found to hold it together, the lining which was found to be completely rotted has been replaced by Britain's Royal School of Needlework with fabric supplied by the Imperial Chemical Industries.

Some of the original coloring of parts of the armor has been recovered during the cleaning which has been so successful that authority has been given to exhibit these priceless relics at the Tower before they are returned to the Cathedral.

The very name of the Black Prince is like magic to the Canadian schoolboy of this twentieth century who draws much inspiration from English, Scottish and Irish history. It is still a living name to them.

Britain with its great ancient and mediaeval past lives in the minds of countless millions of British people in many parts of the world. The Prince heroes arose twice in these modern days, doughty champions to save the world, and fought the good fight to victory against Hitler tyranny.

Surely the inspiration of such figures as the Black Prince has had its influence down the centuries even to this day and age. Since the days of the Black Prince the world has greatly expanded and greatly changed but the spirit of the Black Prince, Scottish and Irish heroes remains one of the great influences upon world history in the making so many centuries after the Black Prince lived and fought.

They are still champions of truth and justice.

Miss Helen Davidson of Wellington is the guest of Miss M. Young, Russell St.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Roblin and Stewart, Mrs. Collins and Miss Falles have returned home after spending a vacation in Toronto.

To run the five public schools and the Collegiate and Vocational School for the year will require the sum of $136,068.72 the finance committee of the Board of Education reported last night at the regular monthly meeting. The sum of $73,777 will be used for the public schools and the balance of $62,291.72 will be by the Collegiate and Vocational School.

Mr. Charles Jeffery went to Toronto today on business.

Mrs. Everett Mastin and daughter Beulah of Point Anne are the guests of Mrs. E. J. Reid Oshawa.

MacKenzie's Column:

Conflict Might Easily Result In Another War

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

There are a few spots in our troubled world that threaten peace in more important than on the vast Indian peninsula.

There are two situations so explosive as that of the bitter relations which have been keeping the 300,000,000 Hindus of India and the 100,000,000 Moslems of Pakistan close to war.

Conflict between these two new countries might easily result in another global upheaval.

Therefore it's good to be able to report that things are looking better as a result of the efforts of Prime Minister Nehru of India and Premier Liaquat Ali Khan of Pakistan.

The recent conference in New Delhi, between these two chiefs of state produced agreements calculated to halt the bloody Moslem-Hindu communal warfare in both countries.

Now the two prime ministers are meeting again, this time in the Pakistan capital—Karachi. Once again peace is the goal.

To be settled yet is the red hot issue of the princely state of Kashmir, possession of which is claimed by both powers. India bases its position on the fact that the Maharajah of Kashmir, a Hindu, abandoned his desire to join India at the time of the creation of Pakistan and India. However, Pakistan disputes the possession on the grounds that the population of Kashmir is largely Moslem.

As things stand now, the matter is in the hands of the United Nations. The A.N. Security Council decided that a plebiscite should be held in Kashmir to determine the wishes of the population. Then the council sent a commission to Kashmir to survey the field and halt the armed clashes which were going on. This was done, and a truce exists.

The latest development is the appointment as mediator of Sir Owen Dixon of Australia, a judge of the Australian High Court, his new job will be to go to Kashmir and iron out the preliminaries to action so that the plebiscite be held. He has been given five months to achieve this.

Judge is Still Parking Car In Court Yard

Toronto, April 27 (CP)— Council faced up to its own parking problem a while back and ruled that judges, members of court, that is—repeat not—park in the city hall courtyard.

But that didn't stop County Judge T. Herbert Barton.

"They can't put me out," he said, quoting from a city-county agreement about facilities for county officials.

"Let's not tangle with that one," said Controller John Innes. His colleagues concurred. The city's legal department got the job—and succeeded.

"Be diplomatic."

Impressions of Britain

HOUSING

By RALPH CAMPBELL

This is an appropriate time to discuss housing as a critical vote in the House of Commons was held recently on the Labor government's housing record. The government was upheld by 23 votes, but Mr. Bevan, the minister in charge, had some uncomfortable minutes. It is difficult to know whether the strong Conservative opposition came from lack of approval and confidence in the record and policy of the ministry or from a political and deep-seated dislike for Mr. Bevan, who is attacked more than any other member of the House of Commons. And so let us by-pass ourselves what are the overall housing conditions of Britain. We shall refer briefly to the family accommodation at being a "house," though there may be a number of these under one roof, as in an apartment building.

In December, 1949, over one million, new and reconstructed dwellings had been made available since the end of the war. To quote the Economist, which takes from an admirer of Bevan, "Mr. Bevan's housing record has been'xcraric, executive, and in some respects unjust. But judged by the highest known test, the large numbers of dwellings completed, it has succeeded."

1,000,000 New Houses

Of the newly available houses, 56 per cent are permanent and new, 27 per cent are repaired or converted, and 17 per cent are temporary. Almost half a million houses were destroyed or made unhabitable during the war; by the end of 1949 more than a million new families will have come into being. Between now and 1950, housing conditions will be approximately equivalent to those of 1938, but there will be many more houses to accommodate the increased population.

Most of the new houses are built by local councils. Mr. Aneurin Bevan has said that present policy is to rent nine out of every ten houses. Rents are strictly stringent controls on building, and since the building industry is nationalized it is very difficult for any private individual to have a house built as he desires it, and when he desires it.

In fact the government's policy is that with the post-war scarcity of materials, labor and the necessity to reduce the amount of sterling spent on imported housing materials, the available resources must be so used to give priority to those in the most need of them. This involves controlling, planning, building new houses, and other less expensive houses, rather than the larger and more luxurious type which richer people could afford to build for themselves.

Policy Appears Sound

I do not wish to be involved in any political controversy here, but the housing policy seems to be the criticism being that subsidized and controlled building has been too fully extensive and wasteful, thus failing to make efficient uses of the available materials and current imports. Unfortunately I am unable to find any evidence for this criticism as it is a difficult matter to assess the efficiency of building and repairing in terms of different types.

The Conservative platform is to turn housing over to private enterprise and build, when it can, very successful. In fact all during the depression (which was less severe in Britain than in the U.S. A. and Canada) there was a tremendous boom in the building activity. This was induced by very low rates of interest and extremely low costs of building. Thus money could be borrowed for long terms and cheaply through a Building Society, and a house erected at a low cost.

The annual interest and capital charges on houses were consequently less than the rent of older houses. But stow of course while satisfactory.

the rate of interest is low, the cost of building are high, and it is difficult to predict how successful this policy would be if applied now.

Housing Costs

To find any comprehensive figures on housing is difficult, but the average cost of 2,000 houses completed in nine different districts in 1948 and 1949 was about $4,750 to $8,000. These variations depend partly upon the type and location of the house, but a structure with three bedrooms would cost about $5,500 to $5,700. Rents of these houses are about $2.50 to $4.00 per week, including rates. This low rent is made possible by high subsidies — about $17 per year pay house by the local authority, which rents the house and an even higher subsidy (of about $50 per year) by the state.

It is estimated that a rent of about $4.85-$5.00 per week for these houses would just pay for them without any subsidy. The typical three bedroom house mentioned above covers 1,120 square feet as compared to 900 square feet in ita American counterpart.

These rents are for new houses, built by local authorities and subsidized. But rents are considerably higher, particularly here in Oxford where I am at present and they about $19 per week for a third floor five-roomed apartment with bath and rates not included. Yet in other places the rent is very low. For example, in a coal-mining town pay about $5 per week for a house similar to this rented to be the standard rent for that entire area. One must bear in mind that rents are much lower here than in Canada.

Income Limit

Even after allowing for direct taxation, the sum of all personal incomes has risen 60 per cent between 1938 and 1948. Now we must realize that the increase in capitalism has not been in rent, but been a full 80 per cent increase in wages, because on the average, as there are more people with one earner, the increased income must be distributed. But at the same time, rents have only increased 15 per cent owing to rent control and housing subsidies. This is the crux of the so-called housing shortage.

In 1938 many families could not afford a house of their own and so live with in-laws or friends in overcrowded conditions. There is little effective demand for houses and note the word "effective" as there is a great deal of right, but not a demand in terms of incomes and rents. But now people have more money, food prices are kept low by subsidies, and they have more available for housing. Therefore there is now an "effective" demand for more need houses as they did in 1938 but now they can afford to pay for them at the present low rents. Thus the whole housing shortage in Britain, and reflects a far better situation than one would at first be led to see at the time and the attention which it receives.

Some Injustices Noted

However, the rent situation in a good many places is quite chaotic, and the present system of Rents Department abounds in related to injustices. Families in identical houses may pay widely different rents because they became tenants at different times. Some families in houses in some areas receive larger subsidies and pay lower rents than families in other areas, without any consideration of their need. Some families get big new heavily subsidized houses, while similar families wait for years for houses in about the same rate. These are problems that have accompanied the nationalization of housing in Britain, and problems, too, that are inherent in any state housing situation is to be called

OF GREGORY CLARK

This is the age of statistics. The day after tomorrow is the most statistical age of the world. In that day, every millionaire and millionairess will be at least one sensible little suburban cigar store keeper and his daughter. Every pair of socks a paint factory has to compile the statistics of the year's production and sales.

But that is a mere bagatelle to the statistics which will be piled up around us like giant heaps of sawdust from a mill. Every type of human endeavor has its statistical or international association. Every association has a statistician operated by post graduate doctors of science. The day after the statistics story system, not even a charity of a church but has its statistical department for the discovery and careful documentation of facts of every conceivable aspect having to do with their activities.

None of them, however, finds so expanding a field for statistics as the numerous public service agencies working at all level or our Federal Government, and from there down to flop houses. And to them this statistical question is directed:

tion of our prisons ever had a papey route as boys, or had a job delivering groceries, or worked in a drug store?

The answer would be—nil; though some professor may come up with a figure from 1 to 5 percent. This morning, a low-flying aircraft woke me up at 4 a.m. and I happened to glance out the window.

There, on the quiet street, stood a small elderly boy with a huge packsacks of the morning newspaper delivery. Needless to say, he was standing deeply engrossed, reddling the news. He walked a few paces, stopped, looked, tossed it on the next verandah; picked out another and so on. It was exactly 4 a.m., and the whole street asleep.

Nothing can go wrong with that kid.

HOW TO AVOID LIFELONG TROUBLE

The mother of a three-year-old boy writes that "He has had trouble since birth with his bowels."

Being unendowed with second sight, I don't know whether the child has some congenital (present at birth) defect or abnormality, but for the present purpose let us assume that the cause is just as mother describes.

"He is so terribly constipated. The doctor has recommended a couple of types of laxatives, which did not help. I give him enemas practically every night . . ."

The poor little mite at times there must be some sort of righteous indignation and rancour at the prospect of taking what he so regularly for morbid fancy.

A healthy, properly fed baby will never need any other laxative than the right food. Food is laxative, you know—rather I should say very likely you don't know how! I'm talking about the food, I mean—any food that is fit to eat is laxative. Some foods are more laxative than others. But no particular item of food is "binding" or "constipating." To imagine that this or that good thing is binding" is to show great ignorance, that's all. Every day one hears people say they are constipated because they don't eat enough cheese" or perhaps they mention some other food—"cheese is so binding." Cheese is less laxative than, say, bread, but it is not binding, perhaps, but this is no reason why any one should eat it to excess—a lot of cheese he likes, at any time he likes.

The little boy's mother is "afraid to let him go"—that is, afraid to avoid interfering with the natural autonomic or automatic function.

Many millions of Yankee Wisecres are subject to that cheerful phobia. They are not afraid, as a rule, to go. Constipation is a violation of the function of the lungs, the function of the kidneys and the function of the heart. But that is merely because the charlatans have not learned how to interfere with the natural autonomic or automatic regulation of these functions.

In a great many cases it not most cases the constipation or physic habit is established in the earliest week of infancy by giving the baby that first dose of castor oil.

In therapeutics, the use of treatment, castor oil is recognized as a good remedy for acute diarrhoea because one large dose of it quickly sweeps out the offending food from the intestine and then locks the bowel for a day or more. But castor oil is no longer regarded as safer or less irritating than other physics, for infant, child or adult. In fact it is rarely prescribed today.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Parkinson's Disease

I am 70 years old, a nurse, and have Parkinson's Disease for about 7 years. Is there anything I can do? anything else I can do? (G. D. A.)

Answer—Parkinson's Disease—shaking palsy responds well in some cases to medications known to all doctors. Often treatment is disappointing. A surgical procedure is also used in selected cases. Only individual study by a physician can give the proper value to you. The range is too long for me to advise you.

SHE HAD TO

I had to take 5 colonic treatments after using psyllium seeds. (Mrs. B. C.)

Question—You had to? Suppose you didn't? Who determined that you had to? Was it anything else could be done? Why did anything have to be done? Tell me more.

Reducing After Forty

I am 38, 5 feet 4 inches tall, weigh 175 and want 135 lbs. Used to do much swimming and boxing. Is 135 a fair weight for me? (L. P. Pounds. (B.T.)

Answer—Reducing after forty (or there-abouts) is a serious matter. With intelligence, no fad or "easy" business, and patience, reducing regimen it may be accomplished with improvement of health, vile, personal appearance and longevity. After fifty reducing is always advisable, and when it is advisable it should be only with careful medical supervision. Send stamped self-addressed envelope and twenty-five cents for booklet Rules for Reducing. Incidentally 135 would be a lower your sights to 30 years.

SPINACH

A recent survey made by the Department of Agriculture points up in striking fashion the complexity which beats the modern citizen's dweller. The Department studied the process by which spinach moves from the farmer's field to the consumer's dinner table. On the average, the price paid by the ultimate consumer just three times what the farmer was paid. What happened to the rest of the money? Packing, transportation, handling, and distributing expenses ate it up.

This situation is typical of many aspects of modern living, which often becomes more complex and costly without necessarily becoming any better. It is easy to let our lives acquire complexities and lose satisfying happiness. Millions of people lose the simple joys of home centering between home and work. Other millions live jammed into small rooms and flats or into apartments. Still others, caught in the round of business engagements and cocktail parties, hardly see their families from week to week.

To avoid these frustrations requires faith and insight. We need faith in the importance of human conduct and individual achievement to keep us searching for the good life. We need insight to discriminate between eternal and spiritual values and temporary attractions which we cannot serve both God and mammon.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE INHERITANCE OF PRAYER

My father, being a minister, I was brought up on prayer. After the morning and evening meal we would pray, then my mother, then my four sisters and myself. We would kneel at our wooden chairs and pray in my father's language. And when very young, many times during the day, and at night time, when my mother would come to me in bed, she would say a prayer for me that I might grow up to be a useful and helpful member of society.

That inheritance of prayer has been a great source of strength and confidence that has ever come into my life. My father's and my father's faith was sufficient evidence that prayer paid, and that God real, and "a very present help in trouble."

Said Dr. Alexis Carrel: "Only in prayer do we see sinners that come pale and harmonious assembly of body, mind and spirit which gives to the human person real its unshakable strength." Also, he said that "a constant, quiet effort to acle takes place hourly in the hearts of men and women who plies them with a steady flow of sustaining power in their daily lives.

I recently came across a statement by Prime Minister Winstonisky, of Russia, made to U.S. Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin. He said: "I do not pray." I am of the opinion, however, that a thousand mother in Russia offers up many a prayer for departed sons and husbands that abolishes God from its destiny.

Prayer, at such times, during the first terrible war, often retired to a little church to pray. During one of the bitterest of historic winters, Washington knelt in the snow at Valley Forge and prayed that God might bring victory and peace to the colonies. Lincoln often paced the floor of the White House at night, alone, calling upon God to end the war and bring about peace and union. No one can say that their prayers were of no avail.

There is the inheritance so great as that of sincere and devout prayer. Spurgeon in a little book, recently published by Harper's, says: "Voyage to Lourdes" by Dr. Alexis Carrel was found among the papers of the great scientist after his death. It is an account

Demands for New Defence Funds, Draft Law Extension All but Shelve Economy Drive

Washington, April 27 (AP)—The tensing international situation brought added force today in the United States Congress to demands for new defence funds and extension of the draft — if it all but shelved an economy drive.

In response to the request of Defence Secretary Louis Johnson, the House of Representatives was resigned to vote an extra $360,000,000 for military spending most of it for airplanes.

And House Leaders thought it likely that the members would have a vote on the question of keeping the draft law alive for two years beyond June 24, when it is scheduled to die.

Chairman Clarence Cannon (Dem. Mo.) of the House Appropriations Committee Wednesday announced committee approval of an amendment that would increase the U.S. defence budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 from the $13,911,000,000 recommended last month by the committee to $14,281,000,000.

The extra $250,000,000 would be split up this way: $200,000,000 for the air force; 100,000,000 for naval aid; $50,000,000 for conversion of warships and for the anti-submarine warfare program.

Will Ask Extension

Chairman Carl Vinson (Dem. Ga.) of the Armed Services Committee told reporters that because of "present world conditions" he will ask the committee next week to approve a two-extension of the draft law.

No one has been drafted since January, 1949, but military leaders want it kept on the books for quick use if necessary. It covers men 19 through 26.

Secretary Johnson told the House and Senate Appropriation Committees Wednesday that "the force of events" necessitating an increase in defence funds included:

"The Soviet atomic explosion, the fall of China, the serious situations in southeast Asia, the break in diplomatic relations with other satellite countries, the Soviet assumption of control over the armed forces of Poland, Soviet naval expansion, the increased Soviet pressures in Germany, the recent attack on a naval aircraft in the Baltic, and the recent Soviet demands relative to Trieste."

BABY'S UPSET STOMACH QUICKLY CORRECTED

BABY'S little "tummy" is often easily upset. If it really is a gastric upset, you'll soon know for how to do it. Just give baby a few drops of Lemon Gin, tail your Druggist. Gin Pills are a great help at the first sign of upset stomach. Relieves baby's little pet upset quickly, normal one. They work quickly yet gently. Thousands of Canadian mothers find them really effective. And Mrs. W. E. Sharp says: "I turned to Gin Pills when baby suffered severe upset. a tummy upset after baby started to eat solid foods. Gin Pills relieved baby's upset quite upset. I gave her Gin Pills again and she soon enjoyed strong — and quicker sleep."

Equally effective for teething troubles, colds, simple fevers, functional constipation, easily crushed to a powder for children who refuse to swallow pills. 50's "money" back if no quick relief. Buy a box today for children as often sickness in the night. 50 cents.

MUST OBTAIN MOTIVE

Kitchener, April 27 — (CP) — Low-calorie diets alone will seldom lead to success for overweight patients, Dr. F. N. Allan of Boston said Wednesday night. Addressing 150 doctors at the first annual clinic day of the North Waterloo Medical Society, he said a doctor must first "obtain the motive for which the patient desires to lose weight and use that motive in his treatment."

BOARD ASTONISHED

Toronto, April 27 — (CP) — Board of Control, which just five days ago authorized negotiations to purchase Oakwood Stadium as a civic, recreational centre, was astonished Wednesday to learn that the Civic Board of Education has already made a verbal agreement to purchase the site for a new $950,000 school for crippled children.

Mission Work in Far East Handicapped by Red Domination

Rev. J.A. Munro Tells Synodical

On Wednesday evening the meeting of the Synodical Society of St. Andrew's Church was opened by the minister, Mr. J. G. Hornsby with a devotional period. The theme was "The Outreaches of Canada and overseas."

When a person says "I don't believe in missions" he is denying the basic principles prescribed by Christ. The Presbyterian Church has lost the sense of the urgency of the task. Today more than ever before in our generation and comfort it should be. It is the request of the Commandment of Christ to carry His word to the utmost parts of the earth.

"The church in the Maritimes is meeting with difficult conditions with a shortage of ministers," the speaker continued, "but there has been progress in every department in spite of the handicaps. Bands of diligent and faithful workers have met their responsibilities nobly, and carrying on their work which includes ministering immigrants from Europe.

Great Growth Showing

"Central Canada is showing great growth and work with the non-Anglo Saxons has prospered. Many fine church buildings are self-supporting. Work with the Ukranians, Italians, Chinese and Japanese is going on. We are with great spirit. Outposts are being established which will help to see suffering from a shortage of ministers. We have a shortage of W.M.S. two communities will have ministers this summer. Outpost missions are operated with W.M.S. funds On the Alaska Highway a church is being sent to aid the work in the communities there, I hope time will come when permanent workers will be sent there.

"We are in need of manpower in the Christian Church. Canada has been deficient in her spiritual contribution. One church in Nova Scotia has been vacant for eight years. Calls to India are calling and calling for help. Yet I believe there are those in Ontario that are over a hundred years old who will be given one young man to the ministry.

Responsibility Is Ours

"In Korea thirty-three churches were lost by bombing during the war. But the little churches left are not defeated. They are trying to rebuild. The infant church is marching on and crying for help. They are our responsibility and our only ours. The W.M.S. has sent funds to the Korean church to help in re-building.

"In Formosa where communist armies were able to take the island of Haiman without much resistance, the missionaries know that their time is running out, and they have been working on with that knowledge. Formosa has the fastest growing church in the world. The church has fourteen buildings of fine architecture, and across the island is the great McKay Memorial Hospital, built by the missionary doctor. Tamsui College is intact and the whole educational system of the island has grown from the Presbyterian mission there. Ninety-five per cent of the population is literate compared to the mainland of China where only twenty per cent are educated."

Mr. Munro Retires

Mr. Munro told the story of Bishop Leslie MacKay of Central Country who was the first white missionary on the island. On the East Coast which presented almost insurmountable difficulties there are now 27 churches with a membership of 10,000 which has been done with no help from outside.

"There is no greater mission in the world today than the work of Christian mission in Formosa. Your missionaries there are living in great peril. They don't know when the armies from the mainland are going to strike. They are toiling to establish character in the Christian church that will stand the test. The government warned the missionaries it was time to leave and go home, but they said, 'we are staying.' They are the real heroes of the army of Christ. Are you praying for them?

Brutally Treated

"In Central India we visited a village there and were told of an incident that happened when the officials were trying to force the Christians out. A native showed us his back which had been cut to ribbons, and the backs of his knees which had been brutally beaten. They told us of another man who was in the hospital with both arms and legs broken, but the spirit of these people was not broken.

"We need to know the personal God which will make our church a vital force. These fields need aid and educated men. The people of India have a great respect for learning and education You must re-dedicate yourselves. We are not supporting Communism or Capitalism, but we are supporting the cross of Jesus Christ which we hold up for all the world to see."

Bethel Shrine No. 11 Installs New Officers

The Bethlehem Shrine No. 11, Order White Shrine of Jerusalem, held their regular meeting recently in the I.O.O.F. hall.

Through the illness of the W.H.P. Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton the chair was taken by Past W.H.P. Mrs. Margaret Cherry until the installation of new officers for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Zada Saylor, Past W.H.P. very capably installed the 1950-51 officers in the following manner. The room was daintily decorated with tulips and daffodils and windmills adding an attractive setting for the ceremony of installation.

Mrs. Barbara Reed, the incoming W.H.P. was presented to the Installing Officer by Mrs. Hilda Sargent, Past W.H.P.

The Installing Board was composed of Past W.H.P.s' and the Installing W.H.P., Mrs. Essie Nayler; Chaplain, Mrs. Ethel Elliott; Scribe. Mrs. Margaret Cherry; Guardian, Mrs. Gertrude McKeown; Herald, Mrs. Hilda Sargent; Organist, Mrs. Lola Fraser; assisted by Mrs. Marie Adams, Mrs. Ida Adams, Mrs. Ida Ashby and Mr. Harry Adams, P.W.H.P.

The incoming W.H.P., Mrs. Barbara Reed, received many beautiful flowers from friends and her family for which she graciously thanked them.

Synodical by Mrs. A. E. Tombs

"A little boy of the 'Untouchable' class playing with fire-crackers burned to death rounded by a circle of Hindus who could not put their hands on him to put out the fire. Such is the caste system in India," said Mrs. A. E. Tombs in giving moving address to the assembled women of the Synodical Society at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Tombs has spent eighteen years in the inlsion fields of central India, joining her husband there as a bride.

"When people of this class touch the disciples of the relief since they stand at a distance and ask the missionaries to throw them the medicine they need, not realizing that the missionaries are afraid to touch them for fear of losing caste. In rural India conditions are deplorable, the hearts of little children. It is true that they have been allowed to go to school, but after that they do no Hindu will ever enter the temple except for one or two hundred women not over three have any medical care. They have their babies, suffer from sore eyes and skin diseases, and the rich and they are the ones who have no dispensary for medicine at the mission. They receive what medical care they can get and also they are given love and the spiritual message. And it is very difficult to get them to come because now the doors have been closed to Hindus and Moslems.

India Like Tiger

"In Bombay at Victoria Park one day we saw a caged tiger pacing up and down and a man standing near the cage and slapped the tiger and pulled his ears. We asked him why he was not afraid. 'We raised him, he is ours.' That is what India is like today. It is like a tiger that does not know its own power and strength. It has been treading the bars of British rule for so long that it has not awakened to its own potentialities. The British have introduced administration in the world, it makes no difference to the keeper, the imprisoned one is unhappy.

"The people at home don't know anything about the work in India. Young women have gone grey in mission service with no prospect of a normal life of their own. They have no home life, no companionship, no hope of marrying or having a family. They are miles from their English speaking relatives, teaching uncomfortable with no society other than natives, and for months at a time they hear no English spoken. You haven't the faintest idea what those girls are undergoing. In the hot season temperature is about 120 degrees. You have your husbands, your friends and your children. Those girls need your prayers, and they need more than that. Wouldn't it be better to obey God and send the girls? Are you ready to meet Him face to face another war because we didn't spend enough to teach Christianity?"

Mrs. A. Glenn Thompson, president of the Synodical, opened the afternoon meeting by calling on Mrs. D. R. Rawson for the devotional service. Mrs. Rawson spoke on the text, "Ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem and unto the uttermost parts of the earth."

Group Welcomed

Mrs. D. L. Fleming, president of the Kingston Presbyterial, brought greetings from that body by welcoming a group of women interested in missionary work. "It is a great blessing to have so many Christian women meeting in one place, and I welcome you from the bottom of my heart," she told the delegates.

Greetings from the National Council were brought by Mrs. W. Hamilton, corresponding secretary of the Council. Mrs. McLennan said that although the Society had been through some trying times it had come up smiling. She lauded the generosity of the women's work they had done. Council had the task of distribution and not promotion work. The most important branch was the individual society. The purpose of the W.M.S. is prayer by members of Council briefed in the manner they are to take to the Presbyterials. Their aim is to promote the Christian work in Canada and the advance for overseas work.

Must Work in Districts

She firmly believed that the Presbyterials must do a great deal of work in their own districts assisted by whatever help and direction was needed. Mrs. McLennan introduced the new treasurer of Mrs Elizabeth Moody, of Vancouver, to assist Mrs McArthur. Mrs. Moody and Miss Moody has been associated in kindergarten and children's work and has the training for the position.

Mrs. Hall extended a vote of thanks to the secretary, Mrs. Willett Barber, for the wonderful job she had done and also for the helping hand she always gave.

Mrs. Harold Tate in moving the adoption of the report remarked that it was gratifying to know that all the objectives had been met. "God is speaking to us today through these reports," she said, "as He spoke to Moses. "Speak to the children of Israel that they go forward. Let your service begin after this meeting."

Speaking on literature, Miss Louise Reith, M. A., noted that the advance helps us to get from where we are, to where we ought to be." Missionary literature gives a vision of where we are, what we have accomplished and what we want to be. Our study books give us a picture of our church's work, and where the church stands in various fields overseas."

Mrs. J. Brisbane, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. Mantle contributed a solo.

Mrs. A. Carr pronounced the closing prayer.

On Tuesday evening a supper was served to the attending delegates by the ladies of the church, and on Wednesday morning and luncheons were provided at noon.

A table of books and pamphlets covering many fields of education for children and adult study was presented. The display showed that the eleven Presbyterials, which comprise the Synodical had expended their allocation of $68,000 by $1,549.56. The allocation for this year will be $73,000. Miss Lundia McBeth, corresponding secretary, showed in her report that the year had been a satisfactory one, pointing out that in the Stirling and Trenton areas many new Dutch families have been welcomed.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

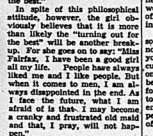
By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

To be a "cranky old maid" not the only alternative to marriage

A young woman of 35, who says that since she was 18 years old she has had "nothing but bad luck where men are concerned," is obsessed with the fear that she may become "a cranky and frustrated old maid".

It seems to be perfectly true that she has had bad luck with her romances, some of which I judge was her own fault, for

My example, in telling about her first romance at the age of 18, she says: When I fully realized how much he really cared for me, I took a great deal of advantage of him, so much that he finally got disgusted and left me. At that age I was still a silly child, and didn't realize what a wonderful fellow I had 'until it was too late."



Five years later she fell in love again, but this broke up because the young man's family disapproved of the match for the reason that she was three years older than he was.

A third romance began to blossom only recently. In this case, the girl says: "He fell deeply in love with me but I wasn't sure that I was in love with him. He treated me wonderfully, and because he was so good to me, I decided to give myself a chance, and presently I found I was falling in love with him, too. We began going out steadily, and he started to talk marriage to me and I knew he was really sincere.

"Now, for what reason I do not know, he suddenly claims he should not see me for a month in order to make certain whether or not he does care for me. I realize this is a good idea, which I am sure will turn out for the best."

In spite of this philosophical attitude, however, the girl obviously believes that it is more than likely the "turning out for the best" will be another breakup. For she goes on to say: "Miss Fairfax, I have been a good girl all my life. People have always liked me and I like people. Now that when it comes to men, I am always disappointed in the end. As I face the future, what I am afraid of is that- I may become a cranky and frustrated old maid and that, I pray, will not happen."

Now the first thing I would like to say to this girl is that no matter what may happen to her, there is no reason in the world why she should become a cranky and frustrated old maid.

DOUK WOMEN VIEW FANATICS' WORK

One of the strange aspects of the Doukhobor destruction is the fact that the women of the fanatical Sons of Freedom sect will participate in the burning of their own homes and belongings. Not all the Doukhobors are happy to see their life's work go up in smoke, however. These women, at Krestova, B.C., are in tears as they view the remains of their homes.—Central Press Canadian.

The mere fact that she may never marry does not need to turn her into the kind of person she would not like to be. What sort of person she becomes is entirely in her own hands.

It is an old truth, and a very sound one, that circumstances do not make you what you are, but you are what you make of circumstances. In other words, no one needs to become embittered because life does not turn out for them the way they would like to have it. On the contrary, it is entirely up to them what sort of person they will be and what sort of a time they will have in life.

Impossible as it may seem to the very young, there are many enjoyable things in life besides being married, and some of the happiest women I know are single. For instead of brooding over what life has denied them, they have put this aside and concentrated on making the most of the other things life has to offer.

Which is why I am crammed with interesting activities of so many kinds that it would be a strange man or woman indeed who could not find something to make life stimulating and thoroughly satisfying. If this 25-year-old has no idea of how to find such things, she might write me again, enclosing a stamped addressed envelope and I will see what I can do to help her.

GOOD MANNERS

Bride's attendants' flowers not sent by best man or ushers

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I thought I was positive that the bride's family pays for the flowers of the bride's attendants: honor attendant, bridesmaids, and flower girls. But in the case under discussion the bride-to-be and the groom-to-be insist that sending these flowers to the bride's attendants is the duty of the ushers. Am I right or wrong?

D. W. H.

Right! Although the bridal attendants pay for their wedding costumes, the bride's family provides the flowers they carry. This is not only a charming how the bride's parents make to the bride's attendants, but also it is very sensible and practical, because the flowers must be chosen to harmonize with the color-scheme and general plans of the wedding.

It seems constantly necessary today to emphasize that the best men and the ushers have only two financial responsibilities: (1) to provide their own attire to be worn to the wedding, the attire prescribed by the groom, and (2) to send the bride-to-be a wedding present.

Not shower invitations to out-of-towners you know can't come

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Do you think it is proper to send shower invitations to people who live out-of-town and' who you are positive will not be able to attend the shower? I think this just doesn't make sense. . . but my cousin maintains that sending this invitation is a compliment to the person it is sent to.

Sally M.

You're right . . . sending these shower invitations doesn't make sense. Receiving such an invitation would have no compliment or honor attached to it. It would too obviously and crudely mean that the invitation was sent with the "hope" that a shower present be sent . . . "We know you can't come. But how's about sending a shower present?"

WOOLER

Three Honored At Birthday Dinner

Wooler.—Mrs. S. L. Terrill and Mrs. R. Putnam gave a birthday dinner on Sunday evening in honor of Mrs. Elgin McMaster, Mrs. Leland Bryant and Mr. Milton Bryant.

Other guests were Mr. Elgin McMaster, Mr. Ross McMaster, Dr. M. Leland Bryant, Mr. Roy Putnam, Miss Annie Richards and her guest, Mrs. Manchester, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Putnam and baby.

The guests of honor received many gifts and congratulatory long distance telephone calls.

Afternoon Aux. WMS Entertains United Church Evening Aux.

Wooler—The Afternoon Auxiliary of the Woman's Missionary Society entertained the Evening Auxiliary in the United Church parlors on Tuesday evening.

The guests were received by Mrs. F. A. Dorland. About 60 members sat down to well laden tables that were decorated with daffodils and royal blue crepe paper.

Mrs. S. L. Terrill, president of the Afternoon Auxiliary, welcomed the guests to which Mrs. N. Crosby, president of the Evening Group, replied.

A miscellaneous program followed the supper. Mrs. A. G. Austin was accompanist for the community singing. Other numbers were—a piano duet by Mrs. Robert Wallace and Mrs. L. H. Rowe; vocal duet by Mrs. A. G. Austin and Mrs. H. Vansickle; vocal solo by Mrs. Lloyd Dorland, and piano solos by Mrs. Jack Bell and Mary Dorland; also a reading by Mrs. C. D. Cole.

Mrs. C. Taylor and Mrs. Lloyd Bell, who were partners in the draw, received the prize of an angel cake.

The concluding number was a dialogue, "The Dreamer" by 12 members of the Afternoon Auxiliary. Mrs. Cole took the part of the dreamer, and Mrs. P. Gooding that of the doctor. Others taking part were Mrs. S. L. Terrill, Mrs. L. H. Rowe, Mrs. D. Jenners, Mrs. Jack Redcliffe, Mrs. R. Putnam, Mrs. J. J. Way, Mrs. H. Galanford, Mrs. C. Dunn, Mrs. H. Vansicklin and Mrs. C. R. Terrill.

This original dialogue, giving ten excuses for not attending Missionary meeting, was most amusing.

An enjoyable evening was brought to a close by all singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds".

BRITISH PLANE CRASHES IN SWISS ALPS

A member of the search party is uncovering the wreckage of the four-engined British Halifax-Halton plane that crashed into Hohgantluhe Mountain, Swiss Alps, while on its way from Holland to Italy. The plane caused an avalanche after it struck the mountain side. The five-man crew and one passenger perished. Swiss officials believed that an error of navigation caused the tragedy, pointing out that the plane's route was normally more to the south, over the Bremer Pass. — Central Press Canadian.

The president, Ross Vivian presided.

Ruth Kilburn read the Scripture Lesson, Luke 24:1-8. Mrs. Stanley MacDonald gave an interesting talk on the subject of Easter. Ardeth Brant read an appropriate story entitled "Grandfather's Easter Garden"; Mrs. K. Vivian read the story from "Boys of the Bible"—Moses the Leader, Mrs. Stanley MacDonald offered prayer.

New members were Norma Sager, Linda Marion and Shirley Brant, Mrs. Garrison read an interesting story 'Can Money Talk.'

Master Sonny Culloden of Belleville was a guest during the weekend of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin MacKenzie.

The community was shocked to hear of the sudden passing on of Mrs. Murray Wickens, Frankford, who was the junior room teacher in the local school at the beginning of the term. Mrs. Wickens was obliged to relinquish her teaching position in the fall and underwent an operation at that time. Her friends were under the impression that she was improved in health but she passed away in Belleville General Hospital on Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Wilson are cousins of the deceased.

Miss Spearing of Whitby, was a guest last weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vivian.

Mrs. Helen Crispe spent a few days in Toronto recently where she was the guest of Miss Gloria Jean Hicks.

Mrs. Douglas Thompson, of Foxboro, spent last Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Malcolm Little, Mr. Little and Donald. Mrs. Thompson returns in the near future to Kingston General Hospital where she will undergo a second operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Williams of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Vesterfelt were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs Sidney Fitzgerald.

Mrs. W. D. Robertson and Donald returned home last Sunday evening after spending a week in Toronto with the former's son Mr. Wallace Robertson, and friends, in that city.

Mr. Richard Kilpatrick, of Malone, N.Y., is a guest of his son Mr. Vernon Kilpatrick, and family. He accompanied Vernon and family last Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tufts and Marilyn, of Corbyville.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Reid, of Foxboro, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs Malcolm Little and Donald were recent visitors to the United States.

Next Sunday evening the United Church service will be held at 8 p.m. due to the change to Daylight Saving Time. Gu Mother's Day a special service will be held and the sacrament of infant baptism.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Holmes, Marilyn and Melburn of Kingston were Sunday guests at the Melburn home. All are sorry to learn that Mrs. Stickney is still not in the best of health.

Mrs. Russell Holland of Belleville, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Stratton.

A large crowd attended the dance Friday evening in the local Orange Hall. Carney Reid and his Westerners was the orchestra present. A resident from Peterborough held the lucky ticket in the draw for a suit of clothes.

The many friends of Miss Marion Blatherwick are pleased to hear she has been discharged from the Belleville General Hospital, following her recent illness. She spent the weekend with her sister, Mrs. Damon Hluchey, and Mr. Hinchey.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. MacFarlane accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. Sherry, of Belleville, were visitors in Toronto this past week.

Service was held in Holy Trinity Anglican Church on Sunday morning with Rev. A. P. Scott of Napanee as the guest speaker. Mr. Scott will assume Rev. L. Caldwell's pastoral work until the rector improves in his health. His many friends in the community wish him a speedy recovery. Mr. Caldwell has been an energetic worker, and has underestimated his health and strength in doing so.

Finch's "Dopey" Gets Wanderlust

Ladysmith, B.C. — (CP) — Spring may mean the end of a beautiful friendship here — a friendship between Rosey, a motherley purple finch, and Dopey, a puny song sparrow.

This story had its beginning during British Columbia's cold, cold winter. Dopey, hungry and friendless, wandered into the bird-feeding station of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Collinge where big-hearted Rosey is a permanent boarder.

Although he was obviously starving, Dopey couldn't master the swollen wheat flakes provided for him.

"He was a shabby little thing," said Mrs. Collinge, "and we didn't think he had a chance of survival. But an amazing thing happened."

Rosey went to work. She taught the little sparrow to break the big wheat flakes into smaller pieces. She huddled against him to keep him warm. She defended him from other birds.

In short, she adopted him. And Dopey thrived.

But with spring, a strong and healthy Dopey probably will leave his foster mother to see the world. Rosey, says Mrs. Collinge, will miss him.

IVANHOE

Y.O.U. Beulah United Church

Ivanhoe—On Monday evening the Y.O.U. held their regular meeting in the church with a good number in attendance. The meeting opened with a song service in which the president led in the singing of some hymns from the new Song sheets.

The worship service opened with quiet music, the theme being "Christian Missions". A poem was read by Doris V. Twiddy and Rev. H. G. Sleers led in prayer. The scripture lesson Isaiah 6:1-8 was read by Eleanor Reid. A brief message on the scripture was given by the president in which she stressed the need for church workers both at home and in foreign fields.

A short business period was held. The secretary also gave a report on the convention held in Napanee recently. Eleanor Reid gave the treasurer's report showing a fair amount of money on hand.

Mrs. Earl McMaster conducted the program which included a reading called "Friends", read by Mrs. Elymer Rollins; a solo, "Breathe On Me Breath of God" by Annie Crookes; the topic, "A Missionary Story" was given by Mrs. George Wood and a lovely solo was rendered by Mrs. Milton Shaw. Little Mrs Karen Shaw and Linda Reid each rendered a solo and Barbara Benson gave a reading.

Since a number of children were in attendance, a contest was arranged for them and conducted by Mrs. E. McMaster.

A social time was spent and coffee and doughnuts served.

Mr. G. A. Creaser, Siderite, Ont., spent the weekend in Frankford and Ivanhoe, and attended the Sunday evening service at Beulah United Church.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Powell, Frankford, and Mr. H. G. Sleers, of Belleville, spent the supper hour on Sunday evening, guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Twiddy and family.

Mrs. Charles Cooney, of Kingston, called in Ivanhoe on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fleming and family, of Madoc, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fleming.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMullen, of Halloway, visited Mr. and Mrs. E. McMaster on Sunday.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

Ivanhoe — The April meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Milton Shaw on last Thursday.

The president, Mrs. John McInroy, opened the meeting by reading a poem, "Our Duty" and the Rev. W. H. V. Walker led in prayer. The scripture reading, John 10, was read by Mrs. Harry Thompson. The roll call was answered by a verse with the name "Thomas" in it.

Mrs. William Shaw will be the delegate to the Synodical held in Belleville this month. The next meeting will be held at the home of Stirling. A helpful poem was read by Mrs. Walker.

A paper on the key word "Thomas" was given by Mrs. Morley Haggerty and Mrs. Milton Shaw sang "How Can I Be Lonely?"

A chapter in the study book, telling of the first missionaries to enter Japan, and their problems was reviewed by Mrs. Barton Haggerty. A reading "Calling Christian Parents" was given by Miss Bessie Fleming.

Mrs. William Shaw told of the missionary work in Formosa. A helpful reading was given by Mrs. Donald Haggerty, "Patience, Perseverence, and Pluck."

The president moved a vote of thanks to the hostess. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Shaw and Personale.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonter Rollins were Saturday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Shaw.

Mr. Gordon MacMillan, of Toronto, spent the weekend at his home here.

Mr. George Fleming spent a few days recently in Huntsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Oddie, and children of Campbellford, visited Mrs. John Wright on Sunday.

Mr. T. E. Fleming attended the funeral of the late Morton Baker held in St. Ola, on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Henry Wallace, who has spent the winter months with relatives, has returned to her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parr, of Hoard's and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Leugh, of Fort Erie, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benson, of Springbrook, were Monday visitors of Mrs. Henry Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Craig, of Moscow, visited Mr. and Mrs. Hugh MacMillan on Sunday.

German Villagers Begin Rehearsals for Passion Play

By ROBERT PETTY

Oberammergau, Bavaria (Reuters) — In this tiny village in the Bavarian mountains, players gather every evening to rehearse their parts in the Passion Play being given this year for the first time since the war.

By day the villagers work as wood carvers, innkeepers, cowherds and so on. In the evenings they become, as their fathers before them have done for over 300 years, the biblical characters of the world's most famous drama.

This year's director, George Johann Lang, began rehearsals with the roles of Christ and the Virgin Mary, played respectively by Anton Preisinger, an innkeeper, and Annemie Mayr, pretty, 20-year-old daughter of a building contractor.

All 1,400 townspeople in the east, which included hundreds of children, will take part in the final rehearsals. Fifty-nine-year-old Johann Lang, six-foot, four-inch wood sculptor, directed the Passion Play in 1930 and the special centenary production of 1934. After that, the play was banned the play, which is normally given every 10 years.

At the Obermammergau travel bureau, the manager, Kirt Bauer, is shuffling hundreds of letters from many countries asking for tickets and reservations. Bauer estimates that attendance at the performances, beginning May 21, and closing September 24, will exceed 160,000.

The Passion Play theatre, built in 1900, holds 5,600 people. Obermammergau can accommodate approximately 2,000 tourists. The remainder are lodged in villages within a 20-mile radius.

Performances are given on Sundays and Wednesdays, but are increased in number if attendance warrants. Each day's performance begins at 8.30 a.m. and closes at 6 p.m. with a two-hour interval for lunch.

This great eight-hour religious spectacle is the story of the life of Christ from his entry into Jerusalem until the Ascension.

No stage lighting, make-up or wigs are used and the cast is made up of approximately 700 men between the ages of 18 and 80, and 150 unmarried women between the ages of 18 and 35. The men, in preparation for the play, have not shaved or had their hair cut since last summer.

The play is presented in fulfilment of a vow taken by the townspeople in 1633, when the "black plague" swept through the valleys of Bavaria.

Obermammergau blocked all roads to the village, but 84 of its 300 inhabitants died and several hundred were taken ill. The town council, meeting in the church, then took a solemn vow. If the village were spared, to enact each decade the story of Christ.

The plague lifted — and the village has ever since honored the pledge. Presentation of the play has been interrupted only three times in 310 years — once during the Napoleonic wars, once in the depression which followed the First World War and during the last war.

Anton Preisinger, 37, played the role of Lazarus in 1934. Other players, picked by a committee of village elders and the parish priest, include Hugo Rutz, 23-year-old village blacksmith who is to play St. Peter; Melchoir Breitsamer, 50, a sawmill hand who will play Pilate; Hans Schwaighofer, 29, a woodcarver who will play Judas; and Gabriele Gropper, 24, a salesgirl, cast for the role of Mary Magdalene.

Ontario Makes 38 Millions Year By Liquor Control

North Bay, April 27 (CP) — Ontario's government made $38,000,000 profit in 1949 through being in the liquor business, Mrs. J. W. Foote, V.C., told a North Bay audience Tuesday night.

The Federal government bolstered its coffers by $60,000,000 last year through excise duties on liquor and taxes on shops he said.

"Do you want the government to sell it or do you want private enterprise to?" Ontario's chief commissioner of the Liquor Control Board asked.

I wouldn't be too hasty to damn the government for handling it."

WEATHER INTERVENES

Ottawa, April 27 (CP)—There wasn't a flake of snow to be found on Ottawa's Rideau Street Tuesday but a letter from the Ottawa Transportation Commission to the Board of Control promised to get cracking on snow removal.

Explanation: The board wrote the commission March 3 about snow on Rideau Street, The commission replied in a letter dated April 24 saying it would have the snow removed.

In the seven weeks between request and reply, the weather took care of the job.

PARIS POLICE KEPT BUSY CHASING RIOTERS

When Communists aren't demonstrating in Paris, other groups are thinking up some cause to put on a riot. Here some five hundred weekend campers who staged a riotous parade on Paris streets last week in a futile attempt to obtain half rate on French railways, are charged by police. The demonstrators intended to set up camp in the Tuileries Gardens but were persuaded by police batons to change their plans. — Central Press Canadian.

Toasted Hopper Toothsome Bite on Arctic Menu

Ottawa — (CP) — Toasted grasshoppers, lichen stew, seaweed jelly — The R.C.A.F. has put out a cook-book guaranteed to make any housewife's hair stand on end.

But it may mean the difference between life and death to airmen stranded in the wilderness.

Used in connection with survival training given aircrew during northern flying, the book contains recipes for such tasty dishes as fried lizard and louswort.

While the average cook might waggle a querying eyebrow, the Air Force coolly explains that the woolly lousewort is "the most tasty food plant in the north."

It goes even farther than that. "Grubs found in the ground or in rotten wood makes good food—So do grasshoppers, toasted on a stick."

Anyone interested in preparing the grasshopper dish is advised to pick off the legs and wings before cooking. After all "meat is meat when you are hungry."

That is the objective of this Arctic manual, to teach downed airmen the mechanics of finding food when none appears available—and to tell them what to stay away from.

For instance bats, lizards, newts, frogs and snakes "which taste like the white meat of chicken" provide excellent fare. But not caterpillars— some are poisonous.

Seaweed should be put on the menu wherever possible. "Sea lettuce is a pale lettuce-green variety of seaweed - - -" says the manual. "It should be thoroughly washed and may be eaten raw, or boiled with a little water to make a thick soup and eaten hot or cold."

Lichens, little grey, brown or black plants, are found in Northern Canada and are edible. However, most lichens contain a bitter acid which should first be extracted by boiling or soaking in water. The dry lichen can then be made into a powder by rubbing between the palm of the hands or by pounding with a stone.

All salt water fish may be eaten raw except the shark. Fresh water fish in the north may contain parasites which could cause sickness—it's best to cook them before eating.

These are only a few of the items covered in the cook-book which forms part of the syllabus prepared for the R.C.A.F. School of Survival at Fort Nelson, B.C.

While neither Flt.-Lt. S. E. Alexander, 37, nor F.O. R. J. Goodey 30—the authors of the book — claim any culinary skills, Arctic authorities say the recipes alone could have saved hundreds of men lost in the Arctic in the last 100 year who perished chiefly because they didn't know how to go about finding their food.

Windsor, Ont., April 27 (CP)— William E. Sanborn, a retired Detroit dentist, left deposits of cash and bonds worth nearly $800,000 in a Windsor bank when he died Oct. 1, 1948, it was learned Wed. from letters of probate. Sole beneficiary is the widow, Eleanor L. Sanborn of Detroit.

Valuation of holding in Windsor have been set at $793,605. Of this $19,939 was in cash and the remainder in bonds and debentures locked in a safety deposit box.

SEEING-EYE GANDER

Gordon, Australia — (CP) — Sid Sachs of this New South Wales town is nearly blind. He is helped on his walks by Gus, a seeing-eye gander who stays by his side and honks a warning of traffic. Gus was originally intended for Sachs' Christmas dinner four years ago.

Spring Building Jobs Opening Up Say Contractors

Toronto, April 27 (CP) — Ontario contractors are starting to hire workmen on spring building jobs, regional officials of the National Employment service said today.

The number of persons employed usually takes an upswing in April and May, after a winter slump. But this year the jump in employment was delayed by the late spring.

Jobless registered in Ontario April 20 numbered 88,368, compared with 96,730 a month previously.

"We are counting on a rapid increase in employment now that the weather has improved and the movement has started," an official said. "Employment of unskilled labor and general trades is picking up, with the improvement largely in the construction industry. There has also been considerable hiring in the jogging and textile industries."

APPARENTLY SPRING URGE

New Liskeard, April 27 (CP)— Two boys who disappeared from their homes here Monday were found Tuesday night at Fairy Lake. Billy Pestell, 14, and John Kerr, 12, gave no reason for running away. John's father, who found them, said it apparently was just a spring urge to wander.

Inco Export Sales Benefit Canada

Toronto, April 27 (CP) —Export sales of International Nickel Company of Canada Ltd., during the last three years have returned $168,000,000 to Canada, Robert C. Stanley, chairman of the Board, told shareholders here Wednesday.

"More than 90 per cent of the nickel produced in Canada is sold to other countries," he said in an address prepared for delivery at the annual meeting.

The company's world sales of nickel totalled 290,292,257 pounds in 1949, compared with 260,098,274 pounds in 1948. More than 85 per cent of the company's refined nickel was consumed in the U.S., Canada and Great Britain.

Mr. Stanley again urged permanent removal of the U.S. import tax of two cents a pound on copper.

Cut of a Can of Salmon-a Thrifty Meal for 6

There are so many interesting ways to serve Canned Salmon. In piping hot family dishes, Canned Salmon combines wonderfully with basic foods to give you tasty meals at a real saving. For example:

"CANNED SALMON" Baked Potatoes

6 lb. Canned Salmon, flaked
2 fairly large potatoes
1 tablespoon butter
Salt and pepper
1 tablespoon minced parsley
2 tablespoons grated cheese
A little hot milk
Paprika
Lemon juice
1 tin green beans.

Bake potatoes until tender, slice in half and scoop out potatoes; keep skins hot. Mash potatoes, add butter and just enough hot milk to moisten. Add parsley, seasonings and cheese. Squeeze juice of lemon over Canned Salmon and lightly fold the Canned Salmon into mixture. Replace in potato skins, sprinkle paprika on top and place potatoes under broiler for a moment.

Should Provide Details

The people's business — government — should be brought under the "full control" of the people's representatives — parliament.

All of the details of expenditure should be provided before Parliament was asked to vote money. The taxpayer was asked to disclose his affairs and it was only fair that the taxpayer, through Parliament, be given full information on expenditures when he was going to have to foot the bill through taxation.

The methods of ordinary business should be applied to the government.

At the same time, Canadian natural resources should be developed for the employment of Canadians.

Mr. Smith urged the government to consider an increase in pensions and other amenities for retired and incapacitated members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Mr. Pouliot said the government should take steps to encourage private enterprise.

Brief Cross-Fire

Mr. Knowles engaged in a brief cross-fire with Finance Minister Abbott about Mr. Sellar's recommendations.

The Auditor - General, said Mr. Knowles, did not agree with the practice of putting items in the estimates" as statutory. He mentioned the $2,000 a member allowance paid ministers and the salary of the opposition and the $4,000 paid annually to parliamentary assistants and charges money being put through with statutory estimates as a "concealing vote" was a "questionable practice."

Mr. Abbott said the Auditor-General was not a member of the legal profession. His views were his own. But the Auditor - General had never said that the $4,000 paid parliamentary assistants was not passed by statute.

continue.

Mr. Gardiner said the requisitioning would continue as long as it was necessary for the filling of the British contract.

Is E. Cardiff (PC—Huron North) asked how the government arrived at a floor price of 53 cents a pound for butter.

Felt 'Fair Price'

Mr .Gardiner said the government decided on a 53-cent figure after considering the amount of butter handling "very carefully". There have only been four years in the last three or more decades that butter has been as high as 53 cents a pound. The last how years were two of those four years.

The government felt that 53 cents was a "fair price" in the light of the history of butter. It was pretty well established that there wasn't any market in the world for butter at even 50 cents a pound. J. A. Charlton (PC—Brant—Wentworth) asked how much cheese has been delivered to date for the contract.

Mr. Gardiner said "very little if any right now." As Mr. Charlton knew, cheese did not start coming to market until early May.

MAJOR EXPORT

Domestic exports to the United States were valued at $154,311,000 in March compared with 122,618,000 in March, 1949. Eggregate value of exports to the U.S. in January, February and March was $418,008,000 compared with $345,150,000 a year before.

Considerable Volume Rise

"Price changes reflecting the premium on U.S. exchange have contributed to this increase" the bureau said, "but its size indicates a substantial rise in the volume of exports."

Exports to the United Kingdom in March were valued at $30,120,000 compared with $39,498,000 in March last year.

Exports to the rest of the Commonwealth as a whole were lower both in the month and quarter. The main decreases were in shipments to the Union of South Africa and India. Exports to Australia were slightly higher in March but lower during the quarter.

March shipments to the Latin American countries felt to $7,706,000 compared with $9,778,000 a year earlier; Exports to European countries and other parts of the world moved slightly in March. Purchases by the European group rose to $11,051,000 from $9,205,000, but were down in the three months to $34,843,000 from $43,103,000.

The wood and paper products group—largest of the nine main commodity classifications—showed a marked increase both in the month and quarter.

Will Requisition Cheese

Mr. Gardiner also announced that beginning May 1, the government will resume the requisitioning of Cheddar Cheese, a practice discontinued in 1949.

The government will buy up all available cheese at the support level of 27 cents a pound, basis delivery at factory points, to be sold to the United Kingdom at 25 cents a pound, basis delivery seaboard.

The requisitioning, said Mr. Gardiner, was requested by the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association and the Dairy Farmers of Canada in order to "safeguard" the 1949 Anglo-Canadian Cheese contract.

Under the contract, Canada agreed to deliver up to 82,000,000 pounds of Cheddar, a sharp increase from the 50,000,000 pounds delivered in 1949.

G. S. White (P.C.—Hastings-Peterborough) asked how long the requisitioning process would

FRANKFORD

Batawa Congregation United Church Formally Constituted

Frankford — On Sunday morning at a service commencing at 9:30 a.m., the Batawa congregation of the United Church of Canada was formally constituted. Before the authority of the session of the Frankford Charge, the first group of members was received and welcomed in full communion. Thirty-two members were entered upon the new roll by way of formal transfer from other congregations, both United and Presbyterian in Canada, and one from the Congregational, in England.

A number were accepted by personal application in writing, persons being from various parts of Europe.

Another group was received without written transfer, but upon the basis of former membership in various branches of the Christian Church. Many of these were folk coming originally from Europe.

A further considerable number joined on profession of faith. In all, the new congregation will have upwards of 60 charter members as matters now stand, and probably a few more as other personal join, who for various reasons were unable to be present last Sunday.

The new congregation thus formed will proceed shortly to elect its own Session, and then the organization at Batawa will at last be complete. Plans are now well advanced for the dedication of the building on Thursday evening, May 18. It is hoped that the weather will be fine enough to permit of the dedication ceremony being held on a platform at the door, rather than in the building itself. In that way, a great many more of those who will be interested can be accommodated and enabled by amplification equipment to follow the entire service closely.

The Right Reverend Dr. Willard Brewing of Toronto, Moderator the the General Council of the United Church of Canada, will be present to perform the act of dedication itself, and to bring the sermon. There will be many other visiting clergymen. Following the dedication there will be special services on Sundays May 21 and 28, morning and evening, with guest speakers on all occasions, The Protestant community in Batawa has shown great interest in their church since the building was opened for use last January.

Beulah United Church W.M.S. Sponsors "St. Paul's Minstrels"

Ivanhoe — "St. Paul's Minstrels" of Stirling United Church (O.U.) was presented in Ivanhoe Town Hall on Wednesday evening, sponsored by Beulah United Church W.M.S. This play was well received by a large audience.

Mrs. Clifford Mitz, president of the W.M.S., spoke briefly extending a welcome to the group, and Dwight Rodgers thanked the society for sponsoring the minstrel troupe.

In the first act, the setting was a bare stage on which actors were directing for a play. After many rehearsals are settled the actors decide to throw up the play and form a minstrel show.

In act two the actors wore the traditional colorful dress of the South and rendered medleys of old favorites including "Swanee River," "John Brown's Body" "Golden Slippers", "Dixie", "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

Solos and duets were given by various members of the group interspersed with jokes, banjo and mouth organ numbers.

Mr. Harold Hagerman ably acted as master of ceremonies throughout the entire program.

Lively tap dancing numbers were given by Bud Sears as "Mose" and Hugh prolonged applause.

The companies were:

Mrs. A. E. Baker; Maurice Hagerman (Andy); P. Mayhew (Andy); Bill Bartlett; Bill Moyer; and A.C. Smith. Proceeds are $58.50.

Bowling League In Playoffs

Frankford—The second round of the Frankford Bowling League playoffs got under way Monday night, with two of the teams registering clean sweeps The Happy Gang, who finished fourth in the league standing, went wild to take all three games from the league winning Top Hatters. The Top Hatters usually a very steady team, had possibly their worst night of the season, as they spotted the Happy Gang better than three hundred pins on the total. The Greenhorns were an equally hot team as they whitewashed the Merry Macs, and ran up a lead on high total of better than four hundred pins. The same teams met Thursday night in the final heat of this round, with two winners playing off the following Monday and Thursday nights for the league championship. Selbourn Sharpe of the Happy Gang and Bob Carlisle of Greenhorns both rolled well over 300 to help their respective team's cause.

Annual Report

700 Children Given Help In Past Year by C.A.S.

At total of 225 Hastings County families, involving approximately 700 children, received care and assistance from the Children's Aid Society of Belleville, Hastings and the town of Trenton during the past year.

These were the figures submitted by C.A.S. Superintendent William C. Lockyer on Wednesday evening when he gave his report at the annual meeting of the Society held at the Y.M.C.A. Financial limitations and long distances to the outlying parts of the county had presented great difficulties in giving constant supervision, but in many instances satisfactory results had been obtained resulting in children experiencing improved home conditions.

Home Conservation Essential

In a day in which much was was heard regarding plans for conserving natural resources, the C.A.S. superintendent said it was also vital that conservation of the home and family be given the greatest consideration.

Mr. Lockyer reported that there were 325 children in the care of the C.A.S. at the end of the year, by "years" the superintendent explained these children had been made wards during the year, while the same number had been discharged. The society had the pleasure of seeing several children reunited with their parents.

Family deterioration arising from various causes was one of the chief factors in necessitating children becoming wards of the Society. Chief among these causes were immorality on the part of one parent, excessive drinking and parental immaturity.

Mr. Lockyer gave great credit to the many foster-parents who had made their homes available for the unfortunate children. He said their financial rewards was in no way commensurate with their efforts.

Fewer Unmarried Mothers

There had been a slight decrease during the year in the number of unmarried mothers coming to the attention of the Society. New cases coming to the attention of the Society totalled 69 as compared with 74 last year.

The Society workers spent a great deal of time planning with the expectant mothers, helping her to reach a decision as to what was the best plan for her child. With understanding, tolerance and sympathy much could be accomplished in creating an acceptance of responsibility on the part of many unmarried mothers.

For the girl who decides to give up her baby it is important that she be thoroughly aware of all that it means, both as it affects herself and her child. In all cases the girl's own decision patterns the action of the Society. During the year, 22 illegitimate children were taken into care. In these cases the putative father had entered into an agreement calling for payments of varying amounts toward meeting the cost of confinement expenses and maintenance.

A total of 41 adoptions had been finalized during the year with approximately the same number being placed on adoption probation.

In the year, 19 investigations had been made for the Family Allowance Board dealing chiefly with the alleged misuse of funds. It was stated the low number of investigations was noteworthy, thus proving the majority of families are wisely using their family allowance in the opinion of the Society. Family allowances were proving to be most beneficial and in the case of children in Society care enabled the provision of many extras.

Workers of the C. A. S. were now called upon to make investigations where divorce proceedings are instituted and where there are children involved. In this way factual information is supplied the court.

Extra Funds Obtained

Last year the Society extended its efforts in the field of raising finances for preventive work and in this had been encouraged by the results. Many organizations in the city and county had responded and to these Mr. Lockyer expressed the appreciation of the Society. Thanks were also expressed to the various women's groups which supplied articles of clothing, and also to the service clubs, particularly the Kinsmen Club who provided a party and worthwhile gift for each child in care.

The financial report of the Society submitted by H. W. Ackerman showed total receipts for the year ending. March 31st to be $62,024.74. This included a balance of $2,521.56 from the year previous and the family allowance cross entry of $7,101.44.

Maintenance paid by the county of Hastings totalled $23,777.85; from Trenton $7,040.80 and from Belleville, $11,019.47. Grants and contributions included $2,400 from the Red Feather campaign; $1,000 from the Ontario Government; $1,275 from tag days; $700 grant from the county and $1,000 grant and an Ontario Government grant of $1,439 amounting to 25 per cent of voluntary contributions.

$67,215 Expenditures

Expenditures totalled $67,-215.53, including a balance of $1,409.21. Salaries for the Society had spent roughly $1,000 more than it had taken in during the year.

Salaries for C. A. S. personnel totalled $14,175; rent $970; board for children in foster homes $28,726; travelling $2,361; car account $2,235; clothing $1,887; medical and dental $1,090; family allowance expended $7,101.

Mr. Lockyer also expressed concern for children in care showed receipts of $11,750 and expenditures $11,750. Balance in trust, as of March 31st was $12,746.

It was reported that the Society has no liabilities.

Mrs. J. L. Cooke presented the report of the clothing committee showing that 1,387 garments valued at $724.34 for non-wards. This showed an increase of $45.53 per child in boarding care.

Clothing Costs Higher

Mrs. Cordes said clothing had cost more during the year and was also to the fact that clothing did not last as long.

The Society had been fortunate in interesting some of the groups in sewing. This is a big help and also private individuals to sew and knit, while many people in the south end are interested in this manner. This materially cuts down the costs of clothing as well as fostering greater interest in the work of the Society.

Donations of good used clothing were always most acceptable to the Society, Mrs. Cordes said. The Society also needed more groups to become interested in sewing and knitting. The co-operation of merchants and their staffs in the purchase of clothing was appreciated, she said.

President Charles L. Hyde in a prepared address referred to the organization of the C.A.S. about 50 years ago resulting in organized care for unfortunate families. Today the Society had become complex and highly organized but there was general acceptance of the need for municipal responsibility in the care of needy children.

Progress Reported

As president of the local Society for the past three years Mr. Hyde reported substantial progress in all endeavors of the Society. This was due in a large measure to the loyalty and devotion to duty of the "staff", members of the executive committee and board of directors. He reported the staff of the Society is now number eight persons. These were W. C. Lockyer, supt.; Miss Byrd Corbet, assistant supt.; Mrs. Mabel Marshall, Mrs. L. McLauchlin, Mrs. C. Prench, Miss Grace Etchells, Mrs. Jean Sills and Miss Margaret Marshall.

Mr. Hyde urged that the Society not only needed the moral support of the citizens, but also their financial contributions. By provincial statute municipalities were obliged to pay for a certain portion of the work, but all the Society protection work and work with the unmarried parents must be paid for from voluntary contributions.

He expressed appreciation for the generous response to the several "tag days" appeals and for the contributions received from the Belleville Community Chest. Thanks were also due and interested in this manner. This materially cuts down the costs of clothing as well as fostering greater interest in the work of the Society.

Donations of good used clothing were always most acceptable to the Society, Mrs. Cordes said. The Society also needed more groups to become interested in sewing and knitting. The co-operation of merchants and their staffs in the purchase of clothing was appreciated, she said.

President Charles L. Hyde in a prepared address referred to the organization of the C.A.S. about 50 years ago resulting in organized care for unfortunate families. Today the Society had become complex and highly organized but there was general acceptance of the need for municipal responsibility in the care of needy children.

Progress Reported

As president of the local Society for the past three years Mr. Hyde reported substantial progress in all endeavors of the Society. This was due in a large measure to the loyalty and devotion to duty of the "staff", members of the executive committee and board of directors. He reported the staff of the Society is now number eight persons. These were W. C. Lockyer, supt.; Miss Byrd Corbet, assistant supt.; Mrs. Mabel Marshall, Mrs. L. McLauchlin, Mrs. C. Prench, Miss Grace Etchells, Mrs.

Problems Relating to Need For C.A.S. Offer No Easy Solution Speaker Tells Meeting

Problems and conditions resulting in the need for such organizations as the Children's Aid Society can best be solved when the causes for such conditions are attacked from a national and even international standpoint, members of the Hastings County C.A.S. were told at their annual meeting.

As guest speaker at the annual meeting and luncheon of the local C.A.S., Mrs. D. B. Sinclair, Executive Assistant to the Deputy Minister of National Welfare, said that while the present need for such organizations was well appreciated, the happy end to the solution would be the fact that the C.A.S. was not needed.

"Work of the Children's Aid Society is but one of many problems of the social and economic need", she said, "When considering our own problem we should not fail to consider the whole problem," she said.

Interest Shown Encouraging

As a former member of the York County Children's Aid Society Board, Mrs. Sinclair said she appreciated the problems of the Hastings County Society. She was encouraged by the interest shown at the local Society noting the special grant from the county council and above its legal obligation.

"This shows the interest of the municipality in the C.A.S.," she said, "The added money allows increased preventative work and it is gratifying to know that the county has that approach."

She spoke on the splendid work being done in the social field by non-professionals but at the same time stressed the value of trained personnel in this work. She noted it was a healthy sign when a society spent in the year the same amount of money as was taken in.

Complex Organization

She said that the C.A.S. was a highly complex organization in that it was financed by both public and private funds and was also under combined public and private administration. However, the organization generally responded to modern trend in that certain factors of social welfare were naturally the responsibility of the municipality.

"In the field of social welfare there is growing acceptance of the fact that public funds should provide, yet nevertheless the private enterprise and interest represented in the C.A.S. is valuable."

As Canadian delegate to the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, Mrs. Sinclair told of the needs which must be solved in war devastated countries and in caring for war refugees. She pointed out C. A. S. in Canada were nothing in comparison to those in devastated lands, she said.

Nine-Point Program

The speaker referred to juvenile delinquency stating the attitude of the U.S.A. conference on delinquency was that this was the responsibility of the entire community. A nine-point program aiming at adequate family income; proper housing; health service and medical care; mental health; education, recreation, counselling and legal protection for adoption.

Such a program indicated that child welfare was bigger than just a local problem and became national in extent. She pointed out that there were even developments on international thinking with respect to child welfare. More and more stress was being placed on social and economic security measures which in turn are responsible for wars.

The United Nations was given technical assistance toward the developing of social and economic programs in European and Asiatic countries and Canada was doing her share in this respect.

Substantial Improvement Noted

In closing Mrs. Sinclair said that although social workers at times may have felt their successes have been limited, there had been substantial improvement in the past 30 or 40 years. The development of the C.A.S. in that period has shown there is every reason for encouragement.

Frank S. Follwell, M.P. for Hastings South, introduced the guest speaker to the meeting and in doing so paid tribute to the work of the C.A.S. On behalf of the people of Hastings he expressed thanks to the C.A.S. The appreciation of the meeting was expressed by J. Fred Wilson.

Trenton Mayor Kenneth Couch welcomed guests to the meeting and also expressed his appreciation to the C.A.S. for their splendid work. Warden of the county, Reeve Ira Sills of Wollaston, also added his tribute.

Expresses Appreciation

Mr. Ernest Majury, supervisor with the Ontario Department of Welfare, and guest at the meeting, expressed the appreciation of his department for the co-operation shown by staff members of the C.A.S. and by citizens of the county. "The strength of the child welfare work done by the C.A.S. lies in the interest of the lay members," he said.

W. J. Morrison, acting as chairman for the election of officers, stated that child welfare, like education, should be the responsibility of the community as a whole. If this work were not done the community would suffer.

Mrs. Carolyn Forbes, young local soloist rising in popularity, and several much appreciated numbers, including Schubert's "Ave Maria" and Victor Herbert's "Kiss Me Again". Mrs. Mabel Marshall accompanied Miss Forbes on the piano. Community singing was led by Mr. Ted Schwab, with piano accompaniment by Russell Wotten. Members of Christ Church Parish Guild served the dinner.

Urges Development Of Forest Products

Saskatoon (CP) — E. J. Marshall, Saskatchewan forest boss, says that the heyday for saw timber in the province may be past, but secondary timber production may provide an even greater return.

Mr. Marshall says he believes that forest products can be developed as a "supplement" to the provincial economy, whereas today lumber production plays a minor role.

He says that first and foremost in any such development is the need for a pulp mill to utilize jack pine, poplar, balsam and to process spruce. Without such a plant, forest management can not be successful, he said.

Mr. Marshall also stresses the need for a plywood and veneer mill and a dry kiln to process poplar lumber.

He said that without these plants, Saskatchewan is merely "high grading" the lumber now being produced. Eastern concerns, Mr. Marshall said, are not interested only in "our best stuff". He said one eastern firm last year used 90,000 cords of spruce, 60,000 jackpine, 40,000 balsam and 70,000 cords of poplar.

Only spruce is sold in Saskatchewan, he said, except for railway ties made from jackpine. The pulp concession granted by the province — just rotted and went back into the ground.

He said the forest area of Saskatchewan covers about 10 per cent of the province and comprises about 82,000 square miles.

PROVIDE DOWN PAYMENT

Owen Sound, April-27 — (CP) — City council announced Wednesday night that it will provide the $20,500 down payment for a proposed five-unit apartment housing project. Cost of the project is estimated at $205,000, with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation providing 90 per cent on a 47-year loan basis.

Red River Floods Threaten To Cut Railway Line Between Emerson and Rest of Province

Winnipeg, April 27 — (CP) — The Red River threatened today to wash out the Canadian Pacific Railway line near Emerson—last link between the flooded border town and the rest of Manitoba.

It forced evacuation of the old hospital at Morris, Man., 24 miles upstream, to a new one on high ground. Also at Morris, the swollen Morris River, a Red tributary, boiled over the approaches to a bridge and cut highway 75 to the north.

At Bradley Coulee, just outside Emerson, the water has closed a several month appreciated numbers, including Schubert's "Ave Maria" and Victor Herbert's "Kiss Me Again". Mrs. Mabel Marshall accompanied Miss Forbes on the piano. Community singing was led by Mr. Ted Schwab, with piano accompaniment by Russell Wotten. Members of Christ Church Parish Guild served the dinner.

At Bradley Coulee, just outside Emerson, the water has closed the normal 20-foot clearance under a short C. P. R. bridge to a bare six inches.

The Red struck Wednesday night at a 27-mile stretch on its wandering course through southern Manitoba—this time through creeping paralysis rather than a sudden deluge.

After a day of lurking within its new natural channels, the river swelled to set a record level just south of the International border and surpass 1948 peaks a few miles north.

For Emerson, Man., almost on the border, it was the second assault wave in four days. For Dominion City, Letellier, St. Jean Baptiste and Morris it was the deadly clutch after the gnawing finger.

Only at Winnipeg and points north in the Red's 100-mile Canadian course did the level remain constant.

Two-Inch Rise Recorded

The rise at Emerson, focal point of the flood, was two inches. About three miles across the border at Pembina, N. D., a 2½ inch rise sent the Red to an all-time record of 50.8 feet. Officials expected another six inches.

At Letellier, nine miles north of Emerson, the rise was five inches. The level was a half-foot above the 1948 peak.

A seven-inch swell at Morris sent waters 15 miles downstream, threatened to cut the only remaining highway link with Winnipeg.

At Emerson Canadian Pacific Railway officials feared for their line. Vital to the supply of food, milk and other perishables from Winnipeg, some tracks already were under water.

Emerson's other main problem was water. With the 12 wells condemned, army purifying trucks process all drinking water. Two railway tank cars hold 14,000 gallons against an emergency. Isolated families get their water by boat.

The railway was threatened by another body, a 60-square mile "lake" where the Roseau and Marsh Rivers join the Red. Fifteen farm families were ousted.

St. Jean and Morris sandbagged. Canadian National Railways' lines in their areas. A flotilla of 33 small boats helped with evacuations.

$69,000 Jewels Missing

Palm Springs, Calif., April 27 —(AP) — Mrs. J. Fred Zimmerman, wealthy widow of a Philadelphia theatre man, reported to Sheriff Lee Kennedy that $69,000 worth of jewelry was missing from her winter home here. Police said the uninsured gems include a $24,300 necklace of 101 pearls with a diamond clasp and another 69-pearl necklace worth $30,000.

WILL WALK DOWN AISLE

London, Ont., April 27 — (CP) —Confident that she has been saved from blindness Doreen Stuttenberg, London world local hairdresser, will walk down the aisle at Calvary United Church on May 20 with her fiance, Lou Stacey.

Her mother, Mrs. A. O. Stoutenburg Wednesday confirmed that marriage plans of her daughter, who had a new cornea transplanted in her right eye in a delicate operation in New York a month ago, will carry through on schedule.

PICTON

Canada's Immigration Policy Outlined at Rotary Luncheon

Picton, (Special)—The present policy of the government with regard to immigration is that we will bring to Canada a number of immigrants who adequately can be absorbed into the economic life of this country, stated Hon. Walter E. Harris, M.P., Minister of Citizenship, Immigration and Indian Affairs, in an address at the Rotary Club on Tuesday.

Immigration in the future must be a balance between the needs of agriculture and other factors in our economic life. In the past 30 years the economy of Canada has changed. "We no longer need agricultural settlers but we should bear in mind that we need capital and people to develop our natural resources," said Mr. Harris.

In recent years, Canada has been admitting seven or eight thousand people each year from the United States, and it is stated that about 20,000 Canadian have been emigrating to the U.S.A. stated the speaker.

Touching on Indian Affairs, Mr. Harris said that better educational facilities had proved effective. At the present time the government pays fifteen million dollars annually to the Indians. The majority of Indians do not desire the franchise.

Mr. Harris felt that in order to compete for the best type of immigrants, Canada might have to use a bonus system now in effect in several countries. Germany is one of the larger pools where immigrants can be found but whether or not we should go to this group depends largely upon public opinion in Canada" he said.

We are not going to say we will take so many each year, as we will not go over the million that can be absorbed, which is about two percent of the population.

The speaker was introduced by Judge W. S. Lane and thanked by Dr. Gerald Allison.

SHANNONVILLE

Parish Status Raised To Incorporation

Shannonville—The rector and wardens of Shannonville have received word from the Rev. Canon L. E. Davis at the Synod office in Kingston, that from April of this year, they are declared an Incorporated Parish.

Congratulations were received for having attained this status in the Diocese. Since the inception in 1854 Shannonville has been a mission, receiving diocesan grants from the Mission Board to augment the stipend of the incumbent. Now, by the concerted efforts of the people, the rector's stipend has advanced beyond the minimum set by the Synod; and a travelling allowance of $300 per annum is extra of the stipend.

The parish of Shannonville comprises Holy Trinity Church, Shannonville; St. John's Church, Point Anne; and St. John's Herchimer Avenue, Belleville. A total number of 161 families, from Milltown to Belleville suburbs, are under the pastoral care of the rector, who resides in Shannonville.

The new project on Parkwood Heights, St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill, which is to be started this year and into which St. John's Herchimer Avenue, is to be merged, is also within the Shannonville parish, making the possible boundary within the city of Belleville at Bleecker Avenue. The present rector is the Rev. Ernest M. Caldwell.

Result of Harmonious Work

Mr. Caldwell, commenting on his new parish, said "the people certainly deserve credit. They have worked harmoniously and worked hard, and sacrificed not a little. Our status is evidence of vision and prayer on the part of a people who are not content to live in the new day as if the old days were still here."

Mr. Sidney Fitzgerald, one-time warden of Trinity Church said "it is a fine thing to have grown up as a parish after so many years a dependent. We must not however, be content with present achievements, but go on to better things. We have taken our rightful place in the diocese. We must not only hold it but better it, and this we can do by pulling together in a good cause."

Congratulations to the Shannonville parish on this fine achievement. Great credit is due to the rector, Mr. Caldwell, who has worked so diligently for the good of the cause, and also to the congregations who have stood so nobly behind him.

Havant, Hampshire, England (CP) — A fire brigade call failed to sound when firemen were called to a fire here. Reason: A bird had made its nest in the siren mechanism.

NEWFOUNDLAND IN RED

St. John's, Nfld., April 27 (CP) — Newfoundland completed her first year as a Canadian province some $2,600,000 in the red on current accounts but when payments into an amount of the island's pre-union surplus were included the province had an overall surplus of $2,400,000. The smodlins were given in the budget, brought down by Premier Smallwood.

Mickey Rooney And Fred Wayne Have Tussle

New York, April 27—(CP)—A row backstage at the Broadway musical, comedy "Texas, Li'l Darlin" came to light Tuesday with screen star Mickey Rooney and stage actor Fred Wayne in fist-shaking roles, and pretty singer Mary Hatcher, 21, in between.

Some of the details were not too clear, but eyewitnesses agreed on this much:

Rooney, on a visit from Hollywood, went to see the show. Miss Hatcher, a friend, tossed him a greeting across the footlights. Wayne later objected, and said ad libbing interfered with his singing "effete, baldie" me."

Miss Hatcher told Rooney of Wayne's displeasure. Rooney went to see Wayne, accompanied by his friend — sometimes called his bodyguard—Charles Blanon. There was an argument. Some said there were fist-cuffs. Others denied it.

Rooney's only comment: "Me? I don't need a bodyguard."

Commissioners Reserve Decision After Hearing

Galt, April 27 — (CP) — The Board of Transport Commissioners Wednesday reserved decision after a two-day hearing on application of the Lake Erie and Northern Railroad and the Grand River Railroad for permission to cancel services.

A petition signed by 2,500 persons was presented to the board, protesting proposed cancellation of passenger service by the railway lines which have an electric train service running 65 miles between Port Dover, Brantford, Galt, Kitchener, Hespler and Preston.

Acting chairman H. B. Chase of the board questioned R.K. O'Hara, Montreal, statistician for the Canadian Pacific Railway of which the lines are subsidiaries, and suggested that with the railways it was a case of "what you lose on the peanuts you pick up on the bananas". Mr. O'Hara agreed.

The railways have promised that a motorbus system will be established to serve communities now covered by the rail lines if the application is granted. The railways seek permission to quit the rail service because of decreasing revenues and low traffic.

Red Dean Jeered In Australia By Students

Brisbane, Australia, April 27— (Reuters) — Dr. Hewlet Johnson, "Red" dean of Canterbury, England, raised a storm of jeers and whistles here Wednesday when he told 500 University Students that "religion in Russia is free."

And when he said that the dropping of an atom bomb on the Japanese city of Hiroshima had been the most ruthless, brutal act ever perpetrated," the students shouted: "What about the Burma-Siam road?" (this was a wartime Japanese project on which many Australian prisoners-of-war were worked to death.)

The students asked him whether he was representing the Church of England on his visit to Australia, and if not, did he not think he should resign. The dean answered: "Think of me not as the representative of anybody, but as a common man."

HAPPENS ONCE IN MILLION YEARS

There are few wild swans of any color left in North America now, and among them a black swan is a rarity. So when a black swan decided to crash-land in a parking lot in Los Angeles, it is the kind of thing that doesn't happen very often. Here the swan is being roped, cowboy style, and carted off to an animal shelter. — Central Press Canadian.

Kingsridge

By Alice Ross Colver

right temple dodged around a knot of people and nearly catapulted into her.

"Mrs. King! I beg your pardon!"

Timothy Grant, Susan's most faithful admirer. He had gone through college in three years and then had taken the Army officers training course. But the war had ended before he saw service and now he was with International Mechanical Bureau. A nice lad with his steady eyes and level head and good smile. It was too bad that in her grandmother's eyes, niceness was not necessarily an asset. Something of a problem, Susan. Something of an iconoclast. Something of her mother, Audrey.

"It's a good party!" Timothy said with enthusiasm as he passed.

She nodded absently, the irritation that thoughts of her daughter invariably brought, pricking to the surface of her mind. They had never got along well together. Never. Audrey had always had a detached, almost brazen way of belittling her mother. Even in her teens she ... Oh! She hadn't exactly flouted Elizabeth's authority. More precisely, she appraised and discarded it as of little or no value. Elizabeth simply hadn't mattered. Only Steven had been able to influence her, and not always he.

Well, anyway, they had got her safely married at last to Frank Park and no harm done. But it was Audrey, with her strange and opposing crop of ideas who had turned Elizabeth's hair gray. In fact, there might still be cause for worry. Sending Susan to that school! It was a good thing Frank was home again to keep his family in order—Audrey and the two children, Susan and Donald.

Donald! She called after Timothy in sudden exclamation. . . .

"Has Donald come yet?"

He returned to her side. "I don't think so. But don't worry, Mrs. King. He's a good skier. And a good driver. He was probably just late getting away. Or he may have found the roads drifted over. Don't worry. He'll turn up pretty soon, I'm sure."

There was more than mere courteous concern in his reply. There was protection. Youth protecting the thoughtlessness of a contemporary? Or youth protecting Susan's grandmother? It might be both, but either way she warmed to him, and, glancing up, she laid her hand on his arm and spoke impulsively.

"Thank you. I'm not really worrying, though. Sometimes Susan gives me my cause . . ."

She broke off and his eyes followed hers to the corner where Susan was standing with two or three of her young friends. She wasn't being noisy. She wasn't even talking. She was simply standing there gracefully, a soft slim figure in diaphanous white, the cloud of her golden-bright and black hair enhancing the creamy pallor of her skin, the scarlet of her mouth, the pansy-purple of her dark-fringed eyes. Yet in her silence, in her very quiet, there was something alarming to Elizabeth. She looked more than merely aloof. She looked like one who was listening for something. Waiting and listening for an unguessed signal and when she heard it she would be off.

Sharply Elizabeth recalled herself from such an absurd fancy. Where in the world would the child be off to? What was bothering her were memories of Audrey who had been just like that at Susan's age. A puzzle, a worry, sometimes almost an alien in her attitude of remoteness and hostility to established standards. Yet, after all, Audrey had been rebellious only in her talk. Everything she had settled down, and so would Susan for all the look of her in the mirror. It was just a stage girls went through. Absorbed in her thoughts she had forgotten Timothy until he spoke in her ear.

"Yes, I know," he said. "It's not Donald. It's Susan. But it doesn't do any good to worry about her. And he smile had left his countenance and there was a faint note of pain in his voice.

She took her hand from his arm with the quick surge of a small anger engendered by her pride of possession. No one should ever guess that a Cassandra entertained secret forebodings about any member of the family.

"Get along with you!" she exclaimed. "I don't worry about Susan. Why in the world should I worry about Susan! You're presumptuous young man!"

She left him, enjoying the rebuke she had given him, yet carrying, unadmitted, a curious comfort in his understanding. If she had been the Judge she would have accepted it, and with it, him as an ally. But she had always felt constrained to hold her position on an upper level above youth because of the wisdom her added years had given her. On principle she maintained this vantage point—and also because the Judge didn't. He seemed quite astonishingly willing, at times, to grant that young-sters still in their teens might possess an awareness equal to him But not she! The idea was ridiculous.

The Bairds. Solid citizens. She approved of them. Wizened little old Henry was the owner of the biggest and best dry goods store in Kingsridge. He had a substantial bank account, and was on the board of one of the two in town. His wife, buxom and bustling—she'd make two of him—and still still retaining some of the beauty she had had before she gave up a possible operatic career in favor of Henry, was active in the church choir, in the P.T.A. in the Women's Club, while their daughter, Jane, with her father's small frame and her mother's lovely brown eyes, was a perfectly suitable match for Donald. Elizabeth smiled upon her, as, looking anxious and trying not to, she asked softly "don't you think Donald's going to get here Mrs. King?"

The Brandts next. The only other family with as much money as the Kings and Alicia Brandt the only other woman, though she was twenty odd years younger, who threatened Elizabeth's social supremacy. Not that Alicia cared. She was utterly indifferent. Indeed, it was her very indifference, her lazy, good-humored indifference that was building for her a strong approval and following. She stood now in a draped red crepe, tall and thin and slenderized like a school girl, her short gray hair not too neat, her makeup not too carefully applied, some of the red lacquer chipped from her long nails. But did it matter? Not to Alicia, indeed, her heavy-lidded glance, travelling deliberately down over Elizabeth seemed to hold a secret contempt in spite of her words.

"Darling Elizat" Alicia Brandt said, using the nickname Elizabeth most detested, as she stretched out a clawlike hand to touch lightly the diamond sunburst on her latest boson. "You look wonderful. Everything, but everything is quite quite perfect. How do you do it?"

Elizabeth's rejoinder was a blunt jab.

"You could, too, Alicia, if you only would. You have the time and the money."

"Ah but not the interest." Deliberately not the interest, my dear, or you wouldn't wear red. You're much too shallow. Even with rouge, I can't help but wonder though, how you do manage to pass your days! What your interests are?"

Alicia shrugged. "People. Just people! They amuse me. They fascinate me. Where's Donald tonight, by the way?"

"He's coming. He went on a skiing party with some of his classmates. I imagine the storm has delayed him." She gave a light laugh and waved her handkerchief so that her rings flashed. "Nothing to amuse you there Alicia. I'm sorry to disappoint you!" She touched the shoulder of Alicia's husband. "Hello Lester!"

He turned with his careful courtly grace, took her hand in both of his and bent his head above it so that she could see the pink bald spot in the centre of his top. "Elizabeth, my dear! Delightful party. And you look charming. Charming." He smiled. "Need I add an omit?"

He always made it sound sincere, she thought, as she left them. But it was a practiced sincerity that held no warmth whatsoever. They were an odd pair, he so punctilious, so correct, and she so careless. Impossible to understand how she held him. But of course she was at least fifteen years younger and there was always a light as of banked fires in Lester's eyes. No doubt that was it. Anyway, the wonder about their marriage had died long ago, and no one presumed to be sorry for her since she had got precisely what she bargained for.

"Mother! Her low, oddly husky voice always seemed to hold a breathless excitement. "May we take up the rugs in here? The hall's getting awfully crowded!"

Hanna. The childish nonsen which neither Susan nor Donald had outgrown. She didn't like it but she preferred it to Liz which was the daring alternative.

"Crowded!" she repeated "How crowded? "I'll see."

Taking that for acquiescence, Susan called to Hanna as she kicked up a corner of a rug with a gold-sandled foot "Hey you! Come make yourself useful!"

Elizabeth reached the arched doorway into the room where she paused. A great glittering Christmas tree stood there next to the stairs, its starred tip touching the ceiling. The orchestra was seated before it and all the corner of the space was filled with dancing couples, mostly Susan's and Donald's crowd. But there were others, too. Audrey was dancing with Steven. Elizabeth could see her daughter's sleek dark head and Frank's heavy uniformed shoulders. Well, if the middle-aged were going to frisk, also, the ball certainly was too crowded. Perhaps she had better tell the orchestra to move into the corner of the living room. Then it could be heard in both places.

Chapleau Game Preserve May Become Nat. Park

Sudbury, Ont., April 27 (CP) —The 1,834,000-acre Chapleau game preserve northwest of here may be converted into a national park, it was learned yesterday. Federal government authorities are understood to be interested in the idea of taking the big reserve over from the Ontario government and developing it into a full-scale natural attraction for tourists.

Favorable by three railways and on the proposed route of the Trans-Canada Highway, the preserve would become Ontario's third national park. Smaller federal parks now are located at Point Pelee on Lake Erie and at Cornwallell Island in Georgian Bay.

Churchill Aide Warden at New Oxford College

By DON GILBERT

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Oxford, England—(CP)—Winston Churchill's 37-year-old helper in the writing of his war memoirs has been appointed warden of St. Anthony's, the new college at Oxford University.

The youthful don is Frederick William Dampier Deakin, a specialist in 17th-century and recent European history, a gifted linguist, the first British officer to meet Marshal Tito in wartime Yugoslavia.

St. Anthony's is the baby of Oxford colleges, the oldest of which dates back to 1249. It is the gift of M. Besse, a French shipowner who found Oxford men valuable in his business and decided the world could do with more of them.

Besse gave £1,25,000 ($3,875,000) to set up the college and attached only one string—that a proportion of the students should be French.

The new college has chosen a former Anglican convent as its home. Three years ago the uninhabited quadrangle of nunnery as a hostel for teachers and researchers, but it proved too large for that purpose.

20 Students

For a start, St. Anthony's will take care of only about 20 of Oxford's 7,500 students. Later the new college hopes to acquire buildings bordering on the convent site, first graduate study in international and economic affairs will be the specialty of the new college.

St. Anthony's first warden began his helpful role in Churchill's historical writings back in 1936, soon after he completed his studies at Oxford. Churchill then was at work on the last chapters of the life of his ancestor, the first Duke of Marlborough.

In 1943, Deakin parachuted into Yugoslavia under instructions to find Tito and "discover who he was." Later he fought with the partisan leader's forces at a time when they were under heavy German pressure.

He continued on in Yugoslavia after the liberation, serving in the British embassy in Belgrade. Then he returned to Oxford to teach and lecture—and to help the wartime prime minister with his memoirs—and brought with him his Romanian wife whom he had married in Cairo.

Deakin said he didn't think his new appointment would put an end to his literary work with Churchill.

"But now," he said, "I shall have to fit it in with the Oxford term as best I can."

London Letter:

Trade Union and War Office Change Minds About Women

By WILLIAM BOSS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, April 26.—(CP)—London women learned recently that when it comes to changing minds, their sex has no monopoly. A trade union and the war office both changed their minds—about women.

The union was the transport and general workers which turned thumbs down on a London transport executive suggestion that women again be recruited as bus conductors.

Four years ago the same organization vetoed an executive suggestion that the 19,000 women employed during the war as conductors "slipped," they were called—be discharged, as men became increasingly available. There are still are 2,000 of them punching tickets.

The womens right to do the work was defended then. Now it is challenged.

The executive's predicament stems from a shortage of both drivers and conductors.

Same Treatment

To bridge the gap it had proposed opening recruiting to women, and at equal pay—another long-term T.G.W.U. goal.

But the equal-pay offer drew union opposition this time.

It said there would be no trouble getting enough men if the money available for the women were spent in improving existing conditions.

One angle the conductors raised —and feminists late'y termed it a "chestnut"—was that their's was a man's job, exclusively.

The Economist, a weekly, sided with the feminists. Of the "man's job" suggestion, it said:

"This may be perfectly true, although the travelling public, who should be the final arbiter, would by no means agree with this judgment."

However, the publicity earned by the disagreement partially eased the executive's worries and London papers have had pictures of men queuing for employment-office interviews.

Rank Now

In the army the women at last have been given rank designations identical with the men's. They now run the gamut from private to major-general. Next grievance is the pay—the women get little more than two-thirds of the male salary.

A result of the change, Olga Collett wrote in the Sunday Express, is that recruiting figures in the Women's Royal Army Corps already have shown an increase.

"Women have left jobs in factories, shops, private houses and offices to join the ranks," she said.

Industry Cannot Afford Accidents, Too Costly

Toronto, April 27 — (CP) — Installation of safety measures and appliances by industry is a genuine contribution to the raising of Canada's production, N. R. Crump, vice-president and director of the Canadian Pacific Railway said Tuesday night.

"We cannot afford accidents — they are too costly," he told the convention of the Industrial Accidents Prevention Associations. Anything that tended to reduce production "is a very real form of treason to the public interest."

Nearly 3,000 delegates were registered for the convention which heard other speakers stress various angles of industrial accident prevention.

Charles E. Rickets, plant safety supervisor for the Bell Telephone Company, said the most important factors in safety development were: a definite policy by management, development of a correct attitude by supervisors and understanding of a planned safety program by individual workers.

V. C. Cook, personnel superintendent from Niagara Falls, advocated application of intelligent discipline in carrying out industrial safety programs.

J. D. Arcodiet, safety engineer from Welland, said importance of beginning safety education as soon as a man starts a job cannot be over-emphasized.

NEWMARKET OPPOSES AMALGAMATION

Newmarket, Ont., April 27 — (CP)—A resolution opposing amalgamation of Toronto and its 12 surrounding municipalities was passed Tuesday at a meeting of reeves and deputy-reeves of the 14 municipalities in the northern sections of York county. The delegates felt indirect effects would be felt by northern areas in the event of amalgamation.

C.N.R.A.A. LADIES AUXILIARY

Tuesday evening, the regular monthly meeting of the C.N.R.A.A Ladies' Auxiliary was held in the Engineers' Hall, Pine Street with Mrs. R. L. Johnston, president, presiding.

Miss Helen Grant, accompanied by her mother, on the piano, gave a number of selections on her xylophone.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Harry Boyle and her group.

EXPRESSES OPINION

Baltimore, April 27 (AP) — Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University, suggests that schools keep from going overboard in trying to keep communists off their faculties. "To my mind," he told 2,000 educationists and Harvard Club members Tuesday night, "the harm done by a few cryptocommunists on a faculty would be far less than the harm done by instituting a policy of relentless inquiry into the private life of every teacher."

About Breakfast in Bed

There is a notion aboard that only a gentleman who is ill, who has sustained a fractured limb or who is afflicted with gout may properly have breakfast in bed. If a man be of sound mind and body and have breakfast regularly in bed he is likely to be regarded, should the news of his morning solitude get out, as hotly-toily or an effeminate. Of course, if a man be rich as Croesus and choose to breakfast in bed the practice may be looked upon merely as an eccentricity and one he well can afford. Or if it be known of an actor, artist or writer that he nibbling the first meal of the day as he reclines on a pile of pillows little will be thought of the matter, since there still exist large numbers of persons who consider actors, artists and writers to be just a bit odd. Ladies may have breakfast in bed without drawing adverse comment—indeed, inhabitants of lands abroad where our cinematic efforts appear might conclude that almost all Americ can women eat heartily amid silken sheets before arising—but not so the lovely male, except in the categories noted.

Leaping and Creeping

It is unfortunate that this impression exists, because to have breakfast in bed is a fine thing; it begins the day well. There are said to be persons who hail each morn by leaping cheerfully from bed and attending to the ritual of shaving and dressing with such zest that even before breakfast their complexions assume a cheery pink, glow, their eyes sparkle and their voices rise in song. Other people are said to perform push-ups and similar exercises designed to awaken the body and to speed the blood's flow into sleep-relaxed gray matter. But most of us rise slowly and reluctantly, with no opening wide of windows and throwing out of chests; move gloomily through our ablutions and thence to the breakfast table, where we force ourselves to sit up in uncomfortable chairs before what, these days, passes for defeuner.

A Theory Hard to Fathom

Were the chairs to be found at breakfast table well upholstered and roomy there would be one argument fewer in favor of breakfasting in bed, but they are not; they are more likely to be harder and smaller than those placed in the dining room, which is to say that breakfast-nook chairs are extremely unyielding and inadequate indeed. It is difficult to see how one may acquire merit by being uncomfortable while dining, but this theory that there is virtue in disquietude seems to be held widely among highly civilized people. The Romans approached the problem of mealtime posture more reasonably.

Retreat Into Serenity

The man who breakfasts in bed gains an advantage early in the day over those of his fellows who do not. His day will begin serenely. He will, on arising, attend to the removal of his beard, after which he will crawl gratefully back under the covers instead of joining his family at the breakfast table. There are supposed to be certain social benefits associated with convivial family group breakfasts, but they seem to be more readily apparent in books and plays than in fact. Family breakfasts beyond the world of fiction rarely are scintillating occasions and a man's sober morning reflections upon his small role of this-sphere may be interrupted by such mundane matters as an offspring's bargaining for an increase in weekly allowance, a topic which in turn may stimulate a wife to mention pointedly a deficit incurred by an unforeseen household expenditure. Here, before the sun is well up, a man may see the profits of his day's toil shriveling away.

Alone With An Egg

The man who breakfasts in bed, if he arranges matters properly, will be left quite alone with his egg, bacon and coffee and his thoughts. He will be, for a little while, monarch of all he surveys; the sounds of the household's morning scurryings will come to him faintly as he sits in comfort, tray in lap, and he need not be a part of that bustle until he chooses to swing his feet to the floor and begin the climb toward noon.

One Possible Hitch

Only one difficulty may arise in connection with a man's breakfasting in bed. This concerns the necessity of finding some one willing to prepare the meal and to serve it, for there is nothing to be gained if a man must get his own breakfast and climb toilsomely back into bed with it. If he happens to have a wife who perceives that her small contribution to world peace may lie in insulating her husband from the day's cares until he has had his coffee in solitary splendor, he will possess a jewel. There is nothing more restful than having breakfast in bed, unless it is sleeping until noon and getting up just in time for a light lunch.

Formal OPP Probe Follows Charges By Choir Group

Toronto, April 27 (CP)—Provincial Police Commissioner William Stringer said a formal inquiry will be held May 3 into charges laid by seven Toronto choir members against two Provincial Police officers.

The choir members said they were wrongfully accused of drinking by the officers from the Bradford detachment April 2.

Commissioner Stringer said statements had been taken from the group and the two officers had been questioned.

"Nothing has been deduced from our field of inquiry to warrant suspension of these men," the commissioner said. "But an inquiry will be held at our headquarters."

Cpl. David Adair, head of the Bradford detachment, and Constable Harry Sparling will testify at the probe as well as the choir members, rectors of Forward Baptist Church, Toronto.

Child Fatally Injured Running Into Street Car

Toronto, April 27 — (CP) — Four-year-old Richard Bovey died Wed. after he ran into a street-car. He died on the way to hospital.

Crushed behind the car's safety catch, the child was carried almost 250 feet before the car stopped. The tram had to be jacked up before the boy could be released.

An eye-witness said Richard and two other youngsters had run across an east-end street. Richard turned to run back and raced into the car.

Criticizes Practice Of Leaving Bills Still Untouched

Kitchener, April 27 — (CP)— Agnes Macphail, C.C.F. member of the Ontario Legislature for York East, Tuesday night criticized legislature practice of ending a session with some bills and resolutions still untouched.

Returning to this year's six-week session, she told a C.C.F. meeting:

"We sat for about 12 hours a day, trying to get through the order paper, but the best we could do was to clear off the government's slate and leave the rest to an uncertain fate at the next sitting."

Paul Calvert of Montreal Seems to be Guy Detroit Needs to Become Flag Threat

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Paul Calvert of Montreal, a $10,000 hand-me-down, seems to be the relief pitcher Skalle needs to make Detroit a sure-fire pennant threat.

Calvert's sale to Detroit by Washington last winter was an obscure waiver deal. But it was a key move to manager Rolfe's 1950 plans.

The manager's neat little book of past performances told a Calvert story that belied his 5-13 record and his 14 straight defeats in 1949.

Red knew he had the startling pitchers to match anything in the league. But then what?

"That's my problem," said Rolfe during spring training days at Lakeland, Fla. "If I can come up with a dependable relief man we'll be in pretty good shape. I hope Calvert will do it."

Calvert, a 31-year-old veteran with a history of arm trouble, may not be the ideal fireman. But he is determined.

Against St. Louis Browns Wednesday, Calvert slipped through two hitless innings to earn an 8-4 decision in the 10th. It was the first time he'd won since last June 3 when he beat the same club with a nine-inning effort.

Ken Wood's third homer of the season touched off a three-run Tiger uprising that routed Saul Rogovin in the fourth. It was tied at 6-6 in the 10th when a walk to Eddie Mayo, followed by singles by George Kell and Pat Mullin accounted for the winning run off relief 54 Albrecht.

Yankees Stop Boston

For the second straight day, a New York Yankee pitcher went the route as the Yanks downed Boston Red Sox with eight hits, 10-2. The Yankees batted in 11 hit barrage including homers by Hank Bauer and Yogi Berra.

Sid Hudson, 34-year Washington veteran who was reported "finished" in spring training, blanked the Senators into third place with a 5-3 victory over Philadelphia in a night game. Two Senators ripped into Bobby Shantz and Clint Hondo for nine hits including homers by Al Evans and Eddie Yost.

At Brooklyn, where the Dodgers won 5-4 over the Phillies in 10 innings, Manager Leo Durocher finished the game under protest because of a dispute over a ground rules double by Ron Campanella.

With one out and Duke Snider on first in the 10th, Campanella drove a long fly to left. Umpire Bebe Pinelli ruled a ground rules double when a fan touched the ball. The Phillies argued the spectator prevented leftfielder Dick Sisler from making the catch.

Howie Pollet hit his 20-game winning term of 1949 with a 9-0 victory against the winless Cincinnati Reds. Enos Slaughter assured the St. Louis Cards of a 5-4 edge with a fifth-inning single following Stan Musial's triple.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, April 27 — (AP)— The Pulitzer Prize Mystery after a brief look, argues that Johnny Sain of the Braves isn't pitching as well as he did two years ago. For that matter, neither is Russ . . . Bengal Tiger, whose professional tennis tour has grossed more than $100,000 this season is hoping to sign up Gussie Moran for the tour—but will bring in even more dough . . . Rookie Johnny Wilson, who played in 148 of the Harlem Globetrotters' 173 basketball games this winter, is passing up the European tour, he says, "Mostly for financial reasons." He adds that if he can't get a job at home in Andersonville, Ind., he'll have to play baseball this summer for Chicago American Giants for the same reason . . . Figure that out.

Limited Co-operation

One of the chuckles in Gene Sarazen's new book, "Thirty years of Championship Golf," comes from the wife of Mrs. Sarazen asking Gene's caddie, during a Florida tournament, how things were going . . . "Well," replied the caddie, "we got a birdie on the 13th, we birdied the 14th, too . . . but on 15 Mr. Sarazen took a seven."

Cleaning the Cuff

Bill Cane, the Yonkers Raceway bosoman, was needling his press agent about some comfortable but expensive chairs he had bought for the press box . . . Somehow a wire misquoted Arch-tect John Sloan in on the conversation . . . "I purchased those chairs myself, Bill," Sloan interrupted, "and if you think $23 is expensive, wait until you get the bill for your own chair. It cost $200."

Regina Pats Youngest Club To Make Finals

Regina, April 27—(CP)—Wednesday, Canada's quest for the Memorial Cup hockey title will be run-out by youth on its side, if nothing else.

Murray Armstrong's sprightly Regina Pats, who rose from third place finish in their own Western Canada Junior Hockey League to upset the apple-cart and a number of first-class contenders, are probably the youngest club ever to make the Cup Final.

They pit their skill and enthusiasm against the Toronto Montreal Canadiens tonight in the first game of a best-of-seven final.

The Pats have a line which were Port Arthur Bruins, who had slumped Brandon Wheat Kings —last year's finalists — in the Western Semi-final. Pats won 7 in games.

Of the 17-man roster, nine still are under the age of juvenile hockey next year. Only four will graduate from Junior ranks.

Two of them flank centre Paul Masnick on what is conceded to be the hottest line in the West. Masnick, and the kids — Eddie Litzenberger and Bill Gowenlock—racked up 278 scoring points in 58 games during the season. Masnick finished third in the 40-game league schedule with 86, Litzenberger had 46 and Cowan 42.

Suffered Lez Injuries

All three suffered leg injuries in the Port Arthur series. Litzenberger will have a foot cast removed to join his linemates tonight.

The Merv Bregg-Lorne Davis-Bob Hall combination is the old man's line of the team. The three, along with defenceman Morley MacNeill (Captain), will be turned out to pasture as far as Junior hockey is concerned after this series.

The third Pat line is essentially a checking line, but have been showing better of late. Brian McDonald, the club's smallest at 145 pounds, centres Doug Little and Harold (brother of Gordon) Cowan.

Gus Mortson of Maple Leafs Wins Place on NHL All-Stars

Montreal, April 27 —(CP) — Three players from Montreal Canadiens, two from Detroit Red Wings and one from Toronto Maple Leafs, won places on the 1949-50 National Hockey League All-Star team announced today.

Coaches of the six N.H.L. teams voted, none for his own players, on a 5-3-1 point basis, with 23 points as unanimous choice.

First-team players each receive $1,000 from the league, second team players $500.

Maurice Richard, right wing, and Ted Lindsay left, were unanimous choices. Goalie Bill Durnan, centre Sid Abel and Richard, on last year's first team, were all named again.

Lindsay and defenceman Ken Reardon moved up this year from the 1948-49 second team, defenceman Gus Mortson made his all-star debut in this year's selections.

Following are the first-and second teams, with numb- points obtained by each player, bracketed—

First team:—

Second team:—

Goal, Chuck Rayner, New York (17); defence, Leo Reise, Detroit (17); Red Kelly, Detroit (17); centre, Edgar Laprade, New York (13); right wing, Johnny Peirson, Boston, (8); left wing, Sid Smith, Toronto (5), Calgary, April 27—(CP) —One of Conn Smythe's former employees doesn't think much of the tactics of his ex-boss in the current Amateur hockey scramble.

Frank Calgary Albertan McCool, who earned several playoff gratuities and a collection of stomach ulcers as a wartime goaltender for Toronto Maple Leafs' Leafs' managing director what he thought of Smythe's threat to withdraw Toronto Marlboros—a Leaf farm club—from the Allan Cup Finals unless they were assured of an even break financially in their trip to western Canada.

"Forgetting about the numerous Western clubs that have travelled east at sizable financial losses, the domineering Smythe appears thoroughly outraged by the chance his babies might wind up on the end if they take part in the Allan Cup Final in the West," says Frank.

"Now, isn't that just too bad!"

Amateurs, Awake!

"Smythe, the instigator of many childish and publicity - seeking performances during his tenure as a National Hockey League mogul, is now starting to throw his weight around in the Amateur setup with the same reckless abandon.

"Such tactics can well be done without. It's high time the Amateur bigwigs stepped in and revealed to Canadian fans just who is running the show."

"Toronto has long been known as hog town the world over. It's only action by such fellows as Smythe that keep that moniker uppermost in the minds of many."

Also, the Free

Frank sees Smythe's tactics as affecting Western support of the Leafs. Because of "His apparent disregard for everyone's thoughts and actions but his own, Smythe has gradually broken down the previously strong Toronto support to a point where there's plenty of room on the Maple Leaf bandwagon."

Hamilton Makes Official Bid For B.E. Games

By TOMMY MOORE
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

Hamilton, April 27— (CP)— Twenty years ago 300 nattily-attired athletes from ten Commonwealth countries paraded around Hamilton's Civic Stadium cinder track to the accompaniment of blaring bands and cheers of 30,000 spectators. It marked the opening of the first British Empire games.

The city, then with a population of only 165,000 (it's now nearly 200,000) put on a terrific seven-day show to set the pattern for the Commonwealth gathering of athletes. With this record behind them, sportsmen of Hamilton have banded to plead Hamilton's case for the 1954 games, already awarded Canada.

Besides experience gained in staging the week-long games—their only appearance in Canada—Hamilton officials justifiably claim the cinder track built in 1930 is the best in Canada. This point alone would be a big factor in the final decision of B.E. Games Association officials who will choose the venue next month from among Hamilton, Toronto and Vancouver invitations.

A bid also is expected from Montreal.

If this city gets the nod, contestants from far-away places will to 15 months in advance to be represented— would be within a hop, step and jump from all sports except the rowing and sculling. The oarsmen would show their paces over Dalhousie on Lake Ontario, a short boat or automobile jaunt from here.

Can Seat 20,000

The 20,000-seat Civic Stadium, built at a cost of $100,000 for the 1930 games, is situated in the northeast part of the city, and would be venue for the crowd-drawing track and field events if Hamilton is awarded the games. Officials say plans already are drawn for enlargement.

Athletes would be housed in Prince of Wales School, just 50 yards from the track, thus eliminating a tough transportation problem. Boxing, weightlifting, wrestling and fencing could be held at the baseball stadium 200 yards away and the swimming and diving at the municipal pool, another 100 yards distant.

The $100,000 pool, also built in 1930, has a seating capacity of 1,400 and the baseball park accommodates another 6,000 to 7,000 persons. Seating capacity would be increased if the games are staged here.

Lawn bowlers would perform at Gage Park, within five minutes walk of the athletes' living quarters.

Officials have a strong talking point in the fact venues are so tightly centred. In addition, Hamilton track and field meets are recognized across Canada as probably the smoothest-run in the Dominion and this reputation could add prestige to its official bid.

Sports Shorts From Britain

London —(CP)— Golfer-war-pilot-parliamentarian P. B. (Laddie) Lucas is one of the strongest exponents of Empire unity to sit in the new House of Commons.

The recently-elected Conservative member for Brentford and Chiswick made one of the widest plans of his election platform. He wants a system of ties with Commonwealth countries.

Laddie, 36, who captained Britain's 1949 Ryder Cup team and won a D.S.O. and Bar serving with the R.A.F. in the war, says he's convinced that Britain's future can only be safeguarded by such ties especially with Canada.

"In the war I knew it," he told reporters, "because I always had 100 per cent of my squadron made up of men from various parts of the Empire.

"But the peace potential is even greater—it is incalculable.

"Not all the vast untapped resources of Canada. They have just discovered oil reserves which are probably greater than those of Texas.

"I was in Canada only a few months ago (with the Ryder Cup team). They regard themselves as the country with the future and there is a great determination to help the Old Country."

"It is unthinkable that we should not find a solution to our difficulties if we went to the Empire."

Harris—only dual winner of the trophy—also gained it in 1947 when he won the world amateur sprint title.

The prize is given annually for the outstanding performance or contribution to Britain's bicycle sport.

A windfall of 20 guineas ($85.-10) fell into the hands of George Chenier, Canadian snooker champion now campaigning in Britain.

A spectator at an exhibition tilt between Chenier and Joe Davis offered the prize to the victor in an extra frame to be played after the session. George, who had lost most of his regular frames that day, won the extra one and pocketed the shekels.

Crippled Kids Raise $61,421 On New Pool

(By The Canadian Press)

Gus Ryder, coach of the Lakeshore Swimming Club in Toronto's suburban New Toronto has raised $61,421 towards a $100,-000 Olympic-sized swimming pool. Ryder, who has taught 145 handicapped children to swim, dive and save lives in the water, has had this goal for 25 years.

"This pool," he said in an interview, "will give far more crippled kids a sort of home in which they can utilize their good limbs and get that wonderful feeling of accomplishment, like those I've already worked with are realizing."

Manchester United, one of the ace teams of big-time soccer, leaves next Tuesday for a tour of Canada and the United States. The team will play 11 games, one of them against an English all-star team in Toronto June 14.

E. Lee Keyser, whose colorful career stretched from peanut vendor to recognition as the "Father of Night Baseball" died Wednesday at St. Louis, Mo. The 66-year-old Keyser had been in a coma most of the time since he suffered a brain hemorrhage, April 14. He will be buried Saturday in Des Moines, where 20 years ago he launched the first successful season of regular night play in organized baseball.

Detective Donald E. Pape, who took Gerry Priddy, Detroit Tigers second-baseman, on a round of night spots following the opening American League baseball game at Detroit, was reduced Wednesday to patrolman and suspended for 30 days without pay. Priddy was fined an unannounced sum by Manager Red Rolfe for breaking a midnight curfew. Pape pleaded guilty to drinking liquor, allowing a civilian to ride in a police car, and taking a car from headquarters without permission.

Billy Foret, 11-year-old schoolboy, died playing sandlot baseball Wednesday after a line drive struck him in the chest, police reported at Baton Rouge, La.

Joe Rossamondo, a former Pacific Coast League star and now assistant Baseball Coach at Yale University will become playing coach of Loudonville Senior Baseball majors, in June, Bill Farquharson, business manager, announced Wednesday. This completes the reorganization of the Intercounty loop which started last week with the resignation of Clare Van Horne.

Two more United States players arrived at the camp of Galt Terriers Wednesday where the locals are preparing for the May 6 opening of the Intercounty Senior Baseball League. Jerry Farrell, a pitcher from Rochester, N.Y., and Jack Moesch, an infielder from Palm Beach, Fla., were the arrivals.

Montreal Alouettes, Canadian football champions, will meet Calgary Stampeders in an exhibition tilt at Calgary next Aug. 19, Lew Hayman, Als' director-coach, announced Wednesday night. Alouettes won their first Grey Cup in 18 years by defeating Stampeders in Toronto last November.

Jersey Giants Will be Power In Int. League

(By The Associated Press)

Jersey City Giants are serving notice that they will be a power to be reckoned with in the International League this season.

Manager Joe Becker's Giants have pounded out nine homers in their first four games and if the pitching gets any better they will make the opposition say "uncle" more often.

Catcher Sal Yvars and Monte Irvin pounded out homers Wednesday night with Yvars' clout arriving in the ninth inning with two on to give the Giants a 9-7 triumph over Buffalo Bisons.

Johnny Yuhas turned in his second complete game and victory of the season as he pitched Rochester Red Wings to a 2-1 decision over Syracuse Chiefs.

Toronto Maple Leafs and Baltimore Orioles battled to a 9-9 tie in Baltimore. The game was called after the ninth because of a local curfew.

Ane Moore, with a homer and two singles and four runs batted in, led Baltimore's 14-hit attack while Johnny Mayo and Skippy Roberge paced Toronto's 14-hit offensive with three blows each.

Biggest Tourist Year in History Is Expected

Niagara Falls, Ont., April 27— (CP)— Canadians in 1950 can expect the biggest tourist year in their history, D. Leo Dolan, director of travel and publicity for Canada, said here Wednesday.

He was speaking at the second annual Ontario Tourist convention.

Mr. Dolan said that on the basis of inquiries now being received by his office, the tourist business should be up by about 18 percent.

He warned, however, that Canadians must stop aping Americans. This year his department hopes to spend $900,000 on advertising in American periodicals.

Calgary Stamps Will Need Punch To Stop Marlies

Calgary, April 27, (CP)—If Calgary Stampeders expect to win the Allan Cup this year they'll have to put their hockey machine into high gear, says Manager Lloyd Turner. Toronto Marlboros are going to be tough.

Turner, who has managed Hockey Clubs and rinks for the last 35 years, isn't too proud of the way Stamps got through the first two games of the playoffs leading to the Canadian Senior Hockey final, Marlies and Stamps start the best-of-seven final here Monday.

The statistics don't look too bad. Calgary won the best-of-seven series with Kamloops Elks 4-1 and eliminated Fort Frances Canadians by the same margin.

But they were a hot-and-cold aggregation. They dropped the first contest to Kamloops by a 6-1 score and then rolled along for four straight wins. Then beat Canadians 11-0 in the first game and then dropped the second 3-2.

Turner indicated this now-we've - got - it-now - we - haven't style of play wouldn't be good enough against the Marlies.

Coach Butch McDonald suggested that the 37 Calgary goals trouble may have been that the boys were too confident. They didn't have that feeling when they played Edmonton Flyers to an earlier playoff and came up with some sparkling hockey and a 4-2 series win.

"If we can only play as well against Toronto as we did against Edmonton we should be all right," said Turner.

Coach McDonald makes no prediction. The 32-year-old mentor was a centreman until the middle of the season when he suffered a broken leg.

Toward the end of the Western Canada Senior League season Stampeders Coach Jackey Burke resigned amid reports that players were rebelling against what they considered his hard driving tactics. Turner took over the reins for a time and then called in McDonald to handle the coaching chore.

RECOGNIZES RECORD

Brantford, April 27 (CP)—The Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada recognizes as an official world's record the production of a purebred Holstein cow at Varcheres, Que., over a year's test period.

The Association announced as a world's record the feat of Sprucehaven Farm Triumph, owned by H. L. Guilbert of Vercheres, in producing 1,305 pounds of butterfat from 31,878 pounds of milk with an average test of 4.28 per cent butterfat. The record was set on three-times-a-day milking during 365 days.

The Association said it was a record for all ages and breeds.

SUMMERLEA SOUVENIRS

Lachine, Que. — (CP)—Souvenirs of Lachine's old Summerlea Golf Club, burned last Sept. 13, were sealed in a lead cylinder and placed in the fire-place masonry of the new clubhouse by Mayor Anatole Carignan.

Regina Pats Meet Canadiens In First Game

Montreal, April 27 (CP)—Two junior hockey "cousins" clubs met Wednesday night across a dinner table and all was in perfect harmony.

But the preliminaries over, Montreal Canadiens and Regina Pats face off tonight as foes in the Memorial Cup finals. Both farm clubs of Montreal's National Hockey League Canadiens, Habs and Pats were guests at a dinner given by Forum General-Manager Frank Selke and the Canadian Arena Company.

Tonight, the plucky Pats, who upended everyone by capturing Western honors, and Canadiens who won in the east, open hostilities in the first game of a best-of-seven series for the Memorial Cup, emblematic of the junior hockey title of Canada.

With home ice on their side for six games, Canadiens are 8-5 favorites to keep in Montreal the coveted mug which the local Royals won a year ago for the first time in 31 years.

Coach Murray Armstrong's charges are not to be underestimated, Sam Pollock of Habs said Wednesday night—"any team that can win the Western title is bound to have something."

Although the Pats finished third in the regular season with 19 wins and a tie in 40 games, they hit their stride in the playoffs to knock off Prince Albert, Sask., Minios and Fort Arthur Bruins.

One Powerful Line

Coaches Pollock and Billy Reay of Canadiens said they intend to use the team which came through against Guelph, Ont., Biltmores. Habs took that round 4-2.

A Canadian Arena Company official at the banquet the Pats' share of the series' fourth game will be turned over to a hospital fund.

South Africa Charts Coastal Death Traps

Durban, South Africa—(CP)— The problem of many mysterious predictions and submerged objects which are a constant worry to marine underwriters and shipping masters on the South African coast will be solved or recorded on marine maps by the Union's new survey ship, S.M.S.A. Protea.

Protea will resume work which was stopped 20 years ago and which stems from the loss of interest to the entire maritime world in many sections of the Union's coast are regarded as death traps to seafarers.

Sections of the South African coast have never been accurately charted, and each year changed in contour since last survey was made 20 years ago.

The Protea has been acquired from the Royal Navy in 1949 as a survey ship and converted into one of the most modern hydrographical ships in the world.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN CANADA UNLIMITED

It was March 24, 1936. A packed Montreal Forum watched Detroit Red Wings meet Montreal Maroons in their first N.H.L. playoff game. The players—every one Canadian-born—kept 9,500 fans tense through three scoreless periods.

The clock ticked on . . . through Silver stars periods. Then, at the 116th minute of overtime, the weary Red Wings rushed. A shot burst from the crowd as 30 seconds later—at 2.25 a.m.—Wings tallied the single goal of the N.H.L.'s longest game.

Sportsmanship and teamwork keep Canada first in the hockey world. And together they help you, too. For teamwork with sportsmanship help keep your opportunities for work and play in Canada . . . unlimited.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Here and there bridge players are asking how duplicate is ndled. The detailed explanation each act would fill a book. But re is a brief general outline of operation.

Using an odd number of tables, each is a pack of cards, a re sheet, and a duplicate ard. The board is a flat recep- le with four pockets marked, rth, west, north, east.

On each board is an arrow owing the north direction to lich the board must always int designation as th, which ver is the dealer; marking to which pair is vulnerable.

At the start the players at each le shuffle and deal their pack. ds dealt is bid and played. But cards originally held by each yer are preserved and tucked o his compass board pocket The score is recorded and the re sheet locked into the board. o board and its contents move the next lower numbered table the end of each round. There same hands are played.

Players never change partners. e north-south pairs remain as finally seated. The east-west irs move to the next higher les. All pairs thus play each board only once.

At the end of the tournament, scores are compared for each of the boards. North-south gets one point for each north-south win with a lower score; a half point for each tie. Same applies to the east-wests.

These are known as match points. The match points for each pair are transferred to a master sheet for totalling. Thus is determined an east-west winning pair and a winning north-south pair.

Suppose you sat south and made a bid, a small slam at no-trump in this deal:

NORTH
♠K 9 5
♥A 9 4 2
♦Q 6 2
♣A 6 4

WEST	EAST
♠Q 7 2	♠10 9 6 3
♥7 10 2 3	♥8 7
♦10 8 7 2	♦7 9 4
♣10 3	♣7 9 8 5

SOUTH
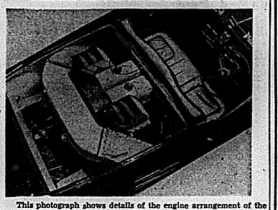
♥K Q 6
♦A K 5
♣K Q 7 2

If no other pair reached as high a score on this board, your pair would get one match point from each of the other north-souths.

And they could not blame it on the cards.



REPORT NOT READY

Windsor, April 27 — (CP) — A three-day conciliation board hearing of a contract dispute between Canadian Industries Limited and Locals 195 and 240, United Automobile Workers (C. I. O.) ended Wednesday. Judge Harold D. Lang of Stratford, Ont., chairman of the board, said its report will be announced in several weeks.

APPEAL DISMISSED

Windsor, April 27 — (CP) — An appeal by Joseph Assef against a maximum six-month sentence for bootlegging was dismissed Wednesday by Judge Ian MacRae of London. The judgment of Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan in sentencing Assef on March 8 was a chief factor in touching off the recent Windsor Police Commission inquiry into activities in the force.

Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle

Little Benny's Note Book

I was starting to do my homework and thinking of different other things I'd rather be doing, such as almost anything ells, and pop said, Benny, how are you coming with that homework?

I'll have it done soon, I said.

Meaning I hoped so, and pop said, that's good news, because as soon as you've finished there's something I want you to do for me.

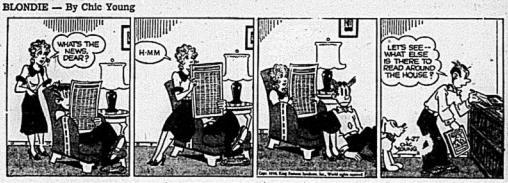
Me thinking, Heck, darn it, gosh shang the luck, And I shall, Well, Gee, pop, I really haven't hardly even started yet.

Well, let me knew as soon as you are through, and I'll tell you what I want you to do, pop said.

You'll have time before you go to bed if you hussle up with your lessons, he said, and I thawt, Jimminy roosalem, why does there always have to be something to do? Why cant a guy be through when he's finished, so he can reed his lyberry book or something? I thawt.

And I kept on doing my homework careful, to make it last longer, and I even did parts of it over twice, to make sure I knew it perfect. Being kind of fun when I got really intristed in it, and the ferst thing I knew the clock was striking and pop was saying, Well, it seems to be somebody's bed time.

Meening mine, and I thawt, Oh boy, good luck, that was a narrow escape. I wonder what I could invent next? I thawt. And I said to pop, Gee, pop, I really haven't hardly even started yet.



Well, let me knew as soon as you are through, and I'll tell you what I want you to do, pop?

Oh, nuthing exactly, pop said. That was just a little experiment to test a theory. The theory is that the only time we really learn anything is when we have to do something ells at that moment, and by golliss it was the only time I ever saw you take real pleasure in your homework. There must be some-

Whitehall Notebook:

Malaya's "Hot War" Worrying Whitehall

By ALAN HARVEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, April 27 — (CP) — The rising temperature of Malaya's "hot war" is worrying Whitehall.

A series of disquieting debates — "babies are cutting their teeth on revolvers out there," one speaker said — aroused criticism of Britain's strategic design in Southeast Asia.

Government spokesmen admit questions have been asked about the role of Malcolm MacDonald, United Kingdom high commissioner in Canada from 1941 to 1946.

The Daily Telegraph, Conservative, said MacDonald had left himself open to criticism by his optimistic report on Malaya nearly a year ago.

As commissioner-general for Southeast Asia, with a beat first stretching from Hong Kong to New Delhi, the 48-year-old son of the late Ramsay MacDonald holds one of the Commonwealth's most responsible jobs. From hillside headquarters overlooking Singapore, he flies thousands of miles a month in a tiny plane—co-ordinating British administration in Malaya, Sarawak, Borneo and Singapore.

Hillside Home

With his Canadian wife, the former Mrs. Audrey Fellowes Rowley of Ottawa, MacDonald lives in a converted palace originally built by the Sultan of Hohore for a favorite wife. It is called Bukit Serene — "Hill of Serenity."

Criticism of British leadership came first from Lord Killearn. He told the House of Lords that the situation in Malaya is worse now than it has ever been.

K. D. Cannuna, Conservative member for Hornsey, told the House of Commons that the cold war has become hot; quoted a letter from a rubber planter's wife about babies attempting to cut teeth on revolvers; and argued that 4,000 bandits are making life miserable for nearly a division of British troops, plus some 50,000 police.

Government quarters, while acknowledging that criticism of MacDonald has not all appeared in the press, regard it as unjustified. He is felt to be doing a good job under trying circumstances.

Good Mixer

MacDonald's personal popularity is still high — as high as it was in his five-year term in Ottawa, where he wrote two books on his canoeing and bird-watching expeditions in the Canadian North.

Always affable and without affectation, he is said to have been one of the first Englishmen to take off his coat in talking business with a Chinese or Malayan.

FORT WILLIAM HAS WORST FIRE IN ITS HISTORY

Embers are still smouldering in the worst fire in Fort William's history which caused damage estimated at close to half a million dollars and left 26 families homeless. Starting in a lumber yard, the fire was fanned by a 25-mile-an-hour breeze and spread to wipe out an entire residential block. Here Port Arthur and Fort William firemen are shown as they tried to halt the flames. — Central Press Canadian.

FRANKFORD

Frankford — Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Gee and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Treneer of Kingston were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McLeod and Mr. Arthur Wallace.

Rev. and Mrs. J. G. McElhoes of Parry Sound were Friday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Watson.

Mrs. Hector Whitton returned home after spending the winter months with Mrs. Thompson in Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Westlake of Batawa, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Westlake of Frankford spent the weekend in Port Credit.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mueller and family left Batawa for England, where Mr. Mueller will be employed by the Bata Shoe Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Patrick spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Farrell in Campbellford.

Rev. and Mrs. J. G. McElhoes of Parry Sound were dinner guests on Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Elliott and family.

Mr. Don Rogers of Toronto spent the weekend with his wife and family.

The bi-monthly meeting of the W.M.C. of the Full Gospel Tabernacle was held last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Katherine Strome. Mrs. Strome led in prayer, Mrs. Gerald Curtle read the Scripture.

It was decided to furnish the parsonage with six kitchen chairs. The W.M.C. will buy five yards of lining for quilt work, for two quilts to be made on a later date. Mrs. Harold Gage closed the meeting. The next meeting will be held in two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stuckey called on Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gawley in Marmora on Sunday.

Presentations of attendance certificates and seals were made in the Frankford United Church School this Sunday. A number of pupils received attendance pins for having completed two years perfect attendance. The Sunday School has had very good attendance thus far this year, averaging about 170.

Frankford W.M.S.

The W.M.S. of the Frankford United Church held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. Cecil Reid with an excellent attendance.

The president, Mrs. Powell, gave a message entitled: "Blessed Be His Name."

Corresponding secretary, Mrs. Hugh Badgley, read a number of letters. A number of business items were discussed. The roll call was responded to with a verse of Scripture by each member, including the word "new."

Mrs. Powell, Mrs. Mallory and Mrs. Reid presented the program entitled "The Risen Christ Manifest in Transformed Lives." Church members cannot end their responsibility with worship, but must take to the highway to witness for Christ.

Y. P. U.

The Young Peoples Union of the Frankford United Church are still having great success with their play "The Darling Brats," having presented it recently in Consecon, Trenton and Mount Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. George Spencer visited Mr. and Mrs. K. Clark in Kingston on Sunday.

An aluminum demonstration was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nelson one evening this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conley visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Conley on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lohnes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith and Mrs. Buck of Trenton, visited Mr. and Mrs. Everett Buck, near Picton, on Sunday.

On Monday evening, a number of friends gathered at the home of Miss Lydia Connaughty on the occasion of her brother Dave Connaughty's birthday, and the birthday of a friend of the Connaughty's, Mrs. Hattie Ervine of Stockdale.

EMPEY HILL

Empey Hill — The April meeting of the Tyrendinaga East W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. W. Bell with a splendid attendance. Mrs. Provins conducted the election of officers which resulted in Mrs. Percy Kimmerly being elected president.

Mrs. Clarence Whiteman of Belleville was present and gave a splendid account of her Florida trip.

The Kingsford Guild held their regular meeting on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robt. Tucker.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutchinson spent an evening recently at Switzerville when they attended a surprise party in honor of the 20th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Craig.

Miss Bea Mowers of Napanee and Mrs. Jas. Gibson of Gananoque were weekend visitors at the Mowers' home.

The executive of the Tyendinaga East W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Fred Keyworth on Friday afternoon to plan the next year's program.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy McMath entertained the following to dinner on Sunday evening: Mr. and Mrs. Mac McMath, Messrs. Glen Tucker, Mayhew Portt and Donald Trumpour; also Misses Jean and Dales.

Ruth Tucker and Miss Joyce Toner.

Mrs. Charles Akey is improving nicely following her recent operation.

Messrs. Bruce Kimmerly, Frank Hutchinson, Harold Winter, John Mowers, Milton Sampson, Garnet Dupre, George Stapley, William Hunter and Ken Chadwick attended a circuit meeting of the Board of Selby and Empey Hill at Selby on Thursday evening.

TWEED

Rev. A. L. and Mrs. Sisco spent a few days visiting in Millbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. McGee were Sunday visitors in Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Trumpour of Bloomfield were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. William Courtney.

Sunday visitors at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foster were Mrs. Edward Barker and Mrs. H. Macklin of Fort Francis; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hopnow; Mrs. Gerald Roxborough; Mr. Robert Rupono and Clair of Detlor; Mr. and Mrs. A. Lloyd and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lloyd of Hillier.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Watson of Toronto were weekend visitors at the home of Dr. M. G. and Mrs. Thomasburg.

THOMASBURG

Thomasburg — On Wednesday evening the cast of the play "Nora and Nancy" members of Thomasburg Oddfellows Lodge and Crescent Rebekah Lodge, along with members of their families spent a social evening in the lodge rooms as a suitable ending for the play presentations for the season. Due to illness of one of the members of the cast a few weeks ago, several engagements had to be cancelled, but at the present time the members hope to be able to get together and continue their presentations. The proceeds were gratifying and were divided among the two lodges.

On Wednesday evening the ladies of Thomasburg United Church held a successful bazaar in the Sunday school rooms. Many lovely and useful articles were offered for sale. In the auditorium of the church, Mr. Ed. Way, of Tweed, entertained the gathering with pictures and a talk on the motor trip he and Mrs. Way took during last summer to Alaska. Refreshments were served.

The Hungerford Junior Farmers entertained Thurlow Junior Farmers and Junior Institute in the Oddfellows Hall on Thursday evening.

Sen. G.B. Jones Of Sussex, N.B. Dies in Hospital

Sussex, N.B., April 27—(CP)—Senator George B. Jones, 84, veteran Progressive Conservative political figure who once served briefly in the federal cabinet, died in hospital here early today.

Senator Jones was the second New Brunswick senator to die within three weeks. Senator Antoine J. Leger, 69, also a Progressive Conservative, died at Moncton April 7.

A member of the Senate since July 20, 1935, Senator Jones served as Labor Minister in the Conservative government of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen from July to September, 1926. He resigned his portfolio with the defeat of the government.

Senator Jones had been ill for three months with a lung condition.

His death cuts representation of his party in the Senate to 13. The standing: Liberals, 75; Progressive Conservatives, 13, vacant, 14; total, 102.

Senator Jones' political career started in 1908 when he was elected to the New Brunswick legislature and he was re-elected in 1912, 1917 and 1921.

Entering the federal House of Commons in 1921 as Conservative member for Royal, he was re-elected at the 1925, 1926 and 1930 general elections and in a 1932 by-election.

Surviving are a son, a daughter, and two brothers.

U. S. POPULATION

The population of continental United States, including armed forces overseas, was estimated at 148,902,000 on June 1, 1949.

POLICY DEFINED

Montreal, April 27 — (CP) — Premier Thomas Douglas of Saskatchewan said Wednesday night social democracy as outlined by the C.C.F. party is a "middle-of-the-road" movement against the two dominant political ideas shaping up in the world.

Stomach Out Of Order Had Many Aches and Pains

Back, Limbs Ached, Always Tired, Rundown, Couldn't Sleep. Tells How Syntona Helped Him.

"I have just recently obtained such good results by taking Syntona Herbal Compound that I feel I should recommend this medicine to other sufferers," said Mr. Hayward Rowswell, Scotland, Ontario.

"For slightly ten years I suffered with stomach disorders and became so bad I could hardly eat a meal without having awful distress with gas, sour acidity and indigestion afterwards. I usually have pains in my back and legs, and feeling in my stomach. Often I get dizzy spells and sick headaches and aches and pains in all my limbs, joints and muscles. My back was lame and sore, I felt tired, rundown and couldn't get any proper sleep at night.

"I read a big page about Syntona and although I had tried everything else I got it without question. I am glad to say this medicine helped me.

"After I was taking it a few days, I noticed that I was having considerably less trouble with gas and sour acidity, and although I am only on my second bottle of Syntona my meals are better. I am very encouraged and kept right on taking it. Syntona is an aid to eat all my meals once more, the distress is cleared up and I am getting rested and sound sleep. Also, the aches and pains are gone away, nerves are calmed down and I am getting more sound, restful sleep and I am not tired as I was before."

Why not give this pure herbal medicine Syntona a fair trial? It is different to take and results are quickly felt.

Sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST.

4TH SIDNEY

STONE CHURCH W.M.S.

4th Sidney—The Stone Church W.M.S. entertained the Baby Band and Mission Band in a special April meeting at the Community Centre Hall. A good crowd attended and the hall was tastefully decorated with plants and displays by the Mission Band.

The theme of the worship service, as led by the Mission Band superintendent, Mrs. F. Tucker, was the place of flowers in the message of Easter. The worship centre held the cross and two white candles.

The service was opened with an Easter hymn, after which Frances Tucker gave a reading. Marilyn Wright and Raymond LaBrash presented an interesting story, Marlene Tweddy read the Scripture Lesson and the offering was received and dedicated.

Some Mission Band members presented a fine playlet, "Three Little Sunbeams" under the direction of Mrs. G. Chisholm, Baby Band superintendent.

Guest Speaker

Mrs. F. Tucker introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. May of Belleville, secretary of Mission Bands for Belleville Presbyterial, who spoke first on the importance of prayer at Easter time. She then read a story on Christian Stewardship. Mrs. May commended the pupils for their fine Mission Band, which won an award at the Presbyterial in March. She told of their good work in making posters of their study book.

The Mission Band doll is to go to Matheson Hospital in Northern Ontario. The thank-offering at the meeting is to go to Battle River and Trinidad, to further W.M.S. work there.

Jack Rushell sang a solo, "Jesus Bids Us Shine."

Mrs. Chisholm ably conducted the graduation exercises of the Baby Band to the Mission Band. Those graduating were: Nancy Evans, Eleanor Neelands and Carl Tweddy.

Mrs. E. Phillips expressed the thanks of the W.M.S. to those

Veteran Ottawa Newspaper Man Dies Suddenly

Ottawa, April 27 (CP)— John Gladstone Grace, 80, veteran Ottawa newspaper man, died Wednesday.

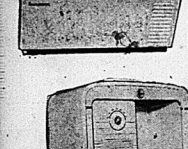
A member of an old Ottawa family, Mr. Grace knew every outstanding political figure from Sir John A. MacDonald to Prime Minister St. Laurent. He was a colorful figure, wearing clothing of the vogue of the '80s and '90s, but he belied his advanced years by taking an active interest in public affairs.

Once connected with the old Ottawa Free Press, the fore-runner of The Ottawa Journal, Mr. Grace founded a weekly newspaper "United Canada" in Ottawa before the turn of the century. The weekly had not been published for a number of years.

He contributed many articles on Canada to United States newspapers and magazines and was regarded as an authority on Irish affairs.

TO ERECT NEW HOUSES

Ottawa, April 27 — (CP) — Rev. J. Emile Vexina, parish priest of Our Lady of the Presentation Church, Wednesday announced a new scheme for the construction of 160 housing units in the Overbrook district of Ottawa. Sponsored by the church, the homes are aimed at alleviating housing problems of members of the parish. No estimate of the total cost was given.



helping in the fine program. Later, the children enjoyed a fish pond, and members of the W.M.S. served dainty refreshments.

Crest of Red River Shifts Toward Winnipeg District

DEMONSTRATION BY UNEMPLOYED QUICKLY ENDED

Ottawa, April 28 (CP)—Seven men staged an organized but short-lived demonstration from the public gallery of the House of Commons Thursday. All were forcibly seized and ejected.

The men, delegates of the "Canadian Convention of Unemployed Workers" now meeting in the capital, rose one by one and started to read a brief prepared by the convention. As each man got to speak uniformed police dobbed him and hustled him out of the Chamber.

The incident, first of its kind in years, followed unsuccessful efforts to present the brief to Prime Minister St. Laurent and Labor Minister Mitchell.

Later Ray Collette of Toronto, provisional president of the National Committee of Unemployed Workers who started off Thursday's demonstration, and two companions walked into the Parliament Buildings as the evening sitting was starting. They asked to see Health Minister Martin, but left quietly when told by him that he was not in the building. Collette's companions claimed to be unemployed workers from Mr. Martin's constituency.

Whether a group of supporters waited outside the Parliament Buildings, as claimed members saw Mr. Collette rise to his feet in the first row of gallery seats and shout:

"Mr. Speaker, I represent the Unemployed. . ." A policeman grabbed him from his position just behind reporters in the press gallery and led him away.

Strategically dispersed throughout the gallery, the remainder rose one by one and uttered a few words before being hauled away.

Car Leaves Road Six Injured

The dead: James McMahon, 16, driver of the car, Arthur Hornsby, 17, Mrs. Gladys Stasts, and her three children, Gordon, Deborah, Mrs. D. Westbrook, and her five-year-old daughter, Jennifer.

McMahon and the accident occurred when he lost control as the car hit loose gravel.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, April 28 (CP)—Synopsis: Cloudy cool weather-continues throughout the Dominion this morning with a few snowflurries reported from central and northern regions. There isn't much hope for warmer weather in northern regions today but gradual clearing is expected in southern districts, beginning first in the Windsor area extending to eastern Lake Ontario later in the evening. The clear skies, however, will not last much more than through the night. A storm that is over Colorado this morning is headed toward Chicago and cloudiness will show up over the Windsor area Saturday morning, followed by rain towards evening. This cloudiness will tend to hold temperatures well up into about the same as Friday's.

This storm offers no pleasant prospect. It may bring southern regions into much warmer air Sunday.

Winnipeg, April 28 — (CP) — Southern Manitoba's flood crisis worsened today as the Red River's spring crest shifted toward Winnipeg.

Today as far north as Winnipeg, the river level was climbing. At 8:30 a.m. the official reading in the capital was 21.7 feet — less than two feet below the peak of the bad floods two years ago.

Milder weather was melting unseasonably late snows through Minnesota, North Dakota and Southern Manitoba areas which the muddy river drains.

Towns Isolated

A day-long upsurge sent levels at St. Jean Baptiste and Morris, 37 and 30 miles south, over the 1946 mark. The spring run-off from the higher western slopes, despite near-freezing temperatures sent many municipal highway bridges to isolate the towns, except for rail communications.

Extra work gangs fought to sandbag the dikes at Morris as the creeping menace. At some points it was rising at a foot above the water.

At St. Morris the rise was 15 inches in 12 hours. Mayor Harry Shewman Thursday estimated damage in Morris would exceed $1,000,000.

The bridge to the east was under water, and water was two feet deep on the Roland road to the west. About 200 persons had been evacuated.

At St. Jean the northern approach to the town was under from two to 12 feet. Guard posts marking the winding course of the road dipped under water a few feet above the "lake"s edge, and only the upper skeleton of a steel bridge still was visible.

The rise between noon and midnight was eleven inches. About 30 farmers were forced to patrol their submerged fields in crude boats.

Road connections stretched no more than a few miles south of Selkirk. Half the town was under water and 60 families had their sheds moved to upper storeys.

At Record Level

At Emerson on the international boundary, the river rose another 10 inches to 830 a.m., and within a few minutes the night manager of the Canada Hotel was wading in pants and warned them of the chaos. The damage to the restaurant was estimated at $1,500.

CORRESPONDENT AND PROFESSOR FOUND MURDERED

Apparently Killed By Unknown Gang

Jakarta, Indonesia, Apr. 28 (AP)—A Yale professor and an American correspondent were slain Thursday in West Java, the apparent victims of a murderous gang whose motives could not be determined.

The bodies were Prof. Raymond Kennedy, 45, of Yale University, a noted sociologist known to his students as "Jungle Jim" because of his urge to explore remote areas, and Robert Doyle, 30, a native of Chicago who worked for Time and Life magazines out of Hong Kong.

A spokesman for the American Embassy said the two were killed on a paved highway near Tomo. This is a beautiful mountainous area where fanatical guerrilla bands were active during the Dutch-Indonesian war there. There was an indication the bodies may have been mutilated.

The two left Jakarta Wednesday for Pagiskarta, capital of the republic of Indonesia, but spent last night in Bandoeng. They had expressed hope they could get in one day's travel from Bandoeng.

Version of Killing

Kennedy and Doyle were stopped by Indonesian guerrillas led by a gang of four or five men who forced the cars taken to a clearing in the forest and were shot. Villagers were forced to bury them. Then the gang made their getaway toward Cheribon in a sedan they stopped on the road at about the same time.

The villagers reported the shooting to Indonesian army units in the area and the bodies were found.

The report did not say what had happened to the occupants of the sedan in which the gang escaped.

$35,000,000 Grant To Buy Wheat

Washington, April 28. (AP). British today was granted $35,000,000 to pay for Canadian wheat under ECA aid funds.

The economic co-operation administration announced the grant's approval. The agency said the grain-buying will begin immediately, bringing the total to 45.8 feet. With two-thirds of the 300-mile course covered, the next several hundreds driven from their lowland homes, preparations were underway for fresh evacuations.

Just across the border from Emerson, the Red recorded 51 feet, about six inches higher than the record crest of 1897. But at Grand Forks, N.D., 75 miles south of the border, the Red and Red Lake tariffs were receding.

Hearing of the Red level, was 21.6 feet—an increase of nearly two inches on the Wednesday reading. Flood level is 18 feet. It was the first major increase for almost a week.

Communist Scientist Curie, Chief of A-Energy Commission, Fired by French Government

Paris, April 28— (AP) — The shock of disqualify Joliot-Curie, French government today fired communist scientist Frederic Jo-liot-Curie as chief of France's Atomic Energy Commission and ousted him from the government's Institute of Scientific Research.

He was dismissed on the basis of his recent statements to the Gennevilliers Congress of the French communist party, where he pledged that communist scientists would never contribute their the apparent victims of a murderous gang whose motives could not be determined.

The two were Prof. Raymond Kennedy, 45, of Yale University, a noted sociologist known to his students as "Jungle Jim" because of his urge to explore remote north Sea Fleet, Spain, a native of Chicago who worked for Time and Life magazines out of Hong Kong.

A spokesman for the American Embassy said the two were killed on a paved highway near Tomo. This is a beautiful mountainous area where fanatical guerrilla bands were active during the Dutch-Indonesian war there. There was an indication the bodies may have been mutilated.

Kennedy and Doyle were stopped by Indonesian guerrillas led by a gang of four or five men who forced the cars taken to a clearing in the forest and were shot. Villagers were forced to bury them. Then the gang made their getaway toward Cheribon in a sedan they stopped on the road at about the same time.

The villagers reported the shooting to Indonesian army units in the area and the bodies were found.

The report did not say what had happened to the occupants of the sedan in which the gang escaped.

$35,000,000 Grant To Buy Wheat

Washington, April 28. (AP). British today was granted $35,000,000 to pay for Canadian wheat under ECA aid funds.

The economic co-operation administration announced the grant's approval. The agency said the grain-buying will begin immediately, bringing the total to 45.8 feet. With two-thirds of the 300-mile course covered, the next several hundreds driven from their lowland homes, preparations were underway for fresh evacuations.

Just across the border from Emerson, the Red recorded 51 feet, about six inches higher than the record crest of 1897. But at Grand Forks, N.D., 75 miles south of the border, the Red and Red Lake tariffs were receding.

Hearing of the Red level, was 21.6 feet—an increase of nearly two inches on the Wednesday reading. Flood level is 18 feet. It was the first major increase for almost a week.

Completion of Railroad Will Shorten Vancouver-Yukon Trade Route

Vancouver, April 28 — (CP) By the fall of 1951, a new and shorter trade route linking Vancouver, the Yukon and Alaska will in all likelihood be functioning.

Already in the Cariboo district of British Columbia's Interior there is intense activity as the Pacific Great Western, a railway it was built to lead to gold mines nowhere to nowhere, nears completion.

Chief engineer J. M. Stewart of the P. G. E. reported after an inspection trip that rapid settlement and industrial development is taking place, between Quesnel and Prince George, in anticipation of extension of the P.G.E. through plateau lands and valleys small industrial plants are taking up sites alongside the right of way.

The P.G.E., owned by the British Columbia government, now is pushing its line the gap made from Quesnel to Prince George, about 240 miles north of Vancouver. There it will link with the Canadian National Railways main line from Prince Rupert to Edmonton.

Also nearing completion is the new John Hart Highway 244 miles long, to connect Prince George and Dawson Creek. It is expected to be serviceable by the fall of 1951.

Crackdown Will Not be Confirmed Says Premier

Windsor, April 28—(CP)—The Ontario Provincial Police crackdown on lawlessness will not be confirmed, Premier Leslie Frost told the Windsor Star today in a telephone interview.

The Star quotes Mr. Frost as saying "just because there was a police drive in Windsor we are not going to be committed to any such solor."

Mr. Frost was expanding on a statement he made Thursday night in which he said, "We intend to offer full co-operation to United States law officials in their efforts to eliminate international operations of gambling and book-making activities.

"My fear is that Ontario may become a beachhead for criminal elements who may feel that by coming here they are going to escape the arm of the law," Mr. Frost told the Star today.

"It is up to us to make our entire force in Ontario alerted to check every possible source of lawlessness," he added. "We need the co-operation of all citizens in this job . . . This is a fight for all who are interested in law enforcement.

"The suggestion that we need a probe in Windsor we are not going to undertake at this time. Windsor alone. There are a number of other important points of entry from the United States and we are not going to overlook any of them. Neither do we intend to overlook any other part of Ontario, Toronto, Niagara Falls or any place else.

"It's obvious to us and it should be obvious to all that when the president of the United States takes a hand in this thing, he must feel there is something there that needs correction."

Negotiators in Chrysler Strike Resume Task

It was the 19th consecutive day of talks and the 94th day of the strike of 89,000 C.I.O. automobile workers.

Thursday's session, which followed upon a previous 20½-hour meeting, was recessed after nine hours.

Reports from the private bargaining room indicate that relaxation of the union stand in the way of a settlement.

But as a group they add up to a formidable obstacle.

According to informal advices, the scrap over $100 monthly pensions (including social security) has been narrowed to one principle.

Chrysler has agreed to fund the plan. The union has been willing to drop its demand for a specific non-contributory contribution from the company.

Those three items were of the reported minor issues comes to.

The union wants the pensions to men of 65 years of age after 25 years or work. Retirement then would be compulsory. At age 70 it would be compulsory.

Those three intervening years are reported to stack up as a problem.

The union is said to be insisting that a worker be allowed to accumulate additional pension provision if he is short on such time at age 65. It, for example, he has 24 years at age 65, the union wants a year's grace for him.

NON-CONFIDENCE MOTIONS BEATEN BY GOVERNMENT

Road Clear to Pass Budget Resolutions

Ottawa, April 28 — (CP) — The Commons rejected two opposition motions of non-confidence in the government Thursday night — both were hinged to the March 28 budget — and then quickly knuckled down to the concrete task of passing budget resolutions.

The motions, traditional opposition stabs at the government in the budget debate, were avowed under by these counts:

1. By a vote of 128 to 43, the Chamber defeated a Progressive Conservative motion expressing regret that government policies made higher taxes inevitable, included no adequate attempt to reduce costs and contained no program for national development.

2. By a vote of 167 to 12, the Chamber defeated a C.C.F. amendment expressing regret that government policies indicated the government was prepared to accept unemployment level of production as adequate for Canadians.

The House then adopted "on division" indicating disapproval without a record vote, the main government motion asking the Chamber to open active study of the tax changes outlined in the budget.

Strike Threat Is Deferred By Agreement

Hamilton, April 28 (CP)—The threat of a streetcar and bus strike was deferred today by an agreement to be completed and union to continue negotiations Monday in the office of Ontario Labor Minister Daley.

The long conference on Thursday in which Louis Fine, chief conciliator of the Labor Department, took part, was also lengthened easily today that the discussions would continue in Toronto.

Union spokesman for the Amalgamated Association of Street, Railway and Coach Employees (A.F.L.) had called a strike effective at 4 a.m. to protest against dismissal of a union official. The union said the official, driver Arthur Elwood, had been dismissed for soliciting new members on company property while they were at work. It admitted this was a technical violation of the act but contrary to the usual common practice.

Union members had voted overwhelmingly to strike today and Chief Constable Joseph Chamberlain had said the police were prepared for any eventuality in a dispute that would have involved between 50,000 and 60,000 citizens of their regular means of transportation to and from their reported heavy advance bookings.

Outbreak of Student Rioting Keeps New York City Police on Jump

New York, April 28 — (AP)— A swarm of high school students, hurling classes for the fourth day, marched into the city hall area today in a continuing protest over teachers' wages and a threatened extra-curricular activities.

As the latest morning classes arrived, some 250 students trooped into Foley Square in downtown Manhattan, the area where most of the municipal and state and federal buildings are located, and the scene of mass tumult for the last four days.

Mounted police, reinforced by extra details of foot patrolmen, broke up the marching students, who ran shouting, and screaming across lawns of the state and federal court buildings.

Riots have broken out as a peak of 30,000 students cut classes and swarmed through streets, parks and public buildings. Some groups have tried — noisily but in vain — to reach O'Dwyer and press their demands that teachers get higher pay.

The new rail-truck route may alter the whole Yukon and Alaska supply picture. From Vancouver it will be 924 miles shorter than the only existing land route by the Canadian Northern and the Alaska Highway.

The new route should not only save two or three days' time in transit but, traffic men predict, it will result in lower rates for Vancouver and Seattle shippers supplying the far-north country.

Railroad cars will be loaded at Vancouver's Second Avenue Pacific northwest pokna, moved by Pacific Great Eastern to Quesnel, 580 miles from here where the P.G.E. begins, and travel over the P.G.E. main line to Caribou to Prince George.

There cars will be moved to P.G.E. trucks for shipment to Dawson Creek, the Yukon and Alaska.

Further in the future is a plan to extend the P.G.E. line to a point ing 40 miles from Squamish to Vancouver.

Still further ahead is the dream of completing the P.G.E. to Alaska, 1,000 miles or more, with an estimated $800,000,000.

The P.G.E. was begun in 1912. It now carries a debt of $121,000,000.

Congress is Urged To Give Go-Ahead Order on Seaway

Project Will Help Realize 'Full Maritime Potentials'

Washington, April 28 — (AP) — The Federal Power Commission today urged Congress to give the proposed St. Lawrence seaway and power project an immediate go-ahead.

Roger B. McWhorter, the power commission's chief engineer, told the House or Representatives Public Works Committee it is time the people of the United States and Canada be allowed to "enjoy the great navigation and power benefits which have so long been denied them."

Philip B. Fleming, chairman of the U.S. Maritime Commission, also urged construction of the project to give the U.S. "a fourth seaboard."

Fleming said that the Maritime commission "has always taken is in the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway project as one of the primary requisites to the realization of the full Maritime potentials of the nation."

McWhorter said he was reflecting the power commission's views on a bill to authorize the start of work on the seaway project estimated to cost some $800,000,000.

Stresses Power Feature

McWhorter stressed the power feature, but said in his statement: "It is neither possible nor necessary to determine at this time which of these projects is, from the national point of view, more important. Each of them is unquestionably of major importance and should be developed as rapidly as further."

"At only one other remaining site in the United States can so much water power be developed," he said, "and significantly it, too, is in the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence basin — on the Niagara River.

"At these two sites — the cheapest and best hydro-electric power in the United States is potentially available, but it is still running to waste, benefiting nobody."

He said there is a market for four times as much power as he thinks Lawrence power could produce and suggested it be tied into a program to develop power on the entire of the Niagara River and New England streams.

The project contemplates (1) providing a channel by which ocean-going vessels can travel from the Atlantic Ocean into the Great Lakes and (2) constructing a massive hydro-electric power development on the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence River.

Get Some Power

Canada and the United States would share in the cost and Canada would get some of the power.

Fleming largely devoted himself to an explanation of how many ocean-going vessels could get through the seaway through a 27-foot channel to the Great Lakes.

He also emphasized that in time of national emergency Great Lakes shipyards could make a greater contribution in shipbuilding if there is 27-foot channel through which large vessels may pass, to the sea.

FREE PAINTING JOB NOT APPRECIATED BY MOTORISTS

Spray painting jobs cost considerable when done by an auto painting shop, but several motorists using No. 3 highway today did not exactly appreciate a free painting job which was given their cars.

Provincial police at Belleville received a complaint that a large truck was proceeding up the highway apparently loaded with empty paint drums or cans. As the truck went up the highway the pasting end sprayed a mist of yellow paint which settled on pasting cars. Police immediately sent out a call to flag the truck driver down.

CANADA GEESE SEEN WINGING WAY TO THE NORTHLAND

Spring weather may seem a long time in coming but at least the Canada Goose considers it is time that Spring was here.

During the past 24 hours, at least two flocks of wild geese have been winging their way in a general northerly direction, one of the flocks numbering about 50 geese and the other about 30 geese.

One of the flocks flew over the outskirts of the city last evening while the larger flock went directly over the city in a northwesterly direction shortly after seven o'clock this morning.

LUMBER DEALERS MEET IN CITY

Discussion of problems and policies featured the meeting of the Central District Branch of the Ontario Retail Lumber Dealers Association held in the Hotel Quinte yesterday afternoon. E. N. McLachlin, Kingston, presided over the association meeting in the chair. Upwards of thirty attended from the district which takes in the area from Oshawa on the west to Napanee on the east.

Probation Officer Outlines Work Of Family Court

The Men's Club of St. Thomas' Parish held its last meeting until the fall in the Parish House Thursday evening and following the excellent dinner, which was nicely served by members of the Women's Parochial Guild, the members were privileged to listen to a very interesting address by Mr. Don McKinnon, the newly appointed Probation Officer of the Juvenile and Family Court. The address was highly informative and the members were much pleased to learn of the operation of these courts for the correction and guidance of youth and the adjustment of family matters.

Mr. D. E. Fisher, the vice-president, presided in the absence of the president, Mr. George Wilkinson. The speaker was introduced by Mr. A. A. Pringle, K.C., and the appreciation of the club was conveyed to Mr. McKinnon by Mr. J. E. Mastine.

Maladjusted Child Special Problem H.&S. Assoc. Told

Dr. Roger Billings, Kingston, speaking to a meeting of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Club stated that sometimes the clever pupil can be as maladjusted as the dull one.

Every child is a special problem and sometimes many visits are required before the root of the trouble is reached. Children are especially sensitive to strife in the home, and hence, he said, care should be taken not to speak of contentious domestic affairs in front of the children.

Parents transmit only physique and heredity as his definition is not say the child "comes by habits honestly as his father (mother) did just the same thing."

In response to a question from a member of the audience, Dr. Billings stated that in his opinion it was not necessary to examine to know the I.Q. of their children unless there was a definite problem.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Austin Walters and thanks of the members was expressed by Mr. John Hall.

HYDRO FOR FARMS

Fort Frances, Ont. — (CP) — More than 700 farms in Rainy River district now are supplied with electric power. In 1947, when post-war construction of rural hydro lines started, there were only 225 rural customers. There now are about 120 miles of line.

59 Candidates Receive Order Of Exalted Knights

It was an inspiring sight as the 59 candidates presented themselves for exhalation.

Candidates came from the following Preceptories: Picton 4, Trenton 7, Wellington 6, Kingston 4, Port Hope 1, Bancroft 8, Brighton 6, Foxboro 6, and Belleville 15.

Worshipful Preceptor, J. E. Short with Deputy Percy Akey and Past Grand Master Graham conducted the opening ceremonies. A warm welcome was extended the candidates and visiting Sir Knights.

Grand Lodge honors were extended to the following: Cecil Palmer, Grand Master; H. Graham, Past Grand Master; Elmer Post, County Master; George McCullough, secretary.

Degree Team Introduced

Worshipful Preceptors Murney Reynolds and the Foxboro degree team were then introduced to proceed with conferring the degrees.

The work of the team was of a very high order, dignified and impressive. The team and the choristers received a hearty vote of thanks from the assembled Knights.

Among the visitors were Worshipful Preceptors R. Ross, Brighton; J. Tanner of Bancroft; Russell McFarlane, Trenton; Dr. Freeman, Kingston; B. Hinchcliffe, Foxboro; W. Wood, Foxboro; Ralph Wilson, Picton; and Wilmot Rose.

Refreshments Served

On closing of the Preceptory all adjourned to the banquet hall were refreshments were served by the members of L.O.B.A.

A resolution moved by Millar Carr of Cobourg and seconded by Sir Knight Trenwith Reid was carried enthusiastically and extended to the ladies by Worshipful Preceptor Short. The Worthy Mistress made reply on behalf of the ladies.

$6,947 Grant From Province For Hospital

Premier Frost announced yesterday some 140 hospitals in Ontario will get bonuses totaling $2,604,542 the first of which are already on their way.

These are special maintenance grants based on 25 per cent of the grant for maintenance given the hospitals last year. They are supplementary to 1950 regular grants.

Premier Frost announced the government's intention to give bonuses during his budget address in the June session of the legislature. Yesterday he said these, plus the increased municipal grants will become effective on Jan. 1, 1951, should help the hospitals out of difficulties.

The Belleville General Hospital will receive $947 according to the statement issued. Kingston General Hospital will receive $143,847 and Peterborough Civic Hospital $6,227.

WILLIAM H. (BILLY) SMITH

William H. (Billy) Smith, 8 King Street, died in the Belleville General Hospital late Thursday evening after an illness of two weeks' duration.

Born in this city the late Mr. Smith was in his 69th year and was a son of the late William H. Smith and his wife the late Mary Nicholson. All his life was passed here and he was well known and highly respected by those met by whom he will be much missed. He was a member of St. Michael's Church and in connection with the parish he was a member of the Holy Name Society.

"Billy" Smith as he was familiarly known by the harness racing fraternity of this Province, owned and drove some of the best horses racing in his day. From his younger est years he was always interested in horses and was considered one of the finest of "caretakers". He raced his horses at the county fairs for many years and journeyed to the United States on several occasions to bring home sizeable purses. He was also connected with hockey and was a trainer for many years when Eddie Thomas had sportsmen team in the O.H.A. For the past two years he has been employed by Mr. Thomas and was always a delight to go in and talk o'er the old days of hockey and horse racing with Billy.

Surviving him are eight brothers, Thomas, Jack, Paul, Harold, James (Doc) and Ben, Clifford and Harvey all of Belleville.

The funeral announcement is made in this edition.

LATE GEORGE GORDON FROST (Trent Road)

The funeral of George Gordon Frost was held Thursday afternoon from his late residence Trent Road, Sidney township, and was largely attended The service in the home and at the graveside was conducted by the Rev. A. C. McCallum, minister of Wesley United Church.

The bearers were Carman Frost, Howard Frost, Albert Frost, Ross Bateman, Claude Tucker and Albert Caskey.

FRANCIS NORMAN HIPSON (Formerly of Marmora)

Marmora, April 28—(Special)—Francis Norman Hipson died at the Ontario Hospital, Woodstock, on Friday, April 21, following an illness of two months. Born in Marmora, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hipson. He is his only survivor.

Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. John Yarwood, town of Marmora township and one brother William of Toronto.

The funeral was held at Woodstock. Service at the Hooper Funeral Parlors on Monday was conducted by Rev. J. V. Moberly of Christ Church, Marmora. Wood stock and interment took place in the cemetery there.

LATE MRS. MARY (MINNIE) HAROLD (Kingston — Belleville)

The funeral of the late Mary Etta (Minnie Greatrix) Harold, a former resident of this city, who died in Kingston on Monday morning was held from the Corrigan and Wilson Funeral Home, Moira Street west, on Wednesday afternoon. The service in the chapel and at Belleville, was conducted by the Rev. Canon J. Grant Sparling, Rector of Christ Church.

The bearers were A. Greatrix, Roy Greatrix, Cyril McMullen, Fred Moon, John Hood (Kingston), and Percy Kerr.

The late Mrs. Harold was a member of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Star Chapter No. 55, Belleville, and the last rites of the Order were performed at the funeral home on Tuesday evening by the following officers of the Chapter: Mrs. Baker, Worthy Matron; Robert Orne, Worthy Patron; Mrs. Ross, Associate Matron; Mrs. Morley Buck, Associate Patron; Mrs. Marie Smith, Mrs. Ada McMullen, Mrs. Pearl Westover, Mrs. Ada Thompson, Mrs. Bessie Patterson, Mrs. Lula Harman, Mrs. Audrey Elliott, Mrs. E. PICTON

Salvation Army Officers Moved To Trenton

Picton—Word was received yesterday by Captain and Mrs. John Morrison, officers-in-charge of the local Salvation Army that they are being transferred. They will conduct farewell services here on Sunday and will be in charge at Trenton, for two months when their new appointment will be known.

During their stay in Picton in the last year and ten months, Capt. and Mrs. Morrison have done outstanding work. Last year under their able direction, the Local Corps won second prize for the greatest increase in young people's work in the Army in all Canada and Bermuda, as well as first in this district. There was a 52 per cent increase.

The Sunday School has showed rapid growth with an enrolment of 101 and the work of the Corps generally has set a high standard.

Capt. and Mrs. Morrison have given noble public service and will be greatly missed.

To Retire Shortly

With Sunday morning's service Rev. Volney A. Ray concludes his ministry of Bowerman Church. He is retiring due to ill-health. A successor will be named shortly. Rev. Ray has been in charge for the past two years, coming out of retirement to do so. Previous to his earlier served as a missionary in Africa. He plans to reside in Picton.

A special service in the afternoon on Sunday, Rev. Ivan Morgan of Murray St. Baptist Church, Peterboro, will be guest speaker.

Station Agent To Assume Duties In Few Days

Picton—A. W. Sloverbridge, who has been C.N.R. agent at Waubaushene will arrive here in a few days to assume his duties as station agent at Picton. He succeeds C. G. Davy, who left the district for his new post at Sydenham after ten years in Picton.

Thomas Dixon, who has been assistant agent at Oshawa, has been given an assistant according Robert Welsh, who retired.

Prior to his recent departure, members of the railway staff, and friends gathered at the station and B. Simmons, agent at Bloomfield, read an address and made the presentation of a pen and pencil set.

Tourist Booth Will be Set Up On Main Street

Picton—A tourist information booth will be set up on Main Street in the Bloomfield section this season it was decided at a meeting of the Picton and Prince Edward County) Tourist Association, Wednesday night. This organization was just three set up since the direction of the Chamber of Commerce. Membership fee has been 50c for each person they can accommodate to finance the booth. Association of this includes membership in the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. J. Lawson Mackie is president, and executives of this there are already 40 members with revenue of $328 from the year's fees and $200 grant from the Chamber. An attractive booth is to be set up on Main Street with all types of information to be available there. Members of Executive

Members of Executive are Ira K. Emorey, Smith's Bay; Mrs. J. W. Graham, Wellington; Bruce Martin, The Outlet; R. A. Owen, Big Island; Gerry Short, Green Point; Willis Sills; East Lake; Leo Smith, Black Creek; W. B. West, West Lake; Frank Trebell, Picton; David Watlam, Waupoos. L. B. Calnan is secretary.

EASTERN OIL COUNTRY

Production of oil in West Pakistan at present amounts to about 113,000,000 gallons a year.

Salvation Army Campaign Opens Monday, Objective Set at $7,500

This summer, thanks to the generosity of the Salvation Army, a large number of underprivileged children will enjoy a vacation free of charge at the Roblin's Lake Camp in Ameliasburg.

Last year, officials of the Army took over the duties and successful was the venture that it has been decided to operate the camp this year for a period of two months. Many a youngster who otherwise would be denied a health-giving holiday in the fresh air of the countryside, will enjoy himself or herself, thanks to the efforts of the Army.

Everything is free for the kiddies. Wholesome food, expert supervision and leadership, play facilities, staff, are supplied by the Army.

But it means a large outlay of finances, and Salvation Army officials feel confident that the general public will respond as generously to their forthcoming campaign as it has done in the past.

The campaign opens on Monday, May 1 with $7,500 set as the objective.

While the summer camp for the kiddies is one of the main social work of the Army, it has many other outlets for funds. The work of the "Sally Ann" as the Army was affectionately dubbed by the members of the armed services, is also supported by funds so kindly received denial of assistance.

Mr. Mark Vanner is general campaign chairman and has secured the campaign quota at 256 Pinnacle street. Canvassers will call on the general public during the course of the campaign and residents are asked to give as generously as possible.

Anyone desirous of helping the Army in this connection should get in touch with Mr. Vanner as soon as possible. Help is needed and will be gratefully accepted.

GRAND MASTER HONORED

STOP DISTRIBUTION OF PAMPHLETS

Toronto, April 28 (CP)— Police were called to midtown Jarvis Collegiate today to stop distribution of pamphlets said to be issued by representatives of the Toronto Youth Peace Council, a reputed communist-front organization.

About 40 pamphlets urging students to attend a mass high school peace parliament April 30 were seized and the names of a man and woman distributing them were taken.

Police said it was unlikely any charges would be laid.

Former Residents Visiting City

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hay of Vancouver, B. C., are spending some time in the city on a visit to his sister, Miss Jessie Hay, George Street, and to her sister, Mrs. Harry Bryant and Mr. Bryant, Foster Avenue.

Mr. Hay entered the service of the old Grand Trunk Railway here in 1901 and after some time he filled the position of night ticket agent at the station. He made steady advancement in the passenger department and served in numerous capacities. In 1913 he opened the Canadian National Divisional Passenger Department in Vancouver and was the Chief Passenger Agent. He also served for a time in Puerto Rico with the company.

His late father served for nine years as an alderman of this city many years ago. Mr. Hay is now living retired. He is enjoying his visit to his old home and old friends are pleased to meet him.

Memorial Oak Credence Table Will be Dedicated

On Sunday morning next a special service will be held at St. Andrew's Church, Wellington, when the Rev. Canon L. E. Davis, M.A., D.D., of Kingston will assist the Rev. C. Heaven, rector, in dedicating a Memorial Oak Credence Table in memory of the late John and Sarah Chapel.

The east transept of this church has been furnished and will be dedicated as "St. Andrew's Chapel."

Several gifts have been donated including a St. Andrew's flag, the gift of Mrs. Edinburgh, Scotland, the gift of Mr. Robert Gair. A cross of mahogany made by Mr. Godfrey Upton also will be included in the dedications.

The "Rolls of Honor" with the names of the men and women from the district who served in the two World Wars are hanging in this chapel.

Canon Davis will give the address.

IN MEMORIAM

HILL — In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Donald Leslie Hill, who was killed one year ago today April 28, 1949.

Three years on, one year has passed Since death, our home did darken fast.

Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
Our loss that night, and ever will,
His vacant place there is none can fill.

Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For we shall meet him again.
Sadly missed by mother and family.

Says Gambler Slain for Failing To Keep Promise

Washington, April 28—(AP)— Mayer William E. Kemp of Kansas City told Senators today that Charles Binaggio may have been slain because he was unable to deliver on a promise that the city would be thrown wide open to gambling.

Kemp said "some lawless elements," including Binaggio, had entered into an agreement whereby he would be able to influence the police department to let gambling run wide open because of some appointments made by the governor to a city police board.

"Their hopes did not materialize," Kemp said.

Authorities Will File Appeal Against Five

Montreal, April 28 — (CP) — Federal authorities today filed an appeal in superior court against the $40,000 fine imposed on Vernon G. Cardy, retired hotel owner and sportsman for illegal foreign exchange dealings.

Cardy pleaded guilty last month of violating foreign exchange control board violations involving $40,000. He counsel pleaded for a minimum fine contending that the money which he spent in the United States pubilicizing his show horses, enticed American visitors to Canada.

Crown authorities asked for a $100,000 fine and a jail sentence for the offences for which the maximum penalty is a year in jail and a fine of double the amount involved.

Government intentions to appeal the sentence were announced in parliament recently.

European Policy Bitterly Attacked By Churchill

London, April 28 — (Reuters) —Winston Churchill today attacked what he called the "clumsy manner" in which the Labour party had carried out European policy, saying it had lost a good part of the respect and goodwill Britain had enjoyed from Allies and defeated enemies.

"Although the Socialist government has followed in the main the policies which I outlined at Fulton, Missouri, in 1946, for a fraternal association with the United States and, at Zurich in the fall of the same year, for a united Europe, including Germany, it has done it in so halting and clumsy a manner as to deprive us of many of the advantages we could have gained," he said.

The remainder of Churchill's speech, to 6,000 members of the Conservative National League was devoted mainly to home affairs.

Attacking the government's expenditure and taxation, he said Britain was the highest-taxed country in the world and taxes were still being increased.

"In this way, more surely than by any other in time of peace, our power is mainted and only the standards of life but survival itself for our crowded island population is jeopardized and the whole future of the British nature is threatened."

Mayor McCallum May Enter Cabinet Says Newspaper

Toronto, April 28 — (CP) The Telegram says today that a quiet shuffle of Ontario cabinet posts may take place at Queen's Park and that Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto may enter the cabinet as Minister of Welfare of Municipal Affairs.

"There is every indication that when Premier Frost decides to seek the benediction of the voters he will stump the country with at least one new proposed cabinet minister in addition to a shuffling of the present members of the executive council," the paper says in a newspage story.

Health Minister Kelley has been ill for several months. There are reports that Welfare Minister Goodfellow, now acting health minister, will take over the portfolio and that Mr. Kelley will remain in the cabinet as a minister without portfolio.

The Telegram says Mayor McCallum might then become Welfare Minister. But if he were made municipal affairs minister, George Dunbar, who now holds that portfolio, might be given the welfare post.

Repeats that a general election might be called in 1951 or 1952 arose after Premier Frost told the Toronto Progressive Conservative Women's Association that he wanted to have party organization in good shape by the end of 1951. The last general election was in 1948.

Red River Flood Worse Than '48 Says Minister

Winnipeg, April 28, (CP)— Works Minister Derrick F. Wills said today the Red River flood will be "much greater" than that of 1948 when damage amounted to millions of dollars.

Mr. Wills, acting premier in the absence of Hon. Douglas L. Campbell, said the deluge is "in every sense a national emergency and should receive the immediate attention of the federal government."

"The floods are as national in character as those in British Columbia in 1948, and National assistance should be made available in the same ways?"

Mr. Campbell of the Red River water came from the United States and was not subject to control by Manitoba, federal help was more necessary than it would otherwise be.

Czech Govt. Asks US Cut Personnel

Prague, April 28 — (Reuters) — Prague radio announced today that the Czechoslovak government in a note today asked the United States embassy here to reduce its personnel in Prague and in the consulate-general in Bratislava by two-thirds as soon as possible.

The United States asked Czechoslovakia April 21 to close her consulate in Chicago by May 1. This request was made in a note replying to a Czech demand for the closure of the United States information offices in Prague and Bratislava two days before.

No Laughing Matter Says Airlines Pilot

Chicago, April 28 (AP)— A Trans-World Airline pilot Thursday night reported seeing a "round mass" which "glowed a dull red like hot steel" as it cruised about a half-mile from his Chicago bound plane.

"I used to laugh at all those flying saucer reports but it's no laughing matter now," said Capt. Robert Adickes. "I saw one."

Adickes said the object "20 to 30 feet" in diameter, overtook his plane bound from Washington to Chicago near South Bend, Ind. It cruised along a parallel course for eight minutes, Adickes said. The plane was at 2,000 feet.

Adickes said he turned north in an attempt to get closer.

"It picked up speed —300 to 400 miles an hour —and ran out of sight right over South Bend" the pilot related.

First Officer Robert Manning confirmed Adickes account. Adickes said—about half of the 19 passengers aboard also saw the object.

Perilous Voyage In 17-Foot Boat

Las Palmas, Canary Islands, April 28 — (AP) An elderly Berlin mechanic and his young daughter have reached the Canary Islands en route to Buenos Aires, after a 1,000-mile voyage across open sea in a 17-foot boat. Their sole mechanical navigating aid during the eight-day trip from Lisbon, Portugal, to Las Palmas was a compass. Grycz-kaiser Paul Mueller, 62, gives chief credit for the successful voyage thus far to his daughter, Aga, 18.

Fleming said it was estimated that 10 to 12 per cent of the United States' ocean-going merchant fleet could transfer a 27-foot channel if fully loaded but that under usual operating conditions with part loads "practically every type of vessel in the American merchant fleet" could use such a channel.

He said about 5,200 or 58 per cent of all foreign flag ships could use such a channel if fully loaded.

MADOC

Organize Midget Softball League

Madoc — Four Midget teams will compete this spring in a newly organized Softball League. The following local organizations will each sponsor a team — Kiwanis Club, Legion, Elks Club and Community Club. A meeting was held on Monday night in the Legion Hall for the purpose of organizing and representatives were present from all clubs.

Tom Burnside was elected president with Jack Lee, secretary executive committee: Community Club — T. H. Rupert; Legion — Joe Belcher; Kiwanis — Kel Kincaid; Elks — Ray Smith.

Madoc village boys and boys from surrounding district are eligible to play. Each club to be responsible for its own equipment and the home club to furnish suitable balls.

A schedule will be drawn up and winners at the end of the season will receive a shield and a trophy will also be given. These will be donated by Ray Burris.

Silver Dollars As Premiums One Suggestion

Niagara Falls, Ont., April 28. (CP)—A suggestion that United States tourists be given Canadian silver dollars as premiums on U.S. $10 bills was made Thursday by C. C. Manore of Sarnia at the Ontario Tourist Conference.

The tourist would probably look upon the silver dollar as a souvenir of his Canadian visit and take it home to show his friends said Mr. Manore.

At the same time, minting of the extra dollars needed for the plan would provide extra work for Canadians and stimulate the silver mining industry.

POWER AND DEVELOPMENT

With the heavy amount of rain which has fallen this month and all the progress shown by the program of the new Electric Power Commission of Ontario, residents of this Province have the satisfaction of knowing that they will have a great abundance of power, according to Chairman Robert Saunders in a statement made Thursday in Hamilton as he officiated at the opening of the new local office of the Electric Commission building.

He told of new projects and pointed to the extension of the Niagara River system and the prospect of the St. Lawrence waterways development. While the development will take some years in the future, there is the assurance of vast power being available to the people of this Province.

Chairman Saunders gave some figures which show in part a happy position the people of Ontario find themselves in. Ontario is in the van with a very heavy consumption of power per person of no less than 3,600 kilowatt hours per capita as against the all-Canada figure of 3,300 and the American average of but 1,600 kilowatt hours. This Province is in a favored part of the transmission with reference of farmlands, mineral areas, precious metals, grasslands of great value and of a great system of water ways besides the wealth stored up in the waters of the Ottawa and of Great Lakes especially of the mighty Lawrence. In the projects associated with the St. Lawrence, Eastern Canada as well as the eastern part of the United States cannot but see the way to great development with a steadily rising population far beyond its present total which has been steadily growing.

Those who have had dreams of the magnificent growth immediately to come as a result of the waterways development find their visions being realized at a more rapid rate than they might have expected.

Power at a reasonable rate is one of the sources of wealth to any people and Eastern Canada and Eastern United States have the great hydro electric resources which are necessary for the growth that looms ahead.

THE TRANSIENT PROBLEM

Salvation Army statistics show that the average resident young man is not a homeless man, but a man away from home, according to Lieut.-Colonel E. Waterston, Chief Social Service Secretary of the Salvation Army for Canada. The problem of the transient is less urgent now that summer seasonal employment is beginning. The Salvation Army's major problem at the moment is the resident unemployed man, according to Colonel Waterston.

There is an increasing number of aging resident unemployed men — in the 45 to 65 year brackets — who are a very precarious life, merely eking out an existence. These men, the Colonel stated, are dependent upon casual work alone, many jobs being no longer interested in them. They have lost the skills of earlier days, but still have many years of useful work in the mif given properly supervised employment in work they are capable of doing. The Salvation Army feels that governing bodies might do more to assist this type of man.

Speaking of the transient, or migrant, Colonel Waterston said that every effort put forth for his benefit should always include a work program. Ways and means should always be found whereby this type of person could eat and sleep by the labor of his own hands. Salvation Army social superintendents find that transients are usually young men in years, about 60 per cent being under 25 years of age. In many instances it is not a matter of rehabilitating these men, but of habilitating them, as many never have had a job.

Colonel Waterston states that last year was the most active in the history of the Men's Social Service work for the Army. He regretted that the crime level is still rising, actually increasing the need for Social and Welfare Services. Crimes attended by violence as the result of the consumption of liquor reached a new all-time high, so far as Salvation Army observation and service was concerned.

The Salvation Army will make its appeal in May for 1950 Red Shield.

NEW SUB POST OFFICE ON WEST SIDE

Opening of a sub post office on the West Hill at 89 Bridge Street West is a sign of Belleville's steady progress and growth. Steadily the signs of expansion are revealing themselves.

In the growth of a community the mail is one of the best indications. West Belleville residents will be thankful for the service which is to be established in that section beginning Monday, May 1, with R. J. Goodfellow as postmaster.

The Canadian Northern Railway and its proposed route through the city was discussed at a meeting of the city council last evening at which the Board of Trade was represented. The feeling of the majority of those present seemed to be that the C.N.R. should be given every reasonable inducement to come into Belleville with the understanding, of course, that the city's interests and the safety of its citizens, be properly protected. It looks, however, that the route will follow the bay and the crossings here will be level.

Mr. Davison of Montreal, has leased and will occupy the house on Catherine Street which was built and is owned by Mr. P. Hayes.

50 YEARS AGO

April 28th, 1900

Mr. Wesley Cartwright has sold his steam yacht, the Curlew, to a Peterborough man.

The progress is that the marine business will be good this season.

Mr. H. Corby's fine yacht, the Skylark, is being put in shape for the season.

"Faust" will be at attention at the opera house here next Friday evening.

Mr. Richard Applebee, Bridge Street west, is spending a few days at Bella Beach, Prince Edward.

"The Rev. C. E. Ross of Shannonville, is very much gratified by receiving a letter of thanks from Her Majesty the Queen in recognition of a copy of his poems, "The Relief of Ladysmith".

Mr. Walter Fanning, Jr., has left for Chicago, Ill.

The Rev. Vernon H. Cowsert, pastor of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, is spending a few days in Peterborough.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

OPEN LETTER

Honorable Harry S. Truman,
The White House,
Washington, D.C.
Dear Mr. President:

It may interest you to know that there's a man in New York who knows exactly how much atom bombs we have, exactly where they're hidden and exactly how they're being guarded. What's more, he is connected in no way with the Atomic Energy Commission, the Army, Navy or any other branch of the government.

With your patience and permission, I'd like to tell you about him.

Not long ago, this man—the editor of a national magazine with more than 15,000,000 readers—went to Washington on routine business. The day he arrived he was invited to a dinner party in Georgetown, and over the postprandial brandy he got into a bull session with several members of the military and bureaucratic elite. When the subject of the atom bomb was touched on, high-ranking officials laughed. "Don't worry about our A-bombs," he said, and then, without prodding or trying, he proceeded to tell the editor and the other guests exactly how many bombs we had, where they were stored, and the security precautions in force in the area. At the end, the drinky-talky notable added as if to say, "You folks didn't know what a bright boy I was, did you?"

The editor, an old friend of mine, told me this story a couple of days after he got back to New York, and I've been using a lot of barbiturates ever since. He's a zipper-lipped citizen, who edits his thoughts carefully at his copy, and I believe him when he says that the situation is currently s-busting with blabbermouths who, at the drop of a daiquiri, blurt out top secrets with only a prefaced "This is off the record" to tide up their consciences.

Fortunately for us, this magazine man is not apt to talk out of school or turn, but it stands to woeful reason that if he can come away from Washington with this kind of information a lot of other people can, too—including those who cash their pay checks in the First National Bank of Moscow.

In this day and dilemma, Mr. President, government by gossip is the biggest menace to our survival since I sit and trembling. A big time you pressed a few buttons and initiated some big-scale cracking and cracking down. If heads must fall, then let them fall, and if you've got to use that literally, it's all right with me, not to mention 150,000,000 other Americans who don't own a bomb shelter or a lead-lined hat.

Respectfully,
Billy Rose.

P.S.— It may further interest you to know that, according to a recent estimate, the per capita consumption of beer in Outer Mongolia is greater than that of any other town in this country.

MacKenzie's Column:

Hoover Proposal Of 'New Front' Understandable

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

Former President Herbert Hoover's call for a scrapping of the present United States set-up, and the creation of another peace organization from which the Communist countries would be barred, is startling but wholly understandable.

It is of course based on the certainty that Russia has no intention of living up to the agreements she has made and is not likely to do so.

Hoover declared that the "new united front" he advocates is one which "a proposed extension of a military alliance," and added:

Moral, Spiritual Foundations

"It is a proposal based solely upon moral, spiritual and defence foundations.

The U.N. comprises 56 countries. Of these the Soviet bloc claims five, with untamed Yugoslavia sometimes making a fifth. Russia, supported at this tiny minority but armed with the all-powerful veto in the Security Council, has persistently stymied most of the work of the majority. Meantime the communist bloc has used the U.N. as a sounding-board for Communist Red propaganda.

The Communist end of the U.N. at present lines was logical at the time of its creation, based on a brotherhood of all nations. However more than four years of this has proved the idea unsound and impossible.

You can pour oil and water into a bottle, and shake the bottle till hades freezes over, but the two will never have mixed.

Present-day communism isn't the old-time communism which the world knew generations ago. Then it was a case of the current bread to share and share alike. Today we are dealing with a highly organized ideology, the current brand of communism cannot.

The ideal of "one world" cannot be realized under these circumstances. We are forced to recognize, at the present moment, there must be "two worlds." And by that token the only hope for the United Nations—one comprising the democracies and the other the communist states.

Plans Mercy Flight

Halifax, April 27. (CP)— The Air Force will leave here today for a ski-equipped Norseman from its Goose Bay detachment. It is expected to make a mercy flight to Spear Harbor, Labrador, as soon as weather conditions permit. A YOUNG FATHER INQUIRES

In your tally of letters regarding the presence or absence of the prospective father at the birth of his baby, please count this as one from young parents who believe you are misleading your readers when you imply that it is the husband's right or duty to witness the delivery in hospitals in the area. (G.L., Jr.)

Young man, you are mislead. So are too many other prospective and recent fathers who have written to me in similar vein. Not including titles or headings or similar contributions of next-door, office boys, bright from the days etc, who take liberties with my copy, neither you nor any other misled young man can find in my writings the statement or the implication that the husband or prospective father should be present at the birth of his baby.

Pray, young man, proceed.

What earthly use has your birth to her second child (her child, young man?—that's the trouble with you and a million others, prospective and recent fathers) at—hospital. An hour or two before the birth she asked to see me. I was in the waiting room thirty yards away. Request was politely denied, in accordance with hospital policy and board of health regulations.

Enough from you, young man. You annoy me a little. I will suppose you acquired your wrong impression of my sounding off on the presence of the husband at his wife's side at the supreme moment of their life, not from what I wrote, but from the odds and ends of my copy that were printed.

The idea of a husband or any one else "witnessing" childbirth never entered my head, until you uneducated or badly educated prospective parents started arguing telling me your childish troubles.

The prospective father's interest and concern in the matter is precisely the same as the interest and concern of the prospective father at the birth of his baby, please count this as one from young parents who believe you are misleading your readers when you imply that it is the husband's right or duty to witness the delivery in hospitals in the area. TODAY'S TALK

MIND SIGHT

People whose physical sight has been taken from them often suffer more than any of us who have this God-given sight. For you see, the Mind has eyes!

From the most strange and fascinating of writers, James Stephens the Irish poet and writer, entitled "Etched in Moonlight," comes this: "All thought is a seeing. No idea is real if it be not visualized. We see to know; to know is to see clearly, and other knowledge than that is mechanical."

One of the most marvelous of individuals is Helen Keller. How few would all believe that every common sight," as Wordsworth wrote, "apparalled in celestial light."

The mind feasts upon memory, and keen recalling increases of beauty, friendship, and happy learning. It can sweep the whole story of a man in a moment of ecstasy. And how often it becomes the agency of the dead. Dr. Alexis Carrel speaks of thought as "infinitely more important and real" and as the "most colossal power of this world." Without the mind there can be no We thought!

know about the things that we actually see, and so can tell others, helping them to see. That is a striking name for a recent book —"I Was There!" No hearsay—but facts. Such a "seeing" is intelligent, interested in the subject.

This, say what you will, this mind sight is the most valuable sight that we own. When all is darkness and silence, there are things still to see. People can be helped to see; we can be able to see with that mind sight a world of things and events. They can be told, and learn more, than when in normal health. Only the mind could have every common sight," as Wordsworth wrote, "apparalled in celestial light."

FREEDOM

Freedom is always purchased at the cost of discipline. Many people do not understand this. They think that freedom is the opportunity to do whatever one wants to do, if he wants to do it and when he wants to do it. But this is license.

The musician who has spent thousands of hours at the piano has freedom to put his finger on any key he wants to at last time right into the air, and I do not have that freedom. Our fingers lack the facility, probably for many reasons, but freedom is always purchased at a cost. It can never be conferred upon anyone; it has to be purchased. And the purchase price is self-denial, diligence, vigilance, and the pulling aside of self.

The liberties is the person who swings through life with nothing in view but the satisfaction of his appetites. The free man is the person who has learned the right use of all things through discipline. If you want to get real satisfaction out of life, get freedom; and if you want to get freedom, then life its significance is freedom, be done going on a holiday. But there are people in the process of coming up the hard way who are not particularly partial to well-dressed and prosperous-looking hitch-hikers. Not it is a rich man saying in business that no-body is harder on his subordinates than the man who has come the hard way, the fact remains that people in this have a way of seeking out others who are in trouble. Some of the finest and charitable institutions in the land have, for their mainstay, a man, or a group of men who have been pretty severely kicked about by life.

Thus, my dear sir, when you sail by some shabby hitch-hiker on the highway, your common sense reassuring your conscience at all points of contact, remember all the stick-ups and even murders that have come of picking up hoboes. But remember also that behind you always comes some troubled soul who prefers picking up the hobo to giving a lift to a bishop in gaiters.

'Corbys' Adopts New Title Of 'H. Corby Distillery Ltd.'

Shareholders and directors of the former Canadian Industrial Alcohol Ltd., more familiarly known as "Corby's", apparently believe in the, familiar quote "What's in a Name."

Following a request submitted to the company directorate a few months ago, shareholders of the company at a meeting held here on Thursday with highranking officials of the company heard the demise of the name Canadian Industrial Alcohol Co., Ltd. and a reversal of parent company nomenclature.

Henceforth the company will be known as the H. Corby Distillery Ltd., which will replace the former C.I.A. as the parent organization. The C.I.A. also underwent a "baptism, and will be known in the future as the Canadian Industrial Alcohol and Chemicals Ltd., a subsidiary of the new H. Corby Distillery Ltd.

The Wiser Distillery Ltd., another subsidiary will retain its name.

The H. Corby Distillery Ltd. operated under the name of the C.I.A. for approximately the last 30 years. Previous to that time it was known as the Corby Distillery.

Founded In 1857

Founded by the late Henry Corby, mayor of Belleville in 1857-58, "Corby's" has since occupied a prominent place in business circles of this district. Its record of business achievements was considerably enhanced during the Second World War when it devoted most of its facilities to the manufacture of important war material.

"Corby's was established in 1857 when the late Henry Corby established a grist mill and distillery on the easterly bank of the Moira River. On his demise the business was conducted by his son, the late Senator Harry Corby.

Convention Opens

Sitting in annual convention today and tomorrow are highranking officials of the company and its coast-to-coast sales staff. Discussion of sales plans and policies for the coming year feature the convention while special tours of the Corbyville plant intersperse the round-table sessions.

Presiding at the convention is vice president and general manager J. W. Vezina, Montreal. Other officials here include H. W. Howlett, assistant to the vice-president, Montreal; James Boyle, sales manager formerly of Belleville and now of Montreal. Also attending the convention are Harry Smith, vice president Stevenson-Scott Advertising Agency, Montreal, Phillip Langlois, manager J. M. Douglas Company, Montreal; E. J. Conway, prairie provincial manager of Winnipeg, and Gordon Rose, Maritime provinces manager from Saint John, N.B. Upwards of 40 sales representatives are in session.

Hosts to the convention are Wilfred Laporte, general manager of H. Corby Distillery and "Mickey" MacDonald assistant general manager, of Corbyville.

Entertained at Banquet

Sales representatives and officials "let their hair down" at a banquet held in the Hotel Quinte last night, where business was temporarily laid aside. Comfortably "wrapped around" large juicy steaks, they indulged in an hour of close harmony and community singing plus special entertainment by one of their fraternity.

General manager Vezina already a fine tenor voice in many old favorites while the Ontario, Quebec and other delegations were given the opportunity to display their vocal talents.

Especially good was the "Russian" number given by the Quebecois under the able direction of Anthony "Tony" Lemelin, of Quebec City. Mr. Lemelin who has a magnificent baritone-basso voice and who conducts a choir of 100 voices in his native city, offered several solos including "The Lord's Prayer." He is an accomplished pianist and raconteur and his efforts were easily the feature of the entertainment part of the program.

Following the banquet the convention visited the Recreation Bowling Alleys, where they toppled the maples for a couple of hours. Some imposing scores were made but the majority, as one of them remarked, are much better salesmen than keglers.

The convention continues until Saturday noon.

POET'S GRANDSON DIES

Cambridge, Mass., April 28 — (AP)—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Dana, 69, grandson of the poet Longfellow, was found dead in the family homestead Thursday. His mother, Edith Longfellow, was the "Edith with golden hair" in her father's famous poem "The Children's Hour". His father was Richard Henry Dana, son of the author of "Two Years Before The Mast."

GIVEN TWO MONTHS

Uxbridge, April 28 —(CP) — Mrs. Laura Matthews Thursday was sentenced to two months on a charge of selling liquor and an additional 30 days, to run concurrently, for selling liquor to a minor. Harold St. John was fined $10 for purchasing beer while under 21 years.

Father and Son Banquet Held By Scout Troop

On Wednesday evening the 1st Belleville (St. Thomas) Scout Troop and Cub Pack, under the chairmanship of Mr. S. Connolly held their first annual father and son banquet in the St. Thomas' Church Parish House, the dinner, under the auspices of the newly-formed Mothers' Auxiliary, headed by Mrs. F. H. Clarke, and the entertainment which followed was in all, an outstanding success with nearly one hundred and fifty boys and fathers present.

The guest speaker of the evening was Mr. N. D. McDonald, (M. B. E., District Commissioner of Scouting in the Kingston area who gave a very interesting and informative talk on scouting and whose introduction was very capably handled by Field Commissioner Art. Jackson. He was thanked by Mr. Hugh Murray and later presented with a set of handicraft book ends by Patrol Leader Bill Deacon. Other principal guests included Archdeacon Smith, Leader of the Troop and Pack, and the newly - appointed Belleville District Commissioner Angus Duffy, Mr. Duffy, who was introduced to the Group and guests by Mr. C. N. Nicholson, President of the Belleville Association, gave a short address to the boys and their fathers. A number of the Scout and Cub leaders from other Belleville groups were also present.

Splendid Sing Song

Sing songs under the capable direction of Mr. Allcorn with Mr. Simpson at the piano had the effect of adding life and color to the evening's entertainment. The splendid supper which followed Mr. John Deacon's solo rendition of "Hail, Hail, Scouting Spirit" was indicative of the Group' appreciation of this item on the program. Mr. Simpson was presented with a Cub statuette by Scout Gerald Pitman in appreciation of his efforts at the piano.

Highlights of the evening's performance was the presentation by Scoutmaster Smith of badges to a number of Scouts who had recently passed hard-earned tests in various phases of scouting. Those receiving such honors were:—

Bronze Arrowhead Badge: — Scouts Ronald Donaldson, George Hosang, Sidney Allcorn, Bill Wilson, Howard Mowers.

The evening was closed with prayer and benediction by the Padre, Archdeacon Smith.

PROGRESS MADE

Hamilton, April 28 —(CP) — William Hamilton, Ontario Minister of Reform Institutions said Thursday night that progress has been made in encouraging good work habits among prisoners. He said, however, greater opportunity must be offered at penal institutions for cultural development.

TV HOOK-UP ARRANGED

London, April 28—(Reuters)—Britain, the United States and 14 other countries began preliminaries Thursday for a conference to discuss a standardized European-wide television hook-up. The proposed net work would enable viewers throughout Europe to watch televists from any one of the linked countries.

TURN OVER BAIN PARK

Officials of the Trenton Parks Board announce their decision to turn over Bain Memorial Park to the Trenton Recreational Commission. The bleachers, used at the dedication of the Memorial Crates at R.C.A.F. Station will be erected at the park for spectators to view baseball, football, horse and mikky racing, along with any other activity in the park.

MOVE CLOCKS AHEAD

Trenton residents are reminded to turn their clocks ahead one hour Saturday midnight in compliance with council's decision to go on Daylight Saving Time.

WINS EXHIBITION BOUT

Trenton boxer Roy Deshane won a five-round exhibition bout in Niagara Falls Wednesday night when he sent Bernie Haggerty of Hamilton down for the count of ten in 1 minute and 15 seconds of the 3rd round. This is Deshane's second knockout in the last two weeks. He has lost only four fights out of his total fifty-three matches.

Indian Woman Named American Mother of Year

Portland, Ore., April 28 (AP)—Mrs. Henry Roe Cloud, who started life in an Indian reservation log cabin in the American Mother of the year.

The first of her race to be selected, she was named a Civil American Mother's Committee in New York City.

The 52-year-old mother of four daughters is chairman of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs and chairman of the Indian Welfare Committee.

The committee cited her religious honesty and the character and achievements of her children in selecting her from 53 candidates.

She was born on the White Earth Indian reservation in Fosston, Minn., to Elizabeth Bender. Her mother was a Chippewa Indian, her father a German homesteader.

Her brother, Charles, starved in Switzerland for years as Chief Bender, pitcher for Philadelphia Athletics.

She was married to Henry Roe Cloud, a full-blooded Winnebago, who was the first Indian graduated from Yale University.

Hamilton Woman Has Beagle Woes

Bexhill, Sussex, Eng. — (CP) — Day and night for two months, Gordon (Josh) Smith and his Canadian wife, the former Doreen Sherry of Hamilton, Ont., have been entertaining a pack of 24 hounds.

Smith, landlord of the Denbigh Hotel here, bought the hounds last December, but the "Denbigh Beagles" had been out only a few times when Jimmer got hoarse and hard-pad put them in quarantine.

Meets for the rest of the season, now ended, had to be cancelled.

Altogether it's not the hounds became ill, "but we managed to bring all but one back to health," Smith said. She guesses whether injured were lost but eight others survived.

Mrs. Smith, who helps her husband hunt the hounds, has been helping with the nursing.

"It was very disappointing when the hounds fell ill, but we hope to be ready for the new season in August," she said.

Mrs. Smith met her husband while on a vacation in England. They were married after she had been here six months.

Mrs. Horton. Mrs. Reynolds gave an interesting paper choosing as her topic "How to Develop Happier and More Useful Citizens and Give Children that Sense of Security", Miss Marg. Hicks followed with an appropriate reading.

After the meeting was closed dainty refreshments were served.

Following this a plant sale was conducted.

Food Demonstration 'Fine Foods of Canada' Film Depicts Planting, Growing And Canning of Vegetables

A fine demonstration of food products, included in the unrolling and a film was presented Wednesday afternoon at the Empire Groceteria.

Over 200 invited guests were present at the "At Home" sponsored by the proprietor, W. Frank Dennison, and "catered" to by Mr. Curtis W. Griffin, of the Ontario and Canada Food Brokers' Association, and his assistants, Mrs. Vera Marshall, (Aunt Jemima); Mr. Harold Griffin, "Millionaire Sardines" and "Tuna Fish" representative; Mr. Joe Starks and Mr. Jim Killackey.

The ample stockroom was filled with colorful posters representing the various canned vegetables "Green Giant Peas", "Pots of Gold" corn niblets; and "Green Giant Beans", while along the front portion attractively arranged in tall pyramids were cans of these vegetables. At the sides were small tables on which were Aunt Jemima pancake mix, Aunt Jemima silver cake mix, packages of the cereal, cream of barley, Pearl barley in bulk, cream of barley, "Pennant Brand" maple syrup, tea and coffee served with the delicious pancakes.

Mr. Frank Domenico, as master of ceremonies, introduced Mr. Curtis Griffin, who remarked that he was pleased to see so many present, and especially so many nice looking grandmothers, families pancake mix, Aunt Jemima silver cake mix, packages of the cereal, cream of barley, Pearl barley in bulk, cream of barley, "Pennant Brand" maple syrup, tea and coffee served with the delicious pancakes.

After the luncheon, the draw for the donated hampers of grocerise took place, Mrs. Bert Gray being the lucky holders of the winning ticket; Mrs. J. Brushett, 18 College St, with ticket, 344; Mrs. Hutcheson, 136 Bonnett St, left; Mrs. Macdonald, 147 West Bridge Street, 322, Mrs. Barnhart, 249 Dundas St, 216; Mrs. Rush, 167 Church St., 324; and Mrs. Louis, Rossmore, 266.

Lucky holders of winning tickets for the evening demonstration were Mrs. R. Ethier, 211 Dundas St.; Mrs. R. J. St. Dennis, 172 McDonald Ave., Mrs. Bill Dennis, 139 Lingham Street; Mrs. McKay, 176 Station Street; Mr. D. Davis, 171 Foster Ave., and Mrs. F. Archer, 29 St. Paul Street.

A vote of thanks was extended Mr. Griffin and his assistants for a delightful afternoon, by Mr. Domenico, who after presenting the staff to the assembled guests, cordially invited all to visit the bakeshop, the cold storage room, canning room, and the air conditioning plant of which the Empire Grocteria can be justly proud.

Little sample packages were also distributed to the guests containing a breakfast supply of the new cereal, cream of barley.

Princess May Re-Establish Tradition of Large Families

London, April 28 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth may re-establish one of the royal traditions of large families, Buckingham Palace sources hinted today.

The hetress-presumptive to the Throne and her young husband, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, are expecting their second child in August. The people around the Palace think the baby won't be the last by any means.

"There's no question but that both are very child-minded," one informant said.

Queen Victoria set a big-family tradition for the British Royal house. She had nine children herself, and at the time of her death had 37 great-grandchildren on her Christmas list.

King Edward VII had five children—three Princesses and two princes. King George V, Elizabeth's grandfather, had six, five of them boys.

Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, married in a blaze of old world pomp Nov. 20, 1947, had their first child, Bonnie Prince Charles, Nov. 14, 1948.

When Prince Charles was born the Palace sources said, "they badly wanted a boy—and got their wish."

As far as is known, the informant said, neither the Princess nor her naval officer husband has expressed any preference for a boy or a girl this time.

Princess Elizabeth now is in Malta with her husband, a Lieutenant on the Royal Naval Destroyer Chequers. She is expected to fly back to Britain next Wednesday.

The Princess already is on a strict medical regime and diet in preparation for the birth, and is "having all the normal prenatal care," the Palace informant said. The birth is to be supervised by Sir William Gilliatt, the doctor who attended her when Prince Charles was born.

Three-Point Program of F.U.W. Objectives Outlined to Club

Dr. Marion Grant, President of the Canadian Federation of University Women, Dean of Women and Associate Professor of Psychology and Pedagogy at Acadia University, brought a vital message to the University Women's Club meeting held at the home of Mrs. S. J. Hibbard.

Introduced by the president, Mrs. A. Locke, Dr. Grant presented a summary of the main objectives undertaken by the Federation of University Women in all parts of the world, choosing as her subject, "The Federation As I See It."

In reviewing the underlying purposes of this large organization, Dr. Grant emphasized the collective involvement of educated women in present struggle for peace and moral advancement of mankind.

Much Accomplished

Dr. Grant stressed the importance of the international outlook of this group and proceeded to show how much is actually being accomplished for the recovery of peace time conditions in a world in confusion through a three-point platform: the education of women, penal reform, and human rights.

Though many of the efforts for a time during the war had to be restricted and even suspended, those efforts must now be redoubled if we are to secure a lasting benefit from the victory won. The iron curtain is still down.

International consciousness of human rights must be created and selfish exploitation abandoned if democracy and its new stands on trial is to survive.

Correct Evil Conditions

Recalling that the theme of the Triennial Conference last August in Vancouver was "The challenge of today for tomorrow" Dr. Grant reported briefly on the messages given by the main speakers and said in part: The disease of human relations in a world of rapid-fire advancing science and industry command the attention and time of intellectual leaders, and it is time for careful research in the field of social sciences to remedy present conditions.

Such diseases as greed, hate, bitterness and fear and suspicion are planting seeds for another war and unless efforts are now directed against these evil forces the democratic way of life is doomed.

Our intellectual and spiritual integrity must be restored, a common code of decency and mutual respect maintained, and a watering down of educational standards resisted. Our democratic way of life is best, but we must prove it to be so, commencing the speaker.

Referring to the many welfare activities of the Federation the speaker recalled briefly the large number of food and clothing parcels sent to foreign members, the libraries established in isolated and needy communities, and the hospitality of Crosby Hall, London, that was established as a centre of international tolerance and intellectual freedom.

Penal Reforms Needed

Penal reform is one of the major interests of the Federation. The brief presented earlier in the meeting by Mrs. McKinnon, a new member from Ottawa, indicated the action being taken to conduct a study program of penal reforms and to secure amendments. In her subsequent remarks Dr. Grant stressed the need for federal jurisdiction, and investigation through Dominion-Provincial relations.

Recognition of human rights of all groups including minorities is another concern of mankind.

Through the various committees now at work much is being done to remove discrimination against creeds and color and establish a right to free expression of civil rights for all.

Concluding her remarks with a quotation from Pearl Buck, "Women's brains are America's greatest unused resource," Dr. Grant suggested that instead of claiming to have so great a resource unused, the C.F.U.W. may claim to be putting to use that potential brain power of an organization of 4,000 members and investing it in mankind.

Women's Activities

ST. ANDREW'S WOMEN'S GUILD

The April meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Guild was held on Monday evening. The president, Mrs. H. Elvidge, conducted the devotional period. The business part of the meeting followed.

Mrs. D. Kane was in charge of the program which opened with community singing. Mrs. Edwin Reid gave a humorous reading and Miss Phyllis Kane and Miss Lorne May favored with two piano duets.

On behalf of the Guild Mrs. Elvidge thanked these three young ladies for their delightful contributions to the evening's enjoyment.

By the author of "THE FACE IN THE ASPIC"

Mr. Joseph Adams, president of the American Hotel Association, upheld this enduring principle during his recent battle to win the national lobster eating championship. After disposing of 31 1-2 lobsters during a two-hour period Mr. Adams decided to throw in his napkin and call it quits.

The record of 33 lobsters set by Edward J. Olea in 1948 still stands.

Mr. Adams, the challenger, very reasonably explained his decision to stop eating by pointing out that he was loath to break his lifelong habit never to overeat.

Most likely there will not be many sea food fanciers to challenge the record. At present market prices Mr. Adams' meal would cost in the neighborhood of forty to fifty dollars.

Housewives are more and more learning to serve frozen rock lobster tails, not only because they are economical but because they are easy to handle. One and one-half pounds of rock lobster tails, when combined with a sauce, will usually provide 4 ample portions.

The recipe below is based on the Italian style called Lobster Diavolo. It is important to use Italian style plum tomatoes which have a mild sweet flavor.

Rock Lobster, Fra Diavolo, Serves 4.

Place 1 1-2 pounds frozen lobster tails (called longusts) in boiling water to cover. Add 1 teaspoon salt. Simmer slowly 20 minutes.

Remove from the water. When cool enough to handle, cut inside shell using a heavy knife. Remove meat. Cut into 3-4 inch cubes.

Add 2 tablespoons butter or shortening in a heavy saucepan. Turn flame very low. Add 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion and 1 teaspoon finely chopped garlic. Simmer slowly until onions turn yellow.

Add 2 cups of chopped canned Italian style plum tomatoes, 2 tablespoons tomato paste, 1-2 teaspoon oregano, 1-2 teaspoon chopped basil, 1-2 teaspoon salt and 1-8 teaspoon pepper. Simmer 3 minutes.

Add lobster. Simmer over a slow flame 8 to 10 minutes. Add salt and pepper to taste. Skim off fat from sauce. Serve very hot over fluffy white rice.

Presbyterial Presidents Give Reports On W.M.S. Activities in Their Areas

By GLADYS WARD

Closing ceremonies for the annual meeting of the Synodical Society of Toronto and Kingston were held on Thursday afternoon at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. C. G. Jones had charge of the devotional hour and spoke on faith as the greatest gift that one can give to other people. Faith was the key source of Christianity.

A report on the delegates' conference was given by Mrs. Bryan, who noted that the use and study of the handbook by officers was urged, and pointed out that a study should be made of them. New officers need to be particularized in their duties. A regular attendance of money was needed to meet financial obligations. The best method seemed to be systematic voluntary giving with the setting aside of a allotted sum each week. Suggestions for interesting programs were given. Many societies had taken charge of the Sunday service with good results. It was suggested that a file of "Glad Tidings" for the year be kept for reference. The welfare department had helped to make newcomers feel at home in the church and at worship. The library department had endeavored to supply good reading material to hospitals, outposts, lumber camps and other places where literature was hard to get.

Much Work Accomplished

The presidents of the various Presbyterials of the W.M.S. Synodical gave reports from their respective areas.

Kingston: Mrs. D. L. Fleming, president, reported a satisfactory year, especially with the younger groups. All presidents expressed the great interest they had received at the council meeting in Calgary.

Lindsay: Mrs. J. Cathcart stated that increased interest and givings had been the result of the ministerial.

North Bay: Mrs. F. Tilley said that while they were one of the smallest Presbyterials with many miles between districts they had been doing good work with the new Canadian in Sudbury. There is an industrial expansion which means increased population. The Chinese women who have recently arrived are being given lessons in English and the children are attending Sunday School classes. It was a stirring sight to see the teen-age Chinese young people who came out to Sunday classes.

Orangeville: Miss McQuarrie reported an increase in mission band work in Peterborough: Mrs. R. N. McCulloch, president, stated that they were planning to send a girl to camp this summer for leadership training.

Two Book Criticisms Of Ministers

Temiskaming: Mrs. E. J. Kerr said that in this district they have a population as large as in a country of mining towns. They have opened a new church there. She appealed to the women to heed the words of Mr. Munro who deplored the lack of ministers in many fields. Mrs. Kerr thought that more girls should be encouraged to enter the ministry. However, many of them feel and say that they do not like some of the criticism that is the lot of ministers. The boys hear constant criticism from other children who must hear it at home. Mothers and fathers must help their children to respect the church. Even a poor sermon can give some message, and if one enters a church in the right spirit he will receive a blessing. In closing Mrs. A. S. Curr explained that the Presbytery had been divided last year into East and West. New churches are springing up, she told the listeners that when they look at their privileges they cannot do anything else but accept the increased allocation. Toronto East: Mrs. M. J. Harvey, vice-president, reported an executive that was almost wholly new. They were accepting the task allotted to them in the coming year.

The presidents of Algoma, Barrie and Guelph also offered encouraging words from their respective Presbyterials.

Expresses Thanks

Mrs. Cathcart expressed the thanks of the meeting to the speakers, the choir and soloists who added so much to the worship in song; to those who brought messages in the devotionals; to the members of the church and the session for the privileges they had given; to the Women's Guild for the meals they had served and the hostesses who had billeted the delegates; to the officers of committees; to the president for her gracious presence in conducting the meeting; to the ushers; to Mrs. George Reid for the gift of flowers; and to others who had taken part.

Under the heading of new business it was announced that Mrs. W. McDonald, Islington was to act as convenor for the nominating committee.

Representatives to the council meeting in Toronto on Sept. 20-29 were named, the president, Mrs. A. Glenn Thompson; recording secretary, Mrs. H. W. G. Baker; corresponding secretary, Miss Louise Redfern and young Women's secretary, Mrs. R. N. Hastings.

223 Attended

Registrations showed that there was a total attendance of 223 with twenty Synodical officers, twelve Presbyterial presidents, forty-six delegates and one hundred and fifty-five visitors.

Mrs. C. W. McDonald brought in the result of nominations and the ceremony of installation was conducted by Mrs. Harold Keefler, girls' organization secretary of council. Mrs. McKeefler passed on the new officers that their task was a great one, and that she would need courage and strength and prayer and to them to look to the source of all power their heavenly Father.

An invitation was extended from the Presbyterial in Orangeville to hold the annual synodical meeting there next year.

The president, Mrs. A. Glenn Thompson, spoke to the meeting in a closing address basing her remarks on the burning of the glass

"We have turned into a new year for our societies," she told the delegates. "The sands are now starting to trickle through right from this minute. Our plan has been made and it is now here. I intend to challenging messages the council has given us and the great task of helping to carry the gospel in our city and land and overseas. What a yielding and a humbling of ourselves before God. We must examine our lives, become the truth is revealed only to those who are willing.

"We need to learn the real values of what our commitment to Christ means. We have made resolutions which must be put into practice."

Continual Task

"We must endeavor to strengthen our organization, our task is a continual one. Ask God for guidance, and when it comes be prepared to act. Never has the world been reaching out for a better way of life than it is today. Christ is the only way and clearly defined program than we have this year. Our overseas missionaries are ovth-taxed beyond measure, and they are pleading for help.

In closing, Mrs. Thompson reported on the news in mission consciences and then you will find the band must be worth of God."

HAVING SWELL TIME

Honolulu, April 28—(AP)—The men of the Royal Canadian Navy are having a swell time in Hawaii. There are more of them on the beach at Waikiki than there are girls. Everyone met. They are the crew members of the cruiser Ontario, which docked at Pearl Harbor Tuesday for a two-week visit.

THE BRIGHT SIDE

Card Party Held By Kiwanis Auxiliary

An enjoyable evening of bridge and euchre was held at the Kiwanis Centre on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Kiwanis Ladies' Auxiliary.

Vera Fairman, president of the auxiliary, welcomed the guests and extended briefly thanks for funds raised at this and other activities are used to purchase needed articles for the Centre which is used by so many varied organizations and to help, in a small way, the good work of the Kiwanis Club.

In spite of a number of conflicting meetings there were thirty-two tables in play. The ladies' bridge prizes went to Mrs. L. Foszard, Mrs. Vince and Mrs. Thurlbeck. The men's prizes went to Mr. Herold Mott, Mr. Vince, and Mr. Vince Carroll.

Mrs. T. Franklin and Mr. A. Elliston won the first prizes for euchre. The ladies' prize of four acre going to Mrs. H. Cross and Mr. H. Mott.

Mr. McCallum, Mr. Wampole and Mrs. Musgrave were the lucky winners of the door prizes.

At the close of the evening Tyrrell Hagerman, president of the Kiwanis Club, thanked the guests for their support and the auxiliary for providing a very pleasant evening.

The bridge was in charge of Carm Mott assisted by Ella Trethewey, and the euchre Clarice Stotle with Edna Wonnacott as co-convener provided refreshments.

Women's Institute

CARMEL W.I.

On Thursday, the Carmel Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Frank Hicks, with the president, Mrs. Clare Binkstead, presiding. Seventeen members answered the roll call with a verse from the Bible. Mrs. M. Robinson read the minutes and letters and plans for the district annual were discussed.

Mrs. Percy Reynolds was nominated as card convener for the year after which the various conveners gave their reports. There were as follows—Mrs. M. Ross, agriculture; Mrs. Wm. Hicks, Historical Research; Mrs. Moorman, Economics and Health; Mrs. C. Thompson, Current Events.

Mrs. P. Reynolds took charge of the program which was opened with a piano instrumental by

BIGAMY CHARGE LAID

Toronto, April 28 (CP)—Robert Pratt, 41, of Buffalo, N.Y., was charged with bigamy Thursday night after his arrest on a charge of vagrancy as he left the Rainbow Bridge at Niagara Falls, Ont. A woman, whom police described as his fifth for over months, was returned to the U.S.

ACTION DISMISSED

Toronto, April 28 (CP)— An action by the late Harry J. Mc-Master of Hamilton to recover $97,000 alleged profit in a stock transaction was dismissed Thursday. Shares were sold by McMaster to Norman Byrne, his former solicitor, for $30,000, and resold by Byrne for $127,000.

Easy-to-Make Recipes Handy For Homemaker

By KAY REX
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa —(CP)— In these busy days of spring-housecleaning the average homemaker hasn't much time to think about whipping up fancy meals for the family.

If she's wise she'll keep a few easy-to-make recipes on hand which she can turn to at a moment's notice.

Ingredients: one cup sugar, one tablespoon butter, two tablespoons flour, one lemon, one cup milk, two eggs.

Cream the butter, sugar and flour, add the egg yolks and beat in the juice and grated rind of the lemon. Then beating into a well tinted baking-dish fold in the two stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake in a pan of water for one hour slowly.

This dessert has a custard bottom and a sponge top but is delicious whether served hot or cold.

• • •

Egg-In-A-Nest — A novel way of serving eggs either as a luncheon dish or supper dish.

Separate the yolks from the whites. Beat the yolks to heavier whites on slices of thinly buttered toast. In the centre of each put a spoon of the egg yolk beaten with salt and pepper and brown in oven.

• • •

Young travelers will be fascinated by the novel children's dishes now being used aboard C.N.R. trains.

Made by Medalta Potteries, Medicine Hat, Alta., the dishes are in jonquil yellow and white with pictures destined to gladden the hearts of little folks. Every saucy giraffe being fed leaves by a small door for the plate of the hungry and her little lamb.

To make it easier for Mother these pictures have been printed on the bottoms of the dishes — thus ensuring that the porridge will right through to the last teaspoonful so that no one can see the whole of the picture.

• • •

Hints for Spring Housecleaning —A torn colton blind may be repaired by dipping the edges in the same material into hat starch. Place the patch neatly on top of the tear and press with a hot iron.

If windows are very dirty wipe them with a damp cloth and then polish with a cloth dipped in methylated spirit. No polishing is required.

When putting up curtains on small curtain rods, slip a thimble over each end of the rod. The curtain slips on easily and no threads are pulled.

A carpet which has been soiled with soot or shoe polish may be cleaned by first dissolving a handfuller's earth in a mixture of equal parts of water and ammonia. The mixture is applied with a soft cloth. It should be left on the carpet for an hour and then all particles are removed with a fairly stiff brush.

HAM WENT FAR

Regina — (CP) — A Briton passing through Regina recently had a ham sent to friends in Scotland. A letter has arrived back in Regina saying the ham was enjoyed by 42 persons with enough left over for the neighbors for tea. "Everyone was stuffed fou' o' ham," the letter read.

HISTORIC CITY

Bridge St. United Church Mr. and Mrs. Club Entertains

On Tuesday last the Mr. and Mrs. Club of Bridge Street United Church entertained the Energetic Club of Holloway Street Church and the Good Companions of Tabernacle United Church in commemoration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of church union.

The guests were welcomed at the door by Mr. and Mrs. John Hodgson, the co-presidents, of the Mr. and Mrs. Club.

The worship service was conducted by Mr. Hodgson, assisted by Mr. Ken Bird,

Mr. Donald Williams introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Donald Baxter, M.L.A., of Bloomfield, who gave a challenging address, urging young people not to look back over the 25 years of the United Church history but to look ahead to even greater accomplishments in the next 25 years.

The Rev. Donald C. Amos thanked the speaker, for his fine address.

Games and refreshments followed both in the basement and auditorium.

The committee in charge for the evening was, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Macdonald, convenors; Mr. and Mrs. Don Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bird and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Calnan.

Beatrice Jones Auxiliary Holds Springtime Tea

With sunny Springtime weather the first Tea of Mrs. Beatrice Jones Auxiliary, of St. Margaret's Church, was held on Tuesday afternoon at the lovely home of Mrs. J. Lennox Smith, 29 Victoria Avenue, Park-wood Heights.

The guests were greeted on their arrival by the hostess, Mrs. Lennox Smith and by the President of the Auxiliary, Mrs. J. Godwin. Just inside the living room was a table of fancywork and knitting, presided over by Mrs. W. Cox, and displaying aprons, knitted baby sets, children's socks, stuffed animals, fancy handkerchief towels. At the opposite end of the living room was a table of home cooking and serving table, loaded down with pies, cakes, cookies, - tarts, and home cooking of all varieties. This table was in charge of Mrs. K. Mitchell and Mrs. Wm. Hunter.

Through an archway into the dining room, could be seen the tea table, centred with lovely white lace cloth and sparkling silver and glassware, the appointments of Spring flowers and long white tapers in their silver holders. At the head of the table was a silver tea service and pouring tea were Mrs. H. Caldwell during the first part of the afternoon and taking the latter half, Mrs. Babcock from St. John's Guild.

Those serving tea and passing the delicious dainty sandwiches and cakes, and dishes of relishes to the guests, were Mrs. K. Mitchell, Mrs. Wm. Hunter, Mrs. J. Ritchie, Mrs. D. Montgomery, Mrs. H. Caldwell. Those assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. F. Moore, Mrs. R. Clarke and Mrs. Wm. Hunter.

A beautiful crib quilt, made and donated by Mrs. Cox, was on sale in charge of Mrs. C. Ellsworth of Carnation. This quilt was received by Mrs. K. Pratt. 294 Victoria Avenue.

The convener of this tea was Mrs. R. Ketterer, and much credit is due her and the members of the Beatrice Jones Auxiliary who worked so hard to make the tea a success. The treasurer of the tea was Mrs. W. Bowly.

Among those present at the tea were members of the other Guilds from the city and surrounding district.

Miss Nellie Morley Relates Growth Of United Church

Miss Nellie Morley related the interesting detail, Monday evening, at the Bridge Street United Church "Young People's Union, some of the highlights of the biannual Presbytery convention which was held at Napanee on April 15th and 16th.

The growth of the United Church of Canada is a fascinating history, with disagreements and opposition overcome by staunch pioneers of right and fair ideals. While others' contentions also followed their church members to assume the role of a preacher without any formal education, the United Church ruled that ministers must have had their B.A. degree before entering the profession. When ministering abroad, young men sometimes work within a radius of hundreds of miles, and regret the fact that they must close their little churches for so many months.

With her vivid and colorful description of a trip to Bermuda, Miss Jean Meyers delighted everyone, Bermuda is a long, narrow island which is truly nature's paradise, for here is known varied species of flowers, trees, and shrubs growing in the gayest pastel colors to the most delicate hues, seen anywhere.

Riding along miniature roads, one comes suddenly upon a fairyland of pink and blue houses surrounded by clouds of multi-colored flowers. These beautiful sights of the rolling hills of Bermuda, justifying its reputation as a vacationer's joy.

50 OSD Students Enjoy Supper Party

Nearly fifty students from the Ontario School for the Deaf, ranging in age from 7 to 17 were guests of Christ Church branch of the A.Y.P.A. at a supper held in the Parish Hall on Wednesday. Among those seated at the head table were the rector, Canon J. Ambrose Smith and by the president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Mrs. J. Godwin. Just across the floor was the table of fancywork and knitting, presided over by Mrs. W. Cox, and displaying aprons, knitted baby sets, children's socks, stuffed animals, fancy handkerchief towels. At the opposite end of the living room was a table of home cooking and serving table, loaded down with pies, cakes, cookies, - tarts, and home cooking of all varieties. PRIME MINISTER AND GIRL

Prime Minister St. Laurent in a tour of Western Ontario visited Dresden, the scene of a flurry last year when some restaurants refused to serve Negroes. Mr. St. Laurent is shown holding on his knee an eight-year-old Negro girl, Doris Roper. He chatted with her about school. In an address the prime minister stressed that Dresden's early settlers "recognized the freedom and liberty of the human being." The original Uncle Tom, who inspired Harriet Beecher Stowe to write her famous book, is buried near Dresden. — (CP Photo.)

Ontario Mayors Name Committee To Meet Premier

Toronto, April 28 (CP)—After spending most of their first day in conference discussing financial problems, Ontario's mayors and reeves got a promise from Premier Frost that the Provincial government will sit with the municipalities in critical examination of their problems.

However, he told the Mayors and Reeves Association Thursday night that municipal problems can not be settled at one sitting.

"We must meet constantly to discuss the problems of the day" he said. "We should be and will be meeting often."

If the municipalities could show the government it had erred, the government would examine its decisions and right any wrongs. He said his government had much to learn from municipal governments.

His announcement came after Reeve Ann Shipley of Kirkland Lake, association president, told the conference that municipalities should not have to beg from the province to fulfil their responsibilities.

"We have become literally nothing more than agents for the provincial and federal governments, and I predict that unless there is drastic action, fewer and fewer of the duties of citizens' will be persuaded to assume such enormous responsibilities with such dubious authority," she said.

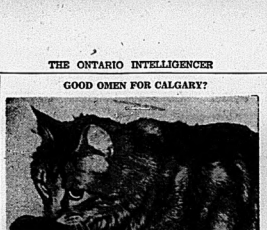
"Our autonomy has been sapped to such an extent that I doubt if we control 25 percent of the taxes we collect."

Main Recommendations

Later, following a meeting with Premier Frost and Mayor Fulram McCallum of Toronto, Mrs. Shipley announced the premier had agreed to meet with an Association committee to discuss municipalities' problems.

Mayor McCallum told the conference the only way to bridge the gap between revenue and responsibilities was to assure that the most part people receiving the benefit of services pay for them.

Recalling that past recommendations had obtained little lasting relief, he presented, without optimism, a report containing four main recommendations:



1. Relieve municipalities of all costs of social security costs would be borne by the Provincial and Federal government from a source of taxation equitably levied at their levels.

2. A further re-adjustment of the basis of provincial grants to permit sound fiscal planning by local governments.

3. Eliminate municipal tax exemptions, including federal and provincial properties, so that municipalities will not have to service properties not contributing to the costs of service.

4. Have federal and provincial governments assume the cost of administering justice.

GOOD OMEN FOR CALGARY?

S. Woodward U.S. Ambassador Named to Canada

Washington, April 28 — (CP) —Stanley Woodward, chief of protocol at the State Department, has been named United States ambassador to Canada to succeed the late Laurence Steinhardt, President Truman announced Thursday.

The appointment came a month after the popular Steinhardt met his death in the crash of a United States plane near Ottawa, while en route to Washington.

Truman announced the appointment at the start of his first press conference to be held across the street from the White House in the former State, War and Navy Department building.

At Ottawa, External Affairs Minister Pearson said the Canadian people and the government will give Mr. Woodward a warm welcome.

Church Champs Plight of Poor

Toronto, April 28 — (CP) — The plight of the unorganized poor — the low-paid white-collar workers — was championed Thursday by Dr. J. R. Mutchmore, secretary of the Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church.

The Board's executive meeting approved Dr. Mutchmore's suggestion that Christian churches campaign for big business to stop demands for higher profits, big unions to go easy on wage demands; politicians, farmers, farmers' organizations to let up the pressure for higher prices, and "our new-totalitarian governments" to quit levying higher taxes.

Huge Increase In Drunkenness Says UC Report

Toronto, April 28. (CP)—A United Church Board reported yesterday that convictions for drunkenness in Ontario nearly doubled over a 10-year span.

The annual report of the Church's Board of Evangelism and Social Services says that in 1940 there were 220 convictions per 10,000 population. In 1937, it adds, the rate was 119.

The report says the increase can be attributed to legislation introduced early in 1948 permitting freer sale of liquor in the province. It notes that alcoholic beverage consumption rose from 2,196,000 gallons in 1940 to 3,177,000 in 1948.

The report says drunkenness convictions in Ontario in 1948 were five times the per capita rate of Saskatchewan. There were 33,446 convictions in Ontario, with a population of 4,207,000, against 1,392 in Saskatchewan, with a population of 854,000.

NON-CONFIDENCE

The budget was skimpy on tax relief. It dropped the excise tax on toilet soaps and removed the sales tax on ice cream, dairy drinks and prepared whipping cream and on purchases by orphanages and institutions for the aged and infirm.

These were adopted in committee late last night after the divisions.

Mollen Did Not Materialize

An expected Social Credit non-confidence motion, generally moved after the major - party thrusts are disposed of, did not materialize. Solon Low, Social Credit leader, contented himself to lecture the Chamber on the benefits of Social Credit money.

Participating in the debate as it slowed to a close were Donald Fleming (PC — Toronto Eglinton), John Blackmore (SC — Lethbridge) Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC — MacLeod), C. A. D. Cannon (L — Isles De La Madeleine) F. R. Knight (CCF — Saskatoon) and F. G. Robertson (L — Northumberland).

The House opening was disrupted by a demonstration by representatives of the so - called National Convention of Unemployed Organizations." Seven men went in to address complaints to the Chamber and were forcibly ejected by members of the House protective staff.

Question Period

In the question period, Justice Minister Garson said there has been no occasion for the Dominion to form a view as to whether the Doukhobor outbursts in British Columbia constitute a state of insurrection. The Dominion is co-operating with the province.

In the Senate, Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, introduced a resolution to establish a special committee to explore means of streamlining the Chamber's business.

Mr. Low, snapping a rubber dollar bill sent over to him by Jean Francois Pouliot (L—Temiscouata), said that was what the government was using under its present money system — rubber money. It would stretch "but it may snap back and snap your head off." Social Credit money wouldn't do that.

Denied Claims

Mr. Blackmore denied claims that the Social Credit Party based its theories on money, not production. They always had brought in terms of production.

Mr. Fleming repeated a Progressive Conservative demand for elimination of over-lapping government services and asked the House not to accept the "confession of helplessness" in the government's claim that expenditures would continue at about $2,400,000,000 a year.

Finance Minister Abbott had rejected repeated suggestions for a standing committee on estimates. The House could not discharge its responsibility as long as it was left to "flounder around under an antiquated, clumsy, procedure" of estimate study.

Mr. Fleming charged that "political expediency" was the guiding principle of Liberal administration budgets.

Cupboard Bare Claim

Last year, he said was an "election year and the minister was prepared to shoot the works" in tax reduction. But this year the cupboard was bare and the Minister of Finance had made it clear those expecting tax reductions in any year possibly as far ahead as 1954 were "doomed to disappointment."

He said that Watson Sellar, the auditor-general, had testified before the public accounts committee last year that in every estimate of expenditure tendered by a government department to the Finance Minister prior to the budget, a "cushion" —an extra five or ten percent of the actual amount needed—was put in. He had recommended showing in the estimates the actual expenditure of the previous year in each department.

Mr. Fleming said it was high time there was a revamping of the methods of submitting estimates to the House. Under the present method the surface was barely scratched.

DEMONSTRATION

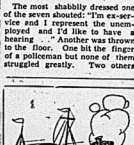
One Thrown to Floor

The most shabbily dressed one of the seven shouted: "I'm ex-service and I represent the unemployed and I'd like to have a hearing . . ." Another was thrown to the floor. One bit the finger of a policeman but none of them struggled greatly. Two others walked out without speaking.



A House police, who had anticipated trouble, were on hand in strength and none of the demonstrators were able to utter more than a few words. Police said the men had every right to get into the gallery but once they started to shout they were subject to removal. No charges will be laid.

Members of the Commons, looking up in astonishment and then occasionally tittering, took no official cognizance of the scene, even acerbet

Ejected from the House were Councils, Harry Gulkin of Moncreal, Fred Collins of Vancouver, Gerard Begin of Quebec City, George Steiger of Hamilton, Frank Balsom of Welland and Charles Zine of Toronto.

The organization the men represents claims country-wide membership but has no connection with either or Canada's two major Labor Congresses. A Labor department spokesman said the group has been writing Mr. Mitchell at our some time ano unat a number of names snowing up in correspondence are those of communists.

At the organization's convention session Thursday, Solon Low, Social Credit leader, bluntly told the convention that the main purpose of its brief appeared to be "to inflame rather than to convince. He was the only one of four National Party leaders invited to speak who showed up.

Sunday School Lesson of the Week

Where God Goes to Church

By ROY L. SMITH

According to the United States Census there are 256 religious denominations among us, each one of which represents a body of people who are attempting in their various ways to understand the Creator of the universe and make Him hear them.

There is something very beautiful in the sight and sound of a hundred earnest people joining their minds, their voices, and the purposes in a holy endeavor to contact God. Nothing more sublime is ever attempted by any audience.

The Versatility of the Human Spirit

The interesting aspect of the whole case is the amazing versatility of the human spirit. Different people experience spiritual sensations as the result of different attitudes and techniques. There will never be church union (though we can have church unity) as long as there are so many ways in which men can approach God.

It may be very difficult for the Quaker, for example to understand the Roman Catholic's worship. To him it may seem incomprehensible that a man can sense and know the presence of God in the midst of the pageantry of the Mass; to one who believes the Spirit of God speaks directly to the individual without the assistance of any middle man, the confessional may seem unnecessary.

To the devout Roman Catholic, on the other hand, it seems incredible that the Quaker can have any real contact with God without the mediation of a priest and the Offices of the Church. But the impressive fact is that both men testify to something of the same experience when their worship is over.

Will God Be There?

A tiny little miss was being made ready for church one Sunday morning, and questioned a veritable stream poured forth from her pretty little lips. Finally, with her great blue eyes wide with wonder, she asked, "Will God Be There?"

> The Sunday School lesson for April 30: "Amos Teaches About Worship." Amos (4:4; 5:4-9, 14-15, 21-24.)

It really makes very little difference what was in the pulpit, or who sings the soprano solo, or what liturgy is used, if the worshipper comes to feel during the service that he is in the presence of God.

There is no "right" way to worship God that is not successful in bringing the Spirit of God and man into vital contact.

Worship and Sacrifice

The ancient prophet, Amos, preached in the midst of a very religious generation, and to a people who attended worship services in great numbers. The shrines at Bethel and Gilgal were packed; no one complained about the lack of an audience. And their finances were in good shape, too. The altars were gilded high with burning carcasses, and the stench of burning flesh filled all the air.

But it was a worship that stirred no consciences and prepared for the righting of no wrongs. It was a religion that had no concern about public morals or social debaucheries.

A murderer, exploiter, profiteer, or despoiler was as welcome at the shrine as the Godly, provided he brought animals to be burned on the sacrificial altars in the proper manner, and provided he could recite the ritual correctly.

Public morals and social responsibility had no relationship to religion, and in the mind of those to whom Amos preached.

A Revolutionary Doctrine

It makes no difference at this point just where Amos got his ideas. Some of us believe God himself made it all plain to the prophet. But the shepherd of Tekoa launched an entirely new idea upon the world's mind when he declared that God was profoundly concerned about the matter of social justice.

The priests of Amos' day assured the people that all they had to do to win the favor of God was to burn their sacrificial animals correctly, pour a sufficient amount of olive oil over the burning beast, recite the prayers and psalms accurately, and see to it that their shrine dues were paid to date.

Amos declared that a man could do all those things, and still face a spiritual deficit—that there was something more; That "more" was a vivid sense of social responsibility, a high concept of morals, and a personal integrity of mind and purpose.

Interestingly enough, in all that ancient world this humble country prophet from Tekoa was the first man to set forth this revolutionary doctrine. It is a commonplace with us today; with Amos it was altogether new and novel.

Parliament At a Glance

(By The Canadian Press)

Thursday—

Commons police ejected seven men who attempted to shout statements about unemployment from the public gallery.

Members defeated Progressive Conservative and CCF motions of non-confidence in the government by votes of 129 to 43 and 167 to 12, respectively.

Senator Wishart Robertson said he would launch proposals for Senate reform if none was forthcoming from other channels.

Today—

The Commons will consider various business. The Senate will sit.

Charges Govt. 'Blunder' Cost Over $300,000

Ottawa, April 28 — (CP) — Senator John T. Haig yesterday charged that the government "blundered" and lost $300,000 in allowing a veterans hospital to be torn down after it had been partially erected.

The progressive conservative leader in the Senate demanded of K.P. Murphy, deputy minister of public works, who was responsible for allowing the building to be torn down after the government had poured $325,000 into its construction.

Mr. Murphy, appearing as a witness before the Senate Finance Committee investigating public works estimates, said he did not know personally of the case, but that in any event the final order for stopping work would have come from the veterans affairs department and not from public works.

Senator Haig said the hospital was in the process of construction at Sturgeon Creek, about three miles west of Winnipeg.

DERIDES CLAIM OF HUGE PROFITS IN FEED GRAINS

Stanley Jones, president of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, has asked for a retraction by William Bryce, C.C.F. member of parliament, on the latter's statement that speculation was responsible for a difference of $240 between the western producers' selling price of a carload of feed grain and the Ontario purchasers' buying price. Mr. Jones said there was only a possible profit of $12.50 for a 2,000-bushel carload for speculators. — Central Press Canadian.

"Better than ever?"
"Yes, Mrs. Smith,
CANADA BREAD
is better than ever!"

"Goodness, how could it be? Canada Bread's always been the very best bread we could buy!"

"That's right, Mrs. Smith, but some new machinery's been invented, and the minute something new comes out, if it makes better bread, we get it. We've got a whole bakery full of new equipment that helps us to make bread finer in texture, more uniform in shape and always a lovely golden brown colour . . .

"You should see our new mixer! It's terrific . . . handles 1,600 lbs. of dough every ten minutes . . . and our new oven is something! . . . It's all white enamel and stainless steel and about 100 times bigger than an ordinary stove. Why, it bakes 3,600 loaves an hour!

"But, oh! . . . I almost forgot the most important part of all . . .

Canada Bread Is More Nourishing

"We're putting in MORE milk, MORE shortening and MORE sugar, and this makes Canada Bread, more than ever, the very best bread you can buy . . . It stays fresh days longer, too."

"Another loaf?

"Thank you, Mrs. Smith. You'll enjoy it!"

There's a Canada Bread salesman on your street sometime during the day . . . He'll be glad to call at your house . . . or you can get Canada Bread from your grocer. Try it right away.

By Alice Ross Colver

She started forward when there came to her ears the clear, sharp jingle of sleigh bells at the front door. Someone outside pulling them, probably, unable to find the bouzer-button under all the greenery. Or was it Donald pretending to be a late guest? The rascal! He'd better have a good story to tell.

She had the knob in her hand when it turned in her palm, the door opened, and there before her stood not Donald at all, but a stranger. A handsome young stranger in the Air Force uniform of a captain, who was, she guessed, in his middle twenties. Or perhaps even more. A man whose eyes were bright and a trifle bold, whose smile was both sweet and mocking, who bore himself with grace and a kind of reckless assurance and whose voice as he spoke her name was vaguely, unsettlingly familiar.

She hesitated, not wanting to believe, not finding it possible to believe. And then, removing his cap, he spoke again, translating the welcome thought into fact with a clear and terrible gentleness.

"Yes, I'm Gerry. The son of the woman you killed."

In her headlong fury she could have slammed the door in his face, and nearly have, perhaps, except that he himself blocked it. He stood there leaning against the jamb with a kind of easy negligence passing with speculative interest from her to the scene of festivity beyond her. Anyway, it wasn't true of course, what he said. He wasn't able to make it seem true. Her knowledge of him told her severely that he spoke like that because life, no doubt, had taught him the necessity of hiding quite another things quickly to his advantage since he had no defence, especially, he must attack or stand defenseless.

But it had been devilish of him. And how could she reply? Not by denial, surely. A denial was beneath her. The only thing possible was a complete ignoring of his words. How foolish they had been, anyway. How tactless if he came seeking a favor — as of course he did.

Or did he? He was changed from the last time she had seen him. Success rode on his shoulders. Yes, that was the insignia of a captain. It was all as astounding as it was enraging, and held her for once in a tongue-tied silence.

And then, bringing his gaze back to her, he spoke again with a bitterness and a bitterness that you would rather I went to the back door?"

She flung it wide and extended both hands, exclaiming with gay warmth that he must forgive her, that she had been transfixed with surprise. That she was delighted.

She could put on an act if she had to, she told herself grimly. And certainly, feeling wonder mount behind her, hearing the quick questioning whispers and seeing curious couples revolving slowly nearer and nearer, she had to. But she was thankful that a disturbance at the rear of the hall presented a distraction at that moment.

It was Donald. He had left his car in the garage and had come in the back way to get a good look, going through the crowd now, his blond head bare and powdered with snow, his fleece-lined jacket open, his engaging grin wide. Above the music she heard him.

"Hello, everybody! Sorry to be so late! We lost a chain and had to get out and shovel."

He was coming directly toward his grandmother and she knew even before he spoke that he had brought this man. Donald, her own grandson! Not remembering probably. Of course not remembering.

"Hi, Liz!" Chuckling at his own temerity, he stooped upon her, embracing her with one arm, throwing the other across Gerry's shoulders and shoving the front door closed at the same time. "You got in all right didn't you? One long-lost cousin, Nanna. I found him. Or he found me, I forget which. Anyway, we're here. And starving! Not a bite of dinner have we had. How about some grub before we join the party?"

She seized upon the words. "Certainly. Grub, as you call it should come first. Take Gerry out into the kitchen with you, Don, and ask Nellie to look after you both." She searching the hall for Frank. Yes, Frank was the one. Steven was too slow. He'd stop and weigh and measure and consider the whole situation before he did anything. But Frank had been in the Army and was able to spring into action. Yes, Frank. But where was he, anyway? Where had he and Audrey gone?

It was just at this moment that Susan drifted through the archway in Timothy's arms, saw the tableau at the front door and drew herself free. For a moment she stood there, looking at them. Then, swift as an arrow — so though she had heard the signal Elizabeth thought — she came down to Gerry's side.

"Who are you? I almost know, but I don't quite." There was a strange suspense in her voice, her eyes, her whole manner.

"Does it matter?"

The distance struck a fire in her that was almost visible. Quickly she slipped off his heavy overcoat, tossed it to Don with his cap and held out his arms. As they glided away, she said, with mocking lightness to Elizabeth over his shoulder, "I never did like dancing in the kitchen, Mrs. Sinn."

They danced into the living room and around it once. Susan had the odd feeling that this had happened before. Or, rather, that all her life she had been waiting for it to happen, secure in her knowledge of its inevitably.

"Strangers —heart to heart," was saying. "Odd, isn't it?"

"Only when it's quite strangers."

"No."

"Who are you?"

"You said it didn't matter."

"It doesn't. But I'd like to know your name. What am I to call you?"

"Call me Gerry."

"Gerry," she repeated, and he felt her struggling with a memory. He helped her.

"A distant cousin. And, I might add, completely persona non grata—"

"Because of what?"

"Oh, a number of things."

They were passing the bay windows where her grandmother still stood and as they went by she saw him come to a stiff and startled attention as if he were looking at a ghost. At the other end of the room she saw her grandmother barging down up on her parents and, drawing them aside, address them with agitated vehemence. Then she saw her mother glance up and across at her and Gerry, distress plain on her face before she seized her husband's arm and spoke to him in swift urgent appeal. Their clear concern was more than a mystery. It was a challenge. It put her on Gerry's side simply because they were arrayed against him.

He felt her draw closer to him as she said "you're making quite a sensation, do you know it?"

He cocked an inquiring brow. "So?"

"So nothing! I don't mind if you don't."

He laughed and his arm tightened about her. "I have a feeling we're going to get along together—you and I."

Out of the corner of her eye she observed her father coming toward her now. He was a big man but he moved with a swift co-ordination and control that gave a dignity and an unexpected grace to his heavy figure. Between two ounces would survive only an hour outside an incubator. medical men say. "oh, oh!"

"He's being sent to rescue Beauty from the Beast."

"Huh's too silly!"

"How do you know?"

"Because I know! And I would not care, anyway. I mean I'd make up my own mind."

"This is interesting. Don't I remember a conservatory somewhere?"

She nodded. They changed their direction and made for the hall losing Susan's father as they went around the corner. She said "quick!" and breaking from him slipped through the half-empty dining room into a small dim passage, then down this to a storeroom at its end. The next moment they had stepped into the fragrant quiet of the greenhouse. There was no light here, but a subdued radiance came through the glass roof from the moonlit snow outside.

"We'd better go to the far end," she said and flitted before him.

"Will you be cold?" he asked, when they had reached it.

She shook her head, spilled out a stool from under a desk-shelf and perched on it, her heels caught on the highest rung, her hands clasped about her knees.

"Now tell me!" she demanded sparkling with curiosity and interest. "I ought to know about you but I don't. You're more a —a dream."

He leaned against the shelf and taking out his cigarettes, offered her one which she refused. Lighting one himself, he blew a cloud of smoke into the air before he replied. He had come here without a plan with a desire only to surprise, to shock, and to gain if he could. He still had no plan. But one was beginning to take strange shape in his mind as he looked at this girl beside him.

"You're a dream," he said "You're beautiful Susan."

She shook her head impatiently. "None of that stuff. Please. Just talk about you."

He felt her every with care. "Of course you don't remember. You couldn't have been much more than a child."

She put her head back, her gaze narrowing consistently. "I do remember a little. It's coming to me. You were in the kitchen. Eating. You were terribly shabby. I can remember your wrists were long and too far out of your sleeves. You kept one hand on our dog and you looked at my grandmother without a word speaking. I was sorry for you and sorry for myself, too."

"Do I frighten you now?"

She thought this over. He gave her a strange feeling but she did not believe it was fear. "I don't think so. I'm not sure, finally.

He said "good" and laughed. Her eyes in the moonlight were another blue, her face was a pale heart framed by dusky loveliness, her soft scarlet mouth a temptation. He looked away from her mouth and touched her hair lightly, feeling her grow quiet beneath his touch. •

KIDNAPPED BABY ALIVE BY "MIRACLE"

Doctors say that if this is the baby kidnapped from an incubator in a New York hospital, it is a miracle that it is still alive. The infant was found in a make-shift incubator in the hotel quarters of Mrs. Evelyn Jordan, 18, whose twin children had died shortly after birth. The baby, kidnapped from the hospital when weighing only two pounds nine ounces would survive only an hour outside an incubator. medical men say. Reputed Gambling King Ordered To Give Testimony

Washington, April 28—(AP)—Frank Costello, a reputed kingpin among gamblers, was summoned to tell Senators under oath Thursday what he knows about big-time wagering in the United States.

Costello was called before Senate commerce sub - committee which, is studying a bill designed to cripple the operations of bookmakers by banning the movement of gambling information across state lines.

The announcement of the Italian-born Costello's appearance drew wide attention because he has been something of a mystery man despite his denials of any underworld influence. He once described himself as nothing more than a "former bootlegger who couldn't get a traffic ticket fixed."

But last month Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) described him as "an underworld king" and demanded his citizenship be revoked.

Wednesday the sub-committee listening to soft-voiced, mild-mannered James J. Carroll of St. Louis—the self-described "betting commissioner" who fixes the "official" odds on major sports events.

Carroll told the Senators he is ready to see anyone at any time on any thing he may know knowledge of any country-wide gambling syndicate's tying together into an organized group.

Instead, Carroll pictured the betting big shots as "independent business men" in a highly-competitive enterprise controlled only by local interests. He said they have no connection with crime.

Citizens Guard Mountain Trails as More Douks Fire Raids Feared; Many on Trial

Nelson, B. C., April 28—(CP)— Both the government and the Doukhobors made moves Thursday in the strife-ridden Kootenays.

While 10 Sons of Freedom women were convicted in Nelson police court on charges of nude parading, other "Freedomites" fired three more public-owned dwellings as a protest against man-made laws.

The 10, a small segment of the nearly 100 Doukhobors arrested in recent demonstrations, were sentenced to 2½ years in penitentiary.

Since the Sons of Freedom went on the rampage a little more than a week ago 18 dwellings have been destroyed.

Early on Thursday, disrobing and hymn-chanting accompanied the burnings. Names were taken, but police made no arrests.

The Doukhobor women on trial, who told Magistrate Parker Williams they could give evidence only in court, pleaded innocent to charges of parading in the nude April 23.

"It is Christ's will," they said through their interpreter, "Christ He places in our hearts we must fulfill."

Nude Parading Must Stop

Provincial police reported another 30 of the "Sons" men and women, will appear in Nelson police court today on charges of nude parading at Krestova.

Sons of Freedom trial were kept secret by disturbance-fearing authorities. It is expected this will be continued in most cases to prevent any possible demonstrations on the part of the Sons of Freedom.

A report from provincial police said law-abiding orthodox Doukhobors are leaving jobs in the Slocan Valley lumber operations to guard their homes against fire-bombers' attacks.

A warning to the "Freedomites" has come from Walter Tenerick, Liberal member of the Legislature for Nelson-Creston.

"If they [the Sons of Freedom] try any of their stuff outside their own villages there will be very serious trouble," he said. "A vigilante action will definitely be taken."

No Immediate Danger of War With Russia--Tito

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, April 28 (AP)—Marshal Tito said today he sees no immediate danger of war with the Soviet Union.

"I do not see any immediate danger of war," Tito told a press conference for foreign correspondents, the first he has held in recent years.

"In no case," he said, "do I think the Soviet Union would risk becoming the aggressor."

Tito's declaration came after he was asked if he would welcome arms aid from the United States.

The marshal replied that he did not consider the U.S. would offer him arms, and added that his country had the means of making its own arms.

He cautioned against the danger of creating blocs or spheres of influence, saying they always "carry the danger of war."

Asked whether he thought the U.S. was justified in arming Yugoslavia's two-year term with the Moscow-led cominform, he replied:

"It's not up to us to say. It probably will last for a certain time. But it must be solved ultimately so that at least normal or bearable relations will be established."

Paralyzing Strike At London Docks Broken by Govt.

London, April 28 (CP)— The government has apparently broken a paralyzing dock walkout strike of 14,000 London dock workers.

Troops which had been sent into unload precious food cargoes will be called away from the docks tomorrow to permit an orderly resumption of work, the government announced today.

The solid front of the strikers —some port officials said their walkout had been communist-inspired—was broken this morning. Faced with a government ultimatum to get back to work by Monday or lose their jobs, 2,000 of the strikers voted to go back tomorrow. Other meetings of strikers were called.

Later the government agreed to a request of the transport workers general union to keep troops away from the dock tomorrow. Labor Minister George Isaacs told the House of Commons that a T.G.W.U. committee representing all dock workers had called for "an immediate and orderly resumption of work."

The walkout grew daily since the original stoppage 10 days ago of a section of the dock workers who were protesting the expulsion of three men from the T. W. G. U.

They had been kicked out on charges they were ringleaders in the communist-supported strike last year.

Prime Minister Attlee's government had called out troops to unload food cargoes and load ships engaged in the country's important export drive.

The Dock Labor Board said 14,393 men were on strike Thursday, with 11,084 still at work on 26 ships. There were nearly 6,000 troops working 38 ships and 80 ships were idle, the report said.

JUMPS FROM VIADUCT

Toronto, April 28 (CP)— Police said today they are attempting to identify a well-dressed man between 55 and 60 years old who plunged to his death from the Prince Edward viaduct early today.

The man had removed his wallet and other articles from his pocket and ripped out identification labels from his clothes.

The Income Tax Office here will remain open until six o'clock (Saturday) for the convenience of last-minute filers.

SMOKE CAUSES EXCITEMENT

Toronto, April 28 — (CP) — Fire in a 240-storey parapet Thursday night caused excitement but little damage in the Royal York Hotel, largest hotel in the British Empire. Soot in a kitchen duct leading to the roof was ignited by sparks from the main kitchen range. Smoke filled the three top storeys of the 24-storey structure and filtered down to the main floor. While several guests fled their rooms there was no panic.

Premier Frost Says Province Will Co-operate

Toronto, April 28 — (CP) — Premier Frost of Ontario says the province will co-operate whole-heartedly with United States law enforcement officials in seeking to eliminate international operations of gambling and bookmaking syndicates.

The Premier said that because his government does not believe the Detroit Windsor police commission inquiry brought any tangible benefit to the situation there the full power of the provincial police will be directed toward eliminating crime in Windsor.

Premier Frost made the statement Thursday night in connection on a report that Senator Homer Ferguson, Michigan Republican said in Washington he would ask the newly-formed Senate Crime investigating committee to study the Detroit - Windsor situation and the operations of a racetrack wire set-up in Windsor.

Saves Wife's Life By Throwing Self In Front of Car

Sevierville, Tenn., April 28 — (AP) — A 75-year-old man Thursday threw his body beneath the wheels of a rolling car to stop it at the top of a mountain — probably saving the life of his wife.

Mrs. Wife, Mrs. Alonzo A. Fassett of Detroit, said her husband, run over by one wheel, acted as a brake for about five minutes while she scrambled from the wrecked car and sought aid from a passing motorist.

Standing by the hospital bed of her husband, who suffered shock and several bruises, she related the near-tragedy occured at dawn at Newfound Gap, an observation point in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park.

She was in the car, she said, while her husband stood outside watching the sun rise.

"I couldn't stand to look off from the dizzy height," Mrs. Fassett said.

The car began to roll and she screamed. Being rattled, and not knowing how to drive, she fumbled for the brake instead of hopping out.

Fassett did not hear her. Then, when the vehicle was almost upon him at the edge of a plunging mountain slope, he noticed the movement and tried to stop the car by shoving on it with his hands.

Failing to check its progress, he threw himself prone.

CNR Officials Staff Present Tri-Light Lamp

Yesterday afternoon the officials and office staff of the Canadian National Railways tendered Mr. David Lockyer, popular Bridgetown, N.S. co-worker, a surprise presentation in honor of his approaching marriage, of a beautiful tri-light floor lamp, wishing him and his the best in the days that lie ahead.

"Dave" extended to the donors his sincere appreciation for their lovely and useful gift, thanking them for their good wishes on behalf of himself and his bride-to-be.

44-Hr. Week, Minimum Salary Proposed in Nurses' New Code

Toronto, Apr. 28 (CP)—A 44-hour week for nurses and a minimum monthly salary of $165 are proposed in a labor code adopted by the Ontario Registered Nurses Association, now holding its annual meeting here.

The code seeks to make wages and working conditions uniform throughout Ontario. Each registered nurse will submit a copy of the code to the hospital employing her and ask for a signed employment contract.

Other demands in the code are for a 3½-day week, with a full day allowed at another time for a nurse working on any of seven statutory holidays, and special compensation for overtime or on-call duty.

The nurses also ask for a 28-day annual vacation with pay and for differentials of an extra $10 or $15 a month for nurses with special qualifications. They ask that employers provide a complete medical examination of all nurses annually and that pension plans be set up.

Nurses will be required to provide their own insurance for hospital care and medical insurance.

The $165-a-month salary minimum compares with an average minimum in Toronto of about $150. Pay is said to be lower in some other parts of Ontario.

The code asks for a minimum of $183 a month for a head nurse and $200 for a supervisor or instructor, compared with a current $160 and $170 respectively in Toronto. It also proposes a minimum basic fee of $7 an eight-hour day for a nurse on private duty, a rate general in Toronto at present.

Thursday by unanimous vote the association authorized its board or directors to approach the Ontario government to obtain the best legislation the province is prepared to enact in regard to the profession.

Firewalking Ceremony of South Sea Islanders Mystifies Medical Expert

Suva, Fiji Islands, April 28 — (Reuters) — Eighty natives from three Fijian islands today performed their age-old fire-walking ceremony for delegates to the South Pacific Conference —and mystified medical experts who watched them.

Dressed in gaudy finery of yellow, red, spotted and green painted palm leaves, with quaint bustles of cloth strapped behind them, the natives had an audience of western diplomats, European planters and officials drawn from the native peoples of the south seas, and hundreds of local people.

The firewalking ceremony consisted of walking across hot stones. The stones were so hot that a handkerchief dropped on them quickly smouldered into cinders.

Preparatory plans had been worked out down to the finest detail. The stones had been specially brought by the performers from Lega Island. They also brought their own wood to make the fire that heated them.

For two weeks two of the natives had prepared for the ceremony. Their special preparations included chastity and a strict diet.

When the ceremonial pit had been dug, huge logs were placed in it and stones were heaped on top. The fire was lit.

When the stones were heated, the firewalking team, chanting songs, dragged the burning logs away.

Beginning at low pitch, the chant rose in a crescendo as each log was hauled away and dumped at a distance from the pit.

Then, as the team walked across the stones, their chieftain Edward Cakobau, described the ceremony in detail into a microphone for a radio correspondent.

Among those watching the firewalking were Dr. J. T. Gunther, an Australian medical expert. He examined the feet of the natives after the ceremony to see if they had suffered in any way.

He said afterward: "I am mystified."

B.C.I. Student Says 'Too Much Tolerance Today

Columbus, O., April 28 (AP)—"There is too much tolerance in the world today," a 19-year-old collegiate student today told the Key Club International Convention.

Donald G. Rose of Belleville, in his keynote address explained to the 2,500 high school boys who are delegates to the convention:

"If we will take the trouble to look up in your favorite dictionary the meaning of the word 'tolerance' you will discover that its meaning is 'to put up with even though you continue to dislike.'"

So, Rose said, "Let's not have so much tolerance. Let's have a little understanding; let us know the other fellow — how he thinks and what he thinks — and then perhaps through this understanding there will come an enlightenment that will show us that all men can live together as brothers."

Political Procession Ban in U.K. Extended

London, April 28 — (AP) — Scotland Yard announced today that a ban on processions of a political character in London, which expires May 2, is being extended for another three months.

The extension, which the Yard said had been authorized by the Home Office, injects plans for Oswald Mosley's union movement to march through London's East End May 7. Mosley was a leader of pre-war fascist groups, and meetings of his union movement have given rise, to disorders in predominantly Jewish sections of the East End.

French Horse Wins Classic At Newmarket

Newmarket, England, April 28 —(Reuters) — The French horse Camaret, today won the One Thousand Guineas, first of the turf season's classics for fillies, over a one mile course.

Mr. N. Donaldson's Catchit and the Aga Khan's Tambara deadheated for second place after a photo finish.

Tambara, a 10-1 shot, won by three lengths. Catchit was 50-1 and Tambara 10-1.

The winner was ridden by Australian jockey Rae Johnstone.

Search Swings To Toronto Area For Motorist

Kleinburg, April 29 — (CP)— The police search for Charles Hewston who they say eluded them in heavily-wooded area near here Thursday, has been extended to the Toronto area, 20 miles south.

Police said they believe Hewston, suspected of being the driver of a car who left a companion unconscious after piling into a ditch, is with friends in or around Toronto.

The hunt began Wednesday night when the car which Hewston had bought a few hours earlier struck a line of guard rails and careened across the road. Two women, Marion Thompson, 29, suffered head injuries when thrown from the automobile.

Police said Hewston muttered something about getting rid of the beer and then left the woman lying on the road. A posse trailed Hewston Thursday and several shots were fired at him but he escaped by swimming across the Humber River.

Police were at loss to understand why Hewston has become so desperate to escape capture unless it is that he thought Mrs. Thompson had been killed in the accident.

GIVEN YEAR FOR THEFT

Toronto, April 28 — (CP) — George Schofield, 19, who pleaded guilty to stealing $3,100 in victory bonds from his parents' safety deposit box, today was sentenced to one year in reformatory.

Schofield had gained admittance to the box by forging his father's name. He said used the money to go on a spending spree which took him to Las Vegas, Nev., where his parents were for $100 to pay his passage home.

Hoover Says United States Steadily Losing Ground To Russia and Her Allies

New York, Apr. 28 (AP)—Herbert Hoover says "the United Nations should be reorganized without the communist nations in it."

"If that is impractical," he declares, "then a definite new united front should be organized of those peoples who disavow communism, who stand for morals and religion, and who love freedom."

The only living former president of the United States, outlined his vision of a new international setup Thursday night in an address before the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

He said the United States is becoming more and more isolated as the sole contender in this cold war and is steadily losing ground" to Russia and her allies.

Assailing the Soviet regime Hoover said there is great need for a dynamic "united front" against "creeping red imperialism."

"This is not one world—but two worlds," he said.

"The one world idea seems to be lost in the secret files. One world is militaristic, totalitarian, atheistic and without compassion. The other world still holds to belief in God, free enterprise and freedom and peace."

Senator Walter George (Dem. Ga.) appeared to be reflecting widespread democratic sentiment when he said he regards such a move as "inevitable."

Senator Bourke Hickenlooper (Rep. Iowa) of the Senate Foreign Relations group, said the present stalemate in the U.N. should cause Congress to give "profound and immediate" consideration to Hoover's suggestion.

WINDSOR ISSUE BOUGHT

Toronto, April 28 — (CP) — A $1,000,000 distillery at Canada Iron Windsor has been bought by the Ontario government through its Municipal Improvement Corporation, it was announced Thursday night. The money is required to finance expansion of waterworks in the border city.

Rev. C.A. Perkins Accepts Call To Woodstock

Woodstock, April 28 (CP) — Oxford Presbytery of the United Church meeting in Norwich Thursday, approved the call of the Dundas Street United Church Woodstock, to Rev. C. A. Perkins of Holloway St. Church, Belleville Mr. Perkins will come to Woodstock in July. Rev. J. McAvoy, present minister of Dundas Street Church has applied for a change in pastoral relations which will be dealt with by the London conference.

Mr. Perkins is a graduate of McGill University and has studied at the University of Toronto and at Auburn Theological College in the United States.

He came to Belleville from Hamilton and had six pastorates before coming here.

No one has been called by the congregation of Holloway Street Church to replace Mr. Perkins as yet.

Dr. Brock Chrisholm Is Awarded Medal

New York, April 28 (CP) — For his contribution to world peace, Dr. Brock Chisholm of Canada, director-general of the United National World Health Organization, has been awarded the World Government News Medal, it was announced today.

Carl Van Doren, historian and president of the magazine World Government News, announced that other recipients of the award for 1949 are Thomas L. Stokes, columnist for the Scripps-Howard newspapers and the magazine, Saturday Review of Literature.

The World Government News medal is awarded annually for outstanding service to the cause of world federation."

Nurses Want To Eliminate Untrained Ones

Toronto, April 28 (CP) —By unanimous vote the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario in convention Thursday authorized its board of directors to approach the Ontario government to obtain the best legislation the province is prepared to enact in regard to control of the profession.

Miss Mary Millman of Toronto said "it seems likely that the only type of legislation we can obtain is similar to that of the medical and dental groups who have registration or licensing boards separate from their professional associations. We will ask for what we really want—that all who nurse must be registered and that registration as nurses and membership in the Registered Nurses Association be synonymous."

Earlier Rahno M. Beamish, president of the association, said that registration should be the responsibility of the profession, not the government.

Speaking at the opening of the association's silver anniversary convention, Miss Beamish said the Nurse Registration Act in Ontario should be revised to permit the profession to protect the public against improperly trained nurses.

Superintendent of nurses at Sarnia General Hospital, she said the only reason nurses accepted the existing act was because of "government procrastination and side-stepping of the issue." She remarked that the bill, originally introduced in 1906, was not passed until 16 years later.

CHAMPION COW

Fort Elizabeth, South Africa (CP) — A cow owned by Michae Brothers of Cradock, broke the South African milk and butterfat record for senior three-year-old Frieslands by producing 30,040.5 pounds of milk and 784,009 pounds of butterfat, testing 3.223 per cent in a 300-day lactation period.

Ice Conditions In Great Lakes Stops Navigation

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., April 28 (CP)—Another attempt to open up inbound navigation into Lake Superior was expected Thursday night following new reports on ice conditions in the upper St. Mary's River.

The big car ferry Ste. Marie made a complete survey of ice conditions in the upper river and returned here this evening. After a meeting with the ice committee of the Lake Carriers Association it was decided to allow freighters to navigate the river with the aid of the car ferry. The U.S. Coastguard icebreaker Mackinaw is expected to return over the weekend to aid in bettering a passage through the ice into the open lake.

Five freighters locked through to start the upbound passage after being held here for several days. They were the City of Hamilton, City of Kingston, City of Windsor, Renvoyle and Saskatoon. A sixth vessel, the Mohawk Deer is expected to clear upbound today.

At Duluth, Minn., the first commercial vessel to leave the Duluth-Superior harbor this season went through the Duluth ship Canal Thursday after a slight delay in plans because of heavy ice in Lake Superior.

The William G. Clyde, first of seven Pittsburgh Steamship Company vessels scheduled to go to Two Harbors, Minn., to load iron ore, was escorted by the United States Coast Guard icebreaker Mackinaw and the cutter Woodrush.

Carries Out Threats, Leaps to Death

Detroit, April 28 —(CP) — A man said to have threatened to end his life by leaping from his hotel room window, carried out that threat Thursday. Delmar C. Middlebrooks, 35, was found dead on the roof of a ballroom nine storeys below his room in a downtown hotel.

His brother William, a witness of the death-leap, told police his brother had often said during the last month: "The easy way out for me is to jump out a window."

William said Delmar had been married but divorced three times, and had been depressed recently because of his interest in a married woman. Police said both brothers had been drinking.

Seven Kings, Essex, England—(CP) — When a tobacconist arrived at his shop to open it one morning recently he found a truck had mounted the sidewalk and broken down the door.

Successful farmers know the value of modern scientific fertilization for their grain, hay, pasture, roots, and small fruit crops.

Phosphate is a primary need of select spring grown grains and tests have also shown that fertilized pasture lands provide more cheap feed than any other crop.

Why pay out good money for grass and clover seed only to neglect to provide the fertiliser required to ensure a good crop?

This bank is interested in helping progressive farmers to succeed. If you need money for a Farm Improvement Loan or for any worthwhile purpose, come in and talk over your plans.

THEY'RE MAKING BIGGER WORLDS THESE DAYS

Labor Government Expected To Cling to Its Shaky Seat Until This Coming Autumn

London, April 28 (AP) — The Labor government now is expected to cling to its shaky seat at least until fall.

But Wednesday's five-vote victory in a test vote in the House of Commons proved the going will not be easy. Continued heckling by Winston Churchill's Conservatives and the Liberals, will keep Labor under constant pressure.

Labor squeaked through votes on two major issues in the Commons Wednesday with a majority of only five in each. These two votes—on doubling the tax on gasoline and on seeing a 33 1-3 per cent purchase tax on trucks—constituted the most serious challenge Labor has faced since it came to power in 1945. Its once overwhelming majority in Commons has been sliced to a scant eight seats.

Defeat would most certainly have meant that Prime Minister Attlee would resign and Britons would have been asked to elect a new parliament.

The Liberals, with only nine members in the present house—all joining the Tories Wednesday in voting against the government.

Despite traditional Labor opposition to coalition government, except in wartime, talk persists of some form of a national coalition cabinet if the political deadlock continues.

Cautiously, Churchill said in parliament Monday: "I do not believe in coalitions that are formed only as the result of party bargaining. It is vain to suppose that anything but a blinding emergency, external or internal, would revive the comradeship of the wartime years or that an artificial arrangement between party leaders would meet our needs."

This was interpreted by the Conservative and Liberal press as a hint that he would consider a coalition agreeable if Britain's critical economic situation, for instance, took a turn for the worse.

Spain Refused Marshall Plan Aid by Senate

Washington, April 28—(AP)—The United States Senate Thursday blackballed France Spain for membership in the Marshall Plan, and refused to endorse a proposed $50,000,000 loan to that country.

It took this action in rejecting, 42 to 35, a move by Senators Pat McCarran (Dem. Nev.) and Owen Brewster (Rep. Maine) to amend the $3,272,500,000 Foreign Aid bill to include Spain officially in the anti-communist ranks.

"If we are really serious in fighting communism," McCarran said, "let us take into our alliance the people who have put communism out of business in their own country."

WANTS TAX REMOVED

Ottawa, April 28—(CP)—The man who initiated action to make margarine legal in Canada Thursday made the first move to lop off the eight-per-cent sales tax on the butter substitute.

Senator W. D. Euler (L—Ontario) gave notice in the Senate that he will introduce a motion to that effect at a later date.

He said he hoped that the Senate could consider accepting the motion which would express the chamber's opinion that margarine be classified among those foods on which the sales tax is eliminated.

Lie Believes United Nations Will Survive

Southampton, England, April 28—(AP) — Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary-general, said Thursday that the international situation "is not satisfactory" but he thinks the United Nations will survive.

Lie, who arrived aboard the liner Queen Mary, refused comment on Herbert Hoover's proposal that the U.N. be reorganized without communist countries.

"I'm afraid I cannot say that the general world position is healthier than when I was in England a year ago, he said.

He said he still hopes to go to Moscow next month, but a decision will not be made until he arrives in Paris next week.

(In Toronto Thursday, George Drew, leader of Canada's Progressive Conservatives, urged the people to join in warning Lie of the folly of going to see Stalin in an attempt to "kiss and make up" next week. Drew compared such a trip with Chamberlain's visits to Hitler before the Second World War.)

Lie will meet Prime Minister Attlee in London today.

Men on Horseback Rescue Four Treed By Expectant Cow

Andover, Mass., April 28 — (AP) — Farmer Arthur Tisbert planned to try "a couple more tricks" to get an "expectant" prize cow out of a 25-acre woodlot where she treed three men and a boy Wednesday.

Tisbert couldn't account for the ordinarily gentle 1,200-pound Aberdeen-Angus turning ferocious.

The treed persons were taken from their perches by men on horseback. The cow attacked—on foot.

Tisbert said the cow burst from her pen four days ago and has been "strange" ever since. She's expecting a calf shortly. Tisbert, a farmer thought that might have "something to do with it."

Ontario Plans To Keep Roads Clear of Signs

Niagara Falls, Ont., April 28— (CP)— Ontario will not allow its tourist trade to be harmed by indiscriminate erection of commercial establishments and billboards along main highways, Deputy Highways Minister J. D. Millar Thursday told the closing session of the second annual Ontario tourist conference.

He said the Provincial Highway Department has contributed around $200,000,000 to the tourist industry and has spent a large additional amount on road maps, roadside parks, ferries and on marking spots of historical interest.

Delegates passed a resolution that will enable small tourist establishments to obtain financial loans to improve service and appearance.

The resolution, based on recommendations by speakers during the three-day convention, was one of several approved Thursday.

Another resolution said:

"This group makes strong representations to the Federal government for the withdrawl of the form E-60 and return to the usual customs report permit or some such simple form."

Delegates said complicated forms caused serious delays and "irritation to American visitors who are delayed."

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

It is too easy to overlook the simplest plays in bridge. This is why declarer first studies what tricks he is liable to lose. It tells him what plans to make for his needs.

South is declarer at a small slam contract of six hearts. The opening lead from west is a diamond. East captures the dummy north queen with the ace. A return diamond goes to north king.

There are no losers in spades or trumps. The south third diamond can be ruffed by north. Opponents already have one trick. Therefore, declarer must concentrate on losing no trick in clubs.

In his mind south runs down the list of principles of play. Only a finesse offers any chance. So, he settles for a try with this play, hoping to find the club king in the west hand.

South first pulls two trump rounds and opponent hearts fall. His third diamond is ruffed by north. On three spade rounds and two more trump rounds are stuffed two clubs from dummy.

A south club is then led. West plays small and north plays the queen for a finesse. It stands up in this case. So, club ace and a south ruff of the last north club make the rest good.

Why is the finesse held off so long? As long as declarer can afford to play other tricks first, a finesse should be delayed. You never know what may turn up in the meantime.

On the last two rounds of trumps, for instance, one of the two opponents may shed a revealing card. Or make some other disclosure in an attempt to give his partner a signal.

You see that space is not worth wasting on an obvious play like this. As a teacher let me remind you that some players do

Hollywood, April 27. (AP)—Lawrence Tierney, one time stormy figure of Hollywood night life, appears headed for another chance at a film career.

The actor, who had a knack for making headlines a couple of years back, is making a film return in 'Shakedown". He says Universal-International has an option for a term contract after the picture and "it looks as though they will pick it up."

Since then he has made a picture in Portugal and done some theatre work in the east. He is portraying a gangster in the new film, but he doesn't appear concerned about being typed. Many stars have made a mint by being typed," he said.

Changes in Toronto Leafs Hockey Empire Proposed With Smythe's Hint of Retirement

Toronto, April 28. (CP)—Conn Smythe, whose Toronto Maple Leafs were shunted from the Stanley Cup picture more than two weeks ago, officially rang down the curtain on professional hockey in these parts Thursday.

But the Leaf managing director, in his last press conference of the season, left reporters with an outline of some of the changes he has planned for the club that met defeat in the National Hockey League playoffs for the first time in four years.

The changes, some effective immediately and others planned for the indefinite future, affect almost every club in the Leaf system of professional and amateur clubs.

When the proposed reorganization is complete, almost every Leaf Club will have a new coach, and there will be lots of new coaches in every roster.

Smythe plans to leave Hap Day in charge of the Leafs—temporarily, Day, "the best coach in the business" in Smythe's book, has been recommended for a two-year contract, with the possibility of promotion to the job of assisting the ailing Smythe as managing director before the contract expires.

As top candidate for Day's coaching job when Hap moves up, Smythe named Joe Primeau, the one-time centre of Leafs' kid line who is currently coaching Toronto Marlboro Seniors in their bid to win the Allan Cup at Calgary.

Plenty to Work With

Primeau will have plenty of familiar players to work with when he takes over. Of his present Marlboro Club, Smythe ticked defenceman Hugh Bolton and forwards Danny Lewicki and George Armstrong for try-outs with the big team. Others who may get under Joe with Marlboros or Toronto St. Michael's College Juniors already are with the club.

Two more players whom Smythe gives a good chance of moving up are right-winger Tod Sloan, a former Leaf who has been repurchased from Cleveland Barons of the American League, and defenceman Tim Horton of Leafs' Pittsburgh farm in the A.H.L.

Smythe said he would offer the Pittsburgh coaching job to Tommy Anderson, an all-star defenceman with New York Americans a few years ago, who coached Oshawa Generals in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior 'A' loop last winter.

Lacks Experience

Baz Bastien, the former Pittsburgh goalie who took over from Bob Davidson in mid-season, won't be back as coach, Smythe said Bastien lacked the experience for the job.

Davidson, assistant coach of the Leafs, may take over from Primeau with Marlboro Seniors next year, or handle Marlboro Juniors in place of Syl Apps, who is retiring.

Smythe outlined the following plans for next year's Leafs:

Turk Broda, oldest man in point of service in the N.H.L., will be back in goal, but will be spelled off by Al Rollins, whom Leafs bought from Cleveland during the winter.

Bill Juzda, the stocky Winnipeg defenceman, won himself a bonus and a new contract for his aggressive play last season.

Not Referring to Mortson

One unnamed defenceman won't be back. Presumably Smythe was not referring to Gus Mortson, an automobile bonus-winner on being named to the N.H.L.'s All-Star team.

Lewicki, the smooth left-winger from Fort William whom Smythe finally signed last winter after a prolonged argument over the C-form, will be tried on a line with Max Bentley, another stick-handling wizard. Armstrong, Lewicki's linemate all season, may make the team too, but "has a lot to learn."

There's one bit of bad news for Leaf fans. There'll be an increase—Smythe didn't say how much—in the price of tickets to N.H.L. games. The boost is intended to help cover the deficit of Smythe's amateur clubs, which finished in the red this season and have a 15-per-cent provincial tax to worry about next winter.

Calgary Stamps Will Give Marlies Run for Money

Calgary April 28 (CP)—Twelve years ago Bunny Dame helped Trail Smoke Eaters win the Allan Cup. In 1946 he was with Stampeders when Calgary won its only Canadian Senior Hockey title.

Today, Dame at 35 is hopeful that he may be with an Allan Cup-winning team for the third time in 12 years.

And Bunny isn't the only "old hand" with the Stamps. Goalie Dass Dertell, Archie Wilder, Julian Sawchuck, Doug Cairns and Dunc Grant also were members of Calgary's 1946 Dominion championship crew.

A National Hockey League scout probably wouldn't find much to get excited about in the outfit which Monday takes on Toronto Marlboros in the opener of the best-of-seven Allan Cup final.

Nine of the Stampeders are closer to 30 years of age than 25. The team average is 26. Only defenceman Hughie Coffin is rated a big time prospect.

There are a host of western hockey observers willing to put their long green on Stamps to come through against the younger, potentially-powerful Eastern aggregation.

Defensive Team

Much of Calgary's power lies in its defensive strength. The big pillar in this department is goalie Russ Dertelli, who set a league record with seven shutouts. He also had the lowest scored against average.

The blueline brigade features Hughie Coffin, the former Moose Jaw Canuck junior who was chosen outstanding rookie this season in the Western Canada League. Coffin's defence mate is defenceman Hughie Coffin is rated a big time prospect.

Husky, 195-pound Julian Sawchuck teams with Winnipeg born Jack Taggart for the other defence duo. Sawchuck returned to Calgary after three years with Cleveland Barons. He is a veteran of two Memorial Cup trimphs—one with Winnipeg Rangers, the other with Oshawa Generals.

Yonkers Raceway Draws 21,181 Fans on Opening

Yonkers, N. Y., April 28 (AP) —North America's newest mecca of the mutuels, Yonkers Raceway, is off to a flying start.

Despite overcast weather, some rain and considerable confusion at the payoff windows, the half-mile harness racing track situated only a half hour from Times Square looks to be a natural.

The crowd of 21,181 Thursday night bet $688,009 on the eight races. Both figures set a record for an opening at a new harness track. The former marks established last year at Sportsman's Park, Chicago, were 11,789 and $237,812.

Bid for a regular opening of any harness track, Roosevelt Raceway on Long Island, N. Y., still is high. On May 6 last year, 23,371 visited that course and bet $764,914.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, April 28 (AP) — Dumb Dan Morgan, half asleep in his chair in the International Boxing Club's publicity office, opened one eye and asked: "want to see what the boxing game looks like? Just look at me."

Then he closed the eye again.

In the next room there was the little guy who may have it in his power to revive the game again — batamweight champion Manuel Ortiz — Manny is flying to South Africa to defend his title next month against Vic Towell, the British Empire champion . . . a little matter of $40,000 is involved, so it isn't surprising that Ortiz annoyed London promoter Jack Solomons by walking out of a $15,000 affair, an act which put him on the National Boxing Commission's suspended list. If he wins, Ortiz will come right back for a New York fight . . . If not—and nothing less an authority than Nat Fleischer predicts he won't— there may be a lot of action among the little guys.

When Dizzy Dean visited Fordham University the other day as part of his goodwill and tutoring tour of the local colleges, a would-be pitcher asked how to hold the horsehide to throw a fast ball . . . replied Dizzy: "Son if you ain't got a fast ball, it don't make any matter how you hold the ball." Connie Mack has been chosen "Champion Sportsman of the Month" for April—a title he deserves with or without the "commercial." . . .

Smythe's Teams Cost $69,000 To Operate

Toronto, April 28 — (CP) — Conn Smythe, unabashed by a storm of criticism over an alleged threat to pull his Toronto Marlboros out of the Allan Cup race, says it was all a mistake.

The head of the Toronto Maple Leaf hockey empire told a press conference Thursday that his top amateur club lost money this season, but added that he never had any intention of refusing to send the club to Calgary for a try at the Dominion senior hockey title.

"Where that story came from I don't know," said Smythe. "But it never started from me."

Thursday the Leaf managing director chalked up the losses of his amateur clubs and they came to $69,000 for the season. The Marlboro seniors had dropped $62,000 behind their returns of the previous year.

Smythe's junior Marlboros finished $49,000 ahead of their 1948-49 pace but several minor clubs in the Toronto Hockey League had added to the deficit.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The heartaches and triumphs, the joys and sorrows of a big league player and manager are pointed out in Connie Mack's "My 50 Baseball Years in the Big Leagues", published by the John C. Winston Co. of Philadelphia.

Connie the grand old man of baseball whose name is synonymous with the game has done an excellent job in putting his vast store of experiences on paper. It should be read by every fan as well as player and athlete.

Following are excerpts from the book:—

"I was one of the first players to go south on a spring training trip in 1885. The manager in Washington was Old Ted Sullivan, and he conceived the idea that if he could get the jump on the other clubs by putting them in spring training it would enhance his chances of winning the pennant . . .

A trip to Florida in the '80's was a big event. It took us three nights and two days to make the journey. We left at night and went from Washington to Charlotte, North Carolina, in a Pullman, two big fellows in a berth. At seven o'clock the next morning we were awakened in Charlotte, then had to dress and go back to a day coach. We traveled on to Atlanta, then to Savannah and on to Jacksonville, alternating between day coaches and Pullman, two-in-a-berth at night.

I recall that we went to a hotel to register. The proprietor received us cordially until he found out that we were baseball players.

"Sorry," he said, "but we don't take baseball players."

The fact that we were the Washington Senators and came from the nation's capital made no impression whatsoever on hotel clerks.

We went from hotel to hotel. Ted Sullivan would leave us outside and go in to register, but we always got the same brush-off. Finally, the proprietor of a third-rate hotel agreed to take us, but with this reservation:

"I'll take you in on one condition. You cannot let baseball players mingle with the other guests."

We were then allowed to eat at the dining room, but were given our meals in a special room. Ted would put a silver dollar on the table when we sat down, and say to the waiter:

"Now go ahead and feed my boys up right."

The waiter would wield the knife, fork and be fried chicken, corn on the cob, sweet potatoes, corn muffins. When the meal was over Sullivan would pick up the silver dollar and put it back in his vest. I saw the same silver dollar the whole time we were in the South.

Those were the days apparently also ran into difficulties on the road. Once the Cleveland team was quartered in a hotel on a road trip. Ossie Schreck ordered a steak. When it was served he called the waiter and asked it with a knife.

"Waiter," he said, "will you kindly bring me the porter? When the porter came hurrying in, Ossie smiled pollitely.

"Porter," he said, "will you kindly bring me a hammer and a nail?"

The porter, somewhat perplexed, brought Ossie the articles he had asked for. Ossie got up with considerable pomp, walked ceremoniously across the room and nailed the steak to the floor. It wasn't long before the hotel manager came rushing in and threw the whole team out of the hotel."

HIS BIGGEST THRILL

"The biggest thrill I have ever had? . . . I'll never forget the 1929 World Series. Lefty Grove, George Earnshaw, and Rube Walberg, three of the biggest pitchers I ever had, were with me. The problem was in which order I should pitch them.

The Chicago Cubs, the National League pennant winners, feared Grove, Earnshaw, and Walberg because of their masterful work in winning the American League pennant. I knew that if they could lick one of these star pitchers they could break the spell and take the series.

A major surprise at the offset would break their spirit, so my strategy was to nullify the Chicago plan of campaign at the start.

I was so heavily loaded with big pitchers at that time that I contemplated before the end of the season to send myself in a quandary. I arrived late at a clubhouse meeting and hesitated to enter. My eye fell on Ehmke, a grand old-timer. I beckoned him to follow me. As we stood outside the locker-room door, I said to him.

"Howard, it looks as if I'll have to let you go."

Ehmke was a veteran for whom I had deep regard. This was a hard decision for me to make. It was a sore of professional death sentence.

"Mr. Mack," Ehmke replied, "I've always wanted to be on a pennant winner and in a World Series, and this is as close as I ever got to it."

"Do you believe you could win a game in the World Series, Howard?" I asked.

"Mr. Mack," he replied, shaving his pitching arm forward, "I've got one more good game in me, and I'd like to give it to you in October."

"Howard," I said, "I'm going to take you up. You're going to pitch that game in the series. You stay home and work out here in Philadelphia. When the Cubs come here in their final games with the Phillies, go to every game and study their hitters carefully."

I asked Ehmke to tell no one, and he kept his pledge...

* * *

HERO OF THE DAY

When we arrived at the field in Chicago for the opening of the World Series, not one of the players knew the identity of our first pitcher. Our opponents were eager to get this information. The newspaper men were all speculating whether it would be Grove or Earnshaw or Walberg, but I withheld it until the last minute.

Ehmke warmed up with the rest of the players and then sat down on the bench, head bowed and his shoulders.

The national anthem was played; the great World Series was about to begin. I signaled to Ehmke, and he walked out to the mound. The huge crowd, the sports writers, and the Chicago team were all taken by complete surprise.

Al Simmons was sitting next to me on the bench. He jumped up. "Is he going to work?" he exclaimed.

"Yes," I said, "have you any objections?"

"Nope," Al replied. "If you think he can win, it's good enough for me."

Hereon Ehmke proved himself the great sportsman he always was. He not only won the first game in the World Series against the Chicago Cubs by a score of 3-1, but he struck out thirteen Chicago hitters in one game and established a world record.

The total administered by Ehmke shocked the Cubs: "If a has-been can strike out thirteen of our men," they said, "what hope do we have against Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg?"

Here's the answer: We won that World Series four games to one, Ehmke took the first game, as you have seen, 3-1. Earnshaw won the second game, 9-2; Earnshaw lost the third when Grove was in for only one inning, 3-1. Rommel won the fourth game 10-8. Walberg won the fifth and final game 3-2.

It was one of the greatest thrills in my life to see Ehmke pitch that game and break a world's record. He smashed the record that Biz Ed Walsh had held for twenty-three years when Ed struck out twelve men in a World Series. Ehmke raised the ante to thirteen."

Phillies' Willie Jones Loves Brooklyn Pitching in Making Life Miserable for Dodgers

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Puddin' Head is on cozy terms with pitchers of all varieties this spring. So far he's hitting a rousing .417 with three homers and a league - leading total of 11 R. B. I. He has a nine-game hitting streak including one tie game.

Brooklyn is his happy hunting ground. Thursday against the Dodgers at Ebbets Field Jones ripped into Preacher Roe for a grand-slam homer in the first inning. The Preacher never got the side out as the Phils scored five runs and went on to an easy 9-2 victory.

Jones had company in Thursday's batting brew. Dick Sisler chipped in four hits, including a two-run homer.

Robin Roberts checked the onrushing Dodgers with eight hits. It was Roberts' second loss, both to Roberts, smashing a six-game winning streak.

Cards Trim Bosox

After losing six of nine starts to their old teammate Murry Dickson, St. Louis Cardinals turned on him for revenge, 5-3 in the Pittsburgh, 5-2. The Cards downed Dickson with a four-run blast in the fifth before 34,995 fans attending the Pirates' first home night game.

Red Munger, beaten by Pittsburgh in his first appearance, lasted the route, allowing six hits.

Dave Koslo, a low earned -run pitcher in the National League last season, fanned 10 and in the 10th inning and walked Willard Marshall, a former New York giants teammate, with the bases loaded. That pass gave Boston Braves a 5-4 decision.

Spahn Wins Third

Warren Spahn became the first major leaguer to win three games with a six-hit effort. Spahn and Monte Kennedy hooked up in a 0-0 duel until the 9th when Sain scored once. Koslo, who replaced Kennedy in the ninth, loaded the bases in the 10th on a Glant error, a walk and a hit batsman. Then he threw a straight balls to Marshall.

Tommy Byrne was his old wild self in the Yankee Stadium walking eight men in five innings as Boston thumped the Yankees 7-2.

Bob Hooper, a Buffalo grad, turned in fine relief job, following starter Hank Wyse, in Philadelphia's 4-3 night victory over Washington. Wyse was faced with two runs in and the bases loaded in the second. Hooper yielded only one run — a fifth inning homer by Gil Coan—the rest of the way.

Rain and cold weather knocked out a good share of the schedule. Cleveland at Detroit and Chicago at St. Louis in the American were postponed. So was Cincinnati at Chicago in the National.

Canadiens Edge Regina Pats In First Game

By VIC MORRIS, Jr.
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, April 28 — (CP) — Montreal Canadiens had to practically race neck-to-neck to the wire Thursday night to eke out a 8-7 victory over Regina Pats in the opening game of the best-of-seven Memorial Cup final series.

There wasn't much to choose between the two clubs as they dished up a wild, free scoring 3rd period that saw 10 goals scored in the space of 16 minutes.

Regina, 6 to 5 pre-game underdogs, provided the free-wheeling play when they battled from behind to find the range. The Montreal defence was continuously kept on the edge of their toes in the torrid stretch drive that kept the outcome in doubt until the final whistle and had both coaches spilling players over the boards as fast as tired ones could crawl onto the benches.

However, defencemen Morley McNeil stole the show as he sank three markers for the western champs and throughout kept the game in control. He was aided by Eddie Litzenberger with two goals and Brian McDonald and Paul Masnick, with one apiece.

Had Margin in Shooting

Over the route Canadiens held a seven-point margin in the shooting department with a 34-23 edge. But this was no indication of play.

The game itself started out at a sleepy pace with Litzenberger moving Pats ahead in the eight minutes of play in the first period. The session ended tied 1-1 when Moore drove in from Rochefort. Pats' goalie Bob Tyler with 37 seconds remaining.

In the middle session, Moore moved the Montrealers ahead 2-1 on a neat passing play with Gooch, but McNeil got this one back late in the session while Canadiens were playing short - handed. Marshall moved Rose, Marshall and Rockford each scored before the period was four minutes old to move the Montrealers into a commanding 6-2 lead. But then Pats roared back with four goals in eight minutes to knot the count.

At the 14.05 minute mark Goold put the home team ahead and Rose scored 30 seconds later on a smart stickhandling play. But Regina was not out of it yet and Masnick fired their last shot as he beat goalie Roger Morrissette with five minutes remaining.

The second game is Saturday night.

Provision of Huge Stadium Backs Montreal's Effort for 1954 British Empire Games

By W. R. WHEATLEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, April 28 — (CP) — Financial prospects and flat assurances that a gigantic stadium will be provided bulk large in the Montreal British Empire Games Committee's bid for the 1954 spectacle.

There is the added allurement of the sports-mindedness of Canada's bilingual metropolis, it means as well for hundreds of thousands of tourists annually.

So far neither the city nor the Quebec provincial government is on official record as to what either or both will definitely do if the 1954 games come to Montreal, where preparations for the 1943 games were wrecked by the war.

Work Receives Support

But committee members report their work has been productive of warm support. In 1942 the committee recalls, the municipal and provincial governments had spent more than $150,000 in getting under way a sports centre that was to be the finest and most elaborate of its kind in Canada.

The committee adds bluntly: The stadium, started when the 1943 games were awarded to Montreal, at Pie IX Boulevard and Sherbrooke Street East, will be completed to accomodate approximately 50,000 spectators and to provide a standard 440-yard cinder running track, complete facilities for all field events and standard cycling track — outside the running track — of 3½ laps to the mile.

The committee has given assurance of an initial guarantee of $50,000 six months before the games, a total of $200,000 is envisaged as necessary to cover all pre-games expenses.

In addition to track and field facilities providing for the greatest spectator assemblages, the committee promises 5,000 spectator provision at a standard swimming pool, complete with high-diving tower.

Boxing, Wrestling in Forum

The Montreal forum would house boxing and wrestling, with perhaps 15,000 accommodation for that type of sport.

The rowing course at adjoining Lachine, where countless championships have been held, would meet all requirements for the Empire games.

The former R.C.A.F. manning depot at Cartierville or similar accomodation would be used to house an estimated 700 visiting team members.

Montreal's committee is headed by Twin Lord as chairman and Prof. E. M. Orlick, widely known as Canadian amateur sport, as secretary. Lord was Canada's team manager at the 1950 games in New Zealand.

Ticket Office Manager of Yanks Held For Theft

A former $90-a-week ticket office manager for the New York Yankees was arrested Thursday for theft of $43,687 from the baseball club.

Walter Sherwin, 40, surrendered to District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, he was named in a four-count forgery and grand-larceny indictment.

Last June, Hogan said, Sherwin switched from the Yankees' office, found a surprise audit in progress and disappeared.

The District Attorney said Sherwin first sought to cover up shortages by persuading ticket brokers to pay him in advance for 1948 World Series tickets in exchange for preferential treatment.

The team lost the pennant, Hogan said, and then Sherwin fenders off by promising them tickets on next-year's baskets. When these were not handed through his office, he promised them preferred blocks for important games.

Goaltender Bert Larking now feels he knows how the other half lives.

Bert scored a goal Wednesday night that unassisted one, too. But it took a combination of perfect circumstances for him to do it.

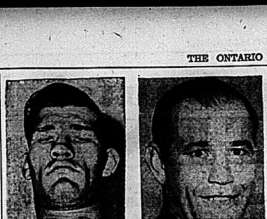
Play roughened up in a game at Toronto between Bert's Toronto Islanders and a Riverdale Roughriders. With no defensive penalty rule in the Toronto Hockey League, the teams found themselves with two men aside.

Riverdale, down 2-1, gambled by lifting its netminder for a second forward. At this point, Larking stopped a shot and rushed the puck to the other end of the ice into the empty net. His added two more in a 4-2-1 win.

One minor change in harness racing operations for 1950 was made Thursday by the Ontario Racing Commission.

The commission ruled out nighttime racing in a meeting with the Western Ontario Harness Horse Association. The association has delayed plans for this season pending settlement of the sport's status under the newly-formed commission.

Parimutuel betting will be in force at racing meetings longer than three days the commission ruled. For meetings of shorter duration, the handbook system, modified used in the past, was approved.



Association representatives who meet with the commission included George Parry, M.L.A.; John Janes, M.L.A.; Fred Edwards, M. L.A.; O. M. Quick, C. J. Crazen, Ray Stevenson, all of Dresden; J. M. Climie, Tillsonburg; Dave Pinkney, Simcoe; Jack Morrisey, Credition; Ron Todgham, Chatham; and C. R. Bradley, Toronto.

At Toronto, Chief Justice J. C. McRuer Thursday awarded damages of $500 to Jack Walden, operator of Oakwood Stadium, against the Dominion of Canada Football Association which switched the third game of the Dominion Soccer Finals at Toronto in 1948 from Oakwood Stadium to another local field. Vancouver St. Andrews had complained after the first game that the Oakwood field was not up to championship standards.

At Chicoutimi, Que., Bagotville Allie, Thursday night scored seven goals in the third period to overpower Halifax Armed Services 11-1 and take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five semi-final series for the Eastern Canada Intermediate Hockey Championship.

Lightweight champion Ike Williams of Trenton, N.J., Thursday was awarded indefinitely by the Massachusetts Boxing Commission, in co-operation with the Michigan Commission, for what it called "acts detrimental to the best interests of boxing."

"Might jest as well start off right in Belleville tonight" grinned towering Ski-Hi-Lee, Ozarkian giant who appears here against elusive Ray Villmer in the main wrestling bout at Memorial Arena. "Jest gettin' tired of being pushed around by these fellers and tonight I'm goin' to show 'em that from now on there'll be no foolin'." "Ski-Hi" is well known here and his rough and ready tactics have been enjoyed by the faithful especially when he is beaten. But that bothers Ski-Hi not a mite. The Giant from the Tennesee Mountains, however, will have his hands full, but plenty, when he tangles with the dynamic Villmer. Ray is strong, little and a canny artist who can show the best of the big boys a trick or two. John Barrand and Joe Christie will clash in the semi-finals and the bout should wow the faithful. Canadian Sport Snapshots

By BOB McALEER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, April 28 — (CP) — Are United States sport bodies stifling international competition?

When Spokane Flyers refused to play out with Chatham Maroons — International Hockey League champions — the United States amateur title, it brought back memories of similar circumstances at London Free Press) Park,

"Some say international competition is increasing," notes Park, "but there won't be much progress as long as organizations in the United States maintain their present attitudes.

"In two out of the past three seasons, United States Congress baseball champs have refused to play off with the Canadian winners. They have given the same excuse — that the season dragged too long."

Jack adds that the time they did play, the Canadians won.

Other Sports Too

"We wouldn't be a bit surprised if Japanese swimmers, who won most of the United States titles this year and Korean marathoners, who dominated the Boston Marathon, were requested to stay home in the future."

Jack says the Americans aren't the only offenders, however. He notes that after Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa won the European figure skating title, a new rule was written into the book forbidding entrants from outside of Europe.

"Then the Russians set up their own league for skaters from the United States follows suit and enters the international competition only when they are sure of winning, then you can forget it as a threat to world champs."

Works Both Ways

The baseball balk rule which says a pitcher must pause momentarily in his delivery works both ways — and at least once it helped the offending batter.

Doug (Niagara Falls Review) Austin relates a case:

"Monte Irvin and his Jersey City teammates were just such unfortunates as victims in a 10-9 decision by Frank Dascoli and Fred Hancock.

Chuck Connors Starting to Hit For Montreal

(By The Associated Press)

Connors, who drove home 108 runs for the Royals last year, was extremely disappointed when Brooklyn shipped him back to Montreal after a brief spring training tryout.

In his first three games Connors pounded out three hits and drove home five runs to lead the Royals to a 12-3 victory. Al Glendriddo and Rookie Walt Fiala shared the spotlight with Connors.

Rookie lefthander Tom Lasorda tamed the Cubs on six hits, walked four and fanned six in besting three Springfield pitchers.

Joe Payne, promising Baltimore righthander, pitched the Orioles to a brilliant 3-0 one-hit victory over Toronto Maple Leafs. The game was called after Toronto batted in the eighth because of rain.

The Orioles hopped on Buzz Bowers and Ralph Brickner for eight hits while Payne was blowing the way with three.

Red Hardy also came up with a neat pitching performance as Jersey City downed Buffalo 3-2. Hardy allowed the Bisons only five hits including homers by Hank Biasatti and Fred Hancock.

Veteran Anglers Staying Home Until Weather Warms Up As Trout Season Opens Sat.

Tomorrow morning, at the crack o' dawn of the official opening day rod-bearing fishermen will invade the lake and stream trout haunts of the northern parts of the county and district.

Jalopies and convertibles will transport the eager-eyed Waltons to the various spots, while some of the more anxious Johnny-come-the-spot type will leave tonight in order to be ready to cast the minute Old Sol pokes an eye over the horizon.

Apparently, unless weather conditions are perfect, or nearly so, speckled trout fishing is a young man's sport, if this city's veteran Waltons can be judged a criterion.

A survey of some of the veterans and yesterday revealed a number of them are staying home "until the weather gets good, and the ice is out of the lakes."

Like Wasted Days

"I like my fishing on a warm day when you can relax and let a line drag from a boat, or sit on the bank or a stream or shoreline of a lake, tie the line to a toe and let the rest of the world go hang," dreamed a grey-thatched veteran of the 1949 season.

"I like the thrill of the 'feel' of a fighting speckled beauty on the hook," said Izaak Walton. "Brother, that's the thrill of a lifetime, even if you don't land him. It's worth what the tramping through the woods along a stream which these older fellows say is something of a hardship."

In any event fishing will brown in frying pans in cabins and the open, come Saturday noon. If pre-season predictions of conditions are true.

Water Levels Better

Department of Lands and Forest officials have stated that water level in streams are much better than those of the last season or two, and although the larger lakes are still ice-locked, smaller ones show plenty of open water.

So, weather or no weather, ice or no ice, the old urge is back in many bosoms and Saturday, the first of two days of the new season, will likely see an onslaught from mags sections on the trout-bearing water of the north.

Chandler Must Decide Case

New York, April 28 — (AP) — Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler may have to take time off from the more ponderous problems of baseball to decide the case of a mechanical pitcher with a reported sore arm.

The contraption was bought by Frank Lane, general manager of Chicago White Sox, one night in Los Angeles during the training period from Roy Hamey, the Pittsburgh Pirate front-office boss.

Chandler's decision, if available, on what is a quirk will decide the case. A sum of $1,000 is at stake.

Here's how it all came about: At a baseball gathering in Los Angeles one night this spring, Hamey appreciated Lane and asked him if he would like to buy a pitcher for $1,000. Lane replied that he would — any kind of a pitcher.

"All right," said Hamey, "You have bought one. This is a mechanical pitcher. Where do you want it sent?"

"Wait a minute," Lane hedged, "does it pitch?"

"It pitches," Hamey affirmed. "Okay," Lane said, concluding the deal, "send it to Comiskey Park."

There can be no doubt that the White Sox boss purchased the contraption, for does Lane deny it. But he claims now that he was rooked by the fast-talking Hamey, and he refuses to pay.

Lane was reminded that Hamey, under pressure, had said only that the thing would "pitch" — he didn't say how good.

Apartment Life Less Comfortable Because of Strike

New York, April 28 (AP)—Elevator operators and other service employes — the people who make apartment life comfortable — began walking out Thursday, in a strike that threatened to affect 250,000 residents of the city's skyscraper dwellings.

The stiff-dwellers of Park Ave. and many a less-fashionable street agreed life wasn't so luxurious without them.

At 8 a.m. EST 18,000 employees in about 1,000 apartment buildings in all sections of Manhattan walked out. About 200,000 persons were affected by the first phase of the strike.

Altogether, the wage-hour dispute involves 18,000 employees and the landlords of 2,000 apartment houses.

The union, local 32-B of the Building Service Employees Union (A.F.L.) said all its 18,000 members shortly would be out.

The union demands a wage increase of $2.75 weekly, a cut in the work week from 48 to 40 hours, and a welfare plan. Present wages, says the union, are from $45.50 to $50.32 for a 48-hour week.

As the pavements of Park and Fifth Avenues echoed to the shuffle of picket lines, penthouse dwellers felt like flapjole sitters.

In cases where management did not keep elevators running, they could either walk 18 or 19 storeys, more or less, to the ground — or stay up in the air waiting to see if the heat and hot water went off.

Rail Unions Will Discuss Report

Montreal, April 28 (CP) — Representatives of 90,000 International Brotherhood members, involved in a wage dispute with Canadian railways, will meet here May 10 to discuss a conciliation board report and what action to take on it, it was announced today.

Frank Hall, chairman of the negotiating committee for the International Brotherhoods, said the Minister of Labor will be notified of the decision made at the May 10 meeting but he declined to discuss a possible strike vote.

When the conciliation board report was made public Mr. Hall said it would be rejected by the majority of union members.

Youths Sentenced On Five Counts

Sudbury, April 28 — (CP) — Jointly charged on five counts of breaking, entering and theft, Ernst Depatie, Sudbury, Thursday received a term of two years less one day and Ernest Palenaude, 18, of Cornwall, was sentenced to six months.

Judge Edmund Proulx said Palenaude is "a youth who has been under the influence of a hardened heir." These boys have become a nuisance and must be dealt with accordingly."

The pair were charged with stealing two tool boxes valued at $500 from the premises of an auto service shop last Feb. 3. A term of six month for each additional charge will run concurrently.

Depatie and Palenaude were also convicted of breaking into a small confectionery store, a garage, an oil supply firm and a parked car.

Fatal Play With Gun

Pittsfield, Mass., April 27 (AP) — One of a young baby sitter's three boy friends Thursday night accidentally killed a three-year-old child while playing with a shotgun. Police said the blast nearly blew off the head of Jane Ellen Fowler as she lay in her crib. The 15-year-old sitter told the three boys were held for questioning. No charges were placed against them.

Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle:

Little Benny's Note Book

The dentist took a X-ray picture of ma's tooth to see why it hert, and he was supposed to call her up in the morning and tell her what the picture said, and ma was eating her grapfruit diet and waiting to hear the telefone ring, saying to pop, William, if that dentist tells me my tooth has to come out, I'll just go and hide someplace.

I wont tell a sole where you are, and I'll bring you nuts and fruit to keep you alive, pop said. For Pete sake dont count your chickens before they are hatched, I just wont listen to a werd he says. He's a big blustery fellow anyway, and I always did think he did most of his talking to hide a part of his ignorance. Just because he happens to be a specialist in one certain subject, he needn't think he can lay down the law to Mose on high. Plain common sense has won many battles in life, and I have a feeling that all my tooth needs is a simple painless filling, and if he's not completely arrogant and opinionated, he'll listen to me, she said.

That's a fact, an intelligent dentist will always meet his patients half way, as long as they keep their mouths wide open, pop said.

Which just then the fone rang, and saying, The war is over, my dear. Your tooth doesn't even need a filling. He says ie drop in some time and he'll put a little soothing syrup on your tooth, and make sure you haven't actually got a cavity? he said.

Well snitch a suggestion, ma said. A man with all that experience surely must know his own business best, and I'm sure he'll do a good job. Why don't you call him up and make an appointment?

ENGLAND'S CLAIM

RAWDON

Rawdon — Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ruttan, and Marie, of Kingston, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sine and Doris, on the fourth line.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith, and family and Mr. Oscar Merrick, attended a shower Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Merrick.

Mr. W. Skinkle is back on duty delivering bread, following his honeymoon.

Miss Ruth Sharpe had a special part in the recent musical revue at Mount Pleasant. She assisted with the drill "Anchors Away", and "Volga Boatman" chorus.

Messrs. Ross Hoard and Frank Jeffs spent a day last week at Beaverton.

A large number of Rawdon folks attended the "Edna Jacques" program at St. Paul's United Church. Mrs. Jamieson gave the story of the life and read several of her best loved poems, one especially "To a Seedman" picturing delight in flowers twice, by the fireside and in the garden.

Mrs. Frank Smith is forced to spend a few days this week in bed. On Monday she had the misfortune to strain the ligaments of her ankle, which necessitated an X-ray.

Mrs. Allan Bailey is recuperating from a throat ailment at "Green Trees" Rest Home, Trenton, Belleville. Mount Pleasant friends were sorry that she was unable to attend the birthday party for Mrs. Fred Jeffs, because of her illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thrasher entertained on Sunday evening, Mrs. Fred Sharp and Jack, of Wellmans, and Mr. and Mrs. Blake Sharp, and Bert.

Mr. and Mrs. John Holmes entertained on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ireland and Howard, of Carrying Place, Mrs. Fitzgerald is spending the week with her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Jeffs and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jeffs attended a shower Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Don Pollock.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray White, Judy and Connie, of Eldorado, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest White.

Mr. Clifford Sharp, Owen and Roy, Mr. John Rainie and Miss Emma Rainie, of Wellmans, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sharp of Consecon, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cronkwright of Plainfield, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril McCullen, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Marshall and Mrs. Clifford Hall, of Sidney, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown and Verna of Carmel, Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smith attended the funeral of Robert Sharp at Burnbrae on Sunday.

COMMITTED TO MENTAL HOSPITAL

Brantford, April 27 — (CP) — Held by police on a charge of attempted suicide, Leonard Marcella, 21, Wednesday was committed to a mental hospital. Marcella, arrested Sunday after an altercation with Wilfred Chase, later tried to hang himself in jail, police said.

MOUNTAIN VIEW

Mountain View,—Miss Elizabeth Jordon spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Goodwin, of Cherry Valley. Mr. J. G. Sprague spent the dinner hour at the same home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Sprung spent the supper hour on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tripp, of Schoharie.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lauder and Mr. Harry Burkitt of Oshawa, spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Burkitt and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Minaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Ogilvy Cool (Evelyn Weese) were Sunday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Snider spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watering.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Doxsee, Lois and Joan of Doxsee's spent the supper hour on Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Sprung.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Sprague spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Ken Fatherly.

Mr. Seymour Hamilton and Mr. Walter Hamilton spent a day recently in Ottawa.

MELROSE

Melrose.—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Badgley spent the weekend in Toronto.

Mrs. Thomas Howard and Paul, are visiting relatives in Oshawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Macfarlane and Janice, spent Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. Pascoe Jr., at Brighton. Pascoes at Colborne were, Mr. and Mrs. E. Pascoe Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jeffrey recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Alex Allison at Carmel. Cora Allison returned with them for a few days' visit.

Malcolm McLaren spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Alex. McLaren, before leaving for Cleveland.

Mrs. Pearl Haight spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Badgley.

Rev. L. Scott spent the Sunday dinner hour with Mr. and Mrs. Jack McLaren. Mr. and Mrs. George Badgley also visited at the same home.

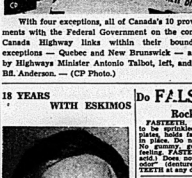
The committee of teachers appointed to arrange the Reception of the Shannonville Fair Prize list, met at the Melrose School on Monday, after four o'clock.

Films were shown at the Melrose School on Monday p.m. The visiting school from the 4th Line and the Melrose children really enjoyed them and the teachers were pleased with their educational value. A few outsiders dropped in for the picture hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant McLaren spent Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McAlear.

The "Pun Dun" euchre club recently met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Lazier. Their contribution of $20 to the "March of Dimes", was a fine gesture.

HAD TO PAY COSTS



Kingston, April 27 — (CP) — Appeal of Charles Webster against an assessment of $34,402 in succession duties on the estate of his brother, Benjamin, was dismissed Wednesday. Webster was ordered to pay court costs totalling $550. He said he valued the estate at $62,000, while the Department of National Revenue reassessed it at $238,-714.

WITHHOLD SIGNATURES

18 YEARS WITH ESKIMOS

Rev. Peter Henri, 46-year-old Roman Catholic missionary, is on his way to his native France on a year's holiday after 18 years among Eskimos in the Arctic. The Eskimos called him Kal-I-O which means "The Red" because of his ginger-hued beard. Father Henri became so accustomed to the Eskimo diet that he now finds it difficult to eat white man's food. This photo was taken in Winnipeg. — (CP Photo.)

Elko, Nev.—Ten drunken Indians on the barroom floors of Mountain City proved too many for the County Liquor Board.

The board revoked all liquor licences and permits of the six saloons that serve the tiny mining and ranching community, 80 miles north of Elko near the Idaho border.

The action came after a Grand Jury reported that weekends "found as many as 10 Indians lying on the floor of any one saloon at any one time."

IDENTIFIED AS MISSING PLANE WHEEL SECTION

A customs officer in Stockholm, Sweden, is shown with the bullet-pierced wheel identified as part of the missing U.S. navy plane fired on by the Russians on April 8. A Swedish reporter who was permitted to scrutinize its markings said it bore the identification PB4Y2 and that this proved it came from the missing plane. Reports reaching Stockholm from Baltic sources said that fast Russian warships have started a search for wreckage of the missing plane. — Central Press Canadian.

Oakland, Calif.—Air hammers chewing up pavement just outside the court were so noisy neither Judge Harry Fulciter nor the lawyers could make themselves heard.

By sign language, the judge directed two bailiffs to bring in [illegible] the air hammer operator.

The hammers were still chattering so the judge didn't read the law. He let Batt read it himself:

"Contempt of court is punishable by up to six months in jail and includes any . . . noise . . . tending to disturb the proceedings of any court."

BATTLE TO DEADLOCK

Aurora, April 28 — (CP) — Aurora Blackhawks and Collingwood Greenshirts played to a 2-2 deadlock in the fifth game of their best-of-seven series for the Ontario Hockey Association Junior C title Thursday night. Collingwood leads the series 3-1.

The Greenshirts outshot their opponents 37-32 and did most of their pressing in the second period when they outshot them 12-5. Firth and Green tallied for Aurora and Bill Walmsley and Fawcett scored for Collingwood.

Sixth game is scheduled for Collingwood Saturday night.

Four are Killed When Car Crashes Into Lumber Truck

Reported Automobile Ran Into Rear of Transport

Edmonton, April 29 (CP)—Four persons were killed and two others injured today when their automobile crashed into a loaded lumber truck which had slowed down for another accident on the Calgary Highway near Nisku, 15 miles south of here.

Killed were:

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Akins of Edmonton; Lorne Campbell of Edmonton, and a man from Yellowknife.

It was reported the automobile ran into the rear of the truck.

Akins was a salesman employed by a wholesale tobacco company. Campbell was a member of the Edmonton Fire Department.

Other details of the accident were not immediately available.

CONSERVATIVES PLACE PROPOSAL BEFORE GOVT.

Would Like to See Govt. Cut Costs

Ottawa, April 29. (CP)—The Progressive Conservative Party has placed before the Commons a proposal for establishment of a royal commission to show the government how to cut costs.

The suggestion, stirring a vigorous debate, came from George Hivey, Progressive Conservative leader, as he capped a 90-minute speech Friday by moving that a commission be set up with power to make recommendations to:

1. Reduce public expenditure to the lowest point consistent with efficiency.

2. Eliminate duplication of over-lapping services.

3. Improve the general efficiency of government and assure the Civil Service of full recognition of its responsibilities.

4. Consolidate all public services and departmental activities of a similar nature.

The motion will come to a vote next week.

The debate drew comment from Prime Minister St. Laurent, Finance Minister Abbott, Solon Low, Social Credit leader, John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre), M. MacDonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood), Leon Balcer (PC—Quebec East), Gordon Graydon (PC—Peel), Gilles Gregoire (L—Temiscouata), Rodney Adamson (PC—York West), J. P. Picard (L—Bellechasse), Rose Thatcher (CCF—Moose Jaw) and Angus McInnis (CCF—Vancouver East).

Most People Will Set Clocks Ahead At Bedtime

(By The Canadian Press)

It's called Daylight Saving Time, but actually Canadians will be losing an hour—literally—when they switch their clocks tonight.

Just time, a boon to such people as vacation travellers and those who live in the neck to most farmers, is scheduled to come into effect in parts of each province at 2 a.m. early hours of Sunday morning.

Alberta is the only province which specifically bans daylight time. The Prairie provinces leave it up to local option.

Most people will set their clocks ahead at 12 midnight, unless they still up when the official change is made. In Toronto daylight time comes into effect at 2 a.m. While Montreal, Windsor and Winnipeg are among a few centres setting the deadline at 1 a.m.

Undoubtedly some people will make the mistake of turning the clock the wrong way.

There's something else to remember, Railway and bus lines for the most part will remain on Standard Time. Best thing to do is consult your local timetable to find which services remain on Standard and which make the switch.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, April 29 — (CP) — Synopsis: Anything but a pleasant prospect for the weekend. There will be no let up in the cool weather, and rain, will spread into all regions of southern Ontario by Sunday evening. Further north through the Georgian Bay and Haliburton sections snow may be mixed with the rain.

Don't Say We Didn't Tell You

Daylight Saving Time comes into effect midnight tonight. No matter how you look at it, it," blows the bugle or whatever the family call to bacon and eggs is." "Backward, Turn Backward, O Time, in Thy Flight, Give Me This Hour Again Just Once Tonight," or lastly turning over and doing like Eddie Cantor with head touching side of the sheets." "I Love to Spend This Hour With You."

"You ain't got a chance, chum."

You lose an hour come what may so you may as well grin and bear it.

There's no point in breaking that record for church attendance because of a lapse of memory. If it was a fishing or golfing date you would probably beat the time gun by two hours.

This is the last warning.

Turn on the clocks, watches, blanket the hourglasses and don't wait for the family pup's early morning ulcer scratching to get you out of bed.

Remember, tonight's the night.

U. N. Without Russia Proposed by Ex-President

Not Accepted Survey Shows

(By The Canadian Press)

Former President Herbert Hoover's proposal that the United Nations be revamped without Russia gained little apparent support throughout the world, a survey showed today.

Most responsible government officials refrained from comment. Trygve Lie, Secretary-N.Y., told Franklin D. Roosevelt, a United States delegate to the U.N., he did not believe "in doing the best we can with the U.N. as it is organized." Another U.N. official asserted, advocated "the surest way to war."

Assembly president Carlos P. Romulo said the U.N., with Russia in it, is the "only workable bridge that we have today between the East and West. There on either side of the chasm."

Trygve Lie Doubts, permanent delegates from communist Czechoslovakia, said the Hoover plan was not the best way to obtain world peace. He said the Russian-block countries, which have been boycotting the U.N. over the question of Chinese nationalist representation, are not going to "quit the U.N."

Hoover's proposal for a peace conference was the first reaction from one of the countries which Hoover would like to participate.

T. F. Tsiang, chief delegate of nationalist China, said the plan was "is not quite ready for such a drastic change." He said the majority of world events will eventually drive us to accept Mr. Hoover's proposal.

No Comment From Truman

In Washington, President Truman would not comment. Reaction in other United States quarters was mixed.

Moscow has not commented on Hoover's suggestion.

Political display sources said the idea "would not be looked on favorably" in that country. They said the United Nations still serves a useful purpose as a point of contact among the countries.

The French foreign office decided not to comment.

Mayors Request Share of Track Tax Revenue

Toronto, April 29 — (CP) — Mayor E. C. Sargent of Owen Sound Friday suggested municipal sweepstakes as a means of providing municipalities with additional revenue. He advocated that some financial worry, but indicated satisfaction if they could be put in on provincial taxes on horse-racing, which run into millions each year.

His brief, presented to the Ontario Association of Municipal Reeves Conference, added comment on the problem of insufficient money to finance responsibilities, a problem that has been the centre of discussion at the conference ending today.

He said a provincial-municipal division of horse-racing revenue would be one fair and speedy approach to the problem but sweepstakes, the best method, was illegal.

Mayor Sargent had another suggestion to make. He advocated municipal income taxes to help municipalities keep the costs of education and social services.

The income tax idea would be aimed at getting extra taxes from large income groups living outside the city who are in receipt of heavier property taxes. He thought it fair that persons be taxed on the basis of income received from a community.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar told the conference he is opposed to a practice followed by some municipalities that grants fixed assessments or tax exemptions to attract new industries.

"Industry should stand on its own feet," he said. "It should not have to receive a subsidy from the taxpayers."

He said also that "it's impossible to equalize assessment all over the province but we will try to see that the assessment system is fair and equitable."

Pearson Warns Against 'Phony Peace Overtures' From Russia

Montreal, April 29 (CP) —The Western nations must not be fooled by any "phony peace overtures" from the Russians, External Affairs Minister Pearson said today.

"We must refuse to be led astray by empty words of those who talk of peace but who make no other proposal for safeguarding it except to recommend that we unilaterally disarm and live in an address prepared for delivery to the Kremlin," he added:

Mr. Pearson said the head of Russia's internal security programs—Lavrenti Beria—recently had announced a program of action for communists, which was one of "stirring up trouble in this country and elsewhere in the Western world."

"It is being carried out," he said. "In public they say—by the cominform, by Communist parties in the Western states, and often by secret agents, which we have seen in our own country."

From Cairo came one of the strongest expressions of disapproval.

"Quoting the communist nations from the United Nations would be the surest way to transform the cold war into a shooting war," said an unofficial but representative source.

In New Delhi, Indian officials said the proposal was "inopportune and undesirable."

Suggestion Not Accepted

Well informed semi-official circles in Wellington, N.Z., were inclined to regard the Hoover suggestion as "highly inflammable" and held that the U.N., with all its defects, "still holds a ray of hope for peace."

In Karachi, Pakistan, a foreign office spokesman said the proposal should be discouraged at all costs.

Australian observers pointed out that without the communist countries as U.N. members, the democracies would be incapable of settling any outstanding world issue with Russia.

These persons said the west should not shoulder the heavy responsibility of closing the door to peace but should leave it open.

BELGIANS TO HOLD GENERAL ELECTION TO SOLVE CRISIS

Exiled King's Fate Will be Decided

Brussels, April 29 — (AP) — The Belgian parliament was dissolved today in an attempt to solve the crisis over the future of exiled King Leopold.

Caretaker Prime Minister Gaston Eyskens told the Belgian House of Representatives the decree dissolving parliament had been signed by regent Prince Charles and himself as Prime Minister in charge.

Elections automatically will be held within 40 days. They will be brought on a clear-cut issue of whether or not Leopold should return to the throne from which he has been barred since 1945.

The dissolution followed weeks of weary negotiations by Belgium's three political parties — the Catholic social Christians seeking Leopold's return, and the socialists and liberals, who originally had agreed conditionally to Leopold's return, but resigned when the royal decree to his Crown Prince Baudouin, and then to Parliament, failed to end Christians wanted the king to remain in the country.

Negotiations over the compromise were reported to have collapsed Friday night when the liberal demands that Premier-designate Jean Duvieusart be replaced by the Minister of Economic Affairs.

Jean Duvieusaert.

In an "advisory referendum" March 12 to determine the popular will regarding the king's proposed return, 57.68 per cent of the Belgians voted in favor of his recall to the throne. The socialists and communists called for abstention and urged the king to remain in the country.

Battered Body Found in Narrow 25-Foot Well

Montreal, April 29 — (CP) — Police launched a hunt for the slayer of an unidentified man whose battered body was found in a narrow 25-foot well in a deserted east-end field.

"There is no doubt about it, it's murder," Detective Capt. William Fitzpatrick said.

The body was that of a man of about 25 years old, slight of build, with brown hair. He was partially dressed in an old green-and-white sweatshirt, brown slacks, white shirt, black shoes and white socks.

Police said the man had apparently died of multiple head injuries and a knife wound in his neck. Medical examination, however, showed other marks of violence.

At least five slab wounds were found in the man's head and the cuts were so deep that the skull was split open.

The man was thought to have been dead for two days when the body was found.

Two boys, Gerard Talbot, 12, and Jean-Marc Dube, 11, made the discovery while playing.

Ontario Teachers Will Spruce Up On Map-Reading

Toronto, April 29 (CP)—Conservation is to be taught in Ontario schools next term and teachers will get an opportunity this summer to prepare themselves for the job.

One of the courses at summer schools for teachers will cover conservation and the related subject of map-reading.

The new course follows the announcement by Education Minister Porter that the proper use and conservation of natural resources of forest, farm and water supply would be taught to students in future. He emphasized at the time that conservation was of pressing importance in the country.

Summer courses, attended by young teachers seeking permanent first class certificates, will be held at such places as Toronto, London, North Bay, Port Arthur, Queen's University, Kingston, and Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph.

Can Join US Navy Without Teeth

Hartford, Conn., April 29 (AP) — You no longer have to have teeth to join the United States Navy.

"Two good jaws with adequate muscles is all that's required and the navy will supply the plates," said Chief Petty Officer Clary Messier of the local navy recruiting station, in announcing new physical standards for enlistment.

Formerly, 18 "serviceable" teeth without a cavity were required.

Savage Tornadoes Rip Through Oklahoma, Texas Killing 11 and Injuring 35

Threat of More Black Funnels Hangs in Skies

(By The Associated Press)

Eleven persons—possibly more —died as savage tornadoes ripped over Oklahoma and west Texas Friday. The threat of more black funnels hung in leaden skies over both states.

A weather expert said conditions over the stricken areas are "just right" for more twisters.

Some 35 persons were injured Friday by the wrecking blasts of twisters. In Texas, hail added its bombardment to the wind and swelled the damage toll.

Hardest hit were the town which took the worst battering was Holdenville, in east central Oklahoma.

The American Red Cross reported five dead and 100 injured there. But reporters said many persons had been taken to hospitals with only minor injuries.

Deputy Sheriff Hughes Martin of Holdenville said, "They say nearly every house in the northeast section is damaged or destroyed. Many persons are hurt."

Power Lines Down

Troopers at Holdenville reported the wind cut a swath of destruction six blocks wide and six blocks long in the northeast section. All power lines and some telephone lines were reported down.

Three members of one family died in the wreckage of their crumbled home at Clyde, Tex., 16 miles east of Abilene. At least five other persons were injured.

Four miles south of Hobart, Okla., a twister dipped down, smashed into a farm community and killed a farmer and hurt his wife.

Lightning Hits Player

At Abilene, lightning hit a Pampa, Tex., baseball player in a West Texas - New Mexico League game. At the same time, the lights suddenly went out and when they came on, Pampa Catcher Jim Martin was lying dead on the ground. A doctor decided he was hit by the bolt. Martin was revived by artificial respiration.

At Sentinel, Okla., Cy Yates, 63, assistant bank cashier, heard the storm approaching and telephoned his wife, warned her to get into a storm cellar, then collapsed and died.

Ironically, the storms by-passed his Oklahoma town.

'Nitrogen Mustards' Being Used In Treatment of Human Cancer

Washington, April 29—(AP)—A new and apparently more effective method was announced today of using "nitrogen mustards" — one-time poison gas materials — against human cancer.

"Remarkable" shrinkage of treated tumors and complete relief of pain in 10 hopelessly advanced cases were described by the American Cancer Society.

Seven of the 10 have died but all responded to some degree of treatment. The shrinkage occurred, however, only in tumors directly treated. Related, but nontreated growths, were not diminished.

The new method enables doctors to concentrate within the body full wallop of the nitrogen mustards against certain tumors.

Up to now, such chemicals have been injected into the veins of patients. In that way, they have had only limited usefulness, being spread throughout the whole body, with diluted effect.

Under the new method, they are injected not into veins but into arteries directly feeding special cancer areas. Theoretically they have shown an ability in laboratory tests to halt the spread of cancer unresponsive to the other tenicious

The scientists have launched a search for some other chemical which might prove even more unique even more effective.

The encouraging results in 10 hopeless malignancies of the brain, mouth, nose, neck and leg were reported by researchers of George Washington University's department of surgery.

They warned that severe reactions — including convulsions — can accompany the treatment, adding that injudicious use might produce the death of all normal tissue within a treated area. Some doses are too large.

The American Cancer Society, which supported the research and public life surgery, said that no one patient's brain tumor "had so far benefited that much that it was able to distinguish only light from dark. Other patients, however, was able to read large newsprint."

Both institutions emphasized the technique is still experimental and for the present will be tried only in cases beyond help by other methods.

They cautioned further that in its present stage of development, it is not to be considered a substitute a chemical cure for cancer in any known way that surgery, radium or X-ray can sometimes cure the disease.

WATERS REACH HIGHEST LEVEL IN 125 YEARS

Winnipeg, April 29 — (CP) — Water-logged Southern Manitoba today braced itself for what may be the highest flood level in 125 years.

Already at Emerson, where the Red River enters Canada on its downstream course towards Lake Winnipeg, the reading has topped that recorded in the 1897 disaster. Not since the legendary flood of 1826 has there been so much water in the valley.

Fed by the melting of an unseasonably spring snowcover, the Red rose to 46 feet above datum. The figure is an inch above the 1897 high and nearly two feet above the 1948 peak.

Blood Returned Son of Ill Mother When He Faints

Knoxville, Tenn., April 29. (AP)—O. J. Ayres came to a hospital Friday to give a pint of blood to his ailing mother, Mrs. C. S. Ayres, 74.

Shortly afterwards he fainted. He was taken back to the hospital where his blood was returned to him.

He said today he was feeling fine. His mother—unaware that one else's blood—was in "fair condition."

Legion Aux. Branches Attend Brockville Rally

On Thursday, Zone 13, Ladies' Auxiliary, Canadian Legion with branches from Picton, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston, Gananoque, Brockville, Smiths Falls, Prescott, Wellington, all met together for their annual Legion Rally in Brockville.

Nearly 600 took part in the meeting was held in the Regent theatre after which a parade of all the branches headed by their colors and the Scottish Highland Band marched to the Memorial and wreaths were laid in memory of fallen comrades.

At six o'clock a banquet was held at the Mannitou hotel, everyone enjoying a delicious supper. Each lady was given a shopping bag containing many useful articles.

After supper a concert and a quiz programme were held after which a dance was held which Zone was very pleased to enjoy.

At 11:30 p.m., the branches began to gather together to depart for their various homes, very tired, but happy, thanking the Brockville branch for the wonderful time.

A few Belleville ladies were winners of some of the articles that were drawn for.

Next rally in 1951 will be held in Deseronto.

Hospital Governors Defer Action in Increasing Bed Accommodation in Hospital

With the institution bursting at the seams for lack of patient accommodation, members of the hospital board of governors, Friday afternoon acted on a recommendation which if carried out would have increased by approximately 22 the number of hospital beds available.

Chairman of the property committee Mr. J. H. Legate suggested that part of the present isolation ward be used for general use, also that beds be put in the hospital board room, and also that hospital beds be placed in the second floor sunporch for the accommodation of patients. The cost of renovation, not including the cost of beds and mattresses, was estimated in the neighborhood of $4,000.

Would Gain Revenue

Mr. Legate told the board members that if the recommendation were carried out the hospital could be expected to gain an estimated $35,000 in annual revenue.

Alderman Haig, representing Mayor H. J. Symons at the board meeting asked if the hospital would receive grant on the extra beds. He was told this would not be the case. Mr. Legate, however, felt that in view of the expected increase in revenue the expenditure would be justified with out the grant.

Need for the increased accommodation was emphasized by the fact that on Thursday of this week admission of 23 patients had been refused at the hospital.

County Warden Clarke T. Rollins, K.C. felt that the whole matter was a recommended should be termed as capital expenditure instead of being put through as maintenance, and this feeling was also expressed by Alderman Haig. Mr. Haig pointed out that the $35,000 increased revenue would apply only after the extra money was collected in full.

"You have already admitted the hospital is losing money so why add more beds?" he asked the board.

Approval Needed

Hospital administrator H. Wakefield noted that the cost of minor hospital renovations could not be capitalized unless plans were drawn by an architect and tenders called for. This, he said was government regulation.

Dr. C. B. Farnham felt that the hospital could expect relief from its present overcrowded condition through taking over of the former county old folks home to be used as a convalescent hospital.

"I am glad you mentioned that, returned F. C. McGuire, chairman of the board. "I fear the cost in renovating the old people's home for convalescent use, going to be terrific; also there would be the cost of moving it."

It was pointed out the fire marshal's department would not approve of the building unless it was fire proofed.

Warden Rollins, in reply to Dr. Stobie, stated it was expected the county would be able to vacate the old people's home by December 31st of this year.

Matter Deferred

The matter regarding increasing the number of hospital beds was deferred until the board members approved of a recommendation naming a special committee to interview government officials regarding clarification of what maintenance work might be capitalized.

Sixteen used hospital beds and side rails were recommended purchased from the Oakville hospital at a cost of $65 per unit.

No action was taken regarding the suggested purchase of a $1,250 machine for the radiologist's department. A personnel record system to cover the hospital's 250 employees was recommended purchased at a cost of $190.

With the reading of the auditor's statement Warden Rollins raised a question regarding the write-off of indigent patient accounts. He asked if the hospital took a patient's word that he was an indigent and suggested that the hospital should make every effort to collect such accounts before they are turned over to a collecting agency.

"It seems that people are just too ready to allow the municipality to pay their hospital accounts," he said.

He said he was not criticising the hospital's system of collection, but felt the hospital should make a greater effort to collect accounts.

Alderman McGuire noted that a committee had been set up to go into the matter of collection and a report would be forthcoming at the next meeting.

Hospital Day May 12

As part of a public relations program, citizens of Belleville will be invited to visit the hospital on May 12th, "National Hospital Day," it was decided, Mr. Wakefield said that supervising nurses would be invited to make small parties through the hospital each taking their own particular department.

Local service clubs will also be invited to visit the hospital while members of Hastings county municipal will be accorded the same invitation. Warden Rollins said this was a splendid gesture as it was educational, adding he council a fine opportunity of learning at first hand about the hospital.

A letter from the Rednersville Women's Institute was read by the testing against the $2 per day charge against patients residing outside Belleville.

Warden Rollins said the objection was well taken, but the $2 sur-charge was very unpopular. He said he was against it and when the hospital as a whole would not be operating at a loss if certain municipalities would not be capitalized.

Again Mr. Wakefield pointed out regulations would not permit capitalizing any work done by maintenance staff and also must follow depreciation allowances set down by the government. Despite the amount of maintenance on the hospital, cost of this work was still below the average cost for hospitals across the province.

No Action Taken on Clinic

Board members took no further action regarding their recommendations of one month ago favoring the chest clinic to vacate its present quarters at the hospital. Chairman McGuire said that a medical had been offered a hospital owned building for occupancy by the east of the institution and a letter from the department of health indicated the matter had been turned over to the Department of Public Works.

Alderman Haig noted that the town of Trenton was attempting to locate the chest clinic in that centre and undoubtedly the clinic would go there if called upon to vacate the hospital.

Mr. McGuire said that city council had requested that no further action be taken with the chest clinic vacating the hospital until a committee from council was able to meet with the board.

The matter had rested here and he suggested meeting had not been held.

Board member Jack Little asked if council was aware the wife and son of the hospital board asking the chest clinic to vacate the present quarters was a matter of revenue. He suggested council be advised that the hospital could obtain greater revenue if the space was used otherwise and a recommendation to this effect was passed.

50,000 Trees To be Planted In the County

With the co-operation of various groups including school children, between 50,000 and 75,000 trees will be planted in the Hastings County reforestration projects at Belleville and Bird's Creek next week.

On Thursday, May 4th., members and officials of the County Council will inspect and plant trees at Ameliasburgh of the city public schools will assist in the planting on Wednesday May 3rd in conjunction with students of the Collegiate Institute.

Window Display Portrays Steps In Production of Fine Diamonds

The long hours of painstaking effort on the part of skilled craftsmen which goes into the cutting of a diamond such as graces the engagement ring on Milady's finger is shown by an exhibit now placed in the window at McFee's Jewelery Store on Front Street.

Pictures showing the various steps in diamond cutting are set up in an attractive display card with a widely pieced range of sparkling Blumfield diamond rings.

To the layman it remains much of a mystery why a tiny diamond should cost anywhere up to two or three hundred dollars. But this mystery is largely dispelled when the scarcity of the diamond is realized and the long hours of toiling in an attractive display card necessary before the completion of the finished product.

Source of Diamonds

One of the pictures in the window display at McFee's shows a shot of the famous mines in Kimberley, South Africa, where the raw product is mined. Another shows a "raw" diamond embedded in the dark stone from which it is mined. Still other pictures show the various factory processes in cutting, grinding and polishing the diamond, the completed gems with all their brilliance and fire.

The mere fact that a diamond is the hardest substance known to man makes it possible for it to take a surface polish that produces unequalled brilliance. Because of its power of refraction and break white light into all colors of the rainbow, it can be shaped to produce great brilliance. But these are the task of the skilled diamond cutter.

Craft Started in 1475

Diamond cutting as it is known today dates back to about 1475 when Louis de Berquem started to dust on an iron wheel would polish the stone on a diamond. It was then that cutting began with various shapes began to take place. It was not until the end of the 17th century that the full diamond brilliant was first produced.

There are nine stages in cutting the facet brilliant and each of them is illustrated in the window display at McFee's.

First the expert carefully examines the diamond to determine what, if any, are possible imperfections. Then the octahedron shaped stone is sawed with a disk of phosphor bronze a few inches in diameter and thin as a sheet of paper. This wheel is impregnated with diamond dust and rotates at a speed from five to six thousand revolutions per minute.

A very large rough may take from three days to two weeks to saw through. Usually an accurate watches a battery of such cutaways.

Shaped Like Top

The stone is then ground to a shape resembling a child's top with a girdle at the widest part. The flat top surface called the "table" has been produced by sawing. The conical shaped part called the pavilion is embedded in the mounting of Milady's ring and cannot be seen. Although you cannot see it, this pavilion is necessary for proper dispersion and reflection of lights.

After the stone is rounded the "lopping" or grinding of the facets begins. Each of these facets has to be mathematically placed at exactly the right angle. Facets are ground on a flat wheel like a phonograph record, the diamond being held in an arm similar to the playing arm of a phonograph.

Much Reduced in Size

The finished gem is much smaller than the original model, the piece sawed off the top of the octahedron naturally being finished into another gem. Now more than half the weight has been ground off and the powder and finished brilliants are worth more than twice as much as in the original stone.

So when young swains pay cash on the line for their fiancee's diamond they are paying not only for one of the rarest gems, but they are also paying for the many hours of expert work by highly skilled craftsmen.

EXCHANGE VISITS OVERSEAS

Visit of British boys to Canada and Canadian boys to and planned this summer ought to leave results on as privileged to make the visits. An understanding of British and Canadian peoples must leave abiding influences.

hese boys will remember the tours to the end of their which will be influenced by meeting their cousins the sea in their own home setting.

Unfortunately adults have not had the same privilege the younger generation.

To Canadian boys visiting the United Kingdom it will their journey to historical scenes dating back to foundations of the British race in the British Isles.

Field Marshal Sir Claude Auchinleck will lead the 50 ish boys who are visiting Canada this summer as ests of W. Garfield Weston, it was announced in London week.

"Field Marshal Auchinleck is one of the world's outding leaders and he will be a source of inspiration to boys and everyone he will meet," Mr. Weston said. wartime leader of Allied troops in North Africa is now minently identified with boys' work activities in Great tain.

"To many Canadians who served overseas during the Field Marshal Auchinleck is well known as a distinged soldier and leader. His presence will help the tours another link of understanding between the countries the British Commonwealth," Mr. Weston said.

Mr. Weston, in Canada on a brief visit from England, tribute to the boys' work officials, headed by the C.A., who have made arrangements for them in this country for tours. The first of British boys' tours in Canada took last summer. The Y.M.C.A. has arranged for selecof 50 teen-age Canadian boys whose trip this summer be the first to Great Britain since 1939. Mr. Weston's plan velop closer bonds between countries in the interest heir common welfare.

"By learning more about one another, particularly ir youthful eyes, people in Canada and Great Britain be better able to appreciate the other's problems," Mr. ston declared. "I hope these tours will make a contribu- toward bringing greater understanding and goodwill, h are so important today."

The Canadian boys will sail from Quebec July 12, reing late in August. The British boys will sail from rpool August 1, returning in September.

The groups will visit historical sites, industrial cities, camps, and other places of interest. The British boys spend a week at the Y.M.C.A. Camp Pine Crest, in ario's Muskoka Lakes district.

AN OLD ART

Clay that used to be used for making pots and baking ed glass is still trodden by a team of barefooted men id it of air, according to the old custom in England. re is a heavy demand for stained glass windows for St. s Cathedral, Edinburgh. All Saints Church in lby, St. Matthews of Quebec City and St. Phillips of treal. 100 stained glass windows are at present being e for churches in British and overseas, among which re Eighth Presbyterian Church of Toronto and Chalmers in the making include windows for Liverpool Cathl, the Middle Temple Hall and one for St. Thomas rch, Fifth Avenue, New York.

The stained glass window remains as one of the essen- for ecclesiastical buildings, the practice being nearly ersal in the larger structures.

Glass making is one of the oldest industries on earth. thought to have originated in Phoenicia, all the ele- ts of glass being found in the sandy beach under nt Carmel. Tradition says that the discovery came as result of a cooking accident at a campfire and that the enicians carried the art westward. The bead is believed e the oldest form of glass and was worn as ornament charm. Relics of beads have been found in the ruins the Greek centre of early civilization at Mycenae. The of making beads was known to the Romans and glass ting has been an art in Venice since the end of the enth century. The manufacturing was kept secret for g period of time. The Venetians carried the art to the hest degree. By the year 1600 glass had reached a high he of perfection.

Some of the richest works of art are in glass windows churches dating from the greatest period of glass ting. That this industry will continue to hold its place he world of beauty and art can be safely accepted.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

We live today in a materialistic heaven. Every gadget which contributes to comfort is at our disposal. We wash in washer our clothes and our dishes. Oil and gas cook our meals. We can fly to the ends of the earth in about sixty hours.

It is true that our own country has a standard of living vastly higher than any other country. Yet in England the poor have almost everything that sweets—pills, false teeth, wheel chairs, and higher wages than ever before, with less work.

Yet what has our materialistic heaven brought us? It has paralyzer if we had a little of Christian belief. Even the Christian in past centuries involved many people in much suffering which was held itself to be the will of persecution the church grew. When every conscience and every conscience was taken out of life and people were trodden down like animals, many of these animals trodden people, because they had faith in Jesus Christ, found life.

Will we have to go through it again? We do not have to be making much spiritual progress as we feast and luxuriate in a material heaven.

staking out nesting areas. Each bird knows, instinctively, what a proper and economic nesting area is: how much territory he must acquire to feed a pair of adults and a restful of young.

There may be a little preliminary fighting before the females arrive, a good deal of singing and threatening and displaying, as among the other male blackbirds. The males chivvy each other, until they are decently scattered. Then the females arrive and attach themselves to likely-looking gentlemen with a good sense of real estate.

If two males have settled upon too limited an area, the fights that ensue are not romantic so much as unnecessary or merely economic.

"It sounds highly communistic to me," remarked my daughter, when I explained all this: and she took a divot and heaved it in the direction of the bawling reds.

One's First Blue Suit Big Thrill

One of man's most persistent pursuits to find what he calls complete happiness, writes a New York Times columnist. He chases the will-o'-the-wisp throughout the day, very often lying awake at night worrying about it.

Like the will-of-the-wisp, complete happiness also changes from time to time, too often lying just beyond the present moment—when it is possible and probable —to that not yet at hand.

First Million

One man gets his first million only to find that complete happiness will lie with the second and the proud new owner of a row-boat is proud only until he sees a ketch. Landing a big trout can be complete happiness, enthusiasts say but only until a little later in the day and in another pool a bigger one gets away.

If, during the coming season, Ted Williams could end up a batting average of 400 he could be presumed to be happy within all definitions. But what of .401 and the first time he thinks of that?

Then, however, one authority in the life of every man which contributes most to happiness and he would not change it for anything that can be offered, any shady moment in the will-of-the-wisp. This is the first blue suit. Nothing in life that fits is a moment that is stopped in time, a moment of complete happiness.

It means more than a million the first time you put on that ascetch or yawl or the whole Cunard fleet betting at 300. It means the realization of a life-long dream and nothing gives more pleasure than a complete break with that one.

Points to Future

It means that a new life lies in the future and that one can look hopeful than a new life lying ahead. That sad paunchy balding garment of middle-age, now in and around middle age once got more or less the same thrill from the first long pants, prosaically nicknamed trousers, that they seems to be a difference, even so. Those first long pants were pants, no more the blue suit is a suit.

The blue suit clearly spells out adult manhood, midnight and midnight and it spells out professional affairs. It is known that any man of the world has flown airplanes for endeavors of diplomacy, in distant places wears only blue. And not just blue pants, but suits.

It is known that tidy lawyers, appearing before the Supreme Court, wear blue suits. Surgeons when they remove the appendix wear blue suits. Bankers when they sit in their vaults wear blue suits. Physicians when they remove the tonsils wear blue suits.

It is known that tidy lawyers, appearing before the Supreme Court, wear blue suits. Surgeons when they remove the appendix wear blue suits. Bankers when they sit in their vaults wear blue suits. Physicians when they remove the tonsils wear blue suits.

Buying the first blue suit is a complete happiness. Gone that day are the Lone Ranger and his horse, and how! Gone that day from the floor of a store, where a pin-chewing tailor is marking chalk lines across your trouser seat, as well as the cowboy boots and the wide-brimmed hat and the shooting-irons and the chaps are lowly Grades 1 through 3 and the first blue suit is a complete triple-before is graduate work at Harvard.

Gone that day is an enthusiasm for running through swamps, for climbing trees, for the finger of bending trees, for playing with mudpies without the proper cigarets to be lit by them. Gone in short, is the corn-silk tobacco. Gone is everything like that. Here on the floor of the store while the tailor chews his pins.

Complete happiness comes from contentment and none of the things making up contentment is stronger than the worthy resolution to behave at that time. With the first blue suit there are many worthy resolutions. Perhaps there is the resolve to study harder, the year of the first blue suit always is some association, at any time with the square of the hypotenuse of a triangle.

There is the firm resolve to learn to politely speak when to, and to run errands when asked only once, and to be kind—this in particular—to the girls, the more young and know no better. There is the resolve to be courteous to try to find the rightful owner of the lost umbrella, to be polite and to stand up when the tiresomely aged come into the room. There are all manners of resolves, embracing all manner of subjects from the floor of the store, as the pins diminish until the tailor can pass the satisfaction. "That will be a perfect fit."

It is more than a perfect fit. It is the moment of complete happiness.

Coldwell Refuses To Receive Delegation

Ottawa, April 29 — (CP) — M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, today refused to receive a delegation of unemployed who sought an interview in his office.

In a statement, Mr. Coldwell said he received a telephone call from "a representative of the group of unemployed who were responsible for the scene in the gallery of the House of Commons Thursday."

The C.C.F. leader refused, and said the group had published a story to the effect that he had been invited to meet this group before it went to the Commons.

More Worries for Males If Tie and Hose Should Blend or Match!

(From the Calgary Herald)

Since all the evidence suggests that women are dressed by men and women in about equal numbers, one of the chief ambitions in these columns is to maintain a nice balance between the sexes. On this occasion, however, we propose to abandon any pretense at impartiality and rise staunchly to the defence of the male.

We are driven to this by the remarks of a recent (male) visitor to Calgary by the name of Warren K. Cook a clothing manufacturer from Vancouver. In perhaps narrow view, Mr. Cook can climb a tree.

There's a job ahead," says this traitor to his gender, "for women to educate their better dressed and more color-conscious. Once they get over the idea that tie and hose should blend, if not match, with the suit, they'll find the discordant colors will grate on their nerves. Women aren't doing their jobs if they need to criticize men's tastes in clothing.

Since about half the women in the world already try to dictate what their husbands should wear, the only effect of Mr. Cook's mistaken advice on them will be to confirm them in their evil ways. But among the other half —the half which knows its place and doesn't presume to interfere in the province of the sex—nothing but trouble.

We can hear it now. The torpedo tones, with the razor-edge of voice behind. The carefully-modelled half-smile. "Darling, do you think that purple tie really goes with a magenta shirt?" (The sinister part of this is that it is the husband who has put on the shirt was magenta in the first place.) "Why don't you wear that nice shocking-pink tie with eau-de-nil polka dots that you bought for Aunt Emily's party?"

Now there's no need to be offensive. Men are not to be devoted. In its place will appear something in matching two-tones in the latest 1950 shade, direct from Institute of Schizpenia.

The monstrosity of monstrosities, colored handkerchief, will become de rigueur. ("But dear est, everybody is wearing them this year.") There will be pastel shade crepe de chine pyjamas and smoking jackets in lemon-yellow and mauve. St.-Laurent socks "with pencil seams and new hats every Spring and Fall, and Bedford cord [illegible] and trouser-cuffs. Back to Yonge street and the salt mines, Mr. Cook!

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS QUERY THE DOCTOR

The sophomore class of 45 boys here at the high school would like to send some questions answered by an expert. We have been clipping your health columns. Now we wonder if we could submit some of the most common questions asked by the boys. (Boys' Health and Physical Education instructor.) The questions in the preliminary examination.

1. Why do boys have more trouble keeping an even or clean looking complexion than girls?
Ans.—Do they, girls?
2. What is the best medicine to do or take for an upset stomach?
Ans.— Don't do or take a thing not even food. If this doesn't bring prompt relief, call a doctor.
3. What should one do for headaches?
Ans.—If any of you school boys has headaches it is a serious matter and one should get complete examination by the physician. Beware of the dangerous habit of indulging in so-called headache mixtures.
5. How can one get rid of blackheads and pimples?
Ans.—I remember seeing popping up anyway. As we become wiser in the ways of the world, and our thoughts take on a liberal turn, we see so much clearer; and that is what makes us aware of the blunders and mistakes we once made.

It would be strange if we did not regret many things in our life that we have done, knowing that we cared nothing for growth and progress. The fact that we do can take note of our mistakes is evidence that we desire to make improvement. But to spend valuable time in regretting is foolish and only serves as excuses for having made mistakes and blunders.

Regrets should remain only as milestones or markers, to remind us when we missed our way. Regrets are more lessons. But lessons learned and passed to constructive enterprises. There is nothing constructive about habitual regretting. Regrets are likely spilled milk. We can never call back things that have already happened, so why regret them?

Wendell Phillips, highly educated New Englander, once met the noted temperance orator, John B. Gough and the talk turned to education. Gough regretted not having a fine education such as Phillips had. Phillips told Gough that he never would have been so effective as an orator had he been given as education such as he (Phillips) had. Gough had been educated the hard way, but he was so effective that he needed no regrets. He was one of the great lecturers of his day.

When he heard and regret this and that, we get very close to the self-pity stage, which is always unbecoming to the person indulging in. There is always so much to do right now, that habitual regrets become a heavy burden, and the more they are harbored the heavier they become. We should be led by dreams and visions, not led by vain regrets.

Regrets are not always unfortunate things. They are often excellent teachers. As when we regretted making a move that promised to be a great deal, but later proved to be a great loss.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

REGRET NOT!

It is no easy matter to dismiss all our regrets. They keep popping up anyway. As we become wiser in the ways of the world, and our thoughts take on a liberal turn, we see so much clearer; and that is what makes us aware of the blunders and mistakes we once made.

It would be strange if we did not regret many things in our life that we have done, knowing that we cared nothing for growth and progress. The fact that we do can take note of our mistakes is evidence that we desire to make improvement. But to spend valuable time in regretting is foolish and only serves as excuses for having made mistakes and blunders.

Regrets should remain only as milestones or markers, to remind us when we missed our way. Regrets are more lessons. But lessons learned and passed to constructive enterprises. There is nothing constructive about habitual regretting. Regrets are likely spilled milk. We can never call back things that have already happened, so why regret them?

$125,000 Debenture Issue For Completion of Hospital Will be Submitted to Voters

Trenton (Special) — Trenton voters will have the final say as to whether council issues a debenture of $125,000, to be used to complete the Trenton and District Memorial Hospital. Council passed a resolution last night instructing the Town Clerk O.W. Larry to prepare a by-law, which will be submitted to the public to decide the debenture issue by a general vote. Included in the by-law is a clause to the effect that before such a vote takes place, the public will be informed as to the financial position of the Town of Trenton.

Doctors Favor Debenture

A delegation from the Medical Association in Trenton attended council last night to assure council of their interest in the new hospital. Spokesman for the group, Dr. A. A. McQuade said that he was personally in favor of the debenture and that he hoped that the municipality would find some way to finish the job. "It is now five years since this project was started", said Dr. McQuade, "and I am of the opinion that the sooner the hospital is finished, the sooner people of Trenton will receive better medical service".

Dr. J. W. Farley said that the hospital would be a marvelous asset to the community from the doctors' and the patients' point of view, but he added that the hospital would have to be finished soon and the quicker the better. Dr. D. E. Campbell, Dr. C. G. Johnston and Dr. G. W. Telfer also spoke on the benefits of the hospital when completed.

Few Minutes Means Lot

Dr. Campbell said "Sometimes a few minutes mean a lot of difference between life and death. As it is now all our serious cases have to move to Belleville resulting in a dangerous delay before the patient can be put under hospital care." Dr. Campbell also stated "We doctors receive hundreds of complaints that it is impossible to get a doctor in the morning." One reason is simple, we are all down at the Belleville Hospital." Each doctor unanimously agreed that the hospital would be an asset and that it must be immediately completed. They also declined any knowledge of the financial part of the undertaking.

The Ministerial Association was also represented at council. Rev. R. C. MacLean stated that he had never seen a hospital that presented a more complete appearance than the partially finished one at Trenton. Rev. MacLean said "The best things in life are not paid for in dollars and cents. Churches and schools also cost money but it is impossible to put a price on the value received. It is the same with a hospital." Rev. A. S. McConnell mentioned the fact that the hospital was a memorial to the men who served for the benefit of the people of Trenton. "I am of the opinion," said Rev. McConnell, "that this should be done as a community effort for the reason."

Chrman. of Board Heard

Chairman of the Hospital Board, Mr. Wm. Ireland said "the greatest dividends ever received for the money put to the hospital, though not be perhaps, the saving of one of your loved ones."

Councillor Bradshaw suggested a plan whereby each worker in every industry in Trenton be asked to donate $1 per month for a year. This would be paid in advance by the management so as to be if immediate use for the hospital. Mr. J. E. Utley stated however that this had been tried before but to no avail. "It was attempted in times more favorable than they are now" he said, "and I think your plan would be met with a refusal." Councillor Ross Burtt was of the opinion that a member of council should be assigned to the hospital board. This met with the approval of the chairman of the board who added that although the Mayor was already a member of the Hospital Board, he thought that to appoint a member of council would be a very good move.

Must Know Facts

Mayor Kenneth Couch wound up the discussion when he took up two solid hours of council, by saying "before the decision is laid before the public, they must be acquainted with the entire facts. They must know where the money has gone that has already been contributed also where the extra $125,000 is going. They must be familiar with the obligations they may have to meet, taking into consideration the probable extra expense of education facilities, new sewers, garbage disposal plants, and the entire financial situation of the town of Trenton.

To Hire Meter Man

Council decided last night to advertise for a man to take on the extra duties entailed by the installation of the new parking meters in Trenton. These duties will include not only the removal of revenue from the meters but also the enforcement of the law regarding parking violations, and the repair of the metres in the event of a break-down in the mechanism.

Council Behind VON

Rather than ask council for any donation to their current drive for a new car, the VON asked the council to forward in their all-out petition for funds to provide a reliable means of transportation for their nurses. Mayor Kenneth Couch said that he spoke on behalf of council when he said that the entire town council was behind the VON, and also that he appreciated the fact that they did not ask for a donation in view of the increased grant provided sometime ago.

McCALLUM DENIES REPORT

Toronto, April 29 — (CP) — Mayor Hiram McCallum Friday night denied rumors that he is slated for a position in the Ontario cabinet. Published reports Friday were that Mayor McCallum might either become Minister of Municipal Affairs or Minister of Welfare in a provincial cabinet shuffle.

"I would like to make it clear that I hope to retire at the end of the year," the mayor said. "I am going to finish my term as mayor. If conditions are all right at that time I intend to step down. If I am still needed I may stay on — — —"

TWEED

W.S. Gordon, Parks Board Chairman, Resigns

Tweed—At a meeting of Tweed Memorial Parks Board held on Monday night in the council chambers, Mr. W. S. Gordon, chairman of the board since 1932 resigned and Thomas N. Beatty (who was not at the meeting) was named as chairman to succeed Mr. Gordon. On Tuesday Mr. Beatty retired from the board, also Mr. Arthur Snare another member of the board for the past two years tendered his resignation and councillor K. E. Burkett was named to succeed him.

S. H. Connor, who has been secretary since 1939 retired some weeks ago. It will probably be necessary for the municipal council to appoint some new members to succeed the ones who have retired.

At this meeting Mr. K. E. Burkett was elected as secretary and Mr. W. N. Hurst, treasurer.

Committee Chairmen Named

Various committee chairmen were named as follows: Ball diamond, Robert Wood; dance committee Keith Cotton; grounds committee, Les A. Taylor and all board members; cottage committee temporarily left vacant.

A short time after the meeting opened Mr. Gordon said he wished to tender his resignation from the board. "I am not very well satisfied with what has been going on within this board, and my ideas concerning the future of the park do not seem to coincide with some of the present members." "I propose to tender my resignation to the village clerk and will turn over all documents in my possession, including the 1950 reservations for cottages," he said. Mr. Gordon was asked to remain on the board by the members present, but in spite of pleas from the chamber, Mr. Gordon said he didn't think the board wanted him.

Present at the meeting were: K. E. Burkett, W. N. Hurst, Bob Wood, L. A. Taylor and Keith Cotton.

Wesley Badgley was named caretaker of the park and the wages will be discussed with him at a later date.

May Float Loan

"What about the $900.00 we owe Mr. Gordon for the cottages?" Mr. Burkett questioned, after considerable discussion it was suggested that a loan be floated from the Bridge Street United Church choir under the direction of Miss Leona Riggs in the church auditorium.

The organist was S. Alec Gordon.

Soloists were Doris Burgoyne, contralto, who sang "Eye Hath Not Seen" and "Come, ye Blessed of My Father"; Mrs. Roger Riedel, soprano, who sang "To The Lord Our God"; and Helen Cook who sang the soprano solo "These Are They Which Came Out of Great Tribulation."

The tenor was D. Bankier who sang "My Soul Is Athirst For God," and "No Shadows Yonder" accompanied by the chorus. R. H. Aspinall, who also accompanied by the chorus, sang "A New Heaven and a New Earth." "Holy, Holy, Holy." "Lord The Chevenly Host," and "And I Heard The Voice of Harpers."

The voices of the soloists were quite equal to the high standard of artistic and professional skill required for the successful rendition of this difficult work.

The composer was born in Norwich, England, in 1897 and came to Canada in 1913. He was chorister and assistant organist of Norwich Cathedral 1846-1913. He was later organist of St. Augustine's Church, Edgbaston, Birmingham.

Although "The Holy City" is perhaps Gaul's best known work, he has written several other compositions among them being the oratorio, "Hezekiah" and the cantatas "Ruth", "First Psalm", and "Ninety-Sixth Psalm".

The choir of Bridge Street United Church is to be commended for last evening's presentation and special plaudits should go to Miss Riggs for her competent direction.

Kinsmen to Hold Community Auction in Arena

On Monday and Tuesday evenings May 1st and 2nd commencing at 8 p.m., the Kinsmen Club of Belleville is holding a grand "Community Auction" at the Belleville Arena.

Hundreds of items and articles have been donated to this worthy cause by manufacturers and wholesalers from coast to coast. A direct-mailing piece in the form of a butterfly and an illustrated folder was sent out by the Kinsmen Club of this city. The response was overwhelming in the result that all merchandise received will be evident in the approaching "Community Auction soon to be held in the Belleville Arena.

There is something for every member of the family, and many useful items. All merchandise is brand-new and factory fresh. The plan is to auction off all of these valuable gifts and all of the net proceeds to be given in aid of the Belleville Community Swimming Pool, which project the Kinsmen Club has undertaken to build and turn over to the citizens of Belleville.

Citizens are urged to attend the Community Auction at the Arena and at same time have loads of fun and entertainment . . . plan to purchase many useful articles at a bargain and also help the cause of the Community Swimming Pool at the same time. The district auctioneers have volunteered their services, gratis. They will be working in shifts and will include Messrs Bunnett, Haggerty, Montgomery, and Tice.

Borer Beetles Destroy Many Totem-Poles in British Columbia

Written For The Canadian Press By PERCY GHENT

British Columbia totem-poles, literally the "family trees" of the Pacific Coast Indian are falling into decay in many instances.

Borer beetles, aided by time and weather, have brought about the destruction, sometimes beyond repair, in cases where the poles, century or more old, can be reinforced, chemical and mechanical agents are doing a good job.

Shipworms, properly called teredos, can destroy undersea timbers used in docks and dykes in an even more fantastic fashion and in a shorter time than the borer beetles wreck land timbers.

Recently I x-rayed two blocks of wood from the vicinity of Toronto, both reduced to fragility by shipworms. One block, a foot long and with a girth of 18 inches, looked like a wooden sponge more than a little worse for wear. On the other, a flat section of piling, the tunnels of the shipworms were shown lengthwise.

Shipworms bore tunnels about a quarter-inch in diameter in the submerged wood. As they eat their way, they excrete calcareous matter which lines the tunnels with a deposit like the inner cell of the oyster. That is why they make a spectacular picture by x-ray. On the films, their appearance is like a tangled mass of short lengths of silver tubing, coiled and twisted about each other in a fantastic confusion and beyond counting.

In warm salt water teredos can utterly destroy a piling in less than a year. This speed is slowed considerably in cold seas. In San Francisco Bay alone between 1917 and 1921, their havoc cost $25,000,000 for the replacement of ruined timbers in docks and piers. They are never found in fresh water.

It was not primarily a storm, but the havoc of shipworms that caused Drake's "Golden Hind" to disintegrate.

During the winter, evening grosbeaks, beautiful birds with their striking color contrast of yellow, black and white, have been observed in flocks throughout southern Ontario. They frequently stay around until late May, observers have noted and have been seen even on the busy streets of downtown Toronto.

A kindergarten teacher saw 10 evening grosbeaks in a maple tree behind the school, escorted her wee tots outdoors and was thrilled with their wild beauty and wonder. In localities near Toronto flocks of 100 or more of the gorgeously colored visitors have been counted.

Unlike evening grosbeaks have a scientific tag as striking as their appearance. It is Hesperiphona vespertina. In Hesperiphona the first part of the name comes from the Greek, this generic name has reference to the Hesperides, "Daughters of Night," who in mythology roamed the western rim of the earth where the sun vanished overnight. The rest translation of the name could be "daughters of the night who sing at evening."

It was at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., where the first specimen was seen and described in 1825. Since then its range has spread south and east. Once considered a distinctively western bird, it is now numbered among eastern species—nor does it, as once supposed, warble its song in the evening exclusively.

WEDDINGS

WATKIN—SHORNER

Snapdragons, iris, daffodils, tulips and carnations, provided a lovely setting for the marriage of Margaret Evelyn Shorner, daughter of Mr. Lewis J. Ivers, Belleville, and Mrs. Ivers, to Mr. Stanley Thomas' Anglican Church, Bellefonte, on Wednesday, April 19, at 3 p.m., to John Austin Watkin, Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Watkin, Cedar Hill, Belleville. The Venerable Archdeacon, Arthur Smith, rector of the church, officiated.

Mr. Ernest W. Wheatley, church organist, rendered the wedding music, and the soloist, Miss Barbara Joan Hoggins, sang before the ceremony, "Panis Angelicus" and during the signing of the register, "Ave Maria".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charmingly gowned in a bridal dress of delicious pink satin, fashioned with a fitted skirt, and bodice with bertha collar. She wore matching mitts and matching picture hat, and carried a shower bouquet of Sweetheart roses.

Miss Bernice Berry, of Belleville, was bridesmaid, gowned in turquoise blue satin, with sweetheart neckline, and full tiered skirt. Her headdress was of matching satin, and she carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

Mr. Gerald B. Hyde, of Belleville, was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. A. E. Boyd, and Mr. Gordon G. Watkin, brother of the bridegroom.

At the wedding reception which was held at St. Thomas' Parish House, the bride's aunt, Mrs. F. E. Wade, of Fort Colborne, received the guests, wearing a gown of grey crepe with matching accessories, and corsage of pink Delight roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore blue crepe, with matching accessories, and corsage of Raptures roses.

For travelling, the bride chose a navy blue suit ensemble with matching accessories. Upon their return from Toronto, they will reside at 21 Golfdale Road, Bellefonte.

Out-of-town guests were present from Springfield, Mass., Toronto, Oshawa, Cobourg, Kingston, Deloro, Fort Colborne, Roslin and Georgetown.

FEESEY—HENDERSON

Snapdragons and ferns formed an effective background in Lime Lake United Church, on April 8, when Miss Ruth Ellen Henderick, Selby, assisted by Mr. Robert Bell, B.A., Tofield, united in marriage Vera Bell, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Henderick, Selby, to William John Feesey, of Toronto, son of Mrs. Feesey and the late Mr. Feesey.

Mrs. R. Blair provided the wedding music, and during the signing of the register, Mr. Vinay York, cousin of the bride, sang "Because".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length of a fitted gown of white brocaded satin, the bodice having a short and circular train. The bodice was tight fitting with yoke of nylon net and lace, and the sleeves of full length veil was embroidered in a floral design. She carried a bouquet of ivory roses.

Miss Rowena Spence was bridesmaid, and Mrs. Arthur Feesey, matron of honor. Both attendants wore identical gowns of water lily green brocaded satin similar to that of the bride's. Their pleated floor length gowns were fashioned of matching nylon net, and carried bouquets of Talisman roses.

Mr. Arthur Feesey was groomsman, and Messrs. Ralph Henderson and Douglas Finnie, were ushers.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was tastefully decorated with white snapdragons and ferns. The bride's table looked beautiful with white linen cloth centred by a three-tiered wedding cake surrounded by white tulle and flanked with candles and cut glass baskets of pink carnations and maidenhair ferns.

The bride's mother wore a gown of navy blue crepe with navy accessories and corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a gown of wine crepe with navy accessories with corsage of roses.

Mr. R. Blair proposed the toast.

Guests were present from, Toronto, Belleville, Deseronto, Roslin, Consecon, Gilleville, Tamworth and Syracuse.

Showers in honor of the bride-to-be were held in Toronto at the homes of Mrs. Jas. Booth, Mrs. Milton Chapman, "Virginia Dare" employees, of which the bride is a member, and Ironsmen at the home of Miss Eva Marline, 50 Davisville Avenue.

NEW ART CENTRE AIDS RETIRED MEN

An exchange centre for home art may turn out to be a new deal for many men forced into retirement in their 60's. The centre was started by Mrs. Dorothy Meredith of Toronto, whose daughter holds some of the shop's handiwork, above. Mrs. Meredith's idea in founding the shop was to provide an outlet for retired men. She has collected the work of over 600 Canadians, and sells only on commission, at a price set by the home craftsmen. Her motto is "Make your hobby pay you an income." — Central Press Canadian.

SISTERS ALL

By Jean Love Calloway

Big news for knitters comes from Vancouver where a man and his wife have invented a way to make hand-knitted garments using only half the amount of wool and in one third of the time. The new idea is a kind of needlework done on mesh after the pattern has been cut. Finished articles are sold to look exactly like the hand-knitted variety. They neither stretch nor shrink and wear ever so much longer. Demonstrations of this wool needlecraft are being arranged for the next Canadian National Exhibition.

Old, old prints and book prints are becoming more popular in many homes. Art displays are featuring collections of courier and Ives, women's fashion plates of the 1800's and the like - - Sometimes these curious are set in stream lined modern frames They look well this way. But somehow, the old fancy frames add a sincerity and a weight to these beautiful works of art dispelling at once any sense of the phoney or the commercial.

For doggie—another innovation. It consists of a small dog blanket which will do-insect and de-odorize the pup while it sleeps. Now on the market, this dog's blanket is said to constantly cost 10 Piet. Sounds like a practical and welcome gift to any dog lover.

Imported pink rhubarb is appearing in the stores and it would be very long now until Canadian rhubarb will ad a burst of color to the Saskatoon and sauce pans - - Tip to better cooking is to let the cubes of rhubarb go a day or two in the refrigerator before cooking them. This prevents the same discoloration. The same can be said regarding many of the necessities of life. However, hospital rates to the patients are not the bendable to say that they are in the red. This is due to the many prepaid plans which are available for hospital care.

The main emphasis is put on the cost of hospitalization. If the total cost of illness requiring hospitalization is considered carefully, it will be found that the actual hospital charge, in the vast majority of cases is one of the smallest items of cost.

Heavy Costs

The general public is uninformed and occasionally quite unaware of the immense sums of money required for the provision and maintenance of adequate, modern facilities for instant emergency needs. This cost necessarily runs on, whether in constant

Mrs. D. B. Sinclair Honored Guest At Reception

A reception was held on Wednesday evening last in honor of Mrs. D. B. Sinclair, O.B.E., LL.D., executive assistant to the Deputy Minister of National Welfare, Ottawa, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Folwell, 209 George street. Mrs. Sinclair was guest speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Children's Aid Society.

Mrs. Folwell, and Mrs. Herbert McCabe, were co-hostesses and graciously welcomed the guests on their arrival.

Mrs. W. C. Lockyer, and Mrs. Charles Hyde poured tea at the tea table which was tastefully appointed with its lace cloth, centred with lovely spring flowers, and flanked by silver candelabra with yellow tapers.

Those who served were Mrs. Clarion Hubbs, Mrs. Lillian Courneyea, Mrs. M. E. Marshall, and Mrs. L. McLaughlin.

Business, Professional Women's Club Re-elects Officers

On the evening of April 25th, a general meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Belleville was held at Lattimer's Town Room. Some 40 members attended. After the meeting was opened a delicious cold salad plate was enjoyed by all.

Immediately following the dinner, Miss Joy Nichols, Club president, introduced the business of the evening which included the passing of a motion to adopt the club constitution, as read. A motion was also passed to elect the present executive to a new term of office.

Miss Norma Arkles accompanied by Miss Marion Nichols, a new member, sang, two hearty welcomed, entertained the group with two solos.

The highlight of the evening was the introduction by Mrs. Isobel Wallbridge of the guest speaker, Mr. John Buchan, plant manager of the Bakelite Corporation. A special welcome was also extended to Mrs. Buchan who accompanied him. Mr. Buchan, in his address, outlined the rapid growth of the Bakelite Company and the important part which Bakelite products play in industry today.

He explained the physical characteristics and functions of Bakelite and enumerated a few of the thousands of the domestic uses for which their products are utilized. Mr. Buchan concluded his address by stating that the members of the company were happy to have taken up residence in Belleville and expressed the hope that the City of Belleville was equally happy to have them.

The appreciation of the club to Mr. Buchan for his informative address was expressed by Mrs. Eva Doolittle.

Quarterly Report Hospital Finance Committee

Following is the complete report of the first quarter of 1950 made to Board of Governors of the Belleville Hospital by the finance committee at the regular board meeting Friday:

The first quarter of 1950 has just closed and your Finance Committee beg to report the operation of your hospital for this period.

The auditor's statement for 1949 is now completed. This shows a gradual improvement over the preceding year and we anticipate a continued movement in the same direction. This statement will be dealt with under a separate heading.

A copy of our quarterly statement on revenue and expenditures has been prepared for each member of the Board, which shows a net profit of $15,092.27.

If the City Council for 1949 had levied for the anticipated operating deficit as provided in the Act of Parliament pertaining to the hospital, both the Council and the Hospital Board for 1950 would find themselves in a much better position. This shortsightedness on the part of the 1949 Council in an attempt to keep the tax rate at the same figure as 1948, makes it virtually impossible for the 1950 governing bodies to operate except at a decided disadvantage.

Sources of Revenue

To operate your hospital on a successful business basis the governing body of the hospital must find revenue to balance the cost of operations and there are only a few sources of revenue from which can be obtained to operate a civic hospital.

1. Revenue from patients.
2. Provincial and Federal bonus.
3. Municipal Taxes in sufficient amounts to meet any and all deficits that occur during the year in review.

It is my firm opinion that our duty as a governing body is to see that:

1. The Hospital is efficiently operated.
2. That the staff and equipment are adequate to render the utmost service to the sick and suffering.
3. That our rates are such as will cover the cost of operation.

It is sad but nevertheless a known truth, that many of our people have not the means to meet their charges based on cost of operation. The same can be said regarding many of the necessities of life. However, hospital rates to the patients are not the bendable to say that they are in the red. This is due to the many prepaid plans which are available for hospital care.

The main emphasis is put on the cost of hospitalization. If the total cost of illness requiring hospitalization is considered carefully, it will be found that the actual hospital charge, in the vast majority of cases is one of the smallest items of cost.

Heavy Costs

The general public is uninformed and occasionally quite unaware of the immense sums of money required for the care of persons not resident in Belleville and who are not paying for their support, by passing the cost on to the taxpayers of Belleville, who have to pay the amount as provided. Such grants can be justified on the principle that hospitals are a public service, maintained for the use and benefit of all the people wherever needed.

As pointed out by the auditor in his report "In my opinion this practice of paying for the care of persons not resident in Belleville should not be continued. In fairness, by passing the cost on to the taxpayers of Belleville, who have to pay the amount as provided. Such grants can be justified on the principle that hospitals are a public service, maintained for the use and benefit of all the people wherever needed.

Such grants can be justified on the principle that hospitals are a public service, maintained for the use and benefit of all the people wherever needed.

At present this is not adopted by the City Council so that the Board can only request similar action by other municipalities, this item may continue to grow and unless it will exceed the ability of the taxpayers of the City of Belleville to pay.

$45,676.09 Written Off

During 1949 a total of $45,676.09 was written off the Indigent Patients' accounts. This was due to the difference between the cost of the services as billed at the regular public ward rates and the actual cost per patient day of the indigent rate.

In dealing with the auditor's statement for 1949, may I here state that the work of Mr. T. Y. Wills, chairman of Finance for 1949, and the entire administration of the superintendent are in no small measure responsible for the excellent report we have before you.

Revenue	$571,717.27
Expenditure	625,770.69
Deficit	54,053.42

Depreciation on buildings	13,872.45
Depreciation on Furniture and equipment	12,314.89
Provision for bad debts	9,600.00
	$ 35,987.34

Respectfully submitted,

J. A. MARSHALL,
Chairman of Finance.

By the author of "THE FACE IN THE ASPIC"

If the stew is flat tasting then the crust won't make it lively. If the crust is tough, no one will believe that the meat is tender.

Meat pies are money savers. A pound and a half of boneless meat that would ordinarily make 4 portions can be stretched to 6 in a meat pie. But the stretchers must be delicious in themselves or the pie will be just a cheap, heavy dish. The gravy must be smooth not fatty, and must have the flavor of the meat. Young garden vegetables must be used.

You can make individual pies or one large pie. The crust may be pie dough or biscuit dough, or may be - individual biscuits The latter are easy to spoon out and are good for mopping up operations.

Most meat pie eaters, however, like a simple flaky pie pastry that shatters rather than crumbles. Finally, the pies must be bubbling hot. If you have made them beforehand, reheat in the oven just before serving.

Beef Pie with Vegetables.

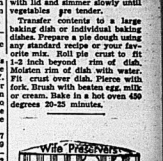
Melt fat to a depth of 1-4 inch in a heavy frying pan. Add 1 1-2 pounds of boneless top round cut into 1 inch cubes. Brown slowly and thoroughly on all sides.



In a saucepan melt 1 tablespoon fat. Add 1-2 cup finely chopped onion, 1-2 teaspoon finely chopped garlic and 1 small bay leaf. Simmer until onion turns yellow.

Gradually add 2 cups hot water, 2 bouillon cubes, 1 cup chopped canned tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt and 6 crushed whole peppercorns. Simmer slowly until beef is nearly tender, about 1 3-4 hours. Cooking time will depend on quality of beef.

Add to the pot 6 medium size carrots cut into 1-inch pieces, 2 medium size potatoes cut into 1 inch cubes and 6 stalks of celery, cut into 1-inch pieces. Cover pan with lid and simmer slowly until vegetables are tender.

Transfer contents to a large baking dish or individual baking dishes. Prepare a pie dough using any standard recipe or your favorite mix. Roll pie crust to fit 1-2 inch beyond rim of dish. Moisten rim of dish with water. Cut crust over dish. Pierce with fork. Brush with beaten egg, milk or cream. Bake in a hot oven 450 degrees 20-25 minutes.

When you remove wallpaper from walls and ceilings, wash off paste and remain walls. When paper comes off walls easily, the damp has worn off."

MARMORA

Home and School Association Holds Interesting Meeting

Marmora.—The monthly meeting of the Marmora Home and School Association was held in the Public School on Wednesday evening with the president, Mrs. W. G. Chrysler occupying the chair.

The financial report showed a balance on hand of $42.65. The banner was awarded to Principal E. C. Prentice's room for highest parent attendance. Rev. G. D. Young conducted a quiz contest with five pupils competing against five parents. The parents won by 13 1-2 points to 10 1-2.

This was followed by a sing-song led by Mrs. A. F. Fraser, in making the announcements the president mentioned that the next meeting would be the annual meeting with an auction sale as one of its features.

Franz Russell sang "Dear Hearts"; Lois Jennings and Jack Cunningham, rendered "School days" as a duet; a playlet "Catherine Parr" from Henry VIII, was presented by Senior pupils.

An advertisement contest, staged by Mrs. E. C. Prentice, was won by Bob Walker. After adjournment, refreshments were served.

Mr. Joseph Provost is admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough on Sunday.

Born—to Mr. and Mrs. Percy Embury in the Havelock Nursing Home, on Thursday, April 20, a son.

Mrs. C. Connor, Miss Loreen Connor, and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Neal visited relatives in Napanee on Sunday.

Mr. W. D. Lavender is building a large addition to his service station on No. 7 Highway at the eastern end of the village.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Prentice joined with members of the Prentice family in Trenton on Sunday when the former's mother, Mrs. W. R. Prentice, celebrated her 75th birthday.

Carl Lynch, who has been attending Queen's University, Kingston, has completed his spring term and is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. Lynch.

Mrs. Charles Kelly has purchased Fairvue Lunch from Mr. Alvin Heath and took possession the first of the week.

Malcolm Hawley, who has operated Marmora Auto Wreckers west of the village for some years, has traded his property and business with Eddie McFaul for the latter's farm near Tiffin.

Euchre Party

Mrs. Cynthia Henderson entertained about 30 of her friends at a euchre party at her home on Wednesday evening on the occasion of her birthday. The prize winners were Mrs. Arthur Eggleston and Mrs. Sandford Lawson. Mrs. Henderson was the recipient of many nice birthday gifts.

Mr. Crawford Russell has sold his service station, store and cabins on No. 7 Highway to Edward T. Killian, of Peterborough, formerly of Melville, Sask.

Joseph Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Davidson, of Marmora township, had the misfortune to break a bone in his leg while playing rugby on Marmora High School grounds on Wednesday afternoon. He was admitted to Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. Carl Whittemore, of Delora, was recently called to Trail, B.C. owing to the death of his mother there.

Mrs. Hollon and Mr. and Mrs. L. Baker of Toronto, visited the former's sister; Mrs. John Colins, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shannon celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at their home on Thursday, when members of the family were home for the occasion.

PICKET PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS

Protesting unemployment in Canada, these pickets paraded around the entrance to Parliament Buildings in Ottawa Thursday. They made an unsuccessful attempt to interview Prime Minister St. Laurent and seven of them, claiming to represent a national convention of unemployed organizations, were removed bodily from the public gallery of the Commons when they attempted to read a prepared address to the members of Parliament. They continued their picketing outside. — (CP Photo.)

NEARS THE TOP

This Canadian Pacific Railway line across Brandley Coulee near Emerson, Man., faces the threat of being cut by floods. The swollen Red River was within six inches of the rail Thursday. Normally water is 20 feet below the top of the rails. Railway officials think the track, running across a long fill and reinforced with 60 cars of gravel, will not wash out. — (CP Photo.)

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, April 29—(AP)—Naturally you can't blank a ball player for beefing when he loses a hit, or a homer, because the umpire yelled "balk" just as he swung . . . It has happened several times this spring . . . But Shag Shaughnessy, who knows the rules as many of 'em, pitches with nothing on them. . . Clark Griffith, who figures it will cost him $30,000 to have the Washington infield rebuilt to provide a regulation 15-inch mound, is campaigning to have that regulation rescinded. He got a special ruling to retain the old height this season. . . Says Griff, who figures a lot of flingers will get hurt falling off the mound: "personally I liked to pitch off level ground. Maybe that's why I thought I had a poor season when I walked as many as 30 or 35 batters."

It happened when Rocky Graziano went to New Haven, Conn., for last Monday's brief tussle with Danny Boy Williams. . . Rocky, in wrong with the D.A. Manager Irving Cohen and Charley Brown of the New Haven arena were standing in front of the hotel when Brown pointed to some ivy-draped buildings and remarked: "That's Yale across the corner, Rocky. How would you like to be in there?" Graziano looked apprehensively and replied: "Me? Never!" . . . When Brown recovered from his surprise, he realized Rocky was thinking of the kind of "college" east side boys go to when they get

Port Colborne Still Anxious To Defend Title

Port Colborne, April 29 (CP) — Port Colborne Merchants are still anxious to defend their eastern Canada intermediate hockey title, a club official said Friday night.

Informed that the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association has scheduled 4 Bagotville Alliés against Rouyn Flashes at Rouyn, Que., in a final series starting Monday, the Port Colborne official said it was hoped that Rouyn still could be persuaded to come here for a semi-final series.

At Montreal Friday night Frank Dillio, registrar of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association said Port Colborne had withdrawn earlier and he was unaware they were still interested in continuing. Therefore, he said, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association had planned a final between Rouyn and the winner of the Bagotville-Halifax series, in which Bagotville Friday night defeated Halifax 10-6 to win the series in three straight games.

Port Colborne, winner of the Eastern intermediate title last year and present intermediate champions of the Ontario Hockey Association, have declined to travel east in further playoffs but apparently will continue efforts to gain a berth in the final.

In the early stages, Mr. St. Laurent said the government will investigate the flood situation in Manitoba to decide whether Federal aid will be given.

Advantages Emphasized

He also disclosed that advantages and responsibilities of Canadian citizenship will be emphasized in Canadian Schools May 22, the date on which schools ordinarily mark Empire Day.

Mr. Drew, launching his commission-seeking motion, charged the government with waste, extravagance, duplication of services and general "inefficiency". The type of "Big" government which had emerged from the war could be "bad and dangerous" unless there was efficient supervision of government spending.

He suggested his proposed royal commission be given power to follow the form of the Hoover Commission investigation in the United States, where it was estimated $5,000,000,000 might be saved. A similar study might save $600,000,000 a year for Canada.

Under present methods of handling estimates before parliament and the people got only partial answers to how the money was used for and what it was spent on. Even the auditor-general, Watson Sellar, was concerned. And had recommended an improvement in accounting methods.

Mr. Drew mentioned the Maloney investigation into administration of Canada's Navy and the investigation of administration of the National Film Board by a private firm of management consultants. These had shown a need for considerable tightening up and they were only two arms of the government service.

The government employed a corps of 306 public relations employes, most of whom spent most of their time "turning out propaganda for their ministers." This cost $1,273,508 in salaries alone and probably "millions more."

Claxton Criticized

Mr. Drew criticized Defence Minister Claxton for refusing to allow his estimates to go before a committee. The United States "which is primarily responsible for the defence of freedom today" had given out all but the most secret defence estimates information and the United States could do it, so could Canada.

Mr. St. Laurent said Mr. Drew's commission proposal made to him by letter before the Easter recess, had received "very careful" cabinet consideration. But it had been felt that parliament's not current confidence — was the proper place for such a discussion.

Mr. Low said many Canadians were uneasy about the way their money was being spent. They were aware of wartime muskroom growth and heard reports of "overloaded branches of government." It was physically impossible for opposition members to do the job Mr. Drew had envisaged under present circumstances.

Frustrating Task

Mr. Diefenbaker said the establishment of a commission would show that Parliament wanted to do something to modernize its system of administration with a view to saving money. Members found it a "frustrating" task to get details about expenditures.

Mr. Thatcher agreed that an investigation was required because, with a budget of $5,400,000,000, there obviously could be many places where overlapping and inefficiency could emerge.

Mr. MacDonnell said the Progressive Conservative motion had no "party or political" aim and warned that members who voted against it would not be voting in the interests of the people.

Mr. Pouliot said he could not agree to a commission "to examine our bobsiness and tell us what we have to do."

Mr. MacInnis said the things the Progressive Conservatives were asking be done by a Royal Commission were those things which should be done by members of Parliament themselves if they took their jobs seriously. That applied to Liberal as well as opposition members.

Mr. Picard said Canada's government had no need for "outsiders." The treasury board and other government divisions kept a close watch on government spending.

WATERS REACH

The rise was general as far north as Winnipeg, 60 miles away. The all-out blow was expected Sunday.

Heavy damage mounted in the valley's weeks-long battle with the Red. Below Selkirk, the federal government promised to investigate the possibility of federal aid.

Prime Minister St. Laurent told the Commons an inquiry will decide what action, if any, will be taken.

National Emergency

The telegram said damage in that area was about $1,000,000 and termed the situation a "national emergency."

It was on ground of national emergency that the Dominion in 1948 moved in to help victims of the Fraser Valley floods in British Columbia. Then federal aid exceeded $9,000,000.

Half submerged St. Jean Baptiste Friday was surrounded by water. There and at Morris, 27 and 30 miles south of here, more families were prepared to evacuate. Water at Letellier, nine miles north of Emerson, lapped a few inches from the top of a 20-foot dike which holds the river back from the main part of town.

Many Flee Homes

Meanwhile Emerson was beginning to total up its losses. Seed-grain loans were estimated at $30,000; livestock losses and damage to flooded stores and homes was expected to amount to many times that figure.

Official estimates said more than 100 women and children from 45 families had fled.

The river at Morris rose another eight inches Friday, bringing water within inches of a red-lined sign marked "1948". Water swelled back from a sunken approach road, covering part of the main street. Buildings nearest the edge of town were up to their windows in filthy water.

Connections Good

Rail connections were good and supplies adequate.

From the air the French-Canadian centre looked like a solid hole in the middle of a liquid devghnut.

In Winnipeg some hope was still held that 1948 conditions would not be repeated. City engineer W. D. Hurst said yesterday his year's crest might not exceed that of two years ago. Cold weather, he said, had changed the earlier outlook.

MADOC

Madoc—A capacity crowd attended a play in Trinity United Church Sunday School rooms on Friday evening. The play "Sweet Bessie Brown, a hilarious three act comedy was presented by St. George's Dramatic Society of Peterborough and sponsored by St. John's Anglican Ladies' Guild, Madoc.

Rev. T. Harvey Good, rector of St. John's Church, welcomed the cast, and at the conclusion, Mrs. Moore on behalf of the cast thanked Mr. Good and Mrs. M. Nickle, president of the Guild, for the opportunity to play to such a splendid audience.

Women's Club

The Women's Club of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Symons. Mrs. W. Naylor and Mrs. Ben Connor were assistant hostesses.

Mrs. Alvey conducted the devotional period. This was followed by Mrs. Nayler giving a reading on "A Boy Who Liked to Practice". It was the story of Handel whose most famous composition was "The Messiah".

The meeting period was taken up principally with business items, and it was decided to hold a rummage sale on April 29.

The meeting closed with Mrs. King singing several delightful numbers, accompanied by Stanley Hawthorne.

Six Imports From the U.S. On London Beards

By WILLIAM BOSS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, April 29—(CP)—Londoners, one of whose ideas of fun is to imitate the "American" accent, have just seen it displace the King's English in yet another theatre.

The opening of "Detective Story" by Sidney Kingsley brings to six the number of imports from the United States now on London boards. Incidentally, it gives yet another outlet for the talents of Canadian actors seeking fame on the British stage.

Douglass Montgomery, film star western of Canadian Army service, is the play's Detective McLeod, for whom good and evil are as simply as black and white.

The supporting cast includes fans from Toronto—Charles Farrell, who was born there but now calls himself a Londoner; Don Farrell (no relation), former reporter and editor on Vancouver, Edmonton and Toronto newspapers; Ann Lewis and Austin Willis, film actor who here has his first London stage role.

Also appearing are Ottawa Virginia Bedard, Warren Stanhope from Vancouver and Ronan O'Casey of Montreal.

Battles Laryngitis

Montgomery, six feet tall and with a youthful appearance belying his 40 years, battled a laryngitis handicap through opening night and the severe performance was forbidden by his doctor to speak.

An affable type and easy to talk to, Montgomery was born in Los Angeles, the son of a Brantford Jeweler and his American wife. The family had settled there, where the stage early attracted young Douglass.

He joined the Canadian Army in the war, having previously come to like the Dominion while travelling on eastern theatrical circuits.

He has never looked back, he says, since his "command performance" in "The Man in the Stars". Other films include "The Cat and the Canary" and "Woman to Woman," while earlier, under the name of Douglass, he made "Paid" with Joan Crawford and "Daughter of Luxury" with Mar-

MADOC

Home and School Association Elects New Officers

Madoc—The Home and School Club held their April meeting in the Public School on Tuesday evening. Despite the inclement weather, there was a good attendance.

Mrs. Rupert called on Mr. Rothwell to preside over the business part of the meeting. The slate of officers presented for the coming year was accepted.

Mrs. K. Connor, convener of Health and Recreation, had charge of the program. Films were shown on rugby, swimming, volley ball and tennis and demonstrated correct methods of these sports.

Mr. Rothwell gave a report on the recent trip to Toronto when grades 7 and 8 had the pleasure of the trip via bus as well as enjoying places of interest in Ontario's capital city.

A choir of pupils of grades 7 and 8 sang several songs under the leadership of their principal. The classrooms were opened to the inspection of the parents and visitors. A sing-song followed with Mr. Rothwell in charge and Miss McCurdy at the piano, followed by a social half hour.

Officers elected were: president, Mrs. Rupert; 1st vice president, Mrs. Jas. Reid; 2nd vice president, George Duffin; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Kel Kincaid; recording secretary, Mrs. H. Hutchinson; treasurer, Mrs. Murray Smith; executive officers, Miss L. Connor, Mrs. J. Baker, Mrs. M. Quinn, Ken West and George Devolin.

TIM-BER-LOX
Protects Paint from Peeling and Blistering

A Penetrating Sealer and Paint Mix

Tim-ber-lox is a clear liquid made from "tim" (wood) toughest resins and water repellent oils and is used as a thinner for all house paints or as a clear primer before painting or varnishing.

In order to secure a good paint job it is first necessary to secure a good ground or prime coat. If this is applied to the bare wood Tim-ber-lox penetrates to depth to bond permanently to that wood. Tim-ber-lox also has superior penetrating and sealing qualities which provide a reinforced foundation against moisture and thus prevent the peeling and blistering of succeeding coats of paint.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED E. WILSON

SPOTTING WARBLERS

Once we feel that spring has come to stay, we begin to watch Warblers—those small jewels of Birdland. No wonder we find Owen Wister so differentiate, because there are about two dozen which might be seen, they are much of a size, their colouring is similar, and husbands and wives are often unlike. Males being generally brighter and drawing attention to themselves by singing, it is wise for the beginner at bird watching to study them first. Certain rules help us to avoid mistakes.

Dates of arrival sometimes count for much. The Black-poll need not be expected until May is three quarters over. Locality, height of the bird, and habits should be noted. An Oven-bird generally haunts woodlands, walking on the ground among last autumn's leaves. Nearly always, characteristic markings are present, as the white eye-ring of the Nashville.

Myrtle and Magnolia Warblers provide an excellent example because they are sometimes confused on account of their similar, yellow rumps. Otherwise there is little similarity. The Myrtle has three other yellow patches: one on each side if its white breast, and one on its head. The yellow-heavy, black streaks in front, and breasted Magnolia is noted for a white band about half an inch from the end of its fine black tail. Their habits and voices also differ. One of the earliest Warblers to get here, sometimes before April ends, is the Myrtle, travelling in flocks of its own kind. It keeps to the very tops of tall trees, making our watching a neck-breaking business and moves with deliberation, flying a high-pitched trill. Not until between two and four weeks later do we hear a Magnolia's deeper-pitched song in evergreen woods. This song has much more variety and character.

Our common, summer, city resident, the Yellow Warbler, and Vieux's Warbler, a bird of low thickets on the edge of woods, are both golden. But consider the latter's tiny black eyes, and its butterfly-like fluttering as it picks diminutive insects from the leaf surface. Their songs are not the same either. The city bird's voice is easily recognized, even though songs of individuals differ slightly, some beginning with a stuttering "ch-ch-ch", others stuttering near the end. The Black-capped bubbles like a Wren.

So many points must be remembered before accurate identification can be assured, that hasty judgment is unwise when spotting Warblers.

Senators Make A Triple Play The Hard Way

(By The Canadian Press)

With the Yanks leading 2-0 in the third inning and Fred Sanford on third and Phil Rizzuto on first, Gerry Coleman sent a looping fly into short right. It appeared to be a certain hit but Eddie Stewart raced in from deep right, caught the ball at his shoestrings and whipped it to Eddie Robinson, catching Rizzuto off first. The first baseman then threw to catcher Mickey Grasso who tagged Sanford as he tried to score.

A United States table tennis team came within one victory Friday night of winning the championship on the opening day of the world table tennis tournament.

The Americans, Ralph Bast, Chicago, John Somrad, New York, and George Hendry, St. Louis, Mo., won four singles and one doubles match to take the commanding lead.

The event, held in Montreal for the first time in history, will go into finals tonight.

The Canadian team is made up of Lionel Cloutier, Paul Belanger, Henri Desaulniers and J. Jardins, all of Montreal.

A Province of Quebec team defeated Ontario 6-3 in the interprovincial championships. A singles win by Eddie champion, Henri Rochon, gave the Quebec squad the necessary victories.

Chicago White Sox Friday announced a deal for outfielder Dick Wakefield of New York Yankees, involving outfielder Johnnie Ostrowski of the White Sox and an unannounced sum of cash.

Wakefield was acquired by the Yankees from Detroit Tigers last winter in a swap for flit sacker Dick Kryhoski. He will fly here to join the White Sox in Sunday's double-header against the Tigers.

At Detroit, welterweight champion Ray Robinson pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over Detroit middleweight Ray Barnes Friday night in a crowded scrap before 8,954 fans.

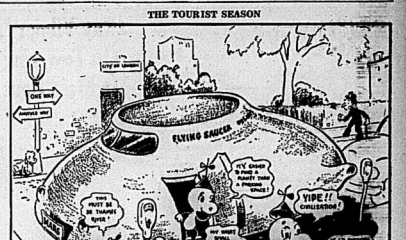
Lightweight champion Ike Williams has a broken hand and his title-bout opponent Lew Lester Felton in Detroit will have to be set back again, it was learned at New York Friday.

Several Rule Changes Passed By the OHA

Toronto, April 29 (CP)— The executive of the Ontario Hockey Association moved Friday night to recommend restricting on the number of reinstated professionals playing on any amateur team. A resolution passed by the executive will be considered today by the annual meeting of the OHA. It calls for the ex-professionals to be considered as imports.

The executive considered a number of changes in existing Canadian Amateur Hockey Association regulations and rules which will be presented at the annual OHA meeting. Several rules changes were also passed on to the meeting. If approved by the association they will be submitted to the CAHA meeting June 6 at Banff.

George Panter, business manager, reported the highest revenue in the history of the OHA during the last season. Nearly $37,000 was received in playoff money, he said.



"The OHA is growing tremendously," he told the executive. "There now are 12 artificial ice arenas in the province. Seven more are being built and a number of others are being planned."

The executive appointed a finance committee, comprising the president, two vice-presidents and the business manager to consider establishing a reserve fund. This would be set up now that times are good, to provide for growth within the association,and any difficulties which may arise such as player injuries, court cases, possible protection against the professional leagues and loan times,

FLOOD REFUGEES

The Houston family—"three boys, two girls, three dogs, mummy and daddy," as one of the boys put it—are among the families forced from their Emerson, Man., homes by rising waters of the Red River. Mr. and Mrs. M. Houston, who moved to Emerson from Sioux Lookout, Ont., a month ago, are living in one of the 10 Canadian Pacific Railway boarding cars sent to Emerson to provide shelter. Daughter Jinx was sleeping when the photo was taken. — (CP Photo.)

Brake Testing Device Will Be Used by Police

Ontario Intelligencer April 30th, 1930

Traffic officers stationed at the Belleville Provincial Police headquarters will shortly commence testing all motor vehicles coming into the city for brakes, steering, lights and other necessary equipment. The local police headquarters is now equipped with a brake testing device set in a trailer for the purpose of testing brakes. It will be possible for a driver to test his brakes in a matter of seconds by testing a number of different brakes at the same time. The device is so efficient that it will be possible for the officer in charge to give a certificate of brakes on the car under test.

Could Your BRAKES Pass This Test ? ? ? ?

Bucky Harris Used to Toast Relief Pitching of Joe Paige; Now He Toasts Home Run Ball

By ZACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

"Here's to Joe Page" remains Bucky Harris' favorite toast. Now the Washington manager celebrates Joe's home run ball, not his relief pitching.

Revenge must be sweet for the former New York Yankee pilot who was fired after just missing the 1948 pennant. For the second time in six days, his maligned Senators whipped Fireman Joe.

Steve Nagy, drafted from the Pacific Coast League for $10,000 turned back the world champions for the second time Friday night, 5-4. On top of that, he won the game with an inside-the-park homer off Page in the eighth inning.

Nagy's success is a feather in Harris' cap. He saw Steve win 18 for San Francisco last year when he was managing San Diego. On his advice, owner Clark Griffith freed Nagy for 1950 relief southpaw.

Bucky waited until he hit the Yankee Stadium to give Nagy his first chance. He started last Saturday, and went all the way to grab a 10-inning decision. Friday night was his second start.

In the third, when the Yankees took a 3-0 lead, Washington pulled a relief play.

Feller Wins Second

Bobby Feller, cut in salary and demoted to No. 3 boy on the Cleveland staff, is taking it out on American League batters.

Bobby pitched on the bench while Bob Lemon took the opening day assignment—and lost. He didn't pitch the second game either, Manager Lou Boudreau waited until Cleveland went to St. Louis a week ago. Feller came through with a fine five-hitter, striking out 8.

Bob picked up win No. 2 Friday, cutting down the onrushing Detroit Tigers with eight hits, 6-1. Last year Feller didn't win his second game until June 14.

Boston welcomed their "Fenway Park cousins" — the Philadelphia A's—with a 4-1 victory behind Mel Parnell. Not since Sept. 12, 1948 have the A's won a game at Boston.

Reds Flash Win

Ralph Kiner took matters into his own hands in the seventh inning with a two-run homer that gave Pittsburgh a 6-5 edge over St. Louis Cards.

Curt Simmons pitched like the $65,000 baseball beauty he was supposed to be three years ago, when Philadelphia Phillies downed Boston 6-1 in a night game. Simmons gave only three hits and chipped in with two singles in the 14-hit attack that routed Johnny Sain.

Rookie Dan Bankhead came to the rescue of Don Newcombe in Brooklyn's 5-3 victory over New York Giants before 39,090 night customers at the Polo Grounds.

Barrie Flyers Cop Junior 'B' O.H.A. Title

Barrie, April 29 — (CP)—Barrie Flyers edged Guelph Biltmore 4-3 Friday night to cop the Ontario Hockey Association junior 'B' championship. Barrie took the best-of-seven series four games to one.

The clubs battled to a 3-3 tie at the 12-minute mark of the finish period but at 14:35 Johnny Poland batted in the winning goal on a set solo effort, his second goal of the night. Danny McDonald also scored twice for the new champions. Ron Murphy clicked twice for Guelph with a single going to Don Keith.

Edgar Laprade Doesn't Figure On Retiring

Back home after a gruelling seven-game Stanley Cup series which the New Yorkers lost to Detroit Red Wings, Laprade thinks he has still to hit his peak although he has already reaced the age of 30.

"This was my best season," he said at his home Friday. "But I think I've got better ones coming up. After all, players like Abel (Sid Abel of Detroit) were over 30 when they put in their peak seasons. I always have retirement in mind but there are a lot of things to consider . . . You can't make that kind of money in anything else."

Laprade thinks not having their own ice in the series—Toronto was New York home ice for two games —cost the blueshirts at least one game.

"If we could have gone back to New York for game five we'd have —cost the blueshirts at least one game.

"If we could have gone back to New York for game five we'd have swept it and a 3-2 lead, I'm sure we could have taken the fifth game as well. After all, playing before a home crowd gives a club a big boost."

Junior Hockey Squads Ready For Second Game

Montreal, April 29 — (CP) — Two well-rested junior hockey squads meet tonight for their second clash in the Memorial Cup final playdowns if will probably be a bitter battle.

Regina Pats and Montreal Canadiens go into the Forum arena session Friday when the Forum was unavailable and neither team planned practices today.

Coach Murray Armstrong said Friday night he was well pleased with Pats' showing in the first game Thursday night although they lost by an 8-7 margin. Now that the visiting western champions "have their bearings" on Montreal ice, Armstrong said, "it will be a different story from now on."

Sammy Pollock, Montreal coach, wasn't too impressed with his team's showing but promised they would be "considerably improved" for tonight's fixture.

Although Canadiens still are given a slight edge to take the best-of-seven series and the Canadian championship, Pats still weren't counted "out" in Montreal's feverish hockey circles.

Regina's smooth passing and dead-on drives put them in a favorable position to topple the eastern champs.

Goalie Morley McNeil, who led Regina's scoring with three goals, said Friday his team "can take Canadiens."

Third game in the series will be played in Toronto next Tuesday with the remainder being played back in Montreal.

Bon Vivant Doubtful Starter In King's Plate

Toronto, April 29 — (CP)—E. P. Taylor's colt Bon Vivant is a doubtful starter in the King's Plate here May 27, and if the colt doesn't run trainer Bert Alexandra will retire from racing.

Word from the Toronto industrialist's training camp at Lexington, K.Y., Friday was that Bon Vivant has developed leg trouble during for the three-year-old classic. The colt was joint favorite at 3-1 with McGill, owned by Vince Sheridan of Toronto, the other opponents brought about a shift in the odds Friday night with McGill installed as favorite and Col Hatch's Unionville a lukewarm second choice.

Alexandra, who trained Taylor's Colt Epic to the Plate victory last year, tendered his resignation some months ago but planned to stay in racing until after the plate. If Bon Vivant is definitely out of the race Alexandra is expected to retire shortly. The veteran trainer has handled many good horses in past years, notably Carefree, a son of Colin, which had many turf achievements on Canadian tracks.

Rookies Going Great Guns For Jersey Giants

(By The Associated Press)

A couple of rookies up from Trenton (N.J.) of the inter-state league, pitcher Tony West and first baseman Martin Playclock, are going great guns for Jersey City Giants.

West, a 21-year-old righthander, turned in his second international league victory and his second complete game of the season Friday night as he pitched the giants to a 10-5 victory over the defending pennant-winning Buffalo Blacks.

Playlock, only started West on the road to victory by banging a three-run homer in the first inning. That homer was his third of the young season.

The Giants screwed up the game with six more runs in the second inning to allow West to coast. West, scattered 10 hits, walked seven and fanned nine.

Montreal, Friday, screwed under the Springfield Cubs, 14-4, behind a 15-hit blasting and steal and Anse Moore. Irv Medlinger fired the pitch to seven blows and fanned eight.

A scheduled game between Rochester and Syracuse was postponed because of cold weather.

BAGOTVILLE WINS

Jonquiere, Que., April 29 (CP) — Bagotville Aillies Friday night advanced to the Eastern Canada intermediate hockey final against Rouyn Flashes by downing Halifax Armed Services 10-6 in the third game of their semi-final series.

Allies ousted the Maritime champions from the best-of-five contest in three straight games, taking the first game 5-3 and then swamping Halifax 11-1 Thursday night.

Handicap Horses Have Innings At Jamaica

New York, April 29 (AP) — This is the big day for handicap horses at Jamaica racetrack with 15 entered in the $61,900 Gallant Fox.

That is what the race figured to gross if all 15 went to the post for the 1 3-16-mile event. The winner would net $43,800.

It is Jamaica's richest event. The track puts up $50,000 in added money. The nomination and starting fees paid by the horse owners make up the rest of the big pot.

The Gallant Fox field had no outstanding favorite and racing luck could play an important part in the result. The racing strip was sloppy Friday night but fine weather was expected to improve the going.

To Ben Whitaker's My Request went the honor of carrying top weight, 125 pounds. The five-year-old chestnut also was a mild choice with most of the odds-makers. It's a well-known fact that My Request likes the Jamaica track almost as much as his oats.

My Request had to carry three additional pounds today and the opposition looked tough. There was King Ranch's three-ply entry of Flying Missel (117), Better Self (116) and Prophets Thumb (110).

GIANTS SELL INFIELDER

New York, April 29. (AP)— New York Giants today announced the outright sale of first baseman Nap Reyes to their Jersey City Farm Club in the International League.

The harsh, rattling cry of the KINGFISHER is a typical sound of our waters. Look for its blue and white coloring, large head and beak, and ragged crest. He rarely eats anything but coarse fish, and should be protected. The bird shown here is a female.

The Kibitzer

To start a bridge argument all you need is one deal. Any deal. And if your argument is with a bunch of experts you never get to a correct final declation. Bridge experts are too opinionated.

When a bridge player is expert he gets an exalted idea of his ability to make declations. He waives your proof of rule with a sneer and points to some isolated hand that will uphold his opinion.

Therefore, if you find his pair in a wrong contract he will not listen to system. He attempts to vindicate the result with some talk that includes judgment, anticipation, and inferences.

There came the deal you see here:

NORTH
♠A 9 7 2
♥10 6
♦5 2
♣Q J 10 9 8

WEST
♠8 4
♥Q 5 4
♦A 10 8 7 6 3
♣5 2

EAST
♠6 5 3
♥J 9 8 7 2
♦Q 9
♣A 6 4

SOUTH
♠K Q J 10
♥A K 3
♦K 4
♣K 7 3

South was that clever type of player who anticipates in advance what is going to happen. His belief is that he knows where the final contract should end. He insists on steering it there.

So, he opened with a bid of one no-trump. Why? With a balanced hand he thinks it should play at no-trump. With tenace holding at no-trump it is his desire to have the lead come to him.

All of which is good theory. Also it is good in practice. But it does not go far enough in reasoning. It pre-supposes that rule will not guide it there if no better contract develops in some suit.

Their bidding went like this:

South	North
1 NT	2 NT
3 NT	Pass

For the moment forget that their bidding was wrong. We can talk later about the fact that they should have bid and ended in spades. First hear what started the argument in the play.

The west opening lead was diamond seven. East went with queen. Should south win with the king or refuse with the four?

All-Canadian Revue May Make Broadway Debut in the Fall

By PAT USSHER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, April 29 — (CP)— New Yorkers may get to see a revue now playing in Toronto after a successful, though rugged, tour across Canada.

It's "There Goes Yesterday," a production touching lightly on the events of the last half century.

Jules Ziegler is negotiating to bring the all-Canadian revue to New York, but hard-and-fast arrangements have yet to be made.

"Yesterday," with a cast originally from a straw-hat theatre playing summer seasons in Muskoka, stars John Pratt, comedian, who was a hit of the wartime Canadian show, "Meet the Navy," and Murray Matthieson, a light revue comedian.

Murray Davis and Don Davis are co-producers of "Yesterday," which was launched on a shoestring basis but eventually caught on. It now is finishing a second week at the Royal Alexandra Theatre in Toronto.

Spring Tonic

Like a spring tonic after a tough winter was Peter Pan," revived this week in traditional style in Manhattan. Theatre-goers who remembered — and enjoyed — their own childhood got a big kick out of Barrie's play about the boy who didn't want to grow up.

Actress Jean Arthur caught splendidly the spirit of Eternal Youth in portraying the title role on the Imperial Theatre stage. She flew through the air with ease — to parody the popular song; acted like the pixie that Peter Pan was and spoke remarkably like a mischievous little boy.

Abetting her in the enchanting nonsense was Boris Karloff, leering and strutting as Captain Hook. He also played the father of the children who fly away with Peter. Leonard Bernstein contributed words and music for six songs interpolated in the production.

Cast Change

Gene Lockhart is stepping out of his lead role as Willy Loman in "Death of a Salesman," to be replaced May 8 by Albert Dekker. Lockhart, a native of London, Ont., has motion picture commitments.

Top Billing

The Outer Circle, a fledgling organization of drama writers in the environs of New York and of writers in the metropolis for out-of-town papers, this week named T. S. Eliot's "The Cocktail Party" as the best play of the current season and Glan Carlo-Menotti's "The Consul" as the best musical.

Aim is to Have Germany Work With Democracies

Ottawa, April 28—(CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today the roots of a rebuilt Germany now are discernible" but opposed suggestions that foreign troops should be withdrawn from German soil.

He told the Commons External Affairs Committee Canada's policy towards Germany was based on the assumption it will be possible to build up a democratic government that will work with other democratic governments for the welfare of all Europe. Canada advocated a safeguard acceptance of Germany by the community of western democracies.

Mr. Pearson also said:

1. Canada will probably be asked before long to receive some German trade representatives in this country.

2. Lt.-Gen. Maurice Pope, head of Canada's military mission in Berlin, will be moved out of Germany before long—probably not before June—and replaced by another member of the diplomatic staff. His successor will be stationed in Bonn as representative to the West German Republic.

3. No special exit permit was granted communist leader Tim Buck to leave Canada to go behind the iron curtain. He has had a Canadian passport since 1947 and that was all he needed.

4. Canada's immigration office in Hong Kong is "being swamped" by Chinese women who want to come to Canada to join their husbands after a change made in Canadian law some time ago.

BIGGEST IN EMPIRE

Canada comprises about one-quarter of the British Empire's total area.

AT THE BELLE — Robert Taylor and Arlene Dahl are the principals in a romance which takes place in "Ambush," exciting MGM drama, opening today at the Belle Theatre.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, April 28—(AP)— A federal agent of 35 years experience says most pictures about the secret service are "horrible".

The critic is Arthur F. Grube, a short, spare man with penetrating blue eyes. Retired from the United States Secret Service in 1947, he now is acting as technical adviser on "Mr. 880". It will be a different kind of picture about the U.S. government service — one with no bloodshed.

"It's much closer to the actual truth," observed Grube. "Why, in all my years with the service, I only shot a man once, and that was in the foot. After he had torn my coat to shreds and kicked me in the face, I had to resort to my gun.

"Most pictures about the secret service are the blood-and-thunder type and most of them are horrible. I think it gives the public a distorted view of the service. They either show us as supermen, which we are not, or brutal killers, which we are not.

No Gun-play

"The service has a strict policy against being careless with a gun. We prefer to bring them in alive and whole.

"I have found that civil treatment brings the best results. As you can see, I'm a little guy. I have brought in many big fellows peacefully merely by being nice to them. The tough-guy policy only makes them clam up. I can understand that; if someone ordered me to talk I'd be even more determined not to."

"HI, FOLKS:—"

WANT TO WIN $50.00
MINIMUM EVERY THURSDAY NIGHT?

—HERE'S HOW: Every time you attend the Drive-In Theatre you will be given an extra ticket to print your car license on. Then deposit these in the container at the refreshment stand. The more times you attend — the more tickets you will have— the more chances of winning $50.00 or more each night. There will be two drawings, one for each half of the total. If unclaimed, $25.00 will be added and the next Thursday — there will be two more drawings, one for each half of the total. You and your car must be present to win and show proper auto identification. It is fun — it is profitable — attend the Drive-In regularly, but always on Thursday night. YOU MAY BE LUCKY.

FIRST DRAWING WILL BE MADE

Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle:

Little Benny's Note Book

I for attendance on my port card, meaning Excellent, ly the rest of it was all F's and meaning Fair and Poor, but I to give it to pop to sine just same on account of him being official report card siner according to the rule in our family, after supper he was smoking himself in his private chair ith an unsatisfied expression I thawt, Heck, I with he ked as if he felt a little more mfortable.

The result being I waited a ile while and then I said, Dont want a cushion in back of your head, pop?

I'm under the impression that I've got one back there, pop said, and I said, You have pop, but it's a kind of a little one.

Well, my head is a kind of a small one too, so I guess that covent the question, pop said.

And after a while, I said, Hay pop, if you want to change your shoes to your slippers, I'll get them for you.

I will, but I'm going out with your mother, so I'll have to take it out in wanting, pop said.

Being the end of that part of the subject, and pritty soon, I said, Hay pop, here's my report I got an E for attendance. That means I didn't miss a single day in school and it has a dubble meaning, because it also means I wasn't late once, so that means E for promptness at the same time, so that means I practically got 2 E's, I said.

You're too modest, pop said, If you weren't absent all month, that means your health was excellent, too, so that's still another Z. Hand it over, he said.

Meaning my report card and being the beginning of the sad part.

"And are you still sorry for me?"

"Do I need to bet?"

He laughed again—a different laugh. It was short and hard this time. "No. I can take care of myself."

"Yes, I guess you can. Still, you might make a mistake doing it."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean you might fight the wrong person."

"You, for instance?"

She nodded.

"Are you trying to tell me you're with me when your whole family is against me? You saw them."

She straightened to a stiff anger. "What's it! Why should they be against you? I don't know what it's all about! You haven't made it clear. But I tell you right now," she pounded her small clenched fists on her knees, "I don't care!"

He examined the glowing tip of his cigarette, exultation rocketing up in him. He hadn't expected anything as easy as this. In fact, he hadn't expected anything at all. He had taken a gambler's chance, reckoning on defeat as a gambler must, and figuring he had nothing to lose by it if it came.

He said at length, "you're rather a sweet child, do you know it?"

"I'm not a child."

"How old are you?"

"Eighteen. How old are you? I'll bet you're 25 again."

She nodded. "What have you done, anyway? What's the matter? For heaven's sake, give!"

"What I have done," he replied bright and smiling mockery, "is to make the most of being born of the wrong mother on the wrong side of the tracks."

She pounded her knees once more. "How stupid! How utterly stupid!"

"I assure you I couldn't help it. I was in no way responsible."

"No! I mean—She nodded toward the door. "I mean coming all of them. I can't beat it! Let's go back to them. Let's—let's show them, Lookit!" She made a sudden reckless promise. "I won't dance with anyone else. No one but you for the rest of the evening."

He exclaimed in delight, "well all right!"

She slipped from her stool and found herself in his arms. She had not been kissed before. Timothy had kissed her more than once. But never like this. This was darkness and dazzling lights—fire and freezing cold, the earth crumbling and a roaring chaos beneath her and a swift sure flight into singing glory. At last he let her go. She sank back against the stool, breathing fast— "You shouldn't have done that."

"Why not?"

"Because."

She could not collect her thoughts after Gerry's kiss. She felt exhilarated and unwillingly angry to admit it since it made him less than she wanted him to be. She felt alarmed, too, but not so much by him as by the powerful upsurge of unfamiliar desires within herself. She had never known before she was like this. She was suddenly a stranger to herself. Yet a stranger with whom she must surely and soon get acquainted.

He was saying in some surprise at himself. "I really couldn't help it, Susan."

And then the far door of the observatory opened and she heard her father's voice calling her name.

Frank chilled and then waited in the dim light listening. He did not like the role that had been so suddenly trust upon him. He was too freshly out of the army; a man's world to have accustomed himself again to the formalities, subtle laws of a society where women ruled supreme. Besides, his daughter was at the age to be at ill. Not, at least, the daughter, he remembered.

For the Susan he had left had been a bony-kneed, awkward, tempestuous child whom he had tenderly loved and easily understood, while the poised and beautiful young woman who now called him Frank so pleasantly set so casually—as if, actually, he were no relation—had him at a disadvantage. She was a girl he didn't know her, and her manner indicated that he could let the fact stand. Nor she had no need of him in the management of her inheritance. The result was a quarrel within himself between his instinctive desire to protect her against vulnerability and his impotent sense of inadequacy before the mature woman's self-confidence.

However, plainly this was a family crisis in which he must take a decisive part. That much was unmistakable from his mother-in-law's urgency and his wife's support of it. He knew with a start that she should not be with. She was dancing with him, and she had to be present. Certainly, Audrey had said in her quick tense way. "Get them both. I'll call Father. They can go into his study until we have a chance to find out—"

Then he had tried standing pat. It was his nature to think and act slowly and he hated being pushed into anything.

"He looks all right to me," he had said. But Audrey had given him a little push. "Oh, Frank! It's Gerry! Don't you remember Gerry! He's impossible! They must not—really, get him. That's all."

Gerry, Gerry who? He could not recall. Only the name had carried a vague remembrance of some family disgrace that had been hushed up. Gerry, Gerry Well, it didn't matter, actually. The point was there had been something wrong with him and now here he was turned up like the proverbial bad penny and in a way as yet obscure, threatening Frank's Audrey's daughter.

The realization had galvanized him to action.

He stood at the moment, hearing the echo of Susan's prompt reply to his call. Had there been a note of relief sounding in it? Had the fellow been bothering her and had he arrived just in the nick of time? Aware that he was probably being over-imaginative and melodramatic he still could not help the swift dislike that the question kindled in him.

But the girl who came out of the shadows toward him bore herself with a cool composure that belied his mistrust and even made it seem a trifle foolish.

"Did you want me?" she asked, her eyes bright, her mouth holding, perhaps, a secret amusement at his parental watchfulness. And then with a casual gesture toward the man beside her "this is Gerry, Frank. Or do you know?"

"Yes I know." He did not offer his hand. With his head thrust forward between the great breadth of his shoulders, he appeared aggressively antagonistic. Yet he could never alarm. His face below his shock of thick, bristling gray-white hair, was too unexpectedly young for all its heaviness, too open, too placid. His bright brown eyes too kind. He said, "we didn't expect you."

Gerry bowed slightly. "I realize that. I hope my appearance hasn't been overly inopportune?"

The fellow was quick. Frank sensed a hard fearlessness in him too, and a complete indifference to anyone's regard or sensibilities He straightened his eyes sharpening sparks, and his next words held the crispness of the Major addressing the captain.

"Not in the least. It's simply that we can't give you quite the attention you no doubt deserve. However, if you'll come with me to the study, Judge . . ."

Susan's hand fell like a leaf on her father's arm. "Thank you. But we'd rather dance."

Frank looked at her, a feeling of helplessness smothering him "But your- grandfather . . ." he began.

"My grandfather simply wants to insult him," Susan said, her husky voice low but clear. "He simply wants to get rid of him. So do you. So does everybody in the family. But you see, I don't" And with a little nod she slipped past him and opened the green-house door. "Okay, Gerry," she said, over her shoulder. "Let's go."

They stood there, smiling and at ease as he faced Frank.

"With such a champion," he said "why should I hesitate? I'll go see the Judge. I'd like to."

"I'll go, then," Susan cried quickly.

It was Gerry, not her father who said no.

"I remember the way," he offered.

Frank hesitated. He had no reason to accompany the fellow. No one had intimated that he was a thief or a despertado. Yet he did not like the idea of his prowling about the house alone. As he hesitated, Gerry spoke again.

"Unless, of course, you feel that the family silver wouldn't be safe?"

"Gerry! Don't talk like that!" Gerry turned toward her. "My dear, what you don't realize is that I appear before your people with only my past to recommend me. A disgraceful past, as I told you."

"But not that disgraceful!" He shrugged.

Susan came swiftly back to the two men, her eyes enormous in her indignation. "Go by yourself, Gerry," she told him. "Frank you stay with me. There are some things we've got to get clear about and now's a good time."

The study was a low-beamed, pine-panneled bookliined room in a wing down a few steps from the main body of the house. As Gerry entered it, there was a fire burning in the fireplace and in its dancing light he caught the twinkling shine of brass, the dull gleam of polished leather, the quiet glow of many colors in the large Oriental rug.

The Judge was waiting for him in a deep chair and rose to greet him with his hand extended.

"I would hardly know you," the Judge said.

Nothing banal—like a repetition of the surprise Gerry had given him. Nothing warm, like a welcome, either. Simply a statement, pronounced in a reserved measured tone as if it were a final judgment, an incontroversial decision. It was the way Gerry remembered him. "I have found a good place for you. Selah!

Thinking these things, he answered. "But you are just the same."
